This message is being sent to all administrative managers in the College of Arts and Sciences with a copy to the Chairs, Directors and Deans.

Due to audit requirements we will have to collect and maintain signed ARP certification reports even though no raises were given during the ARP process. Please print the 'Annual Raise Summary and Certification Report' and have the Chair, Director or Department head sign the report (no alternative signature allowed) and return it to me by September 16, 2009.

Subject:	[african-and-afro-american-studies-staff] [all-college-staff] FROM THE DEAN: Thank You and Budget Update

The enclosed message from Dean Karen Gil is being sent to all faculty and staff in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Dear Faculty and Staff Colleagues,

Welcome to the start of another academic year. As classes get underway, I want to thank you for making it possible for our students to fulfill their academic goals this term, despite state budget cuts. All of us in the Dean's Office are aware that you are working harder than ever as the College teaches more students with fewer resources.

Let me bring you up to date on the budget. As a result of our share of the permanent state budget cuts, the College had to eliminate about 25 staff positions (including 15 filled positions) and reduce state funding to several important centers. We also had to decrease our instructional budget, resulting in less funding for graduate teaching assistants across the College. Most of these difficult cuts have already been made or are underway.

Last year, we suspended 30 faculty searches. Thanks to a combination of grants, private funds and collaborations with campus partners, we were able to hire outstanding teachers and scholars in a few strategic areas this year and we authorized some searches for new faculty for the coming year.

You may have read that the Governor has asked all state agencies, including the University, to withhold an additional 5% of their state funds. At least for now, that request will not affect the College because the University planned in advance for a larger budget cut.

However, because the cost of higher education has soared nationwide, the University is being asked to examine its administrative procedures and costs. Carolina has been recognized for years as a national leader in providing a first-rate education at a reasonable price. It makes sense that the University should continue to lead in finding solutions to the increased cost of higher education. The College will do its part by seeking more cost-efficient ways to administer our programs.

For a fuller picture of the economic realities we face, please see the Chancellor's budget page online (the link is enclosed below).

We're proud of all that the College contributes to Carolina's academic stature. Most of all we are thankful for all that you do every day to make this possible.

With best regards,

Karen M. Gil
Dean

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: UNC's Seasonal Flu Shot Clinics

09/11/2009

The University, in partnership with the State Health Plan will be offering seasonal influenza vaccinations again this year to employees, beginning Tuesday, September 22nd. To make an appointment, click here: http://ehs.unc.edu/ueohc/flushot.shtml, or log on to http://ehs.unc.edu and click on the orange poster at the top of the page. If you have difficulty accessing the EHS website, ask your supervisor or administrative staff to assist you.

The shots are free to employees covered under the State Health Plan. At your appointment, you will need to present your State Health Plan card along with a photo ID for coverage under the plan. If you are not a member of the State Health Plan, you can still receive a shot, but you will be required to pay $30 by cash or check at the time of vaccination.

These shots are for seasonal influenza only. They will not provide protection against H1N1. For more information about the H1N1 vaccine, go to the Centers for Disease Control H1N1 site at http://www.cdc.gov/h1n1flu/vaccination/public/vaccination_qa_pub.htm

We regret that we are not able to provide flu shots to employee's family members because of parking and staff limitations. However, we encourage everyone to get a flu shot, so log on to http://flucliniclocator.org, enter your zip code, and you will see a list of clinics in your area.

Health experts advise against taking a chance on getting the flu because it can lead to serious complications, and, in some cases, even death.

For further information, call 962-6975.

To: Faculty, Staff, Students, Parents and Alumni

From: Shelley Earp, Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost Committee Chair

The search committee for the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost is sponsoring two town hall meetings to receive your comments about important skills and attributes for the new Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost. As you know, Dr. Bernadette Gray-Little left the position to become the Chancellor of the University of Kansas on August 15, 2009. The committee is conducting a national search. Please attend a town meeting at one of the following times and locations:

September 29, 2009 - 2:00pm - 4:00pm - Toy Lounge, Dey Hall

October 5, 2009 - 2:00pm - 4:00 pm - Pleasants Assembly Room in Wilson Library

For location and parking for the Toy Lounge or the Pleasants Assembly Room in Wilson Library please visit:

http://www.lib.unc.edu/wilson/directions.html

The Search Committee description of the position:

Reporting directly to the Chancellor, the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost is the chief academic officer of the University and is responsible for leading the academic mission and administration of the institution.

The Search Committee seeks candidates with a keen understanding of higher education, the ability to mentor, lead and manage academic constituencies, a passion for educating students, a documented record of scholarly achievement, and a demonstrated respect and appreciation for a world-class faculty. The best candidates will have impeccable integrity, strategic vision, a high energy level, exemplary interpersonal and communication skills, and everyday common sense.

Applications and nominations will be accepted until a new Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost is selected, interested parties are encouraged to submit their materials to the address below by September 30 to receive optimal consideration.

The University Managers Association (UMA), established in 1983, seeks to provide a forum for the exchange of information relevant to management in the university setting. Among our goals, we aim to increase university support for training, expand recognition of university employees, and encourage productive interaction among our members.

If you currently hold a management or supervisory position, you are invited to join the UMA this year. We offer monthly campus conversations with university leaders on relevant and timely topics. We also offer several programs throughout the year, as well as the opportunity to meet with other university managers monthly for lunch.

To learn more about the University Managers Association, please visit the UMA website: http://uma.unc.edu/about.php. You can also join us on Facebook (group name: UNC Chapel Hill University Managers Association) and follow us on Twitter (UNC_UMA) where we'll post information about upcoming programs and speakers. The membership form can also be found online at http://uma.unc.edu/documents/membership_application.pdf.

Invitation to Provide Input to the Administrative Review of Richard Luettich,
Director, Institute of Marine Sciences

A committee has been appointed to conduct a regular administrative review of Richard Luettich, Director, Institute of Marine Sciences. With this email, the members of the committee are inviting your comments about Dr. Luettich's leadership and about the institute itself.

You may communicate with the committee in the following ways:

*You may write or email any member(s) of the committee. Please note that any written communication, including email, becomes a part of the permanent record and can be accessed by Dr. Luettich if he so chooses. University guidelines prevent us from accepting unsigned or anonymous letters.

*You may contact any committee member(s) by phone. Any notes members take during phone contacts are not part of the permanent record and cannot be seen by the subject of the review.

*You may meet with the committee in person on one of the following dates:

Tuesday, September 15th, 1-2:30 pm, Campus YMCA, 2nd Floor, Room 207
Friday, September 25th, 12-2 pm, Institute for Marine Sciences, Morehead City, NC

If you wish to meet with the committee in person and the above dates/times aren't convenient, please contact Michael Aitken by September 25, 2009 to schedule a time to meet with the committee.

As with phone contacts, oral comments are not part of the permanent record.
Know that the guidelines say that persons "may declare at the beginning of their appearance their wish to remain anonymous, insofar as attribution in the committee minutes of specific comments." However a list of all persons appearing before the committee becomes part of the official records.

You may also relay this invitation to anyone you think has an interest in the Institute of Marine Sciences and its services. The deadline for receiving comments is October 2, 2009.

Hello,

Would you like to INSPIRE young students about science in our community?

If your answer is YES, consider volunteering for INSPIRE, a student-led service-oriented club, for this semester!

We are a volunteer organization dedicated to improving science education in North Carolina. Currently We place UNC students into elementary, middle, and high schools in the Chapel Hill-Carrboro area.

You will be partnered with an area science teacher and will go at least once a week to teach a science mini-lesson, help with field trips, or assist the teacher in teaching science to children.

This program will provide some great experience for you and will also be a great resume booster!

To learn more about how to apply to be a volunteer,
PLEASE VISIT http://www.unc.edu/inspire/orientation.html and read the orientation documents.
The application will be due this Sunday, September 13th, 2009.
For information regarding the dates of the upcoming interviews, please read the orientation documents.

Thank you!

http://www.abcsignup.com/view/view_month.aspx?as=52&aid=UNC-ITS&wp=614

Here are some important dates to keep in mind moving forward:

* October 1 - Course Catalog is available for use (converted on September 21)
* October 26 - Program/Plan goes live
* November 16 - Schedule of classes and Enrollment goes live

Please let me know if you have any questions or issues.

Thanks and have a great day,

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Have an IT business idea? Carolina Launch Pad can get you off the ground.

UNC's pre-commercial business accelerator program now taking applications at www.carolinalaunchpad.org

What is Carolina Launch Pad?

Carolina Launch Pad is UNC's business accelerator aimed at aspiring IT entrepreneurs who are part of the UNC community and who have not yet developed their business ideas into funded startups. The program is a partnership between the Renaissance Computing Institute (RENCI), the UNC Chapel Hill Office of Technology Development (OTD) and UNC Chapel Hill's Kenan-Flagler Business School (KFBS).

Who is Eligible?

Carolina faculty, staff, and students who want to turn their technological inventions and ideas into viable businesses. We are aiming at business ideas in the pre-funding stage, not new businesses already selling or providing services.

Launch Pad has space for up to five entrepreneurs each year beginning in January.

What does Launch Pad offer?

Participants will be housed in professional office space at RENCI headquarters in the Europa Center office building in Chapel Hill, where they will have the chance to interact with RENCI's technology experts. Professionals with OTD, KFBS, and from the Triangle IT and business community will be available to coach and mentor the entrepreneurs.

Each Launch Pad participant will receive a small office equipped with a desk, laptop computer, phone, and storage space. The common work area offers a printer, fax machine, and conference table. Parking for a limited number of team members will be available at no charge. Participants will have access to Web server space for hosting a basic website during their one-year stay. Access to RENCI's technological resources, such as high-performance computing, data capabilities, visualization, networking, and hardware engineering will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

How do I apply?

Complete the application form at www.carolinalaunchpad.org by October 15. A limited number of applicants will be selected to interview with the Selection Advisory Committee in November.

For more information, see the Carolina Launch Pad website at www.carolinalaunchpad.org.

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: Alert Carolina Siren Test on Tuesday, September 22

Dear Students, Faculty and Staff:

The University will TEST the emergency sirens and text messages on Tuesday, September 22, between noon and 1 p. m. You don't need to do anything for the test, part of our ongoing Alert Carolina safety awareness campaign. We test the sirens each semester so everyone knows what happens in a real emergency and to make sure the equipment works.

Anyone outside on or near campus is likely to hear the sirens during the test. The sirens will sound an alert tone along with a brief pre-recorded voice message. When testing is complete, a different siren tone and voice message will signal "All clear. Resume normal activities." To hear samples of the alert and "all clear" tones, go to alertcarolina.unc.edu.

The sirens sound only for a life-threatening emergency: 1) an armed and dangerous person is on or near campus; 2) a major chemical spill or hazard has been reported; or 3) a tornado has been sighted.

Then the University also sends a text message to cell phone users who registered their numbers in the online campus directory. In addition, the University communicates in an emergency using means including campus e-mail and voice mail (campus phones only with land lines), the Adverse Weather and Emergency Phone Line, 843-1234 (recorded information), and cable television (on campus and Chapel Hill Time Warner Cable, Channel 4). For details, see alertcarolina.unc.edu, the go-to source for information in an immediate?life-threatening or serious situation involving campus safety.

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: Call for 2010 Carolina Summer Reading Program Book Nominations

Dear Member of the Carolina Community:

With days still warm and the enthusiasm of a new fall semester still fresh, it seems as if it is far too early to begin thinking about next summer and next fall. Yet, the 2010 Summer Reading Program Book Selection Committee--comprised of faculty, staff, and students--will soon begin the process of selecting next year's book.

We invite all members of the UNC-Chapel Hill community to recommend books for our consideration. Criteria for book selection include the following desirable qualities:

* Intellectually stimulating: stretching students' minds, causing students to think about things they might not have thought about previously.
* Enjoyable, engaging, relatively short, easy to read, and of current interest.
* Able to provoke interesting discussion.
* Appropriate for the level of maturity of incoming students.
* Having a theme or topic applicable to students' lives (for example, societal, political, or ethical issues).

Do you have a favorite book that meets these criteria? What book do you think will stimulate critical discussion among incoming students next summer? To make your suggestion, visit the Carolina Summer Reading Program website: http://www.unc.edu/srp/. Full consideration will be given to all book recommendations received by October 7, 2009.

Thanks for your consideration of this matter.

Subject: Africana Job Search at Williams College

Dear Prof. Nyang'oro:

I'm hoping you've heard about our search from our advertising efforts (H-Afro Am, Chronicle, etc.); if not, I wanted to bring to your attention that we are doing a tenure-track Assistant Professor hire this fall in Africana Studies in the Social Sciences (History excepted). Please spread the word to your colleagues and send your promising recent graduate students our way.

I'm enclosing the official job notice below. We are hoping to receive applications by the end of September. We are a small program in a small liberal arts college, but we've got two dynamic new faculty members (Devyn Spence Benson and Neil Roberts), and a total of four Junior positions (Stephane Robolin is on leave; we are hiring for the fourth now). Please call and/or email with questions, and please send this along to your faculty, graduate students, and listservs.
Thank you very much,

Shanti Singham

Assistant Professor of Africana Studies, Williams College

Williams College invites applications for a tenure-track position in Africana Studies at the Assistant Professor level to begin in the fall of 2010. The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. in a field in the Social Sciences, with the exception of History. The candidate should have a strong interest in teaching on the undergraduate level, a record of research and scholarship, and familiarity with the various developments and contours of Africana Studies.

The candidate will join a number of colleagues in teaching and researching about the black experience in the context of an established liberal arts curriculum. The program is augmented by endowed special lectures and visiting professorships, including the annual Allison Davis Lecture, Gaius Bolin post-graduate appointments, the Sterling Brown Visiting Professorship, and active dance and music ensembles. See http://www.williams.edu/africana-studies/. The normal teaching load at Williams consists of four semester courses per year and a four-week Winter Study term every other year. The candidate will normally teach an introductory course and a senior-level capstone course. Other courses offered will draw on the specialty of the candidate.
Candidates should submit cover letter, C.V., and dossier, including at least three letters of reference. Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2009, and continue until the search is completed. Send application materials to:

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: Sept. 26 Seasonal Flu Vaccination Clinic for Employees and Immediate Family

Dear Faculty and Staff:

The University is holding a special seasonal influenza vaccination clinic for employees and their immediate family members on Saturday, September 26, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the William and Ida Friday Conference Center.

Employees must register for the clinic through http://ehs.unc.edu/ueohc/flushot.shtml, or log on to http://ehs.unc.edu and click on the orange poster at the top of the page.

You do not have to indicate how many family members you will bring to the clinic. We do request, however, that if you do not need to use this clinic for family members, please use the existing on-campus clinics to receive your own vaccination (see http://ehs.unc.edu/ueohc/flushot.shtml for the list of clinics).

The shots are free to employees and their immediate family members covered under the following insurance company plans: Blue Cross Blue Shield; Partners; Aetna; Humana Gold; SummaCare; Advantra Freedom and Medicare Part B.

At your appointment, you will need to present an insurance card for every member of your family who will be vaccinated, along with a photo ID for all family members over age 16. If you are not covered under a plan by any of the insurance companies listed above, you can still receive a shot, but you will be required to pay $30 by cash or check at the time of the vaccination.

These shots are for seasonal influenza only. They will not provide protection against H1N1. Information about the H1N1 vaccine is available on the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's H1N1 site at http://www.cdc.gov/h1n1flu/vaccination/public/vaccination_qa_pub.htm.

Health experts advise against taking a chance on getting the flu because it can lead to serious complications, and in some cases, even death.

If you have additional questions, please e-mail jacovely@ehs.unc.edu.

Sincerely,

Mary Beth Koza

TREATMENT FOR OBSESSIVE-COMPULSIVE DISORDER (OCD)

Are you anxious about germs, mistakes, harm, numbers, or unpleasant obsessive thoughts? Do you have problems with compulsive checking, washing, asking for reassurance, or repeating rituals?

If you or your partner experiences any of these problems and are between 18 and 75 years of age, you and your partner might be eligible to participate in a research study on couples therapy for OCD. We are trying to improve upon existing treatments for OCD by including the sufferer's partner. This treatment that we are testing is offered at no cost through a research study being conducted by the UNC-Chapel Hill Anxiety Disorders Clinic. The study will include cognitive-behavior therapy and will not require you to go on any medication, or change any existing medication.

On the Weight Rollercoaster and Want to Get Off?
"The Empowerment Solution for Permanent Weight Control"

NOW ENROLLING FOR FALL

LOCATION: UNC Hospitals.

Weight loss is a gradual process. Speedy diets may work in the short-run but typically do not result in long-term weight maintenance. Long-term behavioral weight control programs usually result in a weight loss of 1-2 pounds per week, depending on several factors (e.g., initial body weight, adhering to the lifestyle change).

Based on the evidence, the UNC Eating Disorders Program offers a 5-month(20-week) Behavioral Weight Control Program which incorporates the important behaviors associated with long-term weight control. This program focuses on BEHAVIORAL strategies for weight control and HEALTHY NUTRITION.

Groups contain 8-12 participants who meet for one-hour per week to learn several skills and strategies to produce a permanent lifestyle change. Groups are facilitated by Dr. Millie Maxwell, licensed professional counselor and clinical instructor at UNC School of Medicine.

Topics include:

* Balanced diet
* Exercise
* Learning the relationship between mood and eating
* Restaurant eating
* Meal planning
* Managing cravings
* Mindful eating
* Identifying triggers and cues
* Handling obstacles
* Goal setting
* Time management
* Weight maintenance.

Enrollment includes:

* 20 one-hour weekly group sessions
* Two sessions facilitated by a registered dietitian
* Book: Runaway Eating by Cynthia M. Bulik, PhD and Nadine Taylor, MS, RD
* CD-ROM: "The Empowerment Solution for Permanent Weight Control"
* Program materials.

Fee:
* $440 includes the 20-week course and all enrollment materials (equates to $22 per group session).
* $50 deposit (included in the $440 fee) to hold your place and Full payment due at first meeting.

* The UNC Health Care Flexible Spending account may be used with a letter from your physician. Check with your insurance company to determine if you could receive reimbursement for this course.

Re: Administrative Review of Dr. Jesse White, Director for Office of Economic and Business Development

September 18, 2009

Invitation to Provide Input to the Administrative Review of Dr. Jesse White, Director, Office of Economic and Business Development

As required by University regulations, a committee has been appointed to conduct a regular administrative review of Dr. Jesse White, Director for the UNC Office of Economic and Business Development (OEBD). Under Dr. White's leadership, the Office seeks to connect North Carolina communities and businesses to the unique economic development resources of UNC-Chapel Hill. With this email, the members of the Committee are inviting comments about Dr. White's leadership as Director, and about the work of the Office itself. For more information about the OEBD, please see the following link: http://research.unc.edu/oebd/.

The Committee invites your participation in this review process by offering comments on these and related issues. It is important for the Committee to learn how Dr. White's performance as Director is viewed by students, staff, and faculty at UNC-Chapel Hill. We especially welcome your suggestions for improving the overall functioning of the OEBD.

We encourage you to contribute in the following ways:

1) The Committee has scheduled two open public hearing sessions to receive comments. These times are:

Monday, October 5, 4:00-5:00pm

and

Thursday, October 8, 2:00-3:00pm

Location for both Sessions: City & Regional Planning
New East, Room 101

If you wish to meet with the Committee on one of these dates, please contact Nan Sanseverino in the Office of Federal Affairs (nan_sanseverino@unc.edu or 919.843.0050), and she will schedule a specific time (approximately 10-15 minutes time slots). Request for a meeting time must be made no later than Thursday, October 1, 2009.

2) You may provide written statements to the Chair or other members of the Committee. All written comments should be emailed to nan_sanseverino@unc.edu or mailed to: The Review Committee, Dr. Jesse White Administrative Review, Office of Federal Affairs, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, 300 Bynum Hall, Campus Box 7006, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-7006.

3) You may telephone or meet privately in person with individual committee members. Please feel free to contact committee members directly or Nan Sanseverino for scheduling.

Anonymity and Confidentiality

Written comments: University regulations prohibit anonymous written comments in the review process. Written comments will be kept confidential by the committee members and will not be shared with anyone else. There is one exception to that confidentiality, however. North Carolina law requires that all written comments--whether on paper or by email--become a part of Dr. White's personnel file and available to him for review.

Oral comments: Oral comments in this process, whether in a public hearing or individual conversations with committee members, will be kept confidential. The comments or any notes about oral comments do not become a part of Dr. White's personnel file. If you request anonymity for oral comments, your identity will be known only by the committee and it will be kept confidential by them. A master list of everyone making oral comments will be included in the final report, but the report will not attribute comments to anyone who has requested anonymity.

Please share this invitation with anyone else you think has an interest in the UNC Office of Economic and Business Development and its services.

The deadline for submitting comments regarding Dr. White's performance to the Committee is Friday, October 16, 2009, by 5:00pm. We appreciate everyone's assistance with this very important process.

Dear Students, Faculty and Staff:

You may hear the University's emergency sirens tomorrow, Tuesday, September 22, between noon and 1 p.m. during a TEST that is part of Alert Carolina, our ongoing safety awareness campaign. No action is needed.

The sirens only sound during a life-threatening emergency - an armed and dangerous person on or near campus, a major chemical spill or hazard, or a tornado sighting. Be prepared to go inside or take cover immediately in a real emergency.

The University also sends test text messages to anyone who has registered their cell phone number in the online campus directory. For more information, including audio samples of the siren tones, see http://alertcarolina.unc.edu.

MEMORANDUM

To: All Students, Faculty and Staff

From: Holden Thorp, Chancellor

Subject: Policies Prohibiting Harassment and Discrimination

Date: September 14, 2009

As another semester begins, I want to emphasize Carolina's commitment to provide a welcoming, inclusive environment. The University supports the right of every member of the Carolina community to learn and work in an atmosphere free from discrimination and harassment. Our educational and employment decisions are based on an individual's abilities and qualifications, not on a person's background, beliefs or circumstances.

The University has adopted a Policy Statement on Non-Discrimination and a Policy on Prohibited Harassment and Discrimination.

The Policy on Prohibited Harassment and Discrimination specifies the procedures for reporting and addressing concerns of students, SPA employees, and EPA faculty and non-faculty employees. The University's policies apply to all members of the Carolina community and affirm that the University does not discriminate on the basis of an individual's race, color, gender, national origin, age, religion, creed, disability, veteran's status, sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression.

Copies of the policies are available at http://www.unc.edu/campus/policies.html. I ask that you take time to read them and become aware of the resources available to help resolve any concerns about discrimination or harassment. Everyone who works or studies at Carolina should understand the expectations for respectful, appropriate interactions among students, faculty and staff.

The Equal Opportunity Office has primary oversight of the University's harassment and discrimination policies and procedures. You can find information about the policies, including a question-and-answer section, on the Equal Opportunity Office Web site, http://www.unc.edu/depts/eooada/. This site also provides two online training programs concerning the issues involved in harassment and discrimination: Preventing Sexual Harassment and Preventing Employment Discrimination. In addition, the Equal Opportunity Office staff is available to discuss on-site training for groups or departments.

If you have any questions or concerns, I encourage you to contact the Equal Opportunity Office (966-3576) or any of the following offices on campus: Dean of Students' Office (966-4042), Office of Human Resources' Employee and Management Relations (843-3444), Ombuds Office (843-8204), Academic Personnel Office (962-1091), Office of the Associate Provost for Diversity and Multicultural Affairs (962-6962), Department of Disability Services (962-8300), the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Queer Center (843-5376) or the respective chairs of the student, faculty and EPA non-faculty grievance committees. Campus Health Services' Counseling and Wellness Services (966-3658) is also available to assist students.

The people in these offices can help you understand the policies and the options for resolving any discrimination or harassment concerns connected with your study or work at the University. With the exception of Counseling and Wellness Services and the Ombuds Office, these offices are required to investigate any concerns you share.

The University can guarantee complete confidentiality only when a student shares a concern with Counseling and Wellness Services and when an employee shares a concern with the Ombuds Office that does not involve an imminent risk of serious harm.

We can eliminate discrimination and harassment and the consequences for failing to deal with these issues only through our commitment to avert these problems. I appreciate your efforts to sustain and strengthen this commitment at Carolina.

Dear Students, Faculty and Staff:

You received this e-mail as part of a TEST of the University's emergency sirens. The message coincided with the beginning of the siren test. It typically takes at least two hours for a campus-wide e-mail to be delivered to everyone. In an emergency, we plan to use all available communication methods including e-mail as part of a multi-layered strategy to reach as many people, including those who may not be on campus when a real siren occurs, as quickly as possible. For more information, see alertcarolina.unc.edu.

RE: 2009 State Employees Combined Campaign Kickoff and Charity Fair

The University will kick off the 2009 State Employees Combined Campaign (SECC) on Monday, September 28. UNC has many proud traditions, but one of the most important is the commitment we make each year to the local community through the SECC. We are continuing last year's campaign theme, "Carolina Cares-Carolina Shares," which reflects Carolina's strong tradition of working for positive change and seeking to improve the well-being of all North Carolinians. As the campaign chair, I view the SECC as a meaningful way to affirm our commitment to the local community and to support nearly 1,000 non-profit organizations that share our vision of helping others.

I would like to invite you to join Chancellor Thorp and me at the 2009 SECC Kickoff and Charity Fair in the Great Hall of the Frank Porter Graham Student Union. Mark your calendar to attend this event on Monday, September 28, 2009, from 12pm to 2pm.

