At THREE Months in the Womb:

Even at this early stage, you began to show a preference toward becoming right- or left-handed. You could feel intense pain, and your nervous system was highly developed and functional. You could open and close your hands. You could yawn and roll over in the womb!

Child Connection Activity:

Try drawing a self or family portrait using your feet. God made your body to work together. Isn't it amazing how your brain controls your feet?

Family Activity Ideas:

Go for a family walk and play at the park.
Use play-doh and create sculptures of your family.
Make shadow puppets.
Play the game Operation (by Hasbro) together.
