- Woods used to make matchsticks must be porous enough to absorb various chemicals and rigid enough to withstand the bending forces encountered when the match is struck.
- They should also be straight-grained and easy to work so that they may be readily cut into sticks.
- White pine and aspen are two common woods used for this purpose.

A MATCH

- Once the matchsticks are formed, they are soaked in ammonium phosphate, which is a fire retardant.
- This prevents the stick from smoldering after the match has gone out.
- According to http://www.madehow.com/Volume-3/Match.html, here is how a match is made.

A MATCH

- During manufacture, the striking ends of the matchsticks are dipped in hot paraffin wax.
- According to http://www.madehow.com/Volume-3/Match.html, here is how a match is made.

A MATCH

- During manufacture, the striking ends of the matchsticks are dipped in hot paraffin wax.
- This provides a small amount of fuel to transfer the flame from the burning chemicals on the tip to the matchstick itself.

A MATCH

- During manufacture, the striking ends of the matchsticks are dipped in hot paraffin wax.
- This provides a small amount of fuel to transfer the flame from the burning chemicals on the tip to the matchstick itself.
- Once the paraffin burns off, the ammonium phosphate in the matchstick prevents any further combustion.

- The heads of strike-anywhere matches are composed of two parts, the tip and the base.
- The tip contains a mixture of phosphorus sesquisulfide and potassium chlorate.
- Phosphorus sesquisulfide is a highly reactive, non-toxic chemical used in place of white phosphorus.
- It is easily ignited by the heat of friction against a rough surface.
- According to http://www.madehow.com/Volume-3/Match.html, here is how a match is made.

A MATCH

- The potassium chlorate supplies the oxygen needed for combustion.
- According to http://www.madehow.com/Volume-3/Match.html, here is how a match is made.

A MATCH

- The potassium chlorate supplies the oxygen needed for combustion.
- The tip also contains powdered glass and other inert filler material to increase the friction and control the burning rate.

A MATCH

- The potassium chlorate supplies the oxygen needed for combustion.
- The tip also contains powdered glass and other inert filler material to increase the friction and control the burning rate.
- Animal glue is used to bind the chemicals together, and a small amount of zinc oxide may be added to the tip to give it a whitish color.
- According to http://www.madehow.com/Volume-3/Match.html, here is how a match is made.

A MATCH

- The base contains many of the same materials as the tip but has a smaller amount of phosphorus sesquisulfide.
- According to http://www.madehow.com/Volume-3/Match.html, here is how a match is made.

A MATCH

- The base contains many of the same materials as the tip but has a smaller amount of phosphorus sesquisulfide.

THE CALVARY ROAD—EXPERIENCE

- Principle: be broken.
- Willing to do what God wants
- Jessica's story

- "[We] always carry about in the body the dying of Jesus so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body."

(2 Corinthians 4:10)

THE CALVARY ROAD—EXPERIENCE

- “A friend of mine and I were really close sophomore year. She was the person I told everything . . .”

- “[We] always carry about in the body the dying of Jesus so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body.”

(2 Corinthians 4:10)

THE CALVARY ROAD—EXPERIENCE

- "A friend of mine and I were really close sophomore year. She was the person I told everything . . ."

- [Interjection] Then, something happened between Jessica and her friend that was hurtful. Then, she continues . . .

- "[We] always carry about in the body the dying of Jesus so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body."

  (2 Corinthians 4:10)

THE CALVARY ROAD—EXPERIENCE

- “So fast forward 2 years, I have forgiven her, but my trust was broken. Through various situations, we grew closer, and I valued her as a friend, and we really had great times together. I thought things were going well. But then, when senior year came, we both got jobs and just basically got too busy to hang out.”

- “[We] always carry about in the body the dying of Jesus so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body.”

(2 Corinthians 4:10)

THE CALVARY ROAD—EXPERIENCE

- “During winter break in 2010, there was a party, and I heard that my friend was gossiping about me. I saw her at school the next day, and I couldn’t even look at her. I was so hurt, and I tried so, so hard to rise above the situation and give her the benefit of the doubt.”

- “[We] always carry about in the body the dying of Jesus so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body.”

(2 Corinthians 4:10)

THE CALVARY ROAD—EXPERIENCE

- “I spent 4 days being eaten alive by the pain of not knowing whether her gossip was exaggerated or if she really thought those things were true. Finally, I was like, ‘Hey, I need to ask you something.’ I told her what I had heard, and I waited for her to deny it or defend herself or maybe even cry and apologize. Instead, she said, ‘Yeah, I said all that.’ And that was it.”

- “[We] always carry about in the body the dying of Jesus so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body.”

(2 Corinthians 4:10)

THE CALVARY ROAD—EXPERIENCE

- “We talked for almost 2 hours about what happened and why, and we came down to, ‘Do you still even want to be friends? How much is our friendship worth?’ We decided for the sake of our group of friends at school we couldn’t stop being friends. She seemed amazed at the fact that I only told my mom about this. I was trying to protect her in case it wasn’t true.

- “[We] always carry about in the body the dying of Jesus so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body.”

  (2 Corinthians 4:10)

THE CALVARY ROAD—EXPERIENCE

- “It was as if the concept of a friend who didn’t stab you in the back was new to her. Anyways, we kind of left it off as I’m incredibly hurt, but at this point, I don’t know if I want to spend so much time and effort to mend our relationship. I left it up to her to really try if she thought it was worth it.”

- “[We] always carry about in the body the dying of Jesus so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body.”

  (2 Corinthians 4:10)

THE CALVARY ROAD—EXPERIENCE

- "And then comes The Calvary Experiment . . ."

- [Interjection] It was at this time that Jessica read about brokenness and told me that she had really never forgiven her friend as she should have. Reading about brokenness led her to reevaluate her own actions before they got together again. And then, she continued . . .

- "[We] always carry about in the body the dying of Jesus so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body."

  (2 Corinthians 4:10)

THE CALVARY ROAD—EXPERIENCE

- “She almost cried the other day when I told her about this experiment, and I think she understands that I am doing the best I can to love her as Christ would. We went to a party today, and it was actually really fun. We hung out quite a lot, and we both were more relaxed then we have been in the past.”

- “[We] always carry about in the body the dying of Jesus so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body.”

(2 Corinthians 4:10)

THE CALVARY ROAD—EXPERIENCE

- “Tomorrow, were getting coffee at 10 ☺. I’ll see how that goes, but I think that God is working in both of us to help us see that what we have is an awesome friendship and worth fighting for.”

- “[We] always carry about in the body the dying of Jesus so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body.”

(2 Corinthians 4:10)

THE CALVARY ROAD—EXPERIENCE

- "Tomorrow, were getting coffee at 10 ☺. I'll see how that goes, but I think that God is working in both of us to help us see that what we have is an awesome friendship and worth fighting for."

- [Interjection] Here is the email she sent after her coffee with her friend.

- "[We] always carry about in the body the dying of Jesus so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body."

  (2 Corinthians 4:10)

THE CALVARY ROAD—EXPERIENCE

- "I just wanted to thank you so much for challenging me with The Calvary Experiment. We met today; we were supposed to just grab coffee between 10-12. I picked her up at like 10ish, and we didn't leave till past 2:30! We talked for hours about everything . . . She was like 'that was a breaking point for me. I realized that I needed to make an effort too if you were willing to try' or something like that."

- "[We] always carry about in the body the dying of Jesus so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body."

(2 Corinthians 4:10)

THE CALVARY ROAD—EXPERIENCE

- “Anyways, I just feel incredibly blessed by our conversation, and we are totally getting back on track!