The Kickoff and Charity Fair gives all UNC employees an opportunity to learn more about the campaign and the work of more than 40 local non-profit organizations. In addition to free box lunches to the first 250 attendees, provided by Carolina Catering, everyone will be eligible for door prizes donated by local organizations such as the Carolina Inn, PlayMakers Repertory Company and the North Carolina State Fair.

I hope you will come and bring a co-worker to the SECC Charity Fair and celebrate the launch of what I am confident will be a very successful campaign. For more information, visit the 2009 UNC SECC website: www.unc.edu/secc

If you have any questions about the SECC or the Charity Fair, please e-mail secc@unc.edu.

Thank you!

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Carolina College Advising Corps Seeks New Advisers

Are you interested in working full-time to help kids get to college? Do you know someone who would make a great mentor and adviser for high school students? If so, apply or nominate a UNC senior to be a Carolina College Adviser.

UNC-Chapel Hill's Carolina College Advising Corps, under the auspices of the Office of Undergraduate Admissions, seeks new graduates to serve as college advisers in low-income high schools across North Carolina.

This full-time, paid service position requires tact, diplomacy, and a strong commitment to service. The position requires a bachelor degree from Carolina, preferably earned in December 2009 or May 2010.

College advisers tailor programs and activities to meet the specific needs of their assigned schools and perform the following duties, among others:
1) Provide one-on-one admissions and financial-aid advice to any student or family seeking assistance. 2) Organize group events that encourage students and their families to consider, plan for, and apply to colleges and universities. 3) Establish productive working relationships with principals, counselors, and teachers in each assigned high school. 4) Assist in the efforts of other CCAC advisers within the service area. 5) Assist in the assessment and long-term sustainability of the program. 6) Maintain expertise in admissions and financial-aid advising

Application deadline: October 30, 2009 for November interview or January 29, 2010 for February interview

See job listing at careers.unc.edu

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: Important Request to Check Directory Listings

To: UNC-Chapel Hill Faculty and Staff
From: Jerri Bland, ConnectCarolina Project Director

This summer, the first phase of ConnectCarolina, the University's new integrated administrative system, became available for users. This includes the new MyUNC portal (http://my.unc.edu/dt) where the online campus directory is accessed.

You are requested to log-in to MyUNC using your Onyen and password to review and update your directory information, particularly addresses and phone numbers.

It is very important that your information be correct in the online campus directory. Because ConnectCarolina centralizes management of person information in one integrated system, any information in the directory is duplicated in all of the University's administrative systems (payroll, benefits, etc.).

Every effort was made to ensure that the online campus directory information is correct. However, in a few cases there may be out-of-date or incorrect information that could result, for example, in the generation of a change of address letter from a benefits vendor. This is easily correctable by simply logging in to MyUNC and updating any incorrect information. No further action on the part of the employee is required.

There may also be a few cases in which a change of address letter from a benefits vendor is generated if a correct address is altered via a secondary software program that formats addresses to meet postal regulations (for example, an address containing "Lane" being formatted to "LN"). In these cases, no action is required on the part of employees.

If you need help using the online campus directory, please visit the Help Desk's online help documentation: http://help.unc.edu/5834 or contact the Help Desk at (919) 962-HELP (962-4357). In the future, employees will be reminded to review and update their directory information quarterly.

If you would like further information on ConnectCarolina, MyUNC, the online campus directory or the work that was done to create the integrated administrative system, please click here:
http://connectcarolina.unc.edu/news/erp-news/review-and-update-your-directory-listing.html

Thank you for your patience and understanding during this transition.

It can be found under Administrative Information in the Travel section.
We have added a "Prepared by:" section at the top and updated the dollar amounts available.

Dear Scheduling Officer,

Schedule of Classes training in PeopleSoft will begin on September 15. Registration for training will be handled through an initial invitation. Invitees will be able to select the session that is most convenient for them. Sessions will be offered twice a week with one offered in the morning (9:00 to noon) and one in the afternoon (1:30 to 4:30). All sessions will be scheduled in the Porthole Training Facility.

The content for each session will include: Introduction to ConnectCarolina, PeopleSoft Basics, Course Catalog, Single Section Classes, Multi-Section Classes, Multi-Component Classes, Combined Sections.

To ensure that we have a complete and accurate list of those in your department who need to be trained, please respond to this email with the following information:

- Name, email, and Onyen of person(s) to be trained
- ALso please specify the school and department

We will begin sending out invitations as soon as we receive this information.

Thank you for your assistance,

ConnectCarolina Training

Information Technology Services
The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

We are continuing the transition to the ConnectCarolina environment -- the go-live dates for the Campus Community and Undergraduate Admissions phases were in July and August, and the Schedule of Classes functionality goes live in October. Training to help staff prepare for the latest implementation is underway.

You are invited to register for the following workshop (identified as required for your current role):

- Student Records: Schedule of Classes

Please visit the ConnectCarolina Current Schedule of Workshops (http://connectcarolina.unc.edu/workshops) and click on the workshop title to:

- View its description and any prerequisites
- Register online

Note that both FERPA and Introduction to PeopleSoft online training sessions are required prior to attending the workshop listed above. Information for how to access these online sessions is available in the workshop description. These sessions take approximately 30 minutes each. The Office of the University Registrar is requiring FERPA training prior to receiving access to the ConnectCarolina environment.

Additionally, we will offer Schedule of Classes Help Sessions. These sessions will not be listed on the ConnectCarolina Current Schedule of Workshops, but will be offered 9:00-12:00 or 1:30-4:30 at the same location and on the same day as the workshop listed above, with the exception of workshops that are scheduled on Fridays. Drop-in anytime during the day for assisted time to enter schedules of classes in PeopleSoft.

Please email us at ConnectCarolina Training@unc.edu with any questions or concerns you may have.

Your training team,

FLAIR E-mail Announcement
SUBJECT: INFORMATIONAL: Research Study About People with Allergic Rhinitis (Hay Fever), Flu Vaccine and Diesel Exhaust.

People with allergic rhinitis often have symptoms of sneezing, runny or stuffy nose, post nasal drip, scratchy or itchy throat or itchy nose or ears. The purpose of this study is determine if individuals with these kinds of symptoms have increased inflammatory responses to flu virus following exposure to diesel exhaust as compared to individuals who are exposed to plain air. Volunteers will be exposed for 2 hours to either diesel exhaust or plain air inside a chamber for two hours. Three hours after exposure an FDA approved influenza vaccine called FluMist^{TM} will be administered as a nasal spray. Volunteers must be healthy people with allergies, ages 18 to 45. There are a total of 8 visits, about 10-12 hours, over 5 to 7 weeks. If all visits are kept and procedures completed the study pays $435.

Please see www.epastudies.org.

Approved [9/22/09] by the Office of Human Research Ethics Biomedical Institutional Review Board.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Chapel Hill Police Report Sexual Assault

ATTENTION UNC STUDENTS, STAFF, AND FACULTY:

The Town of Chapel Hill Police are investigating a sexual assault that occurred Monday evening, Sept. 21, a Wednesday report stated.

Chapel Hill Police reported that a female was walking northbound along Martin Luther King Boulevard when she was approached by a male near Municipal Drive. The suspect allegedly forced her into a vehicle and sexually assaulted her. No description of the suspect or vehicle was available.

UNC Public Safety asks that anyone with information that could help the investigation to call 962-8100 or Carrboro-Chapel Hill-UNC Crime Stoppers at 942-7515. All conversations with Crime Stoppers are confidential; no one must identify themselves or appear in court.

Public Safety also reminds the campus community to be vigilant about personal safety and to report any suspicious activity. For a list of safety tips, see alertcarolina.unc.edu.

Thank You,
UNC Public Safety

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: Change in Employee Work Day Hours on Oct. 22

TO: All University Employees

FROM: Brenda Richardson Malone, Vice Chancellor for Human Resources

On Thursday, Oct. 22, the North Carolina Tar Heels will host the Florida State Seminoles for a nationally televised football game at Kenan Stadium, starting at 8 p.m. This Thursday night game, which will occur during our students' Fall Break, is expected to attract a large crowd of fans on campus, beginning as early as 4 p.m. As a result, the University will alter the time at which the work day ends to allow all University employees ample time to leave campus and avoid the expected traffic congestion. A separate communication from the Department of Public Safety will address specific parking plans and arrangements for this date.

On Oct. 22, the regular work day hours will be changed from 8-5 p.m. to 8-3 p.m. By moving the end of the work day to 3 p.m. on this day, we anticipate that those leaving campus at that hour should encounter significantly less inconvenience.

Employees who cannot work their regularly scheduled hours on Oct. 22 because of the workday schedule change must make up or code leave for those hours. Several options will allow employees to be paid for these hours without undue hardship. We advise managers to be as flexible as possible in allowing employees to use the following:

-- Employees can work the additional hours during that week, with management's approval, by either coming in early, staying late, working a reduced lunch break or some combination of the above on the other four days in that same workweek (Oct. 19, 20, 21 and 23).

-- Employees can use available flexible furlough hours to cover the leave.

-- Employees can use any accrued compensatory time, or available vacation or bonus leave, to cover the hours if they prefer.

Please be advised that the University will not provide any additional compensation or equal time off for employees who are required to work after 3 p.m. on Oct. 22 for a specific business reason as directed by management.

Second-shift employees should not be affected by this change in the work day end time unless otherwise notified by management. The football game will not require any changes to the schedules of third-shift employees.

Facilities Services employees will receive separate notification regarding work arrangements for this day.

For additional information, employees should contact their assigned Employee & Management Relations Specialist in the Office of Human Resources; you can find your assigned specialist by visiting HR Connect at hrconnect.unc.edu.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Seeking Adolescent Participants (ages 12-16) for UNC Friendship Study (Earn $80

Parents and Mental Healthcare Providers: Researchers are currently seeking participants (ages 12-16) for an important study of adolescent friendship and development called Project ARCH (Adolescents, Relationships, Coping, and Health). Specifically, we are seeking adolescents who have ever been assessed or received treatment for depressed mood, anxiety, or other mental health concerns.

Participants would complete questionnaires and discuss several adolescent-oriented topics with a close friend. We can schedule visits to our near-campus location on Finley Golf Course Road any afternoon or evening during the week and anytime on the weekend. Participants earn up to $80 for participating and we offer driving reimbursement for long-distance participants.

For more information, please contact Amanda van Scoyoc at 919-843-2352 or by email at project.arch@unc.edu.

This research study (IRB#07-0929) was approved by the UNC-CH Behavioral IRB.

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: University Teaching Awards Deadline

TO: Faculty, Staff and Students

FROM: Dr. Joe Lowman, Chair
University Teaching Awards Committee

SUBJECT: Teaching Award Nominations Deadline is October 1

Each year, we acknowledge the central role of teaching at UNC-Chapel Hill by recognizing faculty, staff and students for outstanding teaching and mentoring. The University Committee on Teaching Awards values your nominations of deserving faculty members and graduate teaching assistants for distinguished teaching awards. Please take a moment to think of those who are deserving of these awards and nominate them via the website

http://provost.unc.edu/teaching-awards

The committee will review the nominees, collect additional information about their teaching and recommend winners to the Chancellor. This year, we will select recipients for five types of awards:

Board of Governors' Award for Excellence in Teaching: This award is given by the Board of Governors to a tenured faculty member on each UNC campus for excellent and exceptional teaching at the undergraduate level over a sustained period of time.

Distinguished Teaching Awards for Post-Baccalaureate Instruction Four awards are given to faculty members for exceptional teaching of post-baccalaureate students.

Awards to Faculty for Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching: Five Tanner Awards, one Friday Award, one Sanders Award and one Sitterson Award are given to full-time faculty members.

Tanner Awards to Graduate Teaching Assistants: Five Tanner Awards are given to graduate teaching assistants for excellence in undergraduate teaching.

Mentor Award for Lifetime Achievement: This award acknowledges lifetime contributions to teaching, learning and mentoring beyond the classroom and is not limited to traditional faculty. If you nominate someone for this award, please focus on his or her long-term impact on students.
University Professor of Distinguished Teaching: Two three-year term professorships established to recognize career-long excellence in teaching. One will be for tenured faculty in Academic Affairs (including professional schools) and one for tenured faculty in Health Affairs.

Please submit all nominations online.

http://provost.unc.edu/teaching-awards

No individual may receive more than one award.

NOTE: YOUR NOMINATION MUST INCLUDE A LETTER TELLING US WHY THIS TEACHER DERSERVES THE AWARD. IF ONLY A NAME IS SUBMITTED IT IS INVALID AND CANNOT BE CONSIDERED.

Your comments will become part of the nominee's departmental personnel file. You may address questions me (962-3993/ jclowman@email.unc.edu or Ms. Debbie Stevenson in the Office of the Provost: (962-7882 / debbie_stevenson@unc.edu).

The deadline for submitting nominations is October 1.

Thank you for your help in rewarding excellent teaching at Carolina!

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Pedestrian Safety Tips for Tar Heels on the Move!

Pedestrian Safety Tips for Tar Heels on the Move!

With shorter daylight hours as fall and winter approach, campus community members -- including pedestrians, bicyclists and motorists -- need to take extra precautions in the campus environment. The University would like to encourage its students, faculty, staff and visitors to stay safe when commuting on campus.

The UNC Highway Safety Research Center and the UNC Department of Public Safety offer the following safety tips to the University community. For more safety tips for pedestrians, bicyclists and drivers, please visit http://www.hsrc.unc.edu/y2h.

Safety Tips for Drivers

When approaching a crosswalk area, be prepared to stop for pedestrians. Failure to yield to a pedestrian in a marked crosswalk is a violation of North Carolina law.

Drive the speed limit, avoid aggressive maneuvers and use turn signals. Check both directions before pulling out from driveways and stop signs.

Watch for bicyclists and pedestrians at all times, especially when turning. Bicycles are vehicles and bicyclists may take the entire lane. Scan for bicyclists in traffic and give them the appropriate right-of-way.

Do not overtake and pass other vehicles stopped for pedestrians on your side of the roadway.

Watch for bicyclists before opening car doors or backing out of a parking space.

Pass bicyclists with care. Treat bicyclists as you would a slow-moving car - don't tailgate, and do wait until traffic conditions allow you to safely pass the bicyclist. Reduce speed when passing bicyclists and allow at least 3 ft of passing space. Check over your shoulder after passing a bicyclist before moving back. Never pass a bicyclist and immediately make a right turn.

Do not text or talk on your cell phone while driving.

Safety Tips for Pedestrians

Look across all lanes you must cross. Even though one vehicle has stopped, another may pass in another lane.

Do not assume vehicles can stop. Gauge the flow of traffic before you step out onto the road and wait if necessary. Establish eye contact with drivers before crossing.

Always look before you cross the road. Do not rely solely on pedestrian signals.

Avoid wearing headphones or talking on a cell phone while crossing the street.

Dress in light clothing and wear retro-reflective clothing/materials and/or carry a flashlight when walking at night.

Safety Tips for Bicyclists

Always wear a helmet. Properly wearing a helmet when cycling is your best means of protection against serious injury.

Be predictable and visible. Ride in a straight line, don't weave in and out of lanes or between cars, and use hand signals when turning and stopping.

Always ride with traffic and follow the rules of the road.

Obey traffic signs, signals, and lane markings and yield to traffic when appropriate, including pedestrians.

If riding in the dark, use headlights, taillights and reflectors. Also retro-reflective materials and brightly colored clothing can help others see you better, even during the day.

Avoid wearing headphones or talking on a cell phone while bicycling.

To report a problem area or to notify the Department of Public Safety of potential problem areas, please call the Pedestrian Hotline at 919-843-PEDS (7337).

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Individuals following Stroke Needed for Rehabilitation Study

People who are post-stroke are encouraged to participate in an ongoing research study investigating changing treadmill speed during walking training. This study is being conducted in the Interdisciplinary Human Movement Laboratory in the Division of Physical Therapy.

The purpose of the Interdisciplinary Human Movement Laboratory is to improve rehabilitation strategies in people who are post-stroke.

You or someone you know may be eligible if:
*have experienced an ischemic or hemorrhagic unilateral brain lesion at least six months ago
*able to walk without physical assistance
*no history of falls or balanced deficits unrelated to the stroke
*no cardiorespiratory or metabolic diseases
*no total joint replacements

Participation in the study includes:
*a brief clinical exam conducted by a physical therapist to determine functional performance
*walking across an instrumented mat at two self-selected walking speeds
*one session of walking training for 20 minutes on a treadmill at a constant walking speed
*one session of walking training for 20 minutes on a treadmill at varying walking speeds that change every minute in random fashion.

All participants will wear a harness that attaches to an overhead support system to prevent injury should a trip occur while walking on the treadmill. Rest breaks are permitted as necessary during training.

Compensation will be provided up to a maximum of $50.00 to those who complete both training sessions.

This study, Biomechanical Influences on Motor Learning During Locomotor Training Post-Stroke (IRB #08-1161), has been approved by the UNC Biomedical Institutional Review Board (approved 07/22/2008).

Dear valued GAA member,

Carolina remains one of our nation's leading public institutions – a place that attracts some of the best and brightest students and a place committed to providing an affordable education that is accessible to all.

As GAA members, you should continue to be proud that your Association plays a specific and much-needed role in the life of our University. GAA-sponsored student activities provide additional support in Carolina's efforts to ensure the highest quality student experience possible.

More than 4,160 GAA staff hours are devoted to student programs each year. The Association's role in these endeavors is funded primarily by our member dues. As a GAA member, you make these initiatives possible.

- 41 new student send-offs supported by local Carolina Clubs
- 1,221 served during the New Student and Family Dinner
- 200 sodas, 360 bottles of water and 700 servings of ice cream served during the GAA's Open House event on move-in day
- 2,700 True Blue traditions books distributed during Convocation
- 250 attended a reception for the lighting of the Bell Tower which officially marks the beginning of the school year
- 400 students served during the Breezeway Breakfast on the first day of class
- 4,000 attended Sunset Serenade on Polk Place

In addition, GAA-established endowments and GAA-sponsored programs contribute funds to support:

- 43 Carolina Club scholars from 23 club areas
- 4 Light on the Hill Scholars and 1 Peppers Scholar

19 GAA Scholars and 4 Dibbert Scholars 1 J. Maryon Saunders Scholar

It's critical to the University's success that alumni remain involved and informed. It strengthens Carolina and its position as one of the nation's leading public institutions. Thanks for your continued support of Carolina and your General Alumni Association.

Ackland Art Museum - Fall Preview

The Ackland Art Museum presents two special exhibitions this fall, in addition to a dozen other galleries filled with art and ideas. The Guardian and the Avant-Garde: Seymour Lipton's Sentinel II in Context celebrates the recent acquisition of Seymour Lipton's sculpture Sentinel II by considering the place of this single work within the timeline of art history as well as the provocative connections it suggests with other works of art across time and culture. Also on view this fall is Almost Now: Cuban Art, Cinema, and Politics in the 1960s and 1970s, featuring sixteen Cuban cinema posters (and a signed and numbered print of Alberto Korda's iconic photograph of Che Guevara), which examines the central role that artists, filmmakers, and film audiences have played in Cuban cultural and political discourse since the Cuban Revolution in 1959.

Due to the return of a large number of tickets usually allocated to the visiting team, Faculty and Staff Members may purchase tickets to the UNC vs. Georgia Southern football game on October 10, 2009 for $10 each. The regular price of these tickets is $50 each.

To take advantage of this offer, while supplies last, copy and paste the following link into your browser:

http://ev10.evenue.net/cgi-bin/ncommerce3/SEGetEventInfo?ticketCode=PR%3AUNC%3AFB09%3AF04%3AFB09F-S&linkID=unc&shopperContext=&caller=PR&appCode=&prc=FB09F-S&ppc=FB09F-S

You may also visit www.tarheelblue.com, then click on "Ticket Center" in the upper right corner. Once the new page opens, click "Promotions" on the left and enter FB09F-S.

You may also purchase tickets in person at the Smith Center Ticket Office as long as supplies last. The Ticket Office is open from 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM. You must present your UNC One Card or Hospital ID at the time of purchase.

We look forward to seeing you in Kenan Stadium and thank you for your continued support of Carolina athletics!

Recognize Carolina faculty or staff members whose volunteer efforts make our communities better places in which to live by nominating them for an Unsung Heel award.

The Employee Forum Awards and Recognition Committee will be looking for UNC employees who go the extra mile in their communities through volunteer efforts. Do you know folks who give without thought of anything in return? If so, we want to know about them. Nominations will be accepted through October 15. We look forward to honoring our fellow Unsung Heels!

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: 2010 Annual Benefit Enrollment Information

Office of Human Resources

It's time to take a look at your benefits. During this year's enrollment period, Oct. 5-30, 2009, you have the opportunity to enroll or change your existing benefit elections for 2010 in the NCFlex and University benefit programs.

You must re-enroll in the health care and dependent day care flexible spending accounts each year. Other benefits, including dental, vision, life insurance, cancer and accidental death and voluntary dismemberment insurance, do not require annual re-enrollment.

In addition, NCFlex is introducing a new $10,000 "core" accidental death & dismemberment (AD&D) benefit, but you must log onto the NCFlex system and select this benefit during the enrollment period.

You will receive a detailed University enrollment guide via campus mail, along with a copy of the NCFlex enrollment booklet. You can also find these resources, as well as other information, tools and links, at the University annual enrollment Web site, http://hr.unc.edu/Data/benefits/enroll.

Assistance from the Office of Human Resources

Benefits specialists in the Office of Human Resources will be available to provide enrollment assistance and to answer questions about any of these benefit plans during the enrollment period. Call the Benefits Office main line at 919-962-3071.

Enrollment Options

-- NCFlex Benefit Program

For NCFlex benefits and coverage, including the new "core" AD&D benefit, select the link to the NCFlex Online Enrollment site (www.ncflexonline.org). The online enrollment tool is available from any computer with Internet access.

In addition to the online enrollment tool, telephone enrollment is also available. Call 888-860-6118 (Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. - 8 p.m.). Interpreters are also available via phone for more than 30 languages, including Spanish and Burmese.

Paper enrollments will NOT be accepted for the NCFlex benefit program for 2010.

-- University Benefit Program

For University benefits, select the link to the University's enrollment Web site at http://hr.unc.edu/Data/benefits/enroll, print the appropriate enrollment/change form(s) and send to Benefit Services by Oct. 30. Forms can be sent via interoffice mail to Campus Box 1045 or by US mail to Office of Human Resources, Benefits Services, 104 Airport

Drive, Chapel Hill NC 27599-1045.

For your convenience a green drop box marked "Benefit Programs" is located at the front doors of the Administrative Office Building so forms can be dropped off after business hours.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Message from the Chancellor: Your Invitation to University Day Oct. 12th

Dear Students, Faculty and Staff:

You're invited to help celebrate the University's history and Carolina's future. Every October 12th, we commemorate the laying of the cornerstone of Old East and the beginning of American public higher education.

This year's University Day convocation will be held on Monday, October 12, at 11 a.m. in Memorial Hall. Classes will be canceled from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. so the campus community may attend. (Attendance is considered work time for staff employees, who are encouraged to seek advance approval from their supervisors.)

We're honored to have Governor Beverly Perdue give this year's featured remarks. She holds a Ph.D. in education administration and has worked tirelessly on behalf of public education in North Carolina. Her agenda for our state includes creating world-class public schools and improving the health of North Carolinians - two goals the University shares.

During the convocation, we'll also present Distinguished Alumna and Alumnus Awards to Janie Fouke, Santiago Gangotena, Mia Hamm, Walter Hussman and the late William Little. In fact, Dr. Gangotena will bring with him a group of visitors from the Universidad San Francisco de Quito. Recently, Carolina and USFQ have begun joint research endeavors in the Galapagos Islands, an international partnership that has great potential to help preserve one of the world's most treasured living laboratories.

Finally, University Day is a time when we traditionally celebrate new milestones in campus life. This year, the spotlight will shine on the new Education Center at the North Carolina Botanical Garden. The building is expected to be the first public building in North Carolina to receive the highest level of certification for green architecture. It's a great example of the University's commitment to sustainability.

You will find more information about University Day, including our partnership in the Galapagos with USFQ, at http://www.unc.edu/universityday.

I look forward to seeing you in Memorial Hall.

Sincerely,

Holden Thorp

Hi,
Sorry to bombard you with emails but just a reminder about when you download the new Astra. You will open up to the events tab so you need to go to the sections tab. Then when you are in sections, you will have every column available to be seen. You probably adjusted that when you first opened the old Astra. You'll have to use the following instructions to change how you view your database. Call if you have questions.

The Database Layout Tool

The way the data in the active tab appears on your screen can be customized to look more like data as it would appear in SIS.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->1. <!--[endif]--> <!--[if !vml]--><!--[endif]-->Click the Database Layout icon <!--[if !vml]--> <!--[endif]--> in the upper toolbar (you may also select Database/Database Layout). The Database Layout window will appear. Clicking on a field in either panel highlights the field you want to move.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->2. <!--[endif]-->Click the right directional arrow to move fields from the "Fields Not Displayed" panel to the "Fields Displayed" panel. Click the left arrow to move fields from the "Fields Displayed" panel to the "Fields Not Displayed" panel. To view your fields in a certain order, click and drag any field (up or down) to the desired position.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->3. <!--[endif]-->The two check boxes at the bottom should both be checked to make sure you can see all of your sections and their meeting patterns.

<!--[if !vml]--><!--[endif]--> <!--[if !vml]--> <!--[endif]-->

Recommended Layout for a UNC-CH database

<!--[if !vml]--><!--[endif]-->There are a number of fields that may be displayed in the database layout, most of which you do not need to view. The more fields that you have displayed, the longer it will take for your database to load. Following is a recommended layout to use, although you may set up your layout any way you wish.

Note: Choosing "Days Met" instead of each individual day will result in one column that will show TR or MWF instead of five columns that will show the letter under the day that the class meets.

Good Morning!
Attached to this email are the instructions from downloading the new Ad Astra, the one connected to PeopleSoft.

This version of Ad Astra is a copy of the one you are using now so the look and functionality will be the same. The biggest difference between the two systems is that the new Astra only contains terms Fall 2010 an beyond, the old Astra will have up to Summer 2010 term.

Please do not be alarmed if you dont see any classes in Ad Astra, remember you are building your entire term from scratch for Fall 2010. So until you build classes in PeopleSoft and assign them a meeting pattern, you will not see them in Ad Astra.

Once you have taken the PeopleSoft training you will be given access to the Scheduling tools in PeopleSoft.

Please do not hesitate to contact us should you have any questions.

Thank you!
~Karla

Hi Debby and everyone,

I was wondering about the Afri-Afam website... I know at one point Debby mentioned that OASIS might be taking over the support for the Afri-Afam website while the department has a temp in place. I said I thought it would be easiest if I just kept doing it, because it can be difficult to hand code back and forth. Do you all know if someone else has been editing the site? At any rate, I noticed just now when I went to load the site, that it is down and gives a 403 error. I was about to put in a ticket for it, when I thought maybe someone else was working on it and it's down while they work on it. Please let me know.

Talk to you soon,
Stacey

Hi All,

As it turns out, Afri-Afam's website being down is part of a system wide problem that has resulted in a number of departmental websites giving 403 errors. ITS administrators are working on the issue. So, luckily, we don't have to do anything!

Talk to you all soon,

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: Summer Reading Book Nomination Priority Deadline

Dear Member of the Carolina Community:

As a reminder, the 2010 Summer Reading Program Book Selection Committee--comprised of faculty, staff, and students--will soon begin the process of selecting next year's book.

We invite all members of the UNC-Chapel Hill community to recommend books for our consideration. Criteria for book selection include the following desirable qualities:

* Intellectually stimulating: stretching students' minds, causing students to think about things they might not have thought about previously.
* Enjoyable, engaging, relatively short, easy to read, and of current interest.
* Able to provoke interesting discussion.
* Appropriate for the level of maturity of incoming students.
* Having a theme or topic applicable to students' lives (for example, societal, political, or ethical issues).

Do you have a favorite book that meets these criteria? What book do you think will stimulate critical discussion among incoming students next summer? To make your suggestion, visit the Carolina Summer Reading Program website: http://www.unc.edu/srp/. Full consideration will be given to all book recommendations received by October 7, 2009.

Thanks for your consideration of this matter.

Chair, 2010 Summer Reading Program Book Selection Committee

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Thursday, Oct. 22 Football Transportation and Parking

ATTENTION UNC STUDENTS, STAFF, AND FACULTY:

On Thursday, Oct. 22, 2009, the North Carolina Tar Heels will host the Florida State Seminoles at 8 p.m. for a nationally televised football game at Kenan Stadium. Although this Thursday night game falls during UNC students' Fall Break, large crowds are expected to begin arriving on campus late that afternoon and throughout the evening.

IN HOPES THAT CAMPUS EMPLOYEES WILL EXPERIENCE LESS INCONVENIENCE LEAVING CAMPUS, THE UNIVERSITY HAS ALREADY ANNOUNCED THAT EMPLOYEES' REGULAR WORKDAY HOURS WILL BE CHANGED FROM 8-5 P.M. TO 8-3 P.M. ON OCTOBER 22.

Consequently, transportation and parking for this weeknight game will be slightly different than normal weekdays/weeknights and different from typical Saturday football games.

* Campus employees working regular day hours should plan on exiting parking lots by 3:30 p.m. Towing will commence in designated lots beginning 3:30 p.m., 4:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Game operations WILL BEGIN at 3:30 p.m.

* Off-campus lots will open to game night patrons at 4:30 p.m.

* On-campus lots will open to game night patrons at 5:30 p.m.

* Chapel Hill Transit plans to adjust schedules accordingly (see website listed below for details)

* Parking permit regulations will be enforced as normal in resident student lots. For example, most student lots require a campus weekday / weeknight permit, Monday-Thursday, 7:30 a.m. until 9 p.m. and Friday, 7:30 p.m. - 5 p.m. These regulations will remain in effect during fall break, unless otherwise noted on our website or via special lot signs.

For a complete listing of IMPACTED PARKING LOTS, TRAFFIC PATTERNS, AND TRANSIT INFORMATION, please familiarize yourself with the information posted through a special Thursday, October 22 Football Transportation and Parking link located on the main Department of Public Safety homepage:

http://www.dps.unc.edu

Employees may contact their department Parking Coordinators for questions regarding the Thursday Night Football Website or to make special parking arrangements if they are considered critical employees. Questions regarding information on DPS Thursday Night Football parking and transportation operations may also be directed to UNC Public Safety at (919) 962-3951 during normal business hours.

For information on other scheduled special events on campus, including remaining football games, log onto the Public Safety website and visit the special events link.

Thank You,

UNC Public Safety

UNC Study of Home Lighting and Aging

Research has shown that lighting can improve mood and sleep for adults. In order to learn more about the effects of home lighting for older adults with Alzheimer's disease and other memory problems, researchers at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill are conducting a four month study of home lighting.

To participate in this study, you must be the live-in caregiver for someone with Alzheimer's disease or a related memory disorder. Participants will receive reimbursement for all study-related costs, and also will receive $300 for their time.

To learn more about this study, please call Lauren Cohen toll-free at (866) 687-9342 or locally at (919) 843-8874.

The study `Home Lighting and Aging' (IRB # 08-1249) was reviewed and approved by the Office of Human Research Ethics at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill on February 3, 2009.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Applications & Nominations for 2010 MLK, Jr. Scholarships Now Being Accepted

Nominations and applications for the 2010 Martin Luther King, Jr. Scholarships are now being accepted. Student organizations, faculty and staff are encouraged to help identify qualified candidates. Students may apply for a scholarship directly by filling out an application form and soliciting recommendations.

The three scholarships are open to all undergraduate juniors at the UNC-Chapel Hill. The awards are given annually to students who, as judged by the MLK, Jr. Scholarship Committee, best exemplify Dr. King's commitment to our society. One $1,500 first-place and two $1,000 second-place scholarships are awarded.

Nomination forms, applications and guidelines can be accessed at http://www.unc.edu/diversity/community/mlkscholarship.html

Please feel free to nominate more than one candidate.

All nominations must be received by Monday, November 2, 2009 at 5:00 pm.

Nominations can be mailed to the address below or dropped off at the Office of Diversity and Multicultural Affairs.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: MINDFULNESS-BASED CLASSES FOR STRESS & PAIN MANAGEMENT-REGISTER NOW!

Do you want to learn to slow down and enjoy your life?

Are you looking for a new way to deal with stress, anxiety, pain, difficult interactions with others?

Mindfulness can make a difference.

The UNC Mindfulness-based Program for Stress and Pain Management offers training in meditation and mind-body awareness that will teach you how to slow down, set priorities and stay calm, focused and relaxed in the midst of a busy life. These practices will enhance your body's natural adaptive healing ability and will cultivate the mind's clarity and insight. This program follows Jon Kabat-Zinn's model and is offered by the Program on Integrative Medicine at UNC (Department of Physical Medicine & Rehabilitation).

FALL 2009 MINDFULNESS CLASSES ON CAMPUS:
1) Monday evenings beginning October 12 (required orientation) through December 7, taught by Susan Head, PhD

FALL 2009 MINDFULNESS CLASSES AT HILLSBOROUGH YOGA & HEALING ARTS:
1) Thursdays evenings, beginning October 15(required orientation) through December 10, taught by Paula Huffman & Susan Gaylord

Two graduate courses will be offered this fall for those who have taken the basic foundation course:
1) "Deepening Your Mindfulness Practice in the Pressure-Cooker of Daily Life"
Held on campus Tuesday evenings, November 17 through December 8, 2009
2) Our newest graduate course, "Mindful Parenting" will be held at UNC Wellness Center at Meadowmont on Tuesday mornings, beginning November 17 through December 8, 2009.
Both classes are taught by Mary Love May.

SPRING MINDFULNESS CLASSES FOR 2010:
1) Tuesday mornings and evenings beginning January 5 (required orientation)
through March 2, 2010, taught by Mary Love May.

For additional information about classes, tuition, and tuition reductions for research participation, visit the Program on Integrative Medicine website at http://pim.med.unc.edu/mindfulness.html

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Message from the Chancellor: Stay Tuned for an Annual University Address

Dear Students, Faculty and Staff:

In conjunction with University Day on October 12, I'll share my thoughts about how we're doing at Carolina and what lies ahead. We're instituting a new tradition - an online video address. We didn't want to interrupt your busy schedules to ask you to attend an event. And we didn't want to incur any expenses in doing so at a time when we're focused on operational efficiency.

But it's important that we celebrate our accomplishments from this past year and think about how the University can be successful in the future. That's the reason for the speech, which you can watch or read by going to www.unc.edu early on the morning of October 12.

I'd appreciate your feedback afterward at chancellor@unc.edu.

Thanks to all of you for your commitment to Carolina.

Sincerely,

Holden Thorp

There are no personal risks, costs or benefits to you associated with responding to this survey. By clicking on the survey link, you are giving your consent to participate. Your participation is voluntary. Your responses will be treated confidentially and securely.

If you have questions about the project, please call Phyllis Fleming at 919-966-7075 or email Phyllis_fleming@unc.edu. The procedures for this survey have been reviewed and approved by the Institutional Review Board of the University of North Carolina. You may contact the Institutional Review Board, anonymously if you wish, at 919-966-3113 or by email to IRB_subjects@unc.edu if you have questions or concerns about your rights as a participant in this formative research project.

If, after completing the survey, you are interested in talking more about commuting, you are invited to participate in a one-hour focus group discussion for which you'll receive a $25 thank you gift. At the end of the survey, there is a link to a site where you can give your name and information on how to contact you. We have a separate site rather than asking for this information on the survey so that we can keep your responses anonymous.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: University Square redevelopment

Dear Students, Faculty and Staff:

Most of you are familiar with the 12-acre site downtown that is now the site of University Square shopping center and Granville Towers student housing. This summer, the property and existing buildings were purchased by Chapel Hill Foundation Real Estate Holdings, a not-for-profit corporation founded by the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Foundation to assist with real estate projects for the University and its affiliated organizations.

Because of the property's prime location on Franklin Street and its proximity to the UNC campus, representatives of both the University and the Town of Chapel Hill are very excited about its redevelopment. Among the goals for the redevelopment are moving retail businesses closer to Franklin Street and creating a seamless connection from West Franklin Street to campus.

To find out more about the project and how you can contribute your ideas about it, please visit http://uncnews.unc.edu/content/view/2952/68/.

We look forward to hearing what you have to say.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: UNC Autism Study Seeking Typically Developing Children 6 Months Of Age And Young

About This National Study
UNC Chapel Hill along with the Autism Research Program is carrying out a MRI Study of Early Brain Development. This study, funded by the National Institutes of Health, is being conducted by some of the world's leading researchers in the field of autism, with 4 different sites across the US. Currently, they are searching for children with no family history of autism to participate in the South Eastern US who meet the following criteria:

* Are between the ages of 0-12 months of age (parents who are expecting may also be eligible)
* Have an older sibling
* Have no known genetic syndrome

If You Participate:

* Your child may receive up to $100 in compensation for participation
* Your child will receive a comprehensive series of developmental assessments
* Your child will receive an MRI scan which is completed during natural sleep, you have the option to be near your child for the length of the scan* (all travel costs are reimbursed, and any services we provide are at no charge to you)
* You will receive images of your child's brain from the MRI scan

Why You Should Participate
You and your child will be a part of this important study that will help provide valuable information by comparing the brain growth and development of children who have a family history of autism to those with no family history of autism. This study may provide important information about early brain development in all children, and may lead to improved outcomes for children diagnosed with autism. You will also receive reports on the assessments completed with your child and have access to some of the leading researchers in autism and child development.
How You Can Help
You and your child can contribute to the success of research! Participating in this study is not the only way to get involved. Please consider sharing this information with your friends and family.
If you would like more information about this study, please reply to this email or call 1-800-793-5715. You can also visit www.ibis-network.org or send an email to IBISNetwork@gmail.com.

Dear Students, Faculty and Staff:

Monday, October 12, is University Day and a time when we celebrate our accomplishments and consider Carolina's future. Everyone is invited to participate.

I hope to see you at 11 a.m. in Memorial Hall for the annual University Day convocation. Gov. Bev Perdue is our featured speaker. We'll also present Distinguished Alumna and Alumnus Awards and enjoy performances by student musical groups. For details, see http://www.unc.edu/universityday/. Classes will be canceled from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. Attendance is considered work time for staff employees, who are encouraged to seek advance approval from their supervisors.

Also on Monday, we'll post my video address to the campus community on the University's Web site, www.unc.edu. The speech will reflect on Carolina's accomplishments and challenges over the past year, and will outline what will be important to remain successful as one of America's great universities in the future.

ATTENTION UNC STUDENTS, STAFF, AND FACULTY:

The Town of Chapel Hill Police are investigating a reported assault on a female UNC Student on Pritchard Avenue. The victim was walking home when she was grabbed from behind and forced to the ground. The suspect fled as the victim fought back. The victim was unharmed in the incident and did not report seeing any weapons.

The suspect is described as a young black male (early 20's), approximately 5-9 in height, with a slim build. His hair was close-cut (short), and he was wearing a black t-shirt and blue jeans.

If anyone has information about this crime, please call either Investigator D. Hunter at the Chapel Hill Police Department at 968-2760 or CrimeStoppers at 942-7515. Calls to CrimeStoppers are confidential and anonymous, and the caller may be eligible for a cash reward up to $2,000 for information that leads to an arrest.

UNC Public Safety urges the campus community to exercise personal responsibility, be constantly aware of their surroundings, and report any and all suspicious activity by calling 911. For a list of safety tips, see alertcarolina.unc.edu.

Visit the Ackland this Sunday and enjoy an afternoon of music in the galleries. In connection with the Ackland's exhibition Craft, Training, and Production in the Early Modern Artist's Studio, members of the UNC-Chapel Hill Opera and the UNC-Chapel Hill Baroque Ensemble will perform scenes from Cavalli's seventeenth-century opera L'Egisto. Brent Wissick, professor of music at UNC-Chapel Hill and co-director of the opera, will narrate the lecture/recital, sharing the UNC-Chapel Hill opera studio's working methods for studying and staging this Early Modern work.

LOCATING RACE IN ARCHITECTURAL ORGANICISM

A Lecture by Postdoctoral Research Fellow Charles Davis
Peabody Hall, Room 008

The UNC-Chapel Hill Department of Art and the Institute of African American Research, a part of the UNC African American Studies Consortium, presents Postdoctoral Research Fellow Charles Davis' lecture Locating Race in the Epistemology of Architectural Organicism: Viollet-le-Duc, Race Science, and the Scientific claims of Structural Rationalism. Davis received his PhD in Architecture from the University of Pennsylvania in 2009. He has previously taught seminar courses on the history/theory of architecture at the University of Pennsylvania, Parsons the New School for Design, and the State University of New York at Buffalo. He is currently a Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Art History at UNC-Chapel Hill.

Subject: A RESEARCH Study for Babies of Mothers with Depression

Are you or is someone you know currently pregnant and has been diagnosed with depression?

We are conducting a prospective, longitudinal research study to better understand early brain development in the children of women who have been diagnosed with depression and who were treated with a common type of antidepressant, called a selective serotonin reuptake inhibitor (SSRI), during their pregnancy.

Participants receive:
- $50 per child for each postnatal visit (potential total of $200)
- Reimbursement for mileage and parking

What the study involves
- An MRI scan and developmental assessment of the baby at 1-4 weeks after birth (unsedated)
- Follow-up MRI scans and developmental assessments at 1 and 2 years

Who is eligible?
- Women who have been diagnosed with depression
- Are currently pregnant or have recently given birth
- Treated with an SSRI starting in the 1st trimester or prior to pregnancy through birth

We need your help! By participating, you may be helping mothers with depression in the future by improving our understanding of how factors such as severity of depression and treatment with antidepressants relate to early brain development. (The current literature indicates that SSRI antidepressants do not have long-term negative affects on brain development.)

Remember
- This is a voluntary study
- No medicines or sedation are involved
- You will be compensated
- All information gathered is confidential.

To learn more about this study please call Brittany Lindsay (919) 843-3608 or (866) 849-0541 (Toll Free), or send an email to brittany_lindsay@med.unc.edu with your name, phone number and times that you can be reached.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Recruiting Research Participants with Constipation Predominate IBS.

The UNC Center for Functional GI & Motility Disorders is recruiting subjects with constipation predominate IBS to participate in a health research study that examines the effect of an FDA approved drug for IBS on clinical abdominal pain. The purpose of the study is to learn how to treat patients with IBS more effectively.

Subjects will receive $550 upon completion of the study. Participation will last 8 weeks.

This study requires 7 visits to UNC and each visit will take place at the Clinical and Translational Research Center.

Subjects will be required to complete a health questionnaire, a 1 1/2 hour physiological test, and 2 abdominal x-rays. Participants will also be required to take a study drug for 2 separate two week intervals.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Research Study for Patients with Chronic Headaches

-Do you have chronic headaches at least 15 days per month?
-Have you suffered from headaches for at least 2 years?
-Are you at least 18 years of age?
-Have you been diagnosed with Chronic Daily Headache (CDH)?
-Are you receiving care from a neurologist or other headache specialist?
-Would you be willing to meet 6 times with a registered dietitian over a 12 week period?

If you answered yes to all the above questions, you may qualify for the Nutrition and Chronic Daily Headache (CDH) study. Your next step is to call Chanee Lynch or Becky Coble at the UNC Program on Integrative Medicine in the Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation to determine your eligibility for the study.

You will be compensated $145 for completing all sessions and filling out questionnaires and a daily headache diary throughout the study. You will also receive 2 prepared meals per day over a three month period and up to $13 per visit for transportation and parking.

If you would like to learn more about this study and/or see if you qualify, please call 966-8586, or send an e-mail to Chanee Lynch (chanee_lynch@med.unc.edu) or Becky Coble (rcoble@med.unc.edu) with CDH STUDY in the subject line.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: IBS Treatment for Women: Mindfulness/Support Group

If you are a woman (or know a woman)age 18 or older who suffers from irritable bowel syndrome (IBS), you/she may qualify to participate in a research study of two treatment programs to help improve the symptoms of IBS.

In both programs, women of all ages will meet in a group once per week for 8 weeks. In the support group, women will share successful strategies for coping with and reducing symptoms of IBS. The mindfulness group combines gentle yoga with a meditation technique. Both programs have shown promise for helping people with illnesses.

Each group requires coming to a meeting in Chapel Hill for 2 hours each Monday, October 26-December 14, 2009, 6-8 p.m., and for 4 hours on Saturday, December 5. Groups will be designated randomly by a computer program. Both groups will be led by an experienced health coach and group facilitator. Participants will be asked to fill out questionnaires before the first group meeting, two weeks after the program, and 3 months, 6 months, and 12 months after the program.

Women will be paid $250 for filling out the five groups of questionnaires; and parking vouchers will be provided as needed. Participation in the mindfulness training or support group is free.

To participate in the study, women must have a diagnosis of IBS from a physician and current symptoms (abdominal pain or bloating at least once per week over the past month).

Women cannot be in this study if:
- unable to attend a meeting in Chapel Hill each Monday, Feb 25-Apr 14;
- are pregnant; or
- have one of the following disorders:
  - severe mental illness;
  - inflammatory bowel disease (ulcerative colitis or Crohn's disease);
  - cancer;
  - liver or pancreas disease;
  - uncontrolled lactose (milk) intolerance; or
  - celiac disease (wheat intolerance); or
  - a history of major abdominal surgery.

If you would like to learn more about this study and/or see if you qualify, please call 966-8586, or send an e-mail to Chanee Lynch chanee_lynch@med.unc.edu) or Kim Faurot (faurot@med.unc.edu) with IBS STUDY in the subject line.

Recruiting Children with Autism, Fragile X Syndrome, Down Syndrome and Typical Development for Language Study

A language study at FPG Child Development Institute (FPG) at UNC is recruiting children with autism, fragile X syndrome, Down syndrome, or typical development.
This study looks at how children use language in conversation and narration and will provide important information for language intervention.

We are recruiting children who are speaking in phrases of 3 or more words from the following groups:

*6-14 year old boys with autism
*6-14 year old girls and boys with Down syndrome
*6-14 year old boys with fragile X syndrome
*3-14 year old girls with fragile X syndrome
*3 to 6 year old boys with typical development
*3 to 14 year old girls with typical development

As a participant in the study, the child will receive language and developmental assessments once a year for three years. The visits can take place at the child's home, school, or at FPG. The family will receive $40.00 and a short summary of our findings after each visit.

The study is funded by NIH, March of Dimes, and National Fragile X Foundation and has been approved by the Committee on the Protection of the Rights of Human Subjects at UNC.

If you want more information about this exciting project or have any questions, please contact Anne Harris (Project Coordinator) by email at anne.harris@unc.edu or call the study toll-free number:

The purpose of this research study is to learn about how influenza virus affects nasal inflammation in people who smoke and in nonsmokers who are very rarely, if at all, exposed to secondhand smoke. Currently, we are looking for healthy young adults aged 18-35 years with no underlying medical problems, who are active smokers.

Specific exclusion criteria will include history of asthma, chronic lung or heart disease; any type of immunodeficiency; influenza or flu like symptoms in the past three weeks; current pregnancy; egg allergy; or subjects who have already have had a flu shot or flu nasal spray vaccine anytime since August of 2008. Your participation will last 6-9 weeks, and will require 8 study visits.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: University Awards for the Advancement of Women

On behalf of the Offices of the Chancellor and the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost, the Carolina Women's Center is pleased to announce the call for nominations for the 2010 University Awards for the Advancement of Women. This award recognizes contributions to the advancement of women at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Each year, three individuals--one faculty member, one staff member, and one undergraduate/graduate student/postdoctoral scholar--may be selected to receive the award. The faculty and staff recipients each receive $5000 and the undergraduate/graduate student/ postdoctoral scholar recipient receives $2500. Awardees are honored in a ceremony during the Carolina Women's Center's annual Women's Week Celebration in February 2010.

Please submit nominations for women and men who have contributed in one or more of the following ways:

* Elevated the status of women on campus in sustainable ways;
* Helped to improve campus policies affecting women;
* Promoted and advanced the recruitment, retention, and upward mobility of women;
* Participated in and assisted in the establishment of professional development opportunities for women; and/or
* Participated in and assisted in the establishment of academic mentoring for women.

To submit a nomination, please use the online form at:
http://www.unc.edu/oira/public/women_nomination.html

All faculty and staff nominees must be permanent employees. No self-nominations will be accepted. Carolina Women's Center administrators and staff are not eligible for nomination. The deadline for nominations is Monday, November 30, 2009, at 5:00 p.m.

Previous award winners are:
(2009) Etta Pisano, Aimee Krans, Annie Clark
(2008) Kay Lund, Cookie Newsom, Emily Joy Rothchild
(2007) Barbara Harris, Annette Madden, Emily Dunn,
(2006) Jan Boxill, Terri Houston, Matt Ezzell

Please contact Dr. Donna M. Bickford, Director of the Carolina Women's Center at dbickford@unc.edu or (919) 843-5620 if you have questions about the awards or nomination process.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: October 22 Football Game

Dear Carolina staff,

As you know, on Thursday, Oct. 22 the Tar Heels will play the Florida State Seminoles in a nationally televised football game. This is an extraordinary opportunity to showcase our campus.

The topic of Thursday night football has vexed our campus for years. We have resisted scheduling a Thursday night game in Chapel Hill during classes, a stance that I support. This year, however, we proposed the idea of holding the game during fall break. I am grateful that this idea was met with enthusiasm.

Even during fall break, the game creates some logistical challenges. As you know, we have adjusted the workday to end at 3 p.m. on Oct. 22 to allow employees plenty of time to get off campus before folks attending the game arrive later in the evening. Nevertheless, because state personnel policies require us to ask you to make up the hours, I realize that this creates an inconvenience for many of you. I am writing to express my heartfelt thanks to you for accommodating this adjustment.

Thank you for all you do for Carolina.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Participants Needed

PARTICIPANTS NEEDED: The Multisensory Processing in Autism study is a research study designed to conduct careful assessments of different aspects of sensory perception in individuals with and without autism and compare these two groups to determine if and how they differ.

DO YOU QUALIFY?
We are looking for healthy males between the ages of 18 and 45 who:
* Are Caucasian or African American
* Are fluent English speakers
* Do not have any family members with autism or other developmental disabilities
* have high school or community college as their highest level of education

The men who participate will undergo a series of tests to measure different aspects of sensory perception. Aspects of touch that will be evaluated include vibration, texture, warmth and heat. Some tests also involve auditory and visual stimuli. During some of the procedures participants will be in a magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) scanner. The men who participate will also be asked to complete a cognitive assessment.

These tests will take a total of approximately 10 hours spread out over 3 visits. Testing will be completed at the North Carolina Research MRI facility located on Mason Farm Rd. in Chapel Hill, NC and/or the nearby UNC Dental School.

Participants will receive $20.00 per hour for participating in this study.

If you are interested in participating please reply to this email and include your name, age, race, occupation, education level, and contact information.

The Surplus Property Warehouse will be closed October 28-30 to conduct inventory.

No campus pickups or retail sales will be made during that time. If you have items that require delivery to Surplus in the near future, please keep these dates in mind. If your department is in process of a move and is using a moving company needing to deliver items to the Surplus Property Warehouse during that time, please call Al Jeter at 962-2134 to make special arrangements.

Effective Monday November 2, the computerized Surplus Property Management System (SPMS) will be used to submit and schedule campus pickup requests, instead of using form P110. If your department has not signed up already, please register at the following site:

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Couples Therapy at UNC!

The UNC Department of Psychology has current therapy openings for committed couples!

Our Couples Clinic provides services for a wide range of relationship issues including:

* Relationship Distress
* Relationship Enhancement
* Premarital Counseling
* Couples Experiencing individual physical or mental health problems
* Couples experiencing societal discrimination

We welcome same gender couples, members of ethnic minority groups, interracial couples, and couples in which the ages of the two partners are quite different. The Couples Clinic offers effective psychological interventions with reduced fees based on income. Treatment is provided by doctoral students under the supervision of licensed clinical psychologists.

Couples therapy is available right on the UNC campus and at our off-site clinic on Finley Golf Course Road (with ample adjacent parking). We offer day time and evening appointments. Please visit the Couples Clinic website at:

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Halloween Transportation and Parking at UNC

ATTENTION UNC STUDENTS, STAFF, AND FACULTY:

On the evening of Friday, October 30 and the day and evening of Saturday, October 31, 2009, numerous campus parking lots and services will be affected by Halloween operations. Streets adjacent to campus will also be affected on October 31. Consequently, it is highly recommended that students, staff, and faculty take a few moments to familiarize themselves with the overall parking and transportation plan. Advance planning and preparation on the part of everyone will go a long way toward making the operations plan work better and toward making the evening as enjoyable as possible.

CAMPUS PARKING:
To support the regular academic function of the University, the medical mission of UNC hospitals, and in hopes of supporting Chapel Hill's plan of a "Home Town" Halloween as was the case in 2008, ALL parking regulations as well as several temporary parking restrictions will be in effect from 7:30 a.m. on Friday, October 30 through 8 a.m. on Sunday, November 1.

For example, Stadium Drive parking normally requires an S4 permit Monday - Friday, 7:30 a.m. - 5 p.m. For Halloween, it will require a valid S4 permit from Friday, October 30 at 7:30 a.m. until Sunday, November 1 at 8 a.m. Any vehicle without a valid S4 permit between Friday at 7:30 a.m. and Sunday at 8 a.m. will be ticketed and possibly towed. The restriction illustrated by this example will apply to all permitted lots and all normal reserved spaces that are not already 24-hour spaces. Additionally, vehicles parked outside of marked spaces will be automatically ticketed and towed at the owner's expense.

UNC student and staff should NOT come to campus for Halloween festivities prior to 5 p.m. on Saturday, October 31. Unless a vehicle has a valid weekday permit, there will be no place for student or employee Halloween guests to park until 5 p.m. Saturday when a limited number of designated lots will open for $10 Halloween student and employee parking (see Public Safety website below for details). In addition to the campus-wide parking permit restrictions, several campus parking lots and roadways will be closed at various times throughout the weekend and especially on Halloween night. Vehicles parked in or along closed areas will be ticketed and towed at the expense of the owner.

Vehicles parked in or along closed areas will be ticketed and towed at the expense of the owner.

Parking Control Officers and tow trucks will be on duty on campus throughout the day and evening on Friday, October 30 and Saturday, October 31, including the early morning hours of Sunday, November 1. Parking and road restrictions will be strictly enforced.

Illegally-parked vehicles on the UNC campus on Halloween evening will be cited and towed at the expense of the owner, including vehicles parked on the sidewalks, landscape, in fire lanes, in reserved spaces, and in restricted areas, etc. Payment for the citation, the tow, and any outstanding balances owed to UNC Public Safety WILL BE REQUIRED BEFORE the vehicle will be released (towing fees range from $90 to $110 and citations range from $20 to $250.) Cash and credit card payments will be accepted until midnight on Halloween night. Only debit and credit cards will be accepted after midnight. Personal checks will not be accepted at any time.

For complete campus parking information, look for a link labeled "Halloween Transportation and Parking at UNC" located on the main UNC Public Safety website homepage:

http://www.dps.unc.edu

UNC POINT-TO-POINT SHUTTLE SERVICES:
The Point-to-Point Express campus shuttles will run during their normal hours on Halloween night. Due to the closing of portions of Raleigh Street, Franklin Street, and Columbia Street, on Halloween only, the P2P Express will run in the opposite direction (clockwise) than all other nights.
-- P2P Express will NOT serve Swain Hall, Granville Towers, Rosemary or Franklin Street stop, or stops along Raleigh Street north of Cameron Avenue.
-- P2P Express WILL stop at Bowles Drive just below Hinton James Residence Hall and on Cameron Avenue across from the Old Well.

To see a map of the altered service, visit the following link:

http://www.dps.unc.edu/NewsLinks/HalloweenWeb/HalloweenP2P.pdf

THE TOWN OF CHAPEL HILL:
Chapel Hill will restrict many streets as early as 5 p.m. on Saturday evening, October 31, and, additionally, the following streets will be completely closed to vehicular traffic at 9:00 p.m.:
-- Franklin Street, from Raleigh Street to Roberson Street
-- Columbia Street, from Rosemary Street to Cameron Avenue
-- Raleigh Street, from East Franklin to Cameron Avenue
-- Henderson Street, from East Rosemary Street to East Franklin Street
-- Residential streets near downtown will be closed except to residents of those streets and their guests.

For a list of all rules, restrictions, and street closings, visit the link through the Town of Chapel Hill website at:

http://www.townofchapelhill.org/index.aspx?recordid=915&page=22

Note: Residential streets near downtown will be closed except to residents of those streets and their guests.

CHAPEL HILL TRANSIT:
During the evening of Saturday, October 31, 2009, Chapel Hill Transit (CHT) will operate a modified service on the NU, Safe T, Safe J and Safe G routes to accommodate the Halloween celebration on Franklin Street. All other routes and services will operate normal published schedules as crowds and street closures allow. Modifications in effect are detailed through the following link:

Subject: FORMAL NOTICE: H1N1 Flu Vaccination Clinics for Health-Care Workers and Pregnant Women

Dear Campus Community,

The University has just received an allocation of the H1N1 vaccine for faculty, staff and students who are health-care workers with direct patient contact, or who are pregnant. The University is following recommendations from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) to vaccinate people in these groups as soon as possible.

University health officials have ordered a sufficient quantity of the H1N1 vaccine for all students, faculty and staff who want to be vaccinated. As additional doses of the vaccine arrive, the University will send the campus community details about how and when people can be vaccinated. Be sure to check Alert Carolina, http://alertcarolina.unc.edu/go/site/1395, for updates about distribution of the H1N1 vaccine and for general information about the H1N1 flu.

Health-care workers with direct patient contact are defined as:
*UNC students rotating/precepting in health-care settings within the five Health Affairs schools who have direct patient contact; and
*UNC employees who are physicians, nurses or nurse's aides, or other people who work in a clinic setting and have direct patient contact, including staff in the front office.

These health-care workers and pregnant students, faculty and staff can make an appointment for any of the five clinic dates below by going to the Department of Environment, Health and Safety Web site, http://ehs.unc.edu/ueohc/flu/h1n1flushot.shtml.

The following clinics will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.:
Friday, Oct. 30: MBRB - 2nd floor lobby;
Monday, Nov. 2: Brinkhous-Bullitt - Room 219;
Tuesday, Nov. 3: Hooker - Lower Level Atrium;
Wednesday, Nov. 4: Hooker - Lower Level Atrium; and Thursday, Nov. 5: Brinkhous-Bullitt - Room 219.

The vaccine comes in two forms: nasal spray and shot. Because the University has received significantly more nasal spray than shots, we ask that all those who qualify for the spray be willing to get that form of the vaccine so that more of our students and employees can be vaccinated. You will find information about the two different forms of the vaccine and the one that is right for you on the CDC Web site, http://www.cdc.gov/h1n1flu/vaccination/public/vaccination_qa_pub.htm.

There will be no out-of-pocket expense for students or employees who have the following insurance coverage: the State Health Plan, Blue Cross Blue Shield; Partners; Aetna; Humana Gold; SummaCare; Advantra Freedom; or Medicare Part B. However, you must bring your insurance card and a photo ID to the clinic. If you are not insured with any of these companies, you can still get a flu shot, but you will have to pay an administrative fee of $12 (cash or check). The fee is paid to an outside health-care agency for the nurses and other staff providing the vaccination service, not to the University.

Sincerely,

Mary Beth Koza
Director of the Department of Environment, Health and Safety

Does your child soil or poop in his or her pants?

Soiling in children is a common condition that is difficult for the child and the family. We are conducting a research study to find out what parents think are the causes of soiling in their children and what kind of therapies and strategies they use to help their children with the soiling.

We are looking for parents of children 4-18 years old who regularly soil or poop in their underwear. You will be asked to complete the same online questionnaire twice, 2 weeks apart. You will be paid $10 for participation.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Postage Requirements for USE of Permit 177

UNC Printing has managed postage permit 177 for many years. During the past few years, many customers are using our permit without proper permission, resulting in lengthy investigations in to postage usage and reconciliation. We need this to stop.

For future mailing jobs utilizing Postage Permit 177, the following will be the procedure:

Postage Permit 177 belongs to, and is controlled and maintained by UNC Printing Services. Before mailing any materials using Permit 177, you must secure a postage only job number from UNC Printing. Postage is a cash account and must be reconciled daily. Failure to include a job number on any job results in additional time to research and determine the correct department for billing the postage.

The vendor who is completing any mailing must post the UNC Printing Postage Only job# to the postal forms (Postage Statement Form 3602-N1) they submit to the US Post Office on Estes Drive in Chapel Hill. Failure to have your mailing vendor post the correct information to the required postal forms will result in the refusal to mail by the Chapel Hill Post Office.

For additional information or a copy of the form with appropriate location of the job# on the form, please contact any customer service employee at UNC Printing.

Thank you

Dear Travis,

Greetings from Oaxaca.

I just received this from Deby after writing to ask for an update for my ticket.

As I mentioned in the original email the funds for this ticket was to came from:

1) $500.00 that was awarded to me by my Chair in International Studies and was transferred to the department's trust account for my use. Ms. Debby knows about these funds.
2) $500.00 which is my travel funds as an associate professor for this year and I have not used.

Please process a T# for number for Deby before it is two late.

Best wishes, Eunice.

Hi Eunice:

I have rebooked the same flights and now the fare is just slightly higher, $648.41 plus the $35.00 fee.

Here is the schedule:

AA8105Y 11DEC F*OAXMEX HK1 1205P 115P (Change Mexico City)
AA1064Y 11DEC F MEXDFW HK1 345P 625P (Change Dallas)
AA1702Y 11DEC F DFWRDU*HK1 755P 1125P

Let me know if there is additional information I need to provide in order to get a T number for issue.

Thanks,
Deby

Dear Travis,

Greetings from Oaxaca.

I just received this from Deby after writing to ask for an update for my ticket.

As I mentioned in the original email the funds for this ticket was to came from:

1) $500.00 that was awarded to me by my Chair in International Studies and was transferred to the department's trust account for my use. Ms.
Debby knows about these funds.
2) $500.00 which is my travel funds as an associate professor for this year and I have not used.

Please process a T# for number for Deby before it is two late.

Best wishes, Eunice.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Research study for individuals with mild asthma and allergies.

The purpose of this research study is to learn more about the effect of inhalation of a component of air pollution on airway responses in allergic individuals with mild asthma. The component being studied is called endotoxin and can be found in a number of different workplaces. It is even found in homes. The purpose of this research study is to identify a dose of inhaled endotoxin that is safe (does not cause prolonged cough, shortness of breath or other problems), but which causes changes in sputum cell samples. Information from this study will be used to identify a safe range of endotoxin for use in inhalation challenge studies. This study will also help determine how endotoxin affects mucociliary clearance (MCC) which is a measure of how quickly mucus clears from the airway.

Subjects must be otherwise healthy, have mild asthma and allergies. Pregnant or nursing females are excluded as well as individuals with a recent respiratory infection or an average of more that 2 asthma exacerbations per week. Study participation will include 6 visits over a 3 week to 3 month period based on participants available.

Interested individuals may call 919-966-2879 for additional information.

Colon cancer is an important health issue and screening can reduce the chances of getting and dying from colon cancer. Your participation will help us develop better educational materials for patients.

To participate in this study you must:

- be between the ages 48 and 75
- not have a serious illness that would prohibit screening
- not have a previous personal or family history of colon cancer
- Speak and read English

If you are eligible for this research study, you will be asked to review some information and answer some questions that we will send you in the mail. Your participation will last less than 1 hour.

You will receive a $25 gift card in the mail approximately 2-3 weeks after participation. If you are interested in participating in this study you can contact us at: dsl@unc.edu or 919-966-1584.

Dear Christiana,

Greetings from Oaxaca.

I kindly write to follow-up on the $500.00 that Ms. Crowder (our recently retired Departmental Manager) had requested be trasferred to the department's trust account. Travis Gore - cc.ed to this email - is trying to book a ticket related to my teaching and research using these funds but he tells me that the funds are not available in the trust account.

I am still away with UNC students and I would be very grateful for any help with this matter.

Sincerely, Eunice.

Subject: FORMAL NOTICE: H1N1 Vaccination Clinics for the Intranasal Form of the Vaccine

Dear Campus Community,

The University continues to receive the H1N1 vaccine for faculty, staff and students. As expected, due to differences in the manufacturing process, the vaccine shipments received have been primarily the intranasal form of the vaccine rather than the shot. The nasal vaccine is indicated for healthy individuals between the ages of 2 and 49.

People who are pregnant or have certain medical conditions like asthma, diabetes or an illness that causes their immune system to be suppressed should not receive the nasal form of the vaccine. When the University receives the shot form of the vaccine, it will be administered to people in these groups. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) Web site includes recommendations for receiving each form of the vaccine:

The University is following CDC recommendations to vaccinate pregnant women, people who live with or care for children younger than 6 months of age, health-care and emergency medical services personnel, people between the ages of 6 months and 24 years old, and people ages 25 through 64 who are at higher risk of H1N1 because of chronic health disorders or compromised immune systems.

The Department of Environment, Health and Safety (EHS) is holding clinics to administer the nasal form of the vaccine to students, faculty and staff in these target groups. Most people in these groups should be able to receive the nasal vaccine. They can make an appointment to receive the nasal form of the vaccine during any of the eight clinic dates below by going to the EHS Web site:
http://www.ehs.unc.edu/ueohc/h1n1flushot.shtml.

The following clinics for the nasal form of the vaccine will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.:
Monday, Nov. 9: Hooker - Lower Level Atrium;
Tuesday, Nov. 10: MBRB - 2nd Floor Lobby;
Wednesday, Nov. 11: SASB - Upendo;
Thursday, Nov. 12: Student Union - Great Hall;
Friday, Nov. 13: Giles Horney - Magnolia Room;
Monday, Nov. 16: Student Union - Room 2518;
Tuesday, Nov. 17: Student Union - Room 2518; and Wednesday, Nov.18: MBRB - 2nd Floor Lobby.

There will be no out-of-pocket expense for students or employees who have the following insurance coverage: the State Health Plan, Blue Cross Blue Shield; Partners; Aetna; Humana Gold; SummaCare; Advantra Freedom; or Medicare Part B. However, you must bring your current insurance card and a photo ID to the clinic. If you are not insured with any of these companies, you can still be vaccinated, but you will have to pay an administrative fee of $12 (cash or check). The fee is paid to an outside health-care agency for the nurses and other staff providing the vaccination service, not to the University.

University health officials have ordered a sufficient quantity of the H1N1 vaccine for all students, faculty and staff who want to be vaccinated. As additional doses of the vaccine arrive, the University will send the campus community details about how and when people can be vaccinated. Be sure to check Alert Carolina, http://alertcarolina.unc.edu/go/site/1395, for updates about distribution of the H1N1 vaccine and for general information about the H1N1 flu.

Sincerely,

Mary Beth Koza, Director of the Department of Environment, Health and Safety

Study Points to New Uses, Unexpected Side Effects of Already-Existing Drugs

Scientists at the UNC-Chapel Hill School of Medicine - including UNC Lineberger member Bryan Roth, MD, PhD - and the University of California, San Francisco have developed and experimentally tested a technique to predict new target diseases for existing drugs. Read more.

Healing Wounds May Offer Clues to Help Fight Breast Cancer

Wounds - and how they heal, scar and change body tissues - may hold clues to more effective treatments for breast cancer, University of North Carolina researchers have found. Their work, "Activation of Host Wound Responses in Breast Cancer Microenvironment," is published in the Nov. 15 issue of the journal Clinical Cancer Research, published by the American Association for Cancer Research. UNC Lineberger member Melissa Troester, PhD, is lead author of the study. Read more.

UNC Lineberger Presents 2009 Oncology Nursing and Service Awards

Susan Hayden, Susan Mason, and Heather Rompel each received a 2009 Oncology Nursing Excellence Award. Timothy Cullip was recognized with a Clinical Services Excellence Award. Read more.

UNC Football Program and UNC Dance Marathon Huddle Up to Raise Funds for Sarcoma Research at UNC Lineberger

The UNC football program and the UNC Dance Marathon are joining together to raise funds in honor of Boston College linebacker Mark Herzlich, the 2008 ACC Defensive Player of the Year who was diagnosed last spring with Ewing's Sarcoma, a rare form of cancer that typically affects young adults and children.

Their goal is to raise at least $10,000 for Sarcoma Research at UNC Lineberger. Fans can contribute by bidding on VIP experiences and football memorabilia signed by Coach Butch Davis, buying a wristband or making a donation at the UNC vs. Miami football game on November 14, or making an online donation to UNC Lineberger in honor of Mark Herzlich. Subject: INFORMATIONAL: ADA Reasonable Accommodations in Employment Policy

ADA Reasonable Accommodations in Employment Policy

I. Policy Statement

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill (University) is committed to equal opportunity in all aspects of employment for qualified individuals with a disability. In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and State law, and consistent with the University's Policy on Prohibited Harassment and Discrimination, it is the policy of the University to provide reasonable accommodations in employment to qualified individuals with disabilities unless the accommodation would impose an undue hardship on the operation of the University's business or would change the essential functions of the position Retaliation against an individual with a disability for utilizing this policy is prohibited.

II. Covered Individuals

All University employees are covered individuals under this policy. Additionally, applicants for employment are covered in the application process and should contact the Equal Opportunity/ADA Office if reasonable accommodations are required during that process.

III. University Responsibilities and Employee/Applicant Responsibilities

Employees and applicants are responsible for requesting an accommodation under this Policy as further described in Section V.

The University is required to provide a reasonable accommodation for the known disability of an applicant or employee if requested unless the accommodation would either impose an "undue hardship" on the operation of the University's business or change the essential functions of the position.

While departments are required to address any specific request in good faith, there is no obligation on the part of the department or the University to determine or identify the need for an accommodation absent an employee's or applicant's specific request.

The Equal Opportunity/ADA Office has responsibility for ADA compliance and for engaging in an interactive process to determine whether an employee or applicant is a qualified individual with a disability for the purposes of providing a reasonable accommodation. Individuals may self-identify with the Equal Opportunity/ADA Office even if no accommodation is requested.

IV. Definitions

Disability- The term "disability" means, with respect to an individual--
(A) a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities of such individual;
(B) a record of such an impairment;

(C) being regarded as having such an impairment; or
(D) an impairment that is episodic or in remission if it substantially limits a major life activity when it is active.

Major Life Activities -
(A) In General - major life activities include, but are not limited to, caring for oneself, performing manual tasks, seeing, hearing, eating, sleeping, walking, standing, lifting, bending, speaking, breathing, learning, reading, concentrating, thinking, communicating, and working.
(B) Major Bodily Functions - a major life activity also includes the operation of a major bodily function, including but not limited to, functions of the immune system, normal cell growth, digestive, bowel, bladder, neurological, brain, respiratory, circulatory, endocrine, and reproductive functions.

Substantially Limiting -
An impairment is substantially limiting if it prohibits or significantly restricts an individual's ability to perform a major life activity as compared to the ability of the average person in the general population to perform the same activity. The determination of whether an impairment substantially limits a major life activity depends on the nature and severity of the impairment, the duration or expected duration of the impairment, and the permanent or long-term impact of the impairment.

Has a record of an impairment - An individual has a record of an impairment if that individual has a history of, or has been classified as having, a mental or physical impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities.

Regarded as having such an impairment - An individual meets the requirements of "being regarded as having such an impairment" if the individual establishes that he or she has been subjected to an action prohibited under this Act because of an actual or perceived physical or mental impairment whether or not the impairment substantially limits or is perceived to substantially limit a major life activity.

When determining if a condition is a disability, the University will not take into consideration any "mitigating measures" such as prescription drugs, medical equipment, prosthetics or other remedies, beyond ordinary eyeglasses or contact lenses.

Qualified Individual with a Disability -an employee or applicant for employment who, with or without a reasonable accommodation can perform the essential functions of the position.

Reasonable Accommodation - a modification or adjustment to a position, an employment practice, or the work environment that makes it possible for a qualified individual with a disability to perform the essential functions of the position.

Reasonable accommodations may include, but are not limited to:
* Making existing facilities readily accessible to and usable by persons with disabilities;
* Job restructuring, modifying work schedules, reassignment to a vacant position; or
* Acquiring or modifying equipment or devices, adjusting or modifying examinations, training materials, or policies, and providing qualified readers or interpreters.

The University is not obligated to and will not provide personal use items needed in accomplishing daily activities (i.e. eyeglasses, hearing aids, prosthetic limbs, or a wheelchair).

Essential Job Function - the fundamental duties of the position or the primary reasons the position exists.

The University does not have to eliminate an essential function from the position, nor does it have to lower quality or performance standards to make an accommodation, as long as those standards are applied uniformly to employees with or without a disability. The University does not have to create a new position to accommodate an employee.

Marginal Job Function - a job function that would be considered a secondary non-critical job task. Although important and necessary to the position, a marginal job function could be reassigned to others and/or performed a lesser percentage of time as occasional essential functions.

Undue Hardship - an accommodation or action requiring significant difficulty or expense when considered in light of factors such as the University's size, financial resources, and the nature and structure of its operation. Undue hardship also refers to an accommodation that is unduly extensive, substantial, or disruptive, or one that would fundamentally alter the nature of the position.

V. Procedure to Request a Reasonable Accommodation

As stated in Section III, employees and applicants are responsible for requesting an accommodation under this Policy.

A. Applicants

1. Applicant requests for reasonable accommodation during the hiring process may be made to the hiring supervisor, human resources personnel or the Equal Opportunity/ADA Office. Supervisors or human resources personnel receiving a request should contact the Equal Opportunity/ADA Office for guidance.

B. Employees

1. Employee requests for reasonable accommodation must be made to the Equal Opportunity/ADA Office by completing the Self Identification and Accommodation Request forms. Supervisors or human resources personnel should refer employees who indicate a need for accommodation to the Equal Opportunity/ADA Office for assistance and should contact the Equal Opportunity/ADA Office for guidance

2. The employee must meet with the Equal Opportunity/ADA Officer or designee who will facilitate an interactive process between the employee and the supervisor to determine if a reasonable accommodation can be provided to the employee. The employee must communicate how the disability affects his/her ability to perform the essential functions of the job, and identify what workplace accommodations are necessary to assist in performing the job duties.

3. The Equal Opportunity/ADA Officer or designee will discuss essential functions of the particular position involved and the precise job-related limitations; and offer suggestions for possible reasonable and effective accommodations.

4. The Equal Opportunity/ADA Officer or designee may request medical documentation of the individual's functional limitations to support the request. Any medical documentation will be collected and maintained in accordance with appropriate confidentiality procedures.

5. The employee's supervisor and/or department will provide information on the essential functions of the position and the impact the requested accommodation will have on the operations of the department. The supervisor will also provide input to the Equal Opportunity/ADA Officer or designee on the effectiveness each potential accommodation would have in allowing the employee to perform the essential functions of the position.

6. The Employee and Management Relations Department in the Office of Human Resources or the Provost's Office may be informed and/or consulted if there is an active or developing employee relations issue.

7. Upon completion of the interactive process, the Equal Opportunity/ADA Office is responsible for assessing whether or not the employee's requested workplace accommodation is reasonable and determining what, if any accommodation is most appropriate for both the employee and the University. While consideration is given to the employee's preference, the University will choose from among reasonably effective accommodations and may select and implement the one that is most cost effective and easiest to provide.

8. The Equal Opportunity/ADA Office will provide a written decision within 30 calendar days from the date of the employee request, and will notify the employee if a longer period is needed.

VI. Confidentiality

Information regarding requests for accommodations will be kept confidential and shared with others only if they have a legitimate business reason to know. Supervisors and managers will be informed of the functional limitations of an employee caused by the physical or mental impairment. The Employee and Management Relations Department in the Office of Human Resources or the Provost's Office will be informed if there is an employee relations issue involved. Medical documentation regarding an employee's diagnosis will be shared only with the Equal Opportunity/ADA Office unless the employee specifically authorizes sharing this information with the supervisor or manager or other University personnel.

VII. Appeals/Grievance Procedure

Employees who are dissatisfied with a determination regarding an accommodation request or believe that the decision(s) was reached improperly or unfairly may file a grievance through the established grievance procedure for Faculty, EPA Non-Faculty or SPA employees.

Applicants for employment who allege a denial of a request for an accommodation of a disability during the hiring process may file a grievance directly with the Office of Administrative Hearings within 30 calendar days of the alleged denial of accommodation.

VIII. Effective Date

This policy is effective November 3, 2009.

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: Assistant Provost and University Registrar Open Forum

The search committee for the Assistant Provost and University Registrar has rescheduled the open forum with Dr. Samuel Conte, a candidate from the University of Pittsburgh. The forum will now be held on Wednesday, November 11th, from 10:00am to 11:00am in 3020 Steele Building.

The forums are designed to give the campus community an opportunity to hear the candidates discuss their experiences and ideas for enhancing the registrar function at UNC-Chapel Hill and to provide feedback. Dr. Conte will make a brief presentation on "The Future Role of the Registrar in a Public, Research-Intensive University" and then respond to questions on this and other topics from the audience.

The complete CVs for all candidates can be viewed at:

http://provost.unc.edu/announcements/open-positions

Thank you for your participation in the search process.

Sincerely,

Lynn Williford

Are you pregnant and want to help us design a new intervention for pregnant women?

We are interested in your feedback of a potential multi-media intervention program for pregnant women that will promote healthy eating, being physically active, reducing stress and promoting positive parenting skills.

We need women who are:
*Less than 20 weeks pregnant with their first child
*Speak English
*Between the ages of 18 and 35
*African-American and Caucasian
*Free of any chronic medical condition (such as diabetes, hypertension, or heart disease)

If eligible, you will be asked to participate in one focus group session that will last 90 minutes. Drinks and refreshments will be provided and each study participant will receive $20 at the completion of the session.

This research is being conducted by the Department of Nutrition and Epidemiology (Drs. Siega-Riz and Bentley).

If you would like to participate, call CHAI Core at (919)843-9612.

The research study is IRB # 09-1693. This email was approved by the UNC-CH Biomedical IRB on 10/01/09.

We Are Conducting A Study with Milk Thistle in Patients with Fatty Liver and Hepatitis C

Silymarin is the active ingredient in Milk Thistle. Milk Thistle has been used by patients with liver disease for centuries. Milk Thistle may have protective effects on the liver but this has not been studied well enough to know for sure.

The purpose of this phase 2 study is to explore the safety and effectiveness of milk thistle in treating two different groups of patients:

1) patients with non-alcoholic steatohepatitis (NASH) or "fatty liver"; and 2) patients with chronic hepatitis C virus (HCV) who did not get rid of the virus after taking conventional antiviral therapy.

WebEvent Reminder

Title: Deadline for Fall 2010 Class Schedules to Dept Staff
Date: Sunday, November 15, 2009
Time: Unspecified

Description: The implementation of PeopleSoft, known as ConnectCarolina, will go live in a number of stages. This fall, a major component that will impact the undergraduate and graduate school course scheduling will go live.

Starting in the September/October 2009 timeframe, we will use PeopleSoft to prepare and schedule Fall 2010 courses. All spring 2010 and summer 2010 course work will continue to be managed in SIS.

In order to make this transition as seamless as possible, we are asking all faculty members to provide class schedules in a timely fashion for the Fall 2010 classes. Typically, class schedules are provided in December, however this year we ask faculty members to provide the class schedules to department staff no later than November 15 to allow staff to process the data in PeopleSoft (see the timeline below for key milestone dates). As a reminder, there is a moratorium on creating new courses starting September 16, 2009 as stated in the Provost memorandum on May 1, 2009.

I received the packets for Kia Caldwell this afternoon and will review as soon as I can. This recommendation would have had to go to the October ASAC meeting in order to have a January 1, 2010 effective date.
It will need to be changed to July 1, 2010.

Find out how departments across campus are integrating sustainability into their teaching, research, engagement, and operations in the 2009 Campus Sustainability Report at http://sustainability.unc.edu. Hard copies are available from the Sustainability Office, sustainability@unc.edu.
Some of the highlights include:

* A Climate Action Plan for achieving climate neutrality by 2050;
* 44% of students and employees commute to campus via alternatives to the single-occupant vehicle;
* 38% of campus discards are recycled into products of value;
* 27% reduction in water consumption and 8% reduction in energy consumption per square foot since 2003;
* 21% of food and beverages are purchased from producers within 150 miles of campus;
* 160 state-of-the-art stormwater management structures, including vegetated roofs, cisterns, and permeable pavement;
* A new reclaimed water system replaces more than 200 million gallons of potable water annually;
* The Education Center at the N.C. Botanical Garden is on track to become the first public building in the state to be certified at the Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) Platinum level. 48% fossil energy savings result from the use of geothermal energy for heating and cooling, photovoltaic cells for producing electricity from sunlight, and the use of daylight instead of electric lights;
* A sustainability minor, more than 150 sustainability-related courses, and a concentration in sustainable enterprise for business students;
* A new Solar Energy Research Center and a study on coastal wind in North Carolina that is leading Duke Energy to erect three commercial scale wind turbines in the eastern Pamlico Sound.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: International Education Week

Dear Carolina students, faculty and staff:

The week of November 16-20 marks International Education Week 2009 across the nation, and we have an array of activities planned to promote and celebrate international education at Carolina. All of the events are open to the public, and the full schedule is posted at http://global.unc.edu.

This year marks our 5th annual "Get-a-Passport-Drive" on Tuesday, November 17 and Wednesday, November 18 at the FedEx Global Education Center where you can get a new or renewed passport. State Department officials will be on campus with passport applications, and you can get passport photos taken on site. More details about the event and required documentation are available at http://global.unc.edu.

I encourage you to help us in our mission to make Carolina a truly global university and take advantage of our numerous opportunities for international study, research and service.

Sincerely,

Holden Thorp

Hi Debby ... they just won't let you retire, huh?

I received the packets for Kia Caldwell this afternoon and will review as soon as I can. This recommendation would have had to go to the October ASAC meeting in order to have a January 1, 2010 effective date.
It will need to be changed to July 1, 2010.

Subject: Re: Kia Caldwell

Debby,

I've reviewed the packet for Kia Caldwell and there a several things that need to be revised:

- The Chair's letter and AP-2 will need to be revised to reflect the new effective date of 7/1/2010. The effective date on the EPA web form needs to be corrected from 1/1/09 to 7/1/2010.
- The Anthropology Chair's letter needs to state that Anthropology is recommending her promotion from Adjunct Assistant Professor to Adjunct Associate Professor and to reflect the new 7/1/2010 effective date since they can't appoint her as Adjunct Associate Professor before she becomes Associate Professor in her primary rank
- The AP-2 also needs to include the current Anthropology appt in the "present appt info." section. Also need to correct dates of the Anthropology jt appt in the proposed section: Begin date 7/1/2010, Adjunct Assoc. Prof., End date – 6/30/2011 (if it is just to be for one year). Also remove the "4" that denotes a probationary term.
- A joint appt. form signed by both departments needs to be included in the packet.
- Since this review was begun over a year ago, I would suggest that Julius' letter to the Dean say something about that and why submission of the recommendation was delayed so as to clarify the time frame, i.e., the letter to solicit outside recommendations was written in September 2008 indicating a promotion date of July 1, 2009; the recommendation letters were received in fall 2008 and spring 2009; and the reviewers were provided with Caldwell's CV dated September 2008.

Let me know if I can help further.

Motivating Carolina Students and Employees to Get Fit from Head to Heel!

Interested in modifying your lifestyle and adopting healthy new patterns? If you need to lose weight, and want to learn how to do it the healthy way, while meeting new people and having fun, Get Fit from Head to Heel! is for you.

Carolina Campus Recreation and Counseling & Wellness Services introduce Get Fit from Head to Heel!, a 10-week healthy lifestyle, weight loss and physical activity challenge available to UNC-Chapel Hill students and employees. The program is designed for individuals interested in modifying their lifestyle and adopting healthy, new patterns.

With the support of a team and coach, participants will attend fitness challenges and nutritional sessions. The program emphasizes the importance of maximizing physical activity and making healthier lifestyle and eating choices. The program not only provides motivation and support, but the resources to be successful. The impact of the program can best be described by feedback from past participants.

"I was at a standstill...I was sick of dieting, I was sick of exercising, I was sick of everything, and I needed a little push..."

"I've tried new things that I never thought I'd do, and learned that I actually like exercise, which I never thought would happen..."

"Whether you've lost a little bit or a lot, the results give you the confidence you need to know you are on the right path."

Complete program information and upcoming Q & A sessions are available at http://campusrec.unc.edu/fitness/fitness_services.html.

Art after Dark

Friday, November 13
Museum open until 9:00 PM

Join us this Friday during our special evening hours. Have a drink with friends, join local artist Nancy Busch for a discussion of her work (seen above), enjoy music from DJ Gooberghan, participate in a gallery talk, and of course - take in the art!

Nancy Busch | 6:00 - 7:00 PM
Nancy Busch is a Chapel Hill based artist whose work has been presented in North and South America and archived at the Museum of Modern Art and the Smithsonian. On Friday evening, she will present and discuss I've Changed but I'm the Same, a forty-five minute "docu/experimental" video revealing the deconstruction of an artist's body of work while telling the story of its creation.

Gallery Talks | 5:30 and 8:30 PM
Get to know the Collection through these guided gallery talks led by Ackland staff. At 5:30, Director of Academic Programs Carolyn Allmendinger will discuss Archibald J. Motley Jr.'s 1924 painting Mending Socks, and at 8:30 she will look at the Veranda Post, an iconic piece carved by the Yoruba people of Africa and now on display in the exhibition The Guardian and the Avant-Garde.

Free admission | Cash bar

The Guardian and the Avant-Garde

Almost Now:
Cuban Art, Cinema, and Politics in the 1960s and 1970s

And ten more galleries filled with art and ideas!

NEXT WEEK:

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Call for Nominations: Honorary Degrees 2011

Dear Colleagues:

The faculty Committee on Honorary Degrees and Special Awards invites your nominations for honorary degrees to be awarded at Commencement 2011. A maximum of five awards is authorized (six if the Commencement speaker is included). Those so honored are nominated by the committee, recommended by the Faculty Council, and approved by the Board of Trustees. Awards are not conferred in absentia or posthumously.

We seek to honor people who have rendered outstanding service to humanity in the world arena, in our nation, in the American South, or our State of North Carolina; people who have made outstanding contributions to knowledge in the world of scholarship; people whose talent and creativity in the world of the arts has enriched our lives; and people whose devotion to and support of our University merits our highest recognition. Members of the Board of Governors or staff of The University of North Carolina or any of its constituent institutions are not eligible. These persons become eligible two years after termination of such status.

A roster of past recipients is posted on the Faculty Governance website at the following location:
http://www.unc.edu/faculty/faccoun/honorary/HDegs/HonDegrees.shtml.

Please include appropriate biographical information and a statement in support of your nominee. Nominators often seek supporting letters from others, but the content of such letters, not their number, is what counts. Nominations must be received in the Office of Faculty Governance no later than Wednesday, January 20, 2010. Submit nominations either by regular mail, fax, or email to:

Office of Faculty Governance
203 Carr Building
CB# 9170
Fax: 919-962-5479
Email: anne_whisnant@unc.edu

Members of the Committee on Honorary Degrees and Special Awards are Professors Jan Yopp, Chair; Werner Riess, Etta Pisano, Bland Simpson, Robert Anthony, Gene Nichol, and Joseph S. Ferrell (ex officio).

Sincerely yours,

Joseph S. Ferrell

People who are post-stroke are encouraged to participate in an ongoing research study investigating changing treadmill speed during walking training. This study is being conducted in the Interdisciplinary Human Movement Laboratory in the Division of Physical Therapy.

The purpose of the Interdisciplinary Human Movement Laboratory is to improve rehabilitation strategies in people who are post-stroke.

You or someone you know may be eligible if:
*have experienced an ischemic or hemorrhagic unilateral brain lesion at least six months ago
*able to walk without physical assistance
*no history of falls or balanced deficits unrelated to the stroke
*no cardiorespiratory or metabolic diseases
*no total joint replacements

Participation in the study includes:
*a brief clinical exam conducted by a physical therapist to determine functional performance
*walking across an instrumented mat at two self-selected walking speeds
*one session of walking training for 20 minutes on a treadmill at a constant walking speed
*one session of walking training for 20 minutes on a treadmill at varying walking speeds that change every minute in random fashion.

All participants will wear a harness that attaches to an overhead support system to prevent injury should a trip occur while walking on the treadmill. Rest breaks are permitted as necessary during training.

Compensation will be provided up to a maximum of $50.00 to those who complete both training sessions.

This study, Biomechanical Influences on Motor Learning During Locomotor Training Post-Stroke (IRB #08-1161), has been approved by the UNC Biomedical Institutional Review Board (approved 07/22/2008).

Apologies for the resend, but I needed to attach the updated winter edition of the poster for the Blood Drive. If you don't see any posters in your area announcing this blood drive, please feel free to print the attached file "Winter Edition Poster 2009 Attachable.pdf" and post all over your building!

Thanks! Let's get those appointments going so we can make goal on this Carolina Blood Drive.

Debby,

I've reviewed the packet for Kia Caldwell and there a several things that need to be revised:

- The Chair's letter and AP-2 will need to be revised to reflect the new effective date of 7/1/2010. The effective date on the EPA web form needs to be corrected from 1/1/09 to 7/1/2010.
- The Anthropology Chair's letter needs to state that Anthropology is recommending her promotion from Adjunct Assistant Professor to Adjunct Associate Professor and to reflect the new 7/1/2010 effective date since they can't appoint her as Adjunct Associate Professor before she becomes Associate Professor in her primary rank
- The AP-2 also needs to include the current Anthropology appt in the "present appt info." section. Also need to correct dates of the Anthropology jt appt in the proposed section: Begin date 7/1/2010, Adjunct Assoc. Prof., End date – 6/30/2011 (if it is just to be for one year). Also remove the "4" that denotes a probationary term.
- A joint appt. form signed by both departments needs to be included in the packet.
- Since this review was begun over a year ago, I would suggest that Julius' letter to the Dean say something about that and why submission of the recommendation was delayed so as to clarify the time frame, i.e., the letter to solicit outside recommendations was written in September 2008 indicating a promotion date of July 1, 2009; the recommendation letters were received in fall 2008 and spring 2009; and the reviewers were provided with Caldwell's CV dated September 2008.

Let me know if I can help further.

I realize the effective date may be an issue and may have to be extended to July 1, 2010. Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Help out a student by taking a survey about your furlough!

Dear UNC-Chapel Hill Employee,

In May of 2009, you experienced a 10 hour furlough (mandatory unpaid time off from work) to cut costs for the state. I am a second year Master of Public Administration student at UNC-Chapel Hill who is interested to hear your reactions to this furlough.

You are being asked to take part in a research study. To join the study is voluntary. You may refuse to join, or you may withdraw your consent to be in the study, for any reason, without penalty. Taking part in this research is not a part of your University duties, and refusing will not affect your job. You will not be offered or receive any special job-related consideration if you take part in this research. Participation in this study is completely voluntary and requires no more than 15 minutes of your time.

This survey contains yes/no, true/false, and fill-in-your-own-answer questions about your individual experiences with the furlough. It also includes demographic and occupation questions. You are free to answer or leave blank any particular question and are not required to complete answering the questions once you begin. Please note that the survey does not ask any identifying information, and all gathered data will only be accessible to the researcher. You might be at risk for embarrassment or harm if your answers became known, however, I will protect the confidentiality of your responses. Qualtrics maintains data behind a firewall, and I will be the only one with access to the data via a username and password.

I will be more than happy to email you a copy of the final report if you are interested in the results. My email address is ingridr@email.unc.edu.

This is an opportunity for you to tell how the furlough affected you. Your experience is important to me as I prepare a report on how UNC-CH employees responded to the furlough. Feel free to contact me with any questions at (919)601-6622 or by email (ingridr@email.unc.edu). Michele Hoyman, Associate Professor of Political Science, is serving as the Chair of the faculty committee overseeing my research. She may be reached at (919) 962-6867or hoyman@email.unc.edu.

All research on human volunteers is reviewed by a committee that works to protect your rights and welfare. If you have questions or concerns about your rights as a research subject you may contact, anonymously if you wish, the Institutional Review Board at 919-966-3113 or by email to IRB_subjects@unc.edu. The study number is 09-1957.

Thank you so much for participating in my survey! Completing this survey indicates your consent to be a participant in this study. Please click

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: 2010 Faculty Mentoring Awards sponsored by the Women's Leadership Council

Nominations for Faculty Mentoring Awards sponsored by the Carolina Women's Leadership Council due Feb. 19, 2010; each winner to receive $5,000

The Carolina Women's Leadership Council has generously provided funding for annual faculty mentoring awards at the University.

With over 200 members, the Women's Leadership Council is a network of women from across the country who are committed to supporting the University and students' educational experiences. Along with providing financial support, members volunteer their time and share their expertise, as well as champion Carolina in their regions and serve on boards that further the University's mission. The council is co-chaired by Mary Anne Dickson '63; Drucie French '71, '78; and Molly Dewar Froelich '83.

The Faculty Mentoring Awards sponsored by the Carolina Women's Leadership Council recognize outstanding men and women faculty members who go the extra mile to guide, mentor and lead students and/or junior faculty as they make important career decisions, embark on innovative research and teaching initiatives, prepare for leadership positions, and enrich their lives through public service, teaching and meaningful educational opportunities. These awards will honor faculty-to-student mentoring and faculty-to-faculty mentoring, with one award given in each category. Each recipient will receive $5,000.

All tenured and tenure-track faculty are eligible for this award, as are fixed-term faculty who have been at Carolina for at least three years. Visiting faculty are not eligible. Nominations may be submitted by anyone from the Carolina family, including current and former faculty, staff, and students.

Please note you will be asked to provide three separate attachments (please use Microsoft Word) consisting of the following:

1. Brief (one-paragraph) statement of rationale for nomination.

2. Narrative description -- not to exceed two pages -- of the extent, type and character of the mentoring provided by the nominee.

3. Nominee's curriculum vitae.

Nominations should be electronically submitted by visiting:

http://www.unc.edu/pcgi-bin/WLCMA_viewapp.pl

Submissions must be received by Feb. 19, 2010.

A selection committee appointed by the provost will review and recommend the award recipients. This committee will include representatives from the faculty, the student body, the Office of the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost, the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, and the Carolina Women's Leadership Council.

Selections will be made in mid-March 2010. Winners will be announced by the end of the Spring 2010 semester.

For more information about the Faculty Mentoring Award sponsored by the Carolina Women's Leadership Council, contact Carol Tresolini, Associate Provost for Academic Initiatives, at 919.962.3907 or carol_tresolini@unc.edu

To learn more about the Women's Leadership Council, contact Lanier Brown May in the Office of University Development at 919.843.5883 or lanier_may@unc.edu or visit http://giving.unc.edu/women/index.htm

CONGRATULATIONS

UNC Lineberger (Comprehensive Cancer Center) congratulates physicians recognized as among the 2009 Best Doctors in North Carolina. This list was published in the November 2009 issue of the Business North Carolina magazine. The Best Doctors list is created by Boston-based Best Doctors Inc. through physician polls. To see full list, click here.

Noel Brewer (Cancer Prevention and Control) has been appointed as an associate editor of Health Psychology Review and also as a member of the Risk Communication Advisory Panel of the Food and Drug Administration. He also recently received the Rutgers University Early Career Alumnus Award for Distinguished Accomplishments and Service.

Bryan Roth (Molecular Therapeutics) is senior author of the article "Predicting New Molecular Targets for Known Drugs" published online ahead of print on November 1 in Nature. Read more.

Jean Sellers (Outreach) has been nominated to facilitate public discussions about the recently passed Patient Navigation Bill.

If you have a new publication, a new grant, a new honor/award, etc, let us know. We like to see Cancer Center members' achievements in print (or e-print).

Research (Academic) Grant Writing Course to be Offered at NC State During Spring 2010 Semester

Registration deadline: December 1, 2009

This is a 1.5 credit class that will meet roughly every other week. Course aims to help those who are unfamiliar with the federal funding process write draft proposals. For PhD students, these would likely be dissertation improvement grants from NSF; for Junior Faculty, they'd likely be regular or CAREER awards. Course may also include guest speakers to discuss other funders, such as NIH, NEH, and private foundations.

For questions about the course, call Tom Birkland at 919-513-7799 or email him at tom.birkland@gmail.com.

UNC Eshelman School of Pharmacy Fifth Annual Organ Systems Pharmacology Short Course

Application deadline: December 1, 2009

The five-day course will be held January 4-8, 2010.

Includes short lectures and hands-on experience with various isolated organs and whole-animal models used to examine drug disposition/pharmacokinetics/action.

GRANT OPPORTUNITIES

Cancer and Leukemia Group B Clinical Scholar Awards Available for CALGB Oncology Junior Faculty
Deadline: January 15, 2010

The Cancer and Leukemia Group B Foundation invites oncology junior faculty working at CALGB institutions to apply for 2010 CALGB Investigator and Clinical Scholar awards. These grants are available for oncology junior faculty within years 1 to 3 (Investigator Award) or years 4 to 6 (Clinical Scholar Award) of a faculty appointment.

For information about the Investigator Award, click here.

For information about the Clinical Scholar Award, click here.

The UNC Program on Ethnicity, Culture, and Health Outcomes (ECHO) Announces 2010 Pilot Award Program and Release of Competitive Call for Proposals

Optional letter of intent deadline: November 4, 2009 by 5:00 pm

Full proposal deadline: January 22, 2010 by 5:00 p.m.

The purpose of this call for proposals is to encourage small-scale pilot research projects that can be completed within 12 -16 months and have the potential to lead to a larger federally or foundation funded award application. We are interested in a variety of health research topics including: innovative survey methods; collaborative projects with community organizations; and projects addressing any disparate health conditions.

Deadline for nominations for the University Awards for the Advancement of Women is Monday, November 30, 2009, at 5:00 p.m.

On behalf of the Offices of the Chancellor and the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost, the Carolina Women's Center is pleased to announce the call for nominations for the 2010 University Awards for the Advancement of Women. This award recognizes contributions to the advancement of women at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Each year, three individuals--one faculty member, one staff member, and one undergraduate/graduate student/postdoctoral scholar--may be selected to receive the award. The faculty and staff recipients each receive $5000 and the undergraduate/graduate student/ postdoctoral scholar recipient receives $2500. Awardees are honored in a ceremony during the Carolina Women's Center's annual Women's Week Celebration in February 2010.

Please submit nominations for women and men who have contributed in one or more of the following ways:

* Elevated the status of women on campus in sustainable ways;
* Helped to improve campus policies affecting women;
* Promoted and advanced the recruitment, retention, and upward mobility of women;
* Participated in and assisted in the establishment of professional development opportunities for women; and/or
* Participated in and assisted in the establishment of academic mentoring for women.

To submit a nomination, please use the online form at:
http://www.unc.edu/oira/public/women_nomination.html

All faculty and staff nominees must be permanent employees. No self-nominations will be accepted. Carolina Women's Center administrators and staff are not eligible for nomination. The deadline for nominations is Monday, November 30, 2009, at 5:00 p.m.

Previous award winners are:
(2009) Etta Pisano, Aimee Krans, Annie Clark
(2008) Kay Lund, Cookie Newsom, Emily Joy Rothchild
(2007) Barbara Harris, Annette Madden, Emily Dunn,
(2006) Jan Boxill, Terri Houston, Matt Ezzell

Please contact Dr. Donna M. Bickford, Director of the Carolina Women's Center at dbickford@unc.edu or (919) 843-5620 if you have questions about the awards or nomination process.

UNC Lineberger Clinical Trial Featured in UNC TV Spot

A clinical trial focused on how women metabolize the anti-breast cancer drug Tamoxifen, is the subject of a UNC TV spot. The study, led by UNC Lineberger members Dr. Lisa Carey, Dr. William Irvin and Dr. Howard McLeod, looks at how women metabolize the drug differently based on their individual gene expression profile and may help improve response to treatment for some women. Subject: FORMAL NOTICE: Additional H1N1 Vaccination Clinics for the Intranasal Vaccine

Dear Campus Community,

The University has scheduled additional H1N1 vaccine clinics for faculty, staff and students. The University has primarily received the intranasal form of the vaccine, which is indicated for healthy individuals between the ages of 2 and 49, and campus health officials encourage people who fall into this category to get the nasal vaccine.

People who should not receive the nasal form of the vaccine - for example, people who are pregnant or have certain medical conditions like asthma, diabetes or an illness that causes their immune system to be suppressed - can receive the vaccine in shot form instead. Students who need to receive the shot form of the vaccine should contact Campus Health Services, 966-2281. Employees who need to receive the shot form of the vaccine should contact the University Employee Occupational Health Clinic, 966-9119.

The University is following recommendations from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) to vaccinate pregnant women, people who live with or care for children younger than 6 months of age, health-care and emergency medical services personnel, people between the ages of 6 months and 24 years old, and people ages 25 through 64 who are at higher risk of H1N1 because of chronic health disorders or compromised immune systems. The CDC Web site includes recommendations for receiving each form of the vaccine:
http://www.cdc.gov/vaccines/pubs/vis/downloads/vis-laiv-h1n1.pdf.

The Department of Environment, Health and Safety (EHS) is holding clinics to administer the nasal form of the vaccine to students, faculty and staff in the CDC target groups. Most people in these groups should be able to receive the nasal vaccine. They can make an appointment to receive the nasal form of the vaccine during any of the nine clinic dates below by going to the EHS Web site:
http://www.ehs.unc.edu/ueohc/h1n1flushot.shtml.

All clinics are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. unless otherwise indicated:

Monday, November 23: Student Union, Room 2518 - noon to 8 p.m. (both appointments and walk-ins are encouraged);

Monday, November 30: Student Union, Room 3206;

Tuesday, December 1: Student Union, Room 2518;

Wednesday, December 2: Student Union, Room 3206;

Thursday, December 3: Student Union, Multipurpose Room;

Monday, December 7: Student Union, Room 3206;

Tuesday, December 8: Student Union, Room 3206;

Wednesday, December 9: Student Union, Room 3206; and

Thursday, December 10: Student Union, Multipurpose Room.

After the Thanksgiving break, the University will hold additional clinics for students in key places where they live and study, including many residence halls. Students will be notified about these clinics by e-mail and the campus cable television system. Since students are among the high-risk groups identified by the CDC, University health officials encourage students to get their H1N1 vaccine at one of the clinics listed above or a clinic that will be held after Thanksgiving in residence halls.

There will be no out-of-pocket expense for students or employees who have the following insurance coverage: the State Health Plan, Blue Cross Blue Shield; Partners; Aetna; Humana Gold; SummaCare; Advantra Freedom; or Medicare Part B. However, you must bring your current insurance card and a photo ID to the clinic. If you are not insured with any of these companies, you can still be vaccinated, but you will have to pay an administrative fee of $12 (cash or check). The fee is paid to an outside health-care agency for the nurses and other staff providing the vaccination service, not to the University.

University health officials have ordered a sufficient quantity of the H1N1 vaccine for all students, faculty and staff who want to be vaccinated. Be sure to check Alert Carolina, http://alertcarolina.unc.edu/go/site/1395, for updates about distribution of the H1N1 vaccine and for general information about the H1N1 flu.

Sincerely,

Mary Beth Koza, Director of the Department of Environment, Health and Safety

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Deadline Extension for Nominations for The Robert R. Cornwell Unsung Hero Award

We are extending the deadline for nominations for the 2009 Robert R. Cornwell Unsung Hero Award to Wednesday, December 2nd.

The Cornwell Award was established in 1996 in recognition of the long-term contributions of Mr. Cornwell, a university employee who died unexpectedly in 1994. This award is presented annually to a current, full-time, permanent employee who has provided significant service in support of the University over a long period of time and, generally, from a background position. Excellence in the quality of work performed is the standard used for selecting the recipient, but of equal importance is the likelihood that the employee's work is unnoticed by much of the University community. The Cornwell Award conveys recognition and appreciation by the University of the outstanding, but often invisible, work of many of its employees.

You are invited to nominate a faculty or staff university employee from your unit or from another department at the following Website.

http://www.unc.edu/oira/public/cornwell/cornwell.html

Alternatively, you can request a paper copy of the nomination form by calling 962-1500. Nominations must be received no later than 5:00pm on Wednesday, December 2nd. Nominations are not carried over from year to year. A committee composed of faculty and staff will choose the winner who will be honored with a plaque and a modest cash award at a recognition ceremony.

If you are interested in contributing to the Cornwell Award, you can do so by sending a check to the Office of University Development, PO Box 309, Chapel Hill, NC 27514-0309.

Former Winners
1996 Mr. Hal Mann, Physics & Astronomy
1997 Ms. Hazeline Lewis, Center for Health Promotion & Disease
1998 Mr. Dan Harris, Pathology and Laboratory Medicine
1999 Ms. Linda Cook, Health Behavior & Health Education
2000 Ms. Beverly Williams, Student Health Service
2001 Ms. Mona Kelly, English

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: INFORMATIONAL: Family Alcohol Education Research Study: Moms Needed

Is it a good idea for children to occasionally be allowed to sip drinks with alcohol? Some parents believe that introducing children to alcohol at home will prevent risky drinking when children become teens. Other parents think that sipping drinks with alcohol only makes risky drinking more likely in the teen years. Many parents are not sure what's best.

Are you a mom with an 8 to 10 year old child? If so, researchers at RTI International and UNC are developing a new family health education program called Magical Max and Me that aims to help parents know what to say and do to teach children about alcohol in a safe and healthy way. We are looking for moms like you to spend a few hours helping us design this new program. Let us know what you think will work for parents and what won't work!

You will earn $75 for attending one meeting near your home this fall or winter and participating in one telephone interview in the spring. Please call our project office at RTI International (toll free) for more information: (877) 237-KIDS or email cstroud@rti.org.

This study, Early Intervention to Engage Parents in Socializing Children against Alcohol Use, has been reviewed and approved by the RTI IRB (IRB# 12150; approved 10/26/09).

Subject: FORMAL NOTICE: Director, North Carolina Health Careers Access Program

To: UNC-Chapel Hill Community
From: Associate Provost Carol Tresolini, Academic Initiative
Re: Director, North Carolina Health Careers Access Program

Director, North Carolina Health Careers Access Program

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill seeks a leader for the North Carolina Health Careers Access Program (NC-HCAP), whose mission is to increase the number of underrepresented minorities or economically/educationally disadvantaged students who are trained, educated, and employed in the health professions. Established in 1971 as the North Carolina Health Manpower Development Program, NC-HCAP envisions a society with equitable access to culturally appropriate and adjusted health care across all racial and ethnic groups regardless of geographic location or socioeconomic status. NC-HCAP provides a variety of programs and resources for pre-college and college students to attract them to the health professions and prepare them for successful admission to and completion of health professions education programs. Although NC-HCAP is a campus-wide center of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, its reach is statewide through its affiliated Health Careers Centers at UNC-Pembroke, Elizabeth City State University, and North Carolina Central University and its strong partnership with the North Carolina Area Health Education Centers Program (AHEC). It also enjoys strong working relationships with the health professions schools at UNC-Chapel Hill.

The Director of NC-HCAP has overall responsibility for the activities, programs, and operations of the unit. Specific responsibilities of the Director include the following:

* Strategic planning and policy development. The Director generates long and short-range strategies to develop awareness of the health professions in high school and college students who are from minority and/or disadvantaged groups and prepare them for admission to and success in health professions education programs. This is done in the context of current health professions distribution and ongoing demographic changes in North Carolina, in partnership with other pipeline programs, and with awareness of the availability of federal, state, and private resources.
* Program development, implementation, and evaluation. The Director oversees the planning, implementation, and evaluation of all NC-HCAP programs administered at UNC-Chapel Hill through continual supervision of program staff and monitoring of programmatic activities and coordination. The Director also assists the associated Health Careers Centers in program planning and development on their campuses by providing consultation, resources, and networking. Program evaluation is an essential responsibility to ensure thorough documentation of achievements and accountability for program outcomes.
* Fiscal and administrative oversight and fundraising. The Director is responsible for overseeing budgetary matters, including annual budget development and reporting and day-to-day oversight; developing grant proposals and providing oversight of grants and contracts; fundraising; and supervision of administrative and program staff.
* External relations, partnership development, and collaboration. The Director is NC-HCAP's official representative to internal and external constituencies, responsible for developing and maintaining productive relationships with faculty, staff, administrators, and students from all areas of the campus and the associated Health Careers Centers, with alumni and community partners, central and regional AHEC personnel, UNC system campuses, other colleges and universities, and local, state, and national groups and individuals.

The position requires significant leadership experience and achievement in programs that prepare minority and disadvantaged students for careers in the health professions. The Director must be able to communicate with diverse audiences, build relationships with a wide variety of partners and constituents, and engage in successful fundraising and grant making. He or she must be sensitive to and deeply understanding of the challenges faced by minority and disadvantaged students, knowledgeable about the health professions and health professions education programs, and passionate in pursuit of the mission and goals of NC-HCAP. The Director also must have proven managerial, fiscal, and administrative abilities and an understanding of academic culture, policies, and procedures typical of major public research universities. A minimum of a Master's degree is required, with doctorate preferred. The Director reports to the Provost through the Associate Provost for Academic Initiatives and prepares and transmits to the Provost an annual budget and annual assessments of his or her activities and those of NC-HCAP.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is a comprehensive research university offering the highest academic quality and a culture of achievement and collaboration. Chartered in 1789, UNC is the oldest state university in the United States. The University enrolls 28,916 students, and is ranked in the top five public national universities by U.S. News and World Report. The University's fourteen colleges and schools provide instruction offering 73 baccalaureate, 112 master's, and 72 doctoral programs, as well as degrees in the health professions, law, social work, business, education, information and library sciences, and journalism and mass communication. The University is situated in one of the premier college communities in the nation.

Inquiries may be addressed to Dr. Rumay Alexander, NC-HCAP Search Committee Chair, rumay@email.unc.edu or 919- 966-7767. Please send nominations to Dr. Rumay Alexander c/o Ms. Debbie Stevenson, debbie_stevenson@unc.edu or 104 South Building, CB# 3000, The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3000, or debbie_stevenson@unc.edu. Review of applications will begin December 1, 2009 and will continue until the position is filled.

All applications must be submitted electronically. To apply, go to

http://provost.unc.edu/announcements/open-positions

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity employer. Minorities and women are encouraged to apply.

The Carolina Catalyst

THE OFFICIAL E-NEWSLETTER OF THE INSTITUTE OF AFRICAN AMERICAN RESEARCH UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT CHAPEL HILL

VOLUME 1 NUMBER 2, FALL 2009

SPECIAL POINTS OF INTEREST:

- IAAR launches Friday Teas for faculty, staff, students, and community friends (pictures on page 2).
- Congratulations to Dr. Kennetta Hammond Perry, former MURAP administrative assistant, who has now been appointed as Assistant Professor of History at East Carolina University.
- IAAR Research initiatives for FY 2010
- IAAR Welcomes Professor Bill Jenkins as new IRLU Director and an IAAR Associate Director.
- Scholarships for Students!

Why is Research on African Americans Important?

Excellence in research is at the core of a first-rate university. As such, how will we at UNC address the multitude of research issues facing African Americans, both in North Carolina and throughout the world, in sophisticated, culturally nuanced, and scientifically rigorous ways? One approach is to increase the number of cross-disciplinary, collaborative efforts among informed researchers. Indeed this is one of the central goals of the new IAAR. The poignancy of the African American experience deserves careful exploration, documentation and analysis. We cannot resolve the disparities African-Americans face in health, education, and economic welfare without high quality research to guide our policy interventions. We also cannot identify the adaptive, beneficial aspects of African American life and cultures that can be replicated to improve the status of this segment of our citizenry. The IAAR is currently evolving to become a research institute dedicated to the production and analysis of original research. This repositioning will put us in a better position to address significant issues in African American Research. (Continued on p. 5 See RESEARCH)

IAAR-UNC and Duke's Research Network on Racial and Ethnic Inequality to Co-Host the African American Economic Summit in early November

Is the subprime mortgage crisis due to African-American buyers? How big is the racial wealth gap? Can government endowments for poor newborns reduce the wealth differentials? Great insights are expected when a group of stellar economists meet on November 1 and 2 to discuss key financial issues affecting African-Americans and others. Plans are underway to co-host the African American Economic Summit that will be at UNC on Sunday, November 1 and at Duke University on Monday, November 2. This day and a half summit is designed to discuss the policy implications of the current economic downturn on African Americans in the areas of health insurance, wealth inequality, the subprime mortgage crisis, and educational disparities and income. Some invited experts and their home universities include: Algernon Austin (Economic Policy Institute), Cecilia Conrad (Pomona), Neville Francis (UNC-CH), Darrick Hamilton (New School), James Johnson (UNC-CH), Julianne Malveaux (Bennett), Patrick Mason (Florida State), Samuel Myers (Minnesota), Sandra Phillips (Syracuse), Ronald A. Johnson (Western Carolina University), Wilhelmina Leigh (Joint Center for Political & Economic Studies), Angel Harris (Princeton University), Gregory Price (Moorehouse), Linda Carty (Syracuse), and Senator Dan Blue (North Carolina State Legislature), among others. Additionally, a large contingent of North Carolina Senators and Representatives have been invited to the Summit to hear first-hand from the economic scholars.

Fatimah Jackson (UNC) and Sandy Darity (Duke) are collaborating on the Summit which will feature a reception and dinner on Sunday, public lectures on Monday, a working lunch, and extensive discussions to develop policy recommendations from the reported findings. The results of this effort will be transmitted to both NC and national economic and legislative authorities. (See AAES, p. 4)

Pictures from IAAR's first Fall 2009 Friday Tea

The goal of the Friday Teas is to bring together faculty, staff, students, and community members with research interests in African Americans. In attendance were faculty members of several UNC colleges, a broad range of graduate and undergraduate students, UNC staff members and a good cross section of community members.

The Teas on alternating Fridays at the Institute serve to bring together scholars for informal networking, idea sharing, and collegial interactions. We hope to continue these opportunities for interaction through the Friday Teas and the upcoming African-American Studies Consortium Program and Reception on September 21, 2009.

IAAR Research Fellowships Now Available

The IAAR is currently soliciting applications for Research Fellows for 2009-2010. Beginning this academic year, Research Fellows will be associated with either of the Institute's two research units: the EKU (Endogenous Knowledge Unit) or the IRLU (Integrated Research Liaison Unit). Applicants should have an earned doctorate in any field and a research project relevant to the African American experience. Special considerations will be given to applicants with research interest that coincide with the Institute's programmatic objectives for 2009-2010 or 2010-2011. IAAR Research Fellows are offered research space, a small research stipend, and computer access for the duration of their residency at the Institute. Research Fellows are expected to give a public seminar at the Institute, to list the IAAR on all publications associated with their fellowship, and to use their residency to apply for additional extramural research funding. Applications are now available at the following locations:

- IAAR website: www.unc.edu/iaar
- IAAR offices in suite 305 Stone Center

Undergraduate and Graduate Student Internships Still Available

Are you interested in learning more about research on issues related to African Americans? IAAR now has year-round internships available for undergraduate and graduate students. Applications for Student Internships for 2009-2010 can be obtained from Ms. Veronica Bellamy, 309 Stone Center (Main Desk) or online at: www.unc.edu/iaar.

IAAR to Co-Host African American Studies Consortium Fall 2009 Program and Reception

On Monday, September 21st the Stone Center, Stone Center Library, and the IAAR will jointly sponsor a program and reception for the African American Research Studies Consortium. The gathering will include a program in the Hitchcock Room and a reception in suite 309 of the Stone Center. This is a continuing networking initiative that connects UNC faculty, postdocs, staff, graduate students and community members who conduct research on African Americans and peoples of African descent throughout the Diaspora. The reception will allow Consortium members to meet IAAR's new Director, Dr. Fatimah Jackson as well as become informed about new initiatives at the IAAR, the Stone Center, the department of African-American Studies, and the Stone Center Library. For more information please see www.unc.edu/iaar and click on the Consortium icon on the right-hand side of the page.

The Consortium is a joint effort between IAAR, the Sonja Haynes Stone Center for Black Culture and History, and the Department of African and Afro-American Studies. This year we are especially keen to invite a broad cross-section of regional faculty, staff, students, and community members to the Program and Reception. We hope that you will be sure to join us! Come early and stay late!

HUMANITIES WRITING COMPETITION FOR SCRIPTS ON THE AFRICAN AMERICAN EXPERIENCE

The Institute of African American Research will offer a $500 prize for the best cross-disciplinary, collaborative efforts in the Arts and Humanities that yields a historically-grounded script of African American Research. Established and aspiring scholars and writers with expertise in creative writing, literary criticism, philosophy, history, communications, performance studies, and other relevant disciplines are encouraged to apply. Submitted scripts will be considered for production. There are no limits on the historical time frame or genre of writing. Scripts should be submitted electronically and in hardcopy format to the IAAR by March 1, 2010. Acceptable submissions should reflect African American sensibilities, cultural norms, and perspectives. Submissions should be no more than 50 pages in length, double-spaced. Contributions become the property of IAAR, which will retain exclusive rights for subsequent distribution and use. Entries will be judged by a panel of experts in the Arts and Humanities. The contest is sponsored by the Endogenous Knowledge Unit (EKU) of the IAAR. Two hardcopies of each submitted script along with a completed copyright transfer form should be sent to EKU, IAAR, 150 South Road, Campus Box 3393, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3393, USA. An electronic version of the same submission should be sent to iaar@unc.edu. Winners of the contest will be acknowledged during the Spring 2010 reception of the African American Studies Consortium hosted by the IAAR. There are no limits to the number of entries that can be submitted.

Student Research Assistant Position Still Available at EKU

The Institute of African American Research seeks an organized, motivated, and personable graduate or advanced undergraduate student assistant to work 10 to 20 hours a week to help coordinate various duties of its Endogenous Knowledge Unit. These responsibilities include, but are not limited to : conducting bibliographic research, summarizing articles, and assisting in making arrangements for events associated with EKU (e.g., lectures, programs, symposia, conferences, workshops). Duties also include making phone calls, facilitating guest travel, surveying event sites, identifying funding resources in support of the Unit's mission, managing confidential files, transcribing meeting notes, creating reference databases, and taking digital photos. The student assistant may work with IAAR's webmasters to coordinate technology efforts for relevant blogs, listservs, electronic databases, newsletters, online journals, press releases and other forms of research and publicity, the maintenance of personalized web sites (e.g., Twitter and Faceboook), the development of web site sections, and the maintenance of personal digital assistants (e.g., cellular phones). The successful student will assist general with the EKU's mission, especially in collecting, analyzing, and disseminating data on the insights, perspectives, and indigenous knowledge of African Americans and Africans of the Atlantic Diaspora; helping to catalogue emic insights on diverse topics; helping to develop and manage an archive of African American world views; and assisting in the creation of a major reference of African American indigenous knowledge and wisdom. The selected applicant must have a good knowledge of MS Office especially Word, Excel and Publisher. HTML language is a plus. All majors are welcome, especially those with specific disciplinary interests in African American Studies. Must have great interpersonal skills and superior oral and writing skills. Honed research skills are also desirable. Please contact:
Dr. Tomeiko Carter, EKU Director electronically at: tashford@email.unc.edu. Be sure to indicate "EKU Student Assistant Post" in the subject heading. ***

It is hoped that the African-American Economic Summit will produce tangible results of use to both state and federal agencies.
For more information on the African American Economic Summit, please contact the IAAR or visit our webpage.

A Sample of Current and Planned Research, IAAR 2009-2010

EKU	IRLU	RTL
African American Economic Issues: • Housing • Wealth • Education • Health	Patient Compliance and Adherence in Kidney Disease (ESRD)	Mapping the geographical, demographic diversity among North Carolina African Americans
Black Theodicy: Christianity, Islam and the African American condition	Genetics of Africa and the Transatlantic African Diaspora	Morphometric presentations of African American facial variation
African and African American concepts in Applied Mathematics	Cancer in North Carolina African Americans (particular emphasis on breast and prostate cancers)	Computational simulations of important events in African American history
African American morality, ethics, and core values	Geographical differences in educational attainment among African Americans
African American dietary patterns and nutritional status	The role of dietary salt in hypertension and stroke in North Carolina African Americans

We are also open to considering additional topics. If you have a research priority that you'd like to see the IAAR address, please contact the Director, Dr. Fatimah Jackson (fatimahj@email.unc.edu). If any of the above research areas appeal to faculty, staff, or community members, please contact any IAAR staff member for more information and ways you can participate in the research effort. ***

Judges needed for IAAR's 2010 Humanities Script Competition

Do you have expertise in creative writing, literary criticism, drama, script writing, directing, theatre, or African American studies? IAAR requests your assistance as a judge for the March 2010 competition (see story on page 3 of this issue of The Carolina Catalyst). Please contact our offices (919-962-6810) if you are interested. Judges will be acknowledged along with competition winners in the Spring 2010.

RESEARCH (continued from page 1) Once these units are fully functional, we hope to offer though them, research workshops, student internships, and affiliations for faculty fellows.

Why is it important to do research on African Americans? African Americans represent a significant proportion of the NC and US populations. In the state of NC, AA represent about 26% of the total citizenry and this proportion has been even higher in the historical past. As a group, African Americans have been long vested in the history and development of our country. Their contributions of AA are poignant and the influence of African American culture pronounced. No area of the American experience has been untouched by the African American presence. As such, Black Americans are a deep part of the fabric of this nation. As the elders used to say, the African American's blood is in the soil", meaning that they are an indigenous people of this land.

What kind of research is needed? The long duration and intensity of the African American presence in the United States has a pronounced effect upon the magnitude of many of the problems/issues facing this segment of the population. Most of the problem areas are persistent, multigenerational, and require complex, multidisciplinary research approaches. No single explanatory model is going to be responsive to the diversity of African American genetic backgrounds, cultural experiences, or environmental exposures. There will not be a single gene, dietary factor, environmental toxin, or social condition, for example, that will explain the seemingly abiding infant birthweight deficiencies among African American newborns (in contrast to the newborns of more recent African and Afro-Caribbean immigrants). Rather, we will need research strategies that encompass the breadth and the depth of the African American experience in the US. We need research that crosses the generations as well, longitudinal studies, since many of the educational, health, and economic disparities observed among African Americans show patterns that have been in place throughout many generations. So research on African Americans needs to be well grounded in the "as-lived" experiences of African Americans, regionally specific to the nuances of these lives, and receptive to the integration of proximate and ultimate factors that influence susceptibilities. (continued p. 9, See RE-

IAAR RESEARCH FELLOWS 2009-2010

Lolita Gutierrez Brockington

Dr. Brockington is an emeritus professor of history at North Carolina Central University and has worked to document and analyze the impacts of the African diaspora in the eastern Andes. The author of several books, including Blacks, Indians & Spaniards in the Eastern Andes: Reclaiming the Forgotten in Colonial Mizque, 1550-1782, Dr. Brockington plans to continue to describe the demographic, historical socio-economic and political significance of the African presence in Latin America. To expand on her previous work, she will analyze 300 years of Bolivian parish records she has collected and incorporate these together with similar records for the same time period from Argentina, Chile and Paraguay. Dr. Brockington will apply her extensive data to obtain a broader, deeper perspective on the participation of African slaves and their descendents within the social, economic and political structures of these regions from the colonial period to Independence.

Jesse A. Hardin

Dr. Hardin comes to the Institute from Tucson, Arizona. He received his doctoral training in the Department of Entomology at the University of Arizona, as well as an undergraduate degree in biology from New College of Florida in Sarasota, Florida. His fellowship work at the Institute will focus on environmental health disparities relating to insect control in communities, particularly using Integrated Pest Management (IPM) techniques in community gardens and other urban settings. One outcome of his research that would be useful to communities is the development of educational curricula on links between asthma and insects of concern in order to identify strategies that minimize health impacts for children. He is also interested in insect control methodologies at other scales of agriculture and how these contribute to environmental health disparities.

Monique McMillian-Robinson

Dr. McMillian-Robinson is an educational psychologist with international experience in education and research on academic engagement. A North Carolina native, Dr. McMillian-Robinson received her undergraduate and doctoral training in psychology from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, as well as a Master's degree from UNC-Greensboro. Her background includes statistical training as a Fellow with the Emerging Scholars Interdisciplinary Network in the Summer Fellowship Program in Applied Multi-Ethnic Research at the University of Michigan. She has received grant funding from the AERA Institute of Statistical Analysis for Education Policy as well as grants to attend the Essex Summer School in Social Science Data at the University of Essex, England. She is currently an Assistant Professor at North Carolina Central University, teaching educational and developmental psychology classes. Dr. McMillian-Robinson's research will use multilevel structural equation models applied to national databases to determine the factors that maximize academic engagement and achievement in minority-student populations.

Charlene Chester

Charlene Chester is a doctoral student in developmental psychology at Pennsylvania State University. In addition to earning a master's degree in 2006 from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, as a student in the Moore Undergraduate Research Apprentice Program she wrote a paper entitled "The Effects of Caregiver Disciplinary Strategies upon Black Adolescent Peer Group Influences." Her research focuses on behavioral genetics and environmental factors in the context of family relationships, including transracial adoption. During her fellowship, Chester will be working to publish and present her work on the effects of genetics and environmental influences on sibling relationship quality across several developmental levels in childhood.

IAAR Welcomes Experienced Epidemiologist and Professor

Dr. Bill Jenkins as new IRLU Senior Research Associate

Bill Jenkins, PhD, MPH, was a professor of Public Health Sciences at Morehouse College and Director of its Research Center on Health Disparities, as well as adjunct Associate Professor of Epidemiology at Morehouse School of Medicine. He was a Supervisory Epidemiologist in the National Center for HIV, STD, and TB prevention at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), and managed its Minority HIV Prevention Program and the Participant Health Benefits Program, which assures medical services to the survivors of the Tuskegee Study of Untreated Syphilis in the Negro Male. He served as an expert on minority issues in disease transmission. Also at the NCHSTP, he was the former Chief of the Research and Evaluation Statistics Section in the Division of Sexually Transmitted Diseases Prevention and served as Manager of the National Minority Organizations HIV Prevention Program.

Dr. Jenkins instructs medical, graduate, and undergraduate students in biostatistics, epidemiology, and public health at Morehouse School of Medicine and Morehouse College. He also consults on the development of Public Health programs at institutions in the Atlanta University Center and other Historically Black Colleges and Universities. He serves on several boards including the advisory boards of Morgan State University's School of Community Health (sp), M D Anderson's Center for Research on Minority Health, Harvard's School of Public Health's IMSD and Summer Programs , and UNC's Minority Health Conference.

He is a member of the American College of Epidemiology (ACE), the American Statistical Association (ASA), and the American Public Health Association (APHA), where he also served on the Governing Council and Executive Board. He was the chair of the Epidemiology Section of ASA, and a member of the Board of Directors of ACE.

Dr. Jenkins obtained his Bachelor's degree in Mathematics from Morehouse College. He holds a Master's degree in Biostatistics from Georgetown University, and both a Master in Public Health degree and a Doctor of Philosophy degree in Epidemiology from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. He has also completed post-doctoral work in Biostatistics at Harvard's University School of Public Health.

He has received the USPHS' Medal of Commendation, The Hildrius Poindexter Award, and is a Distinguished Alumni of the University. He has been selected to receive the Abe Lillienfied Award this November at the American Public Health Association.

Beginning October 2009, Dr. Jenkins will serve as Senior Research Associate of the IRLU (Integrated Research Liaison Unit) at the IAAR and an Associate Director of the Institute. We welcome his expertise to the Institute!

IAAR SOLICITING FACULTY, STAFF, STUDENTS, AND COMMUNITY MEMBERS INTERESTED IN HEALTH DISPARITIES RESEARCH

NEW RESEARCH STEWARDSHIP OPPORTUNITIES AT THE IAAR

The Senior Scholars Program at the IAAR

This program is a new opportunity for advanced faculty and professionals to spend up to two years in full or partial residence at the IAAR while they work on a book or other significant publication of relevance to African American studies. Senior Scholars are expected to have extensive experience in teaching and research and are generally considered to be at a mid to senior level in their careers. A Senior Scholar appointment comes with a small stipend (to facilitate the Scholar's research) and requires a completed application, curriculum vitae, names of three references, and evidence of sabbatical or other support to sustain the scholar while in residence. The IAAR provides the scholar with access to IAAR resources and many UNC-CH facilities . Senior Scholars are expected to complete their project within the two years of appointment. Applications will be available October 10, 2009 at the IAAR Main Desk, 305 Stone Center, and electronically from Ms. Veronica Bellamy (cookee@email.unc.edu).

Attention Undergraduates with Interests in Economics

Would you like to meet some of the leading experts in African American Economics and help as they develop policy recommendations for the state and federal authorities? The IAAR is co-hosting an African American Economic Summit in early November 2009 and we would like to invite thirty highly motivated and personable undergraduate with interests in economics to join us. Interviews will be conducted in October. To sign up for this opportunity, please register at the IAAR Main Desk, 309 Stone Center or send Ms. Veronica Bellamy an electronic message (cookee@email.unc.edu). Be sure to put AAES" in the subject heading.

Dr. Tomeiko Carter to be Promoted from EKU Research Manager to EKU Senior Research Associate at IAAR

Dr. Tomeiko Carter has ably served the IAAR for many years in a variety of important positions. She is now to be upgraded from Research Manager of the Endogenous Knowledge Unit (EKU) to Senior Research Associate of that unit. In this capacity, Dr. Carter will continue to identify and initiate research projects that address aspects of the African American experience from an endogenous perspectives. Congratulations to Dr. Carter on this promotion that will take effect in October 2009.

Provost's Office to Appoint Internal and External Advisory Boards for IAAR

We at IAAR are very pleased that the Provost's Office at UNC-CH has agreed to officially appoint the Internal and External Advisory Board members for the Institute. Board members will serve for a maximum of three years with the potential for renewal. We extend invitations to all UNC-CH faculty members interested in the activities of the Institute to consider membership on our Advisory Boards. Please contact Dr. Fatimah Jackson (fatimahj@email.unc.edu) for more information.

EMERGING RESEARCH INTERESTS

Investigating Conflict Resolution in the African American Community

Do we as African Americans approach conflict resolution differently than other ethnic groups? Do our social and cultural experiences, directly and/or indirectly play a role in how we effectively communicate with others?

I believe African Americans do approach conflict resolution differently than other ethnic groups and it is directly related to our social and cultural experiences. From times of slavery through the years of Jim Crow, and now to the present, in the age of Obama, we can trace various examples of conflict whether interpersonal or global, and the different mechanisms used to resolve or at the least address these conflicts.

These questions and many more to come will get us thinking about the cultural dimensions of conflict and what concepts and processes we use to thrust our communities forward or in turn hinder them.

As I pursue my Master of Arts in Conflict Resolution I look forward to gaining your insight and perspective on how this discipline has been displayed and utilized in the past for African Americans as well as the present. The field is wide so feel free to comment from a work, family, or community perspective. Please feel free to contact me, Ms. Veronica D. Bellamy, with your comments and insight by email at cookee@email.unc.edu. Please reference "Conflict Resolution" in the subject line. ***

What is unique about African Americans that influences research on this population? In my research laboratory, we have been exploring the evidence for important population substructuring among Black Americans. We have observed significant differences in the West and West Central African origins of Africans first brought to this country, regional differences in the Europeans and Native Americans they interacted with, and important cultural and ecological differences in the constraints to which these early African Americans were exposed. Remnants of this early population substructure persist today and the most promising research takes these regional geographical differences into account. We have developed a unique approach, called ethnogenetic layering (EL) that addresses this issue of population substructure in contemporary Black Americans using such techniques as Geographical Information Sciences (GIS). One opportunity that the IAAR hopes to bring to the UNC-CH campus is increased access to the detail provided by EL. We hope that collaborations, particularly through our IRLU (Integrated Research Liaison Unit) will facilitate the integration of EL in many research designs.

What can Institutes such as the IAAR do to improve the quality and quantity of research of African Americans? The IAAR at UNC is in a unique position to catalyze research that is both innovative and comprehensive with respect to this population. The Institute can bring together researchers with diverse approaches to similar problems (or with similar approaches to diverse problems) and by facilitating their collaboration, allow for the development of new perspectives. For example, we are hoping that the African American Studies Consortium (AASC) will expand to include any researcher with interests in African American research. This would bring together faculty, students, staff, and community members with interests in the arts and humanities, social sciences, chemical and life sciences, biomedical fields, business and finance, education, law, journalism, and many other areas of inquiry. On alternative Fridays (starting September 11th) from 3-4 pm the Institute will host Friday Teas and on Monday, September 21st, the Institute will co-host a modest program and reception at the Stone Center (4-6 pm). Both of these service activities reflect a continuing effort to create an atmosphere for important intellectual discourse and interaction.

Recently, the Institute added a well-regarded, senior epidemiologist biostatistician, Dr. Bill Jenkins to our core staff. Dr. Jenkins' proximity as well his ongoing mentorship of several junior biostatisticians will allow the IAAR to develop sophisticated research models that accurately reflect and predict the kinds of complex analyses that are needed in research on African Americans. Again, we feel that this is a serious step toward improving the quality of such research and can serve as a model for diverse groups. (continued on p. 10, See RESEARCH)

We have also opened up our stewardship opportunities at the Institute and host Fellows and Graduate Research Assistants from a variety of disciplines. For example, as of August 30th, our Fellows and Graduate Research Assistants have come from entomology, information technology, computer sciences, medicine, and comparative literature. Their on-site research on a variety of topics is another step toward a more interactive, collaborative research model. Over the course of the academic year, Fellows will be presenting seminars and workshops on their research results in our new seminar room (309D Stone Center).

What research initiatives are planned for the IAAR for FY2010? We have begun this first year of my directorship in a very modest manner. We have scheduled an African American Economic Summit in early November that will bring together scholars from around the nation for a 2 day conference at UNC and Duke to discuss and develop policy recommendations for the state and federal governments.

In mid January we hope to host either an electronic or physical meeting of IAAR directors nationwide. The purpose of this meeting will to lay the groundwork for a national consortium of IAAR centers and institutes with the goal of establishing several future collaborative research projects.

In early March 2010, our Arts and Humanities competition is due, and winners will be selected. This contest solicits 50 page scripts rooted in some aspect of the Black American experience, We are able to offer a $500 prize to the winner of this competition and we are hoping to draw contestants from all over the region.

In mid Spring and early summer we will begin giving Genetics Workshops in predominantly African American communities around the state. The purpose of these workshops is to increase local awareness of some the recent advances in genetics of particular relevance to African Americans. We have already contacted 55 mayors of majority Black American NC communities. One of the first to get back to us was the historic community in Princeville, N.C.

Just before the end of the fiscal year (July 2010) we hope to schedule a public forum on Black Theodicy. This format will invite Black American Islamic and Christian scholars to develop a consensus in the morning and provide a public discussion in the afternoon that will highlight theological responses to the longstanding question of Black suffering among many African Americans: How do we rationalize the juxtaposition of a benevolent, all powerful CreatorGod and the reality of African American enslavement and its aftermath? This question is at the core of many current and historical religious discussions among African Americans.

We hope that these small efforts will begin to transform the Institute of African American Research into a primary research institute capable of generating new data, supporting diverse scholars, and addressing issues of central relevance to an expanded field of African American Studies.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: English speakers wanted for language research study

You are invited to participate in a research study about language. The purpose of this research study is to learn about how people interpret novel words as they learn them in a linguistic context.

The study should take no more than 30 minutes, and you would need to come in for only a single session.

Eligibility: You must be 18 years of age or older and be a native speaker of English. Exposure to a second language is fine, but you should not be completely fluent in another language besides English. Also, you must not have any significant language deficits (such as dyslexia or Specific Language Impairment).

Participants will receive $5 for completing the study.

If you have questions about the study, please call 962-5009 or send an e-mail to mbecker@email.unc.edu or to estigarr@email.unc.edu.

If you would like to enroll in the study, please contact Taylor Shirley at tshirley@email.unc.edu.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: 2010 MLK Day for Service

Greetings UNC students, faculty and staff!

This year marks the 9th annual MLK Day for Service, which is organized by the student organization Carolina R.O.C.T.S. (Rejuvenating Our Community Through Service). This service opportunity allows individuals and/or groups to participate in service projects at various locations in and around the Chapel Hill/Carrboro area.

To learn more about Carolina R.O.C.T.S. and to register for the event, please go to our website at http://www.unc.edu/rocts. Registration opens November 23rd, 2010 and is on a first come first serve basis. If you have any questions concerning registration or the event please feel free to contact Alyson Courtney at acourtne@email.unc.edu, Portia Newman at pnewman@email.unc.edu or Johnathan Sanchez at jdsanche@email.unc.edu.

*Everybody can be great, because anybody can serve. You don't have to have a college degree to serve. You don't have to make your subject and verb agree to serve. You only need a heart full of grace and a soul generated by love. -Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. *

Thanks in Advance,

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: American Indian Heritage Month

Dear Fellow Tar Heels:

As we gather with family and friends for the Thanksgiving holiday season, I would like to remind our campus community that November is officially American Indian Heritage Month. Both Governor Perdue and President Obama have issued proclamations affirming the nation's debt to the indigenous peoples of North America - the first Americans.

North Carolina is home to the largest Native American population east of the Mississippi River. In addition to an academic major in American Indian Studies, UNC has established the American Indian Center to be a focal point for discussion of American Indian cultural, social and economic issues on campus. The Center also works with the State's American Indian Tribes and urban organizations to link them to campus resources for research and technical assistance.

I urge you to learn more about Native Americans, and participate in recognizing and celebrating their many achievements and contributions. You can find out more about events taking place this month and throughout the academic year at http://americanindiancenter.unc.edu/.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Youth Asthma Survey

Description:

The School of Medicine is recruiting children 8-17 years of age to participate in a research study to help us understand health related quality of life in children.

The study involves parents answering a 5 minute questionnaire about their child's background and general health. Then, the child will complete a survey that will take 15-30 minutes. The surveys are completed in person at either the Sheps Center for Health Services Research or the UNC Women and Children's Hospital over the course of the next six weeks.

Requirements: Children must have asthma and aged 8 to 17 years. Both parents and children must be able to speak and read English and be able to interact with a computer screen, keyboard, and mouse.

Time commitment: Approximately 30 minutes.

Compensation: Each participant will receive a $10 gift card.

For More Information Contact: zwarner@med.unc.edu

Principal Investigator: Darren DeWalt, MD, MPH

This study has been approved by the UNC IRB # 09-1236.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: SECC Deadline Extended to Dec. 10

Dear colleagues:

Thanks to all of you who have given to the 2009 State Employees Combined Campaign (SECC). We had a strong start to the campaign; as of today, Nov. 30, we have raised $651,409. This is less than our goal of $825,000. Therefore, we have decided to extend the campaign to Dec. 10. Last year, you helped raise $815,000, and we want to increase that to $825,000 in 2009.

I know many of you donate consistently year after year, and I hope you will take the time this week to fill out your form and make your pledge to help local charities and organizations. Pledge forms are available online at: http://www.unc.edu/secc/pledgeform.htm.

The SECC screens charities for sound management and for low administrative costs. The SECC operates with less than 10 percent overhead, and all non-overhead funds go directly to mission-specific causes at each charity. Individual charities cannot deduct overhead costs from the money received through the SECC.

As an incentive, I'm happy to offer a wonderful giveaway for the final collection. Anyone who has donated to the SECC this year is eligible to win a custom-fit Trek 820 bicycle, thanks to Zane's Cycles.

I hope you will join me in pledging to help those less fortunate in our community and across the state. This is a year when your donation will really make a difference.

Sincerely,

Bill Roper

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: USATF Officials Certification

The Opportunity to Officiate and the Certification Clinic may be of interest to your readers

The UNC Track & Field Program is looking for individuals interested in becoming UNC Track & Field Officials. We host 6-8 track meets per year at the Eddie Smith Field House and the Fetzer Field-Belk Track. This is a great activity for all those who are interested in track and field. We will provide the necessary training to become a certified USA Track & Field Official. Certified officials are compensated for working our meets - generally $50 per meet -- and can choose to work as few or as many meets as desired.

We will offer a certification clinic this year, to be held at the Eddie Smith Field House indoor track.
For more information including date and time visit:
http://tarheelblue.cstv.com/sports/c-track/unc-c-track-body.html.

There are two fees involved: USATF Membership ($30.00 per year) and USATF Officials Certification ($25.00 good till 2012). Officials who work a certain number of meets per year at UNC may be eligible to have the official's certification fee reimbursed. Questions can be forwarded to Anthony Parker at 843-8358 or at aparker@uncaa.unc.edu

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Research Study about Genetics of Schizophrenia

Are you interested in participating in a research study to help investigators at UNC Chapel Hill understand more about mental illness?

The Genomic Psychiatric Cohort Study is conducting a research study to better understand the genetic basis of Schizophrenia. We are currently looking for individuals with a diagnosis of Schizophrenia or Schizoaffective disorder to participate in this research.

You may be eligible to participate in the study if:
* You are over the age of 18
* You have a diagnosis of Schizophrenia or Schizoaffective disorder
* You are willing to complete a 10 minute screening questionnaire
* You are willing to participate in a 45 minute structured clinical interview
* You are willing to participate in a blood draw of approximately 3-4 tablespoons

If you meet these eligibility requirements you could earn up to 50 dollars in about one and a half hours time.

Healthy Children & Teens Needed for Research Study on Lung Function

Objective: Look at measures of lung function compared to thorax (chest) dimensions in children and teens

Subjects: healthy children and teens aged 5 to 21 with no history of asthma or lung disease

Study Activities: participants will undergo a brief physical exam, answer questions on race and ethnicity, then perform spirometry (lung function testing), which consists of deep breathing maneuvers using equipment that measures airflow. Spirometry takes 10-15 minutes; the entire visit should take no more than 1 hour.

Compensation: $20 Target gift card, parking costs

TURN IT BACK: Basketball Season
Need a ticket for this week's basketball games? Have some you aren't using?
The day BEFORE each home basketball game this season, CAA is hosting TURN IT BACK to redistribute student tickets. Redistribution will always be at 5:15 p.m. in the Union Front Desk the day before any lottery ticketed game. Tickets will be distributed on a first come first serve basis, and the line will be self-regulated. If you have a ticket that isn't being used, send it to ReturnUNCTickets@gmail.com. We want to use as many student tickets as possible!

STANDBY LINE
Don't forget about the Standby line! If you want to go, come to the Natatourim (In between Gate A and D of of the Dean Dome) 90 minutes before the game, and we'll give you any last minute tickets we get, then let as many students in as the stadium can hold (students have only been turned away ONCE!).

Also, check out http://www.unc.edu/caa/events.php for LUNCH with LEGENDS: an opportunity for EVERYONE to get FREE FOOD and listen to Dick Baddour (our very own Athletic Director) speak on the UNC Athletic Department and his experiences with Athletics! a Q&A will follow!

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Research subjects needed - win iPod Nanos and iTunes gift cards!

Hello,

My name is and I am a doctoral candidate at SILS, UNC Chapel Hill. The purpose of this email is to request your participation in a research study investigating the usage of an online collaborative information seeking system.

This study requires you to sign up for a free account on Coagmento, a system that allows one to keep track of one's browsing, collaborate with others, and compile reports in a unique way. Coagmento is a plug-in for Firefox browser, which provides support for recording your browsing, bookmarking sites, making annotations on webpages, and collecting text snippets and other objects from the Web. The study requires one to download and install this plug-in on their personal computers (Mac or PC) with Firefox browser, use it as often as desired, and provide feedback at different times. The study is planned to run for about three months. The participant can participate for as much of this time as he/she wishes. There is no need to appear at any place or use this plug-in at any specific time. Each action performed while using this plug-in, such as visiting a website and collecting information, will earn one certain number of points. At the end of the first month of this study, all the participants with more than a certain number of points will be entered into a drawing for three iTunes gift cards of $25 each. The same procedure will be used for the second month. At the end of the third month (end of the study), the participants with more than a certain number of points will be entered into a drawing for three iPod Nanos.

To participate in this study, please visit http://www.coagmento.org/ to create a free account. More details about the requirements, points system, and the prizes can be found there.

Choosing or declining to participate in this study will not affect your class standing or grades at UNC-Chapel Hill. You will not be offered or receive any special consideration if you take part in this research; it is purely voluntary. This study has been approved by the UNC Behavioral IRB (IRB Study 09-2033, Approval Date 11/30/2009), and will be supervised by Prof. Gary Marchionini (march@ils.unc.edu) at SILS.

Investigators at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill are leading a world-wide effort to understand why some people have an increased risk of developing an eating disorder. We are currently gathering information and genetic material (DNA from a blood sample) from women who have had anorexia nervosa at any time in their life. Information from this study will advance our understanding of the causes of anorexia nervosa and further our ability to develop more effective treatments and prevention strategies.

If you are female and have had anorexia nervosa at any time in your life, you are invited to participate in this study. Participation only takes 15 minutes and includes a blood draw.

Please contact Colie Taico at (919) 843-9207 or ctaico@med.unc.edu if you wish to participate or have any questions.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: ONLINE Diarrhea Prevention Study

The Center for Functional GI and Motility Disorders invites you to participate in an online research study on the symptoms of diarrhea. The purpose of the study is to learn whether a person can predict when they are going to have an episode of diarrhea.

The study will involve filling out several questionnaires online about your bowel symptoms.

To participate, you must be 18 years of age or older and have daily access to the internet. You must also have experienced diarrhea for at least the last 6 months, and you must have had at least one mushy or watery stool per month for the past 3 months.

If you are eligible, you may also be invited to participate in an online diary study which involves keeping track of your diarrhea symptoms by logging into a secure website each day. You will have a unique study ID and password to ensure your responses are anonymous and confidential. There are no visits to UNC required. The study lasts for 60 days (2 months). You will receive $60 each month for completing the study. In addition, if you complete your diaries without skipping any days, you will receive an additional $60/month. Therefore, you may receive up to $240 for participating in this study.

To determine if you are eligible, please click on the following link and respond to the screening questions:
https://uncfunctionalgi.net/dipstudy.html

If you have any questions, please contact Marsha Turner 919-962-9787.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Give gift of life on Dec. 15

During the holidays, blood donations typically decrease, yet the demand for blood at health facilities in our region does not.

We are all busy, whether with baking, shopping or traveling; and students who donate regularly are away from UNC. Yet patients still need transfusions.

You and UNC can close the gap, celebrating the holidays with the gift of life to patients in our area. Donate blood from 7:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Dec. 15 in Fetzer Gym at this year's winter Carolina Blood Drive.

Besides the feel-good buzz from a good deed, you'll get free food afterward, a free aluminum water bottle from the American Red Cross and a chance to win airline tickets. And drive time is work time with permission from your supervisor.

So help the American Red Cross collect the 1,600 units of blood that are needed every day to give second chances to folks who need our help. Visit http://www.unc.edu/blood/ or call 962-1483 for details and to register.

Thank you and happy holidays,

Subject: FORMAL NOTICE: H1N1 Intranasal Vaccine Clinics for Faculty, Staff and Students

Dear Campus Community,

The University's H1N1 intranasal vaccine clinics for faculty, staff and students will continue through most of next week.

The Department of Environment, Health and Safety is holding clinics Dec. 7-10 in the Student Union. To make an appointment to receive the nasal form of the H1N1 vaccine during any of the clinic dates, faculty, staff and students should go to http://www.ehs.unc.edu/ueohc/h1n1flushot.shtml. Clinics will be held from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on the following days:
-- Monday, December 7: Student Union, Room 3206;
-- Tuesday, December 8: Student Union, Room 3206;
-- Wednesday, December 9: Student Union, Room 3206; and
-- Thursday, December 10: Student Union, Multipurpose Room.

In addition, the University is holding clinics for students in the residence halls Dec. 4 and Dec. 7-11. Students can stop by any of the following clinics from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. to receive the nasal form of the H1N1 vaccine; no appointment is needed.
-- Friday, Dec. 4: Craige - Green Room;
-- Monday, Dec. 7: Ehringhaus - Green Room;
-- Tuesday, Dec. 8: Carmichael, Teague, Parker, Avery - Carmichael Ballroom;
-- Wednesday, Dec. 9: Granville Towers - Agora Dining Area;
-- Thursday, Dec. 10: Ram Village, Odum Village - Multipurpose Room, Building 1, 1st floor; and
-- Friday, Dec. 11: Kenan - Parlor.

People can also receive the seasonal flu vaccine during all of these clinics. The seasonal flu and H1N1 flu vaccines can safely be administered at the same time.

The nasal form of the H1N1 vaccine is safe and effective; it is indicated for healthy individuals between the ages of 2 and 49. People who should not receive the nasal form of the H1N1 vaccine - for example, people who are pregnant or have certain medical conditions like asthma, diabetes or an illness that causes their immune system to be suppressed - can receive the vaccine in shot form instead.

Students who need to receive the shot form of the vaccine should contact Campus Health Services, 966-2281, and employees who need to receive the shot form of the vaccine should contact the University Employee Occupational Health Clinic, 966-9119.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) Web site includes recommendations for receiving each form of the vaccine: http://www.cdc.gov/vaccines/pubs/vis/downloads/vis-laiv-h1n1.pdf.

There will be no out-of-pocket expense for the H1N1 vaccine or the seasonal flu vaccine for students or employees who have the following insurance coverage: the State Health Plan, Blue Cross Blue Shield; Partners; Aetna; Humana Gold; SummaCare; Advantra Freedom; or Medicare Part B. However, people must bring their current insurance card and a photo ID to the clinic.

Anyone who is not insured with any of these companies can still be vaccinated, but will have to pay an administrative fee of $12 (cash or check) for the H1N1 vaccine and $30 (cash or check) for the seasonal flu vaccine. The fee is paid to an outside health-care agency for the nurses and other staff providing the vaccination service, not to the University.

The University is following recommendations from the CDC to vaccinate people in high-risk groups for H1N1 first: pregnant women, people who live with or care for children younger than 6 months of age, health-care and emergency medical services personnel, people between the ages of 6 months and 24 years old, and people ages 25 through 64 who are at higher risk of H1N1 because of chronic health disorders or compromised immune systems.

The University has ordered a sufficient quantity of the H1N1 vaccine for all students, faculty and staff who want to be vaccinated. So far, 11,000 doses of the nasal spray and 2,900 doses of the shot form of the vaccine have been received. Through the end of November, health officials administered around 3,900 doses of the nasal spray and 1,800 shots, including 300 shots transferred to UNC Health Care for its employees.

Because the University has an ample supply of the vaccine on hand, health officials encourage people in the CDC target groups to be vaccinated now, particularly since health officials predict a third wave of the H1N1 flu to be active in late January or early February.

Be sure to check Alert Carolina, http://alertcarolina.unc.edu/go/site/1395, for updates about distribution of the H1N1 vaccine and for general information about the H1N1 flu.

Sincerely,

Mary Beth Koza
Director of the Department of Environment, Health and Safety

CHILD PARTICIPANTS NEEDED: The Peer Perceptions Project is a research study at UNC designed to better understand children's beliefs about group differences in ability (e.g., are boys better than girls in sports).

WHO WILL PARTICIPATE:
We are looking for 10- to 13-year-old children who will perform a computer task and complete some paper-and-pencil measures. All children in that age range who are fluent in English may participate.

Children will complete a computerized task and paper survey. The session will last about 20 minutes. Each child will receive a $5 incentive (e.g., gift card to Target) at the end of the session. Testing will occur in the UNC Psychology Department or at a public location (e.g., public library) that is convenient for the parents.

If you have a 10- to 13-year-old child who might be interested in participating in the study, please send an email to peersproject@unc.edu or call 962-3884 and leave your name and telephone number.

Invitation to Provide Input to the Administrative Review of Tracy Heenan, Director, Office of Animal Care and Use

A committee has been appointed to conduct a regular administrative review of Tracy Heenan, Director, Office of Animal Care and Use. With this email, the members of the committee are inviting your comments about Dr. Heenan's leadership and about the unit itself.

You may communicate with the committee in the following ways:

*You may write or email any member(s) of the committee. Please note that any written communication, including email, becomes a part of the permanent record and can be accessed by Dr. Heenan if she so chooses. University guidelines prevent us from accepting unsigned or anonymous letters.

*You may contact any committee member(s) by phone. Any notes members take during phone contacts are not part of the permanent record and cannot be seen by the subject of the review.

