What are the characteristics of the church and community?

Boonsboro is a small town in rural Washington County. It is close-knit community known for its excellent schools, vibrant community life, and thriving main street.

Mt. Nebo is a community-oriented, mission-centric church with a variety of effective community ministries. The church sponsored Christian Learning Center provides daycare, preschool, and before/after care for school age children with an enrollment of over one-hundred students.

What is the vision for the next 3-5 years?

A continued and deliberate focus on the following areas:

- Congregational Engagement and Relationship Building – someone genuinely engaged with the congregation and building relationships with people of all and backgrounds.
- Community Connection and Outreach – the church will grow in its connection to the surrounding community and not simply be known as a place where people gather on Sunday morning..
- Spiritual Growth and Christian Learning – the church encourages spiritual growth and lifelong Christian learning, providing opportunities for spiritual development beyond Sunday morning.

What are the expectations of the pastor?

Our hope is to find a pastor who will challenge us, inspire us, and help us see what our church can become. We want someone who understands that being a pastor is about more than preparing a Sunday sermon; it is about building relationships, developing faith, encouraging others, and being present throughout the lives of the people they serve.

We want to leave Sunday worship feeling that we have learned something new, been challenged to think differently, and been encouraged to carry our faith into the week ahead.

We aren't simply looking for someone to maintain the church as it exists today. We are looking for someone who will help us envision what our church could become tomorrow.

Someone who can honor our past, embrace our present, and lead us confidently into our future while keeping Christ at the center of everything we do.
