FROM A CHURCH PEW TO SOUTHEAST ASIA

"Lisa, would you be my missionary?"

When Lisa Lehman was just a 7-year-old girl sitting in a Nazarene church pew in Central Florida, she felt God speak to her heart. She whispered yes, telling God she'd be ready when the time came. Years passed. Lisa became a special education teacher in Illinois, loved her students, but felt a persistent tug toward foreign missions. Sensing obstacles, she even wrote a letter to headquarters explaining all the reasons she couldn't serve. Yet God had other plans. That same week, Global Missions reached out, connecting her to an opportunity to teach English in Northern Thailand. In 1999, Lisa stepped off the plane in Thailand for an eight-week assignment. She fell in love with the people, the language, and the culture. Today, Lisa is the longest-serving Nazarene missionary on the Southeast Asia Field, training pastors and leaders at the Chapman Institute of Theology in Mae Taeng, Thailand.

WHY WEF MATTERS IN LISA'S STORY

- Stay Focused on the Field: Full coverage for salary, housing, and health care means 100% of their energy goes to ministry and disciple-making.
- Equip National Leaders: Funding supports Bible colleges and seminaries worldwide, empowering local believers to pastor their own communities.
- Have a Global Support Network: Legal, financial, travel, and administrative overhead is managed globally, keeping missionaries safe and sustained long-term.