*You may meet with the committee in person on December 15, 2009, from 3:00-5:00pm, in room 104 Carrington Hall, School of Nursing. If you wish to meet with the committee at this time, please contact Philip Smith (see below) by December 14 to indicate your interest.

As with phone contacts, oral comments are not part of the permanent record. Persons may declare at the beginning of their appearance their wish to remain anonymous, insofar as attribution in the committee minutes of specific comments. However, a list of all persons who provided oral comments to the committee will become part of the official record.

You may also relay this invitation to anyone you think has an interest in the Office of Animal Care and Use and its services. The deadline for receiving comments is December 31, 2009.

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: Administrative Review of Mr. Emil Kang, Executive Director of the Arts

TO: UNC-Chapel Hill Faculty, Staff and Students

FROM: Bruce Carney, Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost

December 7, 2009

RE: Administrative Review of Mr. Emil Kang,Executive Director of the Arts

On behalf of the committee appointed to review the performance of Mr. Emil Kang, I am pleased to invite your participation in the review process.

The committee is being chaired by Professor John McGowan. Other members include: Terry Rhodes, Emily Kass, David Sontag, McKay Coble, David Blackmon, Douglas Zinn and Priscilla Bratcher.

As required by University regulations, the Provost has requested a review of Mr. Kang's performance as the Executive Director of the Arts over the last five years. Areas for review include vision, long-range planning, day-to-day management of the program, and leadership in actualizing the ideals and goals of the Arts. The committee invites your comments on these and related issues. It is important for the committee to learn how Mr. Kang's performance as Executive Director is viewed by students, staff, and faculty at UNC-Chapel Hill.

We encourage you to contribute to this review in the following different ways:

1. The committee has scheduled two open sessions to receive comments. These times are:

January 12, 2010 - 3:30 - 5:00 - 2nd floor seminar room, Hyde Hall
January 13, 2010 - 3:30 - 5:00 - 2nd floor seminar room, Hyde Hall

If you wish to meet with the committee, please contact Debbie Stevenson in the Office of the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost (debbie_stevenson@unc.edu or 962-7882), and she will schedule a specific time (usually about 10-15 minutes) within that time period. Note that while all comments during these sessions will be kept strictly confidential, a master list of attendees will be kept as part of Mr. Kang's personnel file. Requests must be made no later than January 8, 2010.

2. You may provide written comments to the chair or other committee members. The review committee will treat your comments as strictly confidential. By law, all written communication - whether on paper or by email - becomes a confidential part of Mr. Kang's personnel file. As such, comments are open to examination by him. University regulations prohibit considerations of anonymous letters in the review process. All written comments should be sent to: Professor John McGowan c/o Debbie Stevenson, 104 South Building, CB # 3000, or by emailing debbie_stevenson@unc.edu

3. You may telephone or meet privately in person with committee members. Oral communications (by telephone or in person) and the committee's notes generated from these conversations do not become part of Mr. Kang's personnel file but may be reflected in the committee's report without identifiers.

The deadline for submitting written comments regarding Mr. Kang's performance to the committee is January 6, 2010. Thank you very much for your help in this important task.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Dec. 11-12 Exam Parking and Transportation

ATTENTION STUDENTS, STAFF, AND FACULTY:

There are numerous activities requiring special parking arrangements on campus this weekend. To help students, staff, and faculty understand the parking and transportation for this Friday evening and Saturday, December 11-12, 2009, the Department of Public Safety is providing the following information:

EXAM PARKING:
Due to the exam schedule on Saturday, December 12, the Swain, Steele and Caldwell Lots will be reserved for working staff and faculty from 7 a.m. until 3 p.m. The lots will be screened by monitors during this time and monitors will ask to see a valid faculty / staff UNC OneCard before access is allowed.

The gates to the Steele and Caldwell Lots will remain down Friday night and will raise automatically on Saturday morning, December 12 at 7 a.m. when monitors arrive at the site. The Swain Lot gate will raise as normal on Friday night at 5 p.m., but will lower at 9 p.m. It will raise automatically on Saturday morning at 7 a.m. to correspond with the arrival of the parking monitors.

Additionally, the Cobb Deck gates will lower on Friday night at 8:30 p.m. and raise at 7 a.m. on Saturday morning. On Saturday, December 12, Cobb Deck parking will be available to all students, staff, and faculty members on a first-come, first-served basis. All other lots on campus normally available on the weekend will also be available on a first-come, first-served basis unless otherwise reserved for the Chapel Hill Christmas Parade, North Carolina High School Championship football or for another campus group that has reserved the lot.

CHAPEL HILL CHRISTMAS PARADE:
In order to accommodate the Town of Chapel Hill Christmas Parade on Saturday morning, December 12, the Morehead Lot will be reserved from 6 a.m. until 11 a.m. for the parade only. NO student, staff, or faculty parking will be allowed in that area during this time.

NCHSAA FOOTBALL:
UNC is hosting the North Carolina High School Athletic Association (NCHSAA) Football Championships at Kenan Stadium on Friday and Saturday, December 11 and 12. In order to accommodate these games, several parking lots will be restricted on Friday night and Saturday during the day and evening.

Public parking for these games will be on the south side of campus and away from the majority of the academic facilities being used for final exams. Public game parking will be available in the Cardinal, Jackson, and Craige Decks.

The Undergraduate Library Lot, Stadium Drive, Public Safety Lot, Crescent Lot, and Kenan Field House Lot will be designated as special disability, media, and emergency operations parking from 5 p.m. through 11 p.m. on Friday, December 11 and from 6 a.m. until 11 p.m. Saturday, December 12.

For further information, please call the UNC Department of Public Safety at (919) 962-3951, weekdays from 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: Benefits Update for 2010

Benefits Update for 2010

FROM: Brian Usischon, Benefits Services
Office of Human Resources

With the start of the New Year upon us, it's important to review some timely benefit news and information.

-- Annual Enrollment Changes: Any benefit elections made during the annual enrollment for NCFlex and the University benefit programs take effect Jan. 1, 2010. Remember to check your pay stubs (Jan. 15 for biweekly paid employees and Jan. 29 for monthly paid employees) to ensure that the programs you elected are reflected with the corresponding deductions.

-- Assurant Dental: This plan will terminate as of January 1, 2010. Premiums for the Assurant Dental plan were paid one month in advance. Therefore, deductions in November paid for coverage through Dec. 31. Employees enrolled with Assurant Dental have a premium-free month in December. Employees who continued their coverage with the NCFlex dental plan will begin to see deductions beginning with the first pay period in January 2010. If you are already receiving dental treatment for any service other than orthodontic work, these services must be completed by Dec. 31 and filed with Assurant Dental.

-- MetLife Group Term Life Insurance: If you are enrolled in this plan, you may see a change in your deductions beginning with your January paychecks. Adjustments to your premiums are made based on your age and salary as of Dec. 31 of each year.

-- ING Group Term Life Insurance: If you are enrolled in this plan, you may see a change in your deductions beginning with your January paychecks. Adjustments to your premiums are made based on your age and salary as of Jan. 1 of each year.

-- Health Care and Dependent Care Flexible Spending Accounts (FSAs): Claims for limits elected for the 2009 plan year must be filed with Aon by March 31, 2010. Services must have been rendered by Dec. 31. You can check the balance of your FSA, status of claims submitted, and pending reimbursements by registering with Aon Online at www.ncflex.selfservicenow.com.

 FSA claims kits will be mailed to employees' home addresses the last week in December. Please read the materials enclosed with the claims kit concerning when to file claims and when documentation is required.

Receive Claim Status Updates via E-mail: You can provide your e-mail address and receive e-mail notification of your claims and payment status. Enter your e-mail address on the FSA ClaimsPlus site(www.ncflex.selfservicenow.com). You will continue to receive paper statements if no e-mail address is on file.

Check your pay stub: Review your paycheck to verify the correct per-pay period deductions are taken out for your 2010 NCFlex FSA account(s). If you find errors, contact Benefits Services.

--NCFlex Convenience Card: If you have an NCFlex Convenience Card, do not destroy it. New cards will not be issued for the new plan year; they are automatically reissued 30 days prior to the card expiration date.

Requesting NCFlex Convenience Cards: Request an NCFlex Convenience Card through the ClaimsPlus Online Reimbursement System (www.ncflex.selfservicenow.com). To request dependent cards, call the NCFlex FSA Customer Service Center at 877-371-2926 and speak to a customer service representative. You can also cancel your NCFlex Convenience Card online, or by calling the NCFlex FSA Customer Service Center at 877-371-2926. It takes approximately 7-10 business days for cards to reach participants. There is a $6 annual fee, and you receive two cards per request. If you would like additional cards, there is a one-time $5 fee for each request, which is good until the card expires. These fees will be deducted from your FSA the month in which you request the card.

--Retirement Plan Limits for 2010:

The limit on contributions to a 403(b)/401(k) plan for 2010 is $16,500. If you are over the age of 50, or will turn 50 by Dec. 31, 2010, you are eligible for an additional $5,500 catch-up contribution.

The limit on contributions to a 457(b) plan for 2010 is also $16,500. If you are over the age of 50, or will turn 50 by Dec. 31, 2010, you are eligible for an additional $5,500 catch-up contribution.

Employee contributions to a 403(b) and 401(k) plan are combined together; however, employees can maximize saving opportunities by contributing to a 457(b) plan. Amounts contributed to a 457(b) plan are not combined with your 403(b) and/or 401(k) contributions.

If you have questions about your deductions or elections, email benefits@unc.edu or call 919-962-3071.

Dear Campus Community,

The University is now able to offer the H1N1 vaccine to all students, faculty and staff, based on recommendations from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). The vaccine comes in two forms: an intranasal spray, which is indicated for healthy individuals between the ages of 2 and 49, and a shot.

The Department of Environment, Health and Safety is holding clinics for the nasal vaccine Dec. 14-16 and Jan. 6-8 in several campus locations. Health officials encourage everyone in the campus community who qualifies for the H1N1 nasal vaccine to make an appointment at one of the following clinics by going to http://www.ehs.unc.edu/ueohc/h1n1flushot.shtml.

Clinics for the nasal vaccine will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the following days:
-- Monday, Dec. 14: Student Union, Room 2518;
-- Tuesday, Dec. 15: Student Union, Room 2518;
-- Wednesday, Dec. 16: Student Union, Room 2518;
-- Wednesday, Jan. 6: Michael J. Hooker Building, Lower Level Atrium;
-- Thursday, Jan. 7: Friday Center, Dogwood Room; and
-- Friday, Jan. 8: Giles Horney Building, Poplar Conference Room.

People can also receive the seasonal flu vaccine during all of these clinics. The seasonal flu and H1N1 flu vaccines can safely be administered at the same time.

The nasal form of the H1N1 vaccine is safe and effective; it is indicated for healthy individuals between the ages of 2 and 49. People who should not receive the nasal vaccine - for example, people who are pregnant, are age 50 or older, or who have certain medical conditions like asthma, diabetes or an illness that causes their immune system to be suppressed - can receive the vaccine in shot form instead. (Refer to http://www.cdc.gov/vaccines/pubs/vis/downloads/vis-laiv-h1n1.pdf for information about receiving each form of the vaccine.)

Students who need to receive the shot form of the vaccine should go to Campus Health Services (http://campushealth.unc.edu, phone 966-2281). Campus Health Services will be closed Dec. 21-Jan. 3, open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Jan. 4-6, closed Jan. 7, and resume regular 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. hours beginning Jan. 8. Vaccines are not given on the weekends.

Employees who need to receive the shot form of the vaccine should go to the University Employee Occupational Health Clinic (http://ehs.unc.edu/ueohc, phone 966-9119) on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m.

There will be no out-of-pocket expense for the H1N1 vaccine or the seasonal flu vaccine for students or employees who have the following insurance coverage: the State Health Plan, Blue Cross Blue Shield; Partners; Aetna; Humana Gold; SummaCare; Advantra Freedom; or Medicare Part B. However, people must bring their current insurance card and a photo ID to the clinic.

Anyone who is not insured with any of these companies can still be vaccinated, but will have to pay an administrative fee of $12 (cash or check) for the H1N1 vaccine and $30 (cash or check) for the seasonal flu vaccine. The fee is paid to an outside health-care agency for the staff providing the vaccination service, not to the University.

Be sure to check Alert Carolina, http://alertcarolina.unc.edu/go/site/1395, for updates about H1N1.

Sincerely,

Mary Beth Koza

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Type 2 Diabetes Study at UNC

Have you been diagnosed with Type 2 Diabetes?

The UNC Diabetes Care Center is currently seeking volunteers ages 18-75 with type 2 diabetes who are using oral medication or diet and exercise alone.
Volunteers, who are not well controlled, are needed for this research study which is looking to see the effect on blood sugar control of an investigational medication.
The study medication has been approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to treat arthritis but it has not been approved for diabetes.
Study involves 12 visits to the UNC Diabetes Care Center over approximately 1 year. Eligible participants will take either the investigational medication or placebo (pill with no active medication).
Study related benefits at no cost to participants include, study medication, related lab testing, ECGs, physical exams, glucose monitoring and compensation for your time.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: MINDFULNESS-BASED COURSES FOR STRESS & PAIN MANAGEMENT-REGISTER NOW!

Are you or someone you know looking for a new way to deal with stress, anxiety, pain, difficult interactions with others during and following the holidays?

Uncertain of what to get loved ones for the holidays?

What better way to say "I care" than giving a class in mindfulness-based stress relief after the "hectivity" of the holidays! This can be the perfect gift for yourself or for someone who is dear. Enter the New Year with new skills for dealing with life stresses!

The UNC Mindfulness-based Program for Stress and Pain Management offers training in meditation and mind-body awareness that will teach you how to slow down, set priorities and stay calm, focused and relaxed in the midst of a busy life. These practices will enhance your body's natural adaptive healing ability and will cultivate the mind's clarity and insight.

This program follows Jon Kabat-Zinn's model and is offered by the Program on Integrative Medicine at UNC (Department of Physical Medicine & Rehabilitation).

WINTER 2010 MINDFULNESS COURSES ON CAMPUS:
1)Tuesday evenings, 6:00-8:30pm, beginning January 5 (required orientation)
through March 2, 2010, taught by Mary Love May 2)Thursday evenings, 6:30-9:00pm, beginning February 4 (required orientation) through April 1, 2010, taught by Paula Huffman

Subject: [ackland-e-news] Make a Gift this Year

You Make It Possible

Dear friends,

For over half a century, the Ackland Art Museum has provided access to world class exhibitions, rich community programming, and innovative educational opportunities - all free of charge. University funding only covers about half of our annual operating costs. The rest comes from supporters like you. This holiday season, please consider giving to the Ackland and helping us continue to bring a world of art and ideas to our community.

There are several convenient ways to give:

1. Make a secure gift over the internet. Indicate that you wish to give to the Ackland Art Museum Annual Giving Fund #5041.

2. If you prefer to make a donation by check, make it payable to the Ackland Art Museum and indicate that it is designated for Annual Giving Fund #5041. Mail to:
Kyle Fitch, Director of Annual Giving
Ackland Art Museum
The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
Campus Box 3400
Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3400

Your gift to the Ackland is 100% tax deductible. If you would like to speak directly with Kyle Fitch, Director of Annual Giving, about your gift, contact her at 919.843.3676 or kyle_fitch@unc.edu.

Read more about what your support made possible at the Ackland this year.

Remember, a gift to the Ackland not only rewards you and your family, but also the community at large. Thank you for giving to the Ackland!

Happy Holidays,

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Recognize those who've made a difference at Carolina!

To all UNC students, faculty, and staff,

Look around. Do you see students, faculty or staff or know of programs that have made a significant difference in the lives of people and communities in North Carolina? Although few of them dedicate themselves to public service and engaged scholarship for the recognition, don't you think they deserve to be honored? If so, nominate them for a 2010 Public Service Award!

The Carolina Center for Public Service (CCPS) announces its call for nominations for three awards: the Ned Brooks Award for Public Service, the Robert E. Bryan Public Service Award, and the Office of the Provost Engaged Scholarship Award. These prestigious awards recognize individual students, faculty, staff and University units for extraordinary public service and engaged scholarship. Winners receive a monetary award and will be honored at the annual Public Service Awards reception scheduled for Friday April 16, 2010.

Nominations may be submitted by students, staff, faculty, and/or community members and are due by 5:00 PM on Friday February 5, 2010. Nominators are cautioned to review the criteria for each award to ensure their nomination is aligned with stated requirements for the award.

To obtain detailed information on each award and access the on-line nomination form, go to the Carolina Center for Public Service website:
http://www.unc.edu/cps/public-service-awards-index.php
You can also get tips on writing effective nominations at this site.

WINTER ISSUE 2009 VOLUME 1 NUMBER 3

UNC and Duke Co-Host Productive, Timely, and Insightful African American Economic Summit

African Americans may be facing more adversity in the current US economic downturn in more key areas than other Americans. This predicament presents a challenge to African American's long-term survival in America, at least according to lively expert discussion at the recent African American Economic Summit.

The Summit, which was held on November 1 -2, was co-hosted by the Institute of African American Research (IAAR) at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and the Research Network on Racial and Ethnic Inequality (RNREI) at Duke University.

The Summit included expert panelists who examined policies related to health, wealth, housing, education and labor, and incarceration and economics.

Day 1 general welcomes were given by Dr. Fatimah L.C. Jackson, IAAR Director, and by UNC Interim Provost and Vice Chancellor, Bruce Carney. Ferrel Guillory, Director of UNC-CH's Program on Public Life, spoke on "A Changing South: People and Politics in the 2008 Election". Andrea Harris, Director of the NC Institute of Minority Economic Development, spoke on "The Economic Situation of North Carolina African Americans."

These presentations set the stage for the Summit which hosted over 30 scholars and a well-integrated audience of faculty, students, and community members. After the public presentations and a reception, the core group of scholars divided into working groups to discuss a set of questions developed for each of the topical areas of the Summit. Their responses to these questions (see insert) were then collated and have subsequently been returned to the speakers for further elaboration and refinement.

Day 2 of the Summit was opened by Dr. William A. Darity, Jr., RNREI Director, with a welcome and an overview of the effect of the economic crisis on African Americans. Duke University Vice Provost for Faculty Diversity and Faculty Development, Dr. Nancy Allen gave Day 2's welcome on behalf of Duke University. Six key presentations then followed with an average of three scholarly commentaries on each key presentation. Copies of the key presentations and many of the commentaries were distributed in advance to Summit participants.

At Day 2's post-Summit breakout panelists responded to the key presentations in efforts to formulate policy suggestions. Panelists have agreed to continue working through policy issues brought up at the Summit and to work on producing a viable end product for publication. Evaluations of the Summit are being tallied and a range of end products are being considered for each of the topics discussed at the Summit.

AAES: African American Economic Summit

The UNC-Duke African American Economic Summit represents a premier effort to bring together scholars with expertise in economics and related disciplines to not only discuss the magnitude of the economic crisis among African Americans, but to also develop policy recommendations and potential intervention strategies to ameliorate the most negative consequences of the Great Recession on this group of Americans. It is hoped that the African American Economic Summit will serve as a stimulus for future forums that will continue to develop sophisticated and sustainable approaches to counter the devastating effects of the economic crisis. **

Key Topics Discussed at Recent African American Economic Summit

Among the topics panelists considered were: the possible impact of the public option on African American economic health; some characteristics of the racial wealth gap; tax advantages for renters and homeowners; correlations of educational attainment among African Americans and their employment opportunities; and prison training programs on the rate of recidivism, among others. Results of these discussions will be published in several formats. A brief summary of some of the ideas discussed on Day 1 are presented on pages 14-18 of this issue of The Carolina Catalyst  Comments from the Conference Organizers .....

"The economic crisis is so dire that the Summit was one of the few times that economists with expertise in the issues facing African Americans have had a collective voice in making policy recommendations."
Fatimah L.C. Jackson (UNC-CH)

"There has never been a forum to construct a policy agenda addressing the economic crisis in black America conducted by black economists. The premise behind the Summit is that the combination of the current economic crisis and ongoing black-white disparities make it compelling that the voice of black economists be heard." William A. (Sandy) Darity, Jr. (Duke)

Summary of AAES Expert Comments on pages 12-18

The Role of Archival Studies in African American Research

When I began research on Virginia Broughton, a nineteenth-century National Baptist Missionary, I knew that it would require me to visit several archives. Although I have visited many libraries and archives over the course of the years that I have worked on Broughton, my most rewarding experience came during my visit to the Special Collections Department of the John Hope and Aurelia E. Franklin Library, Fisk University. As one of many historically black colleges and universities (HBCUs) in the US and the one which Broughton attended, Fisk, specifically its library and special collections department, has become a repository of historical information on African Americans, their social, educational, and religious experiences, and the "friends" who aided their causes. For me, Fisk University's archives opened up a world of first-hand knowledge through primary sources such as letters, personal notes, and autobiographies and through secondary sources such as special directories and printed pamphlets. I was able to witness the thoughts, intellectual musings, and feelings of African Americans who lived decades, even a century earlier! Having those perspectives available to me in a contemporaneous setting underscored that such archived materials help researchers to span time, connecting generations. As manager of research produced through IAAR's Endogenous Knowledge Unit (EKU), I am aware that having primary resources about African Americans readily available is an invaluable asset in cataloguing often underrepresented experiences. Luckily, UNC-Chapel Hill also has vast repositories of African American archives, mainly housed at Wilson Library.

The Southern Historical Collection is an invaluable asset in cataloguing often underrepresented African American experiences. Luckily, UNC-Chapel Hill also has vast repositories of African American archives, mainly housed at the Wilson Library. From the Southern Historical Collection, to the North Carolina Collection, to the online Carolina Digital Library & Archives' Documenting the American South Project, the Chapel Hill Campus has shown a commitment to recording and making available the lived experiences of African Americans through archived materials. In fact, the Southern Historical Collection is producing a revised online guide showcasing its collection on African American archival materials from October 8, 2009 through February 5, 2010 ("We Shall Not Be Moved: African Americans in the South, 18th Century to Present"; Melba Remig Saltarelli Room, 3rd Floor, Wilson Library). Most importantly, however, African Americans and their supporters must continue to preserve and to donate their materials to archives and libraries so that these materials will be available as vast resources for future scholars and community researchers.

IAAR Spotlights the Humanities with Competition

The Institute of African American Research (IAAR) will offer a $1000 prize for the best cross-disciplinary, collaborative effort in the Arts and Humanities that yields a historically-grounded script on a topic of African American research. Established and aspiring scholars and writers with expertise in creative writing, literary criticism, philosophy, history, communications, performance studies, and other relevant disciplines are encouraged to apply. Submitted scripts will be considered for production. There are no limits on the historical time frame or genre of writing. Scripts should be submitted electronically and in hardcopy format to the IAAR by March 1, 2010. Acceptable submissions should reflect African American sensibilities, cultural norms, and perspectives. Submissions should be no more than 50 pages in length, double-spaced. Contributions become the property of IAAR which will retain exclusive rights for subsequent distribution and use. Entries will be judged by a panel of experts in the Arts and Humanities. Faculty, staff, students, and community members are welcome to apply. The contest is sponsored by the Endogenous Knowledge Unit (EKU) of the IAAR. Two hardcopies of each submitted script should be sent to EKU, IAAR, 150 South Road, Campus Box 3393, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3393, USA. An electronic version of the same submission should be sent to: iaar@email.unc.edu Submissions will be judged by experts in script writing and the winners of this contest will be acknowledged during the Spring 2010 reception of the African American Studies Consortium hosted by the IAAR. There are no limit to the number of entries that can be submitted. ***

Our Children's Place, one of IAAR's neighbors at the Stone Center, is creating a residential facility which will allow North Carolina infants and preschoolers to live with their mothers while the women serve out their sentences for non-violent offenses. Our H.A.T.S. (Handcrafted And Totally Special) project, which has expanded well beyond hats, is an important part of our community outreach and education work. These items are handcrafted by female inmates at the North Carolina Correctional Institution for Women and members of the community. Some of these products are depicted in the pictures to the left. People who choose to make a donation in exchange for a hat or other handcrafted item walk away with a tangible reminder of the women and children on whom Our

Fatimah Jackson gives keynote address at Health Disparities Conference in US Virgin Islands and pursues Research Collaborations for IAAR

On Friday, October 16th, 2009, Dr. Fatimah Jackson, Director of IAAR gave the keynote presentation for the 2nd Annual Health Disparities Institute at St. John, US Virgin Islands. The Institute was hosted by the Caribbean Exploratory National Center for Minority Health Disparities Research Center. Dr. Jackson received a standing ovation from the audience of about 200 individuals for her talk on "Culture and Health Disparities: Perspectives from Anthropology and Biology".

As a consequence of the very positive reception afforded Dr. Jackson, she is now pursuing, on behalf of the IAAR, a research collaboration with the Caribbean Exploratory National Center for Minority Health Disparities Research Center at the University of the Virgin Islands. The research collaboration will hopefully allow IAAR to expand its own research base, affiliate with a HBCU in the Caribbean for comparative studies, and strengthen the Institute's links with UNC's School of Nursing. ***

IAAR Undergraduates Attend Anna Deveare Smith Tea

On Friday, September 11, 2009, at least three undergraduates representing the Institute of African American Research attended a tea in honor of actress , author, and activist Anna Deveare Smith. IAAR student attendees included Jennifer Boone, Whitney Garrison, and Ashley Koonce. These students were chosen by their professors and mentors for their demonstration of academic excellence. Ms. Smith gave the Frank Porter Graham Lecture this fall on "Finding Grace and Kindness in a Winner-Take-All Society," at 7:30 pm Friday