Office of the President of the United States
October 31st, 2026

Dear Senators:

In recent days, Argentina has begun a significant geopolitical shift toward the West, with several strategic agreements made with the People's Republic of China currently in the process of being abandoned. Due to a gap in intelligence, the United States has just been made aware of China's conduction of military-support activities at the Espacio Lejano Station in Argentina, which was previously thought to hold solely civilian research capabilities. Reports from analysts within the intelligence community have determined that the Argentine facility is only one component of a much larger Chinese-controlled network spanning the Western Hemisphere. The network has allowed the People's Republic of China to monitor U.S. military movements, collect intelligence, and support their military operations. These developments have raised major concerns regarding China's ability and intention to challenge American military operations and security.

As Argentina realigns towards the United States and China grows bolder in its mission, Congress faces an urgent decision regarding the future of America in the Western Hemisphere. The following proposal calls for the complete eradication of surveillance and potential attack from foreign adversaries by creating a designation for facilities working against the security of this nation.

The United States urges Congress to intervene in this developing crisis. Consider the repercussions of your decision, as the security of our nation and the balance of power throughout the Western Hemisphere is at stake.

Sincerely,

Donald J. Trump
President of the United States

Foreign Surveillance Disruption Act

BE IT ENACTED BY THE CONGRESS HERE ASSEMBLED THAT:

SECTION 1. The United States shall authorize the Department of State to designate any foreign-controlled space, satellite, or telecommunications facility located within the Western Hemisphere as a Foreign Surveillance Threat.

SECTION 2. Foreign Surveillance Threats shall be defined as a facility that materially supports a foreign adversarial nation's military or other operations against the United States.

SECTION 3. The U.S Department of State, U.S Department of the Treasury, and U.S Department of Defense shall oversee the enforcement of this legislation in conjunction with relevant federal agencies. These enforcement details include:

A. The Department of State shall collaborate with U.S. intelligence organizations to identify Foreign Surveillance Threats and shall submit a classified report to Congress within 48 hours identifying designated facilities, the intelligence supporting the designations, and the measures being taken to diminish the threat.

B. The Department of the Treasury shall impose sanctions on designated facilities controlling entities and any foreign organization materially supporting its designated activities.

C. The Department of Defense shall execute measures to protect confidential military communication and operational information from surveillance associated with designated facilities.

SECTION 4. This legislation shall take effect immediately after passing. All laws in conflict with this legislation are hereby declared null and void.

Introduced for Congressional Debate by FBK Congressional Debate Staff.

Office of the President of the United States
November 1st, 2026

Dear Senators:

In response to your decision on the floor this morning regarding foreign surveillance, the People's Republic of China's naval vessels have been detected moving toward the South Atlantic Ocean. U.S. intelligence reports that China intends to use intimidation as a tactic to prevent the loss of its stronghold in the region. The Department of Defense warns that any attempt to secure the Espacio Lejano Station could lead to a direct confrontation with Chinese forces.

Simultaneously in Argentina, Argentine personnel have discovered military-support equipment that previously went unreported. This has led to a clash with Chinese personnel, who refuse to relinquish access to the equipment. The Argentine government has requested immediate assistance to prevent the disruption of their plans of Western realignment.

After consulting with the U.S Department of State, U.S Department of the Treasury, and U.S Department of Defense, we have created a list of possible plans of action that we can take to solve this crisis and protect the security of the Western Hemisphere. I am asking you, as Congress, to independently present which combination of these provisions will work best to resolve this issue. You will individually vote on each of these plans of action once your session has concluded. The United States is turning to you to guide the nation on the next steps toward securing America and the Western Hemisphere.

Sincerely,

Donald J. Trump
President of the United States

Possible Plans of Action

The United States shall:

1. Establish a permanent regional surveillance network to monitor Chinese military and dual-use infrastructure throughout the Western Hemisphere.
2. Allocate $250 billion to replace Chinese-controlled equipment, systems, and technology at the Espacio Lejano Station.
3. Authorize the Department of Defense to increase maritime surveillance and prepare contingency plans if Chinese vessels threaten security in the region or obstruct an agreed security operation.
4. Utilize advanced technology and intelligence networks to monitor China's communication regarding their tactics and strategy.
5. Organize regional partners into a security coalition to counter Chinese military expansion in Latin America.
6. Provide Argentina with immediate intelligence and infrastructure assistance in exchange for a negotiated security partnership.
7. Direct the U.S. International Development Finance Corporation to implement federal guarantees to mobilize private capital to ease the replacement of Chinese financing.
8. Deploy U.S. naval forces to the South Atlantic Ocean for potential operational missions.
9. Assist Argentina in negotiating a withdrawal in exchange for the continued ability to perform civilian scientific operations.
10. Block all property and interests in property that are within or come within U.S. jurisdiction.

Introduced for Congressional Debate by FBK Congressional Debate Staff.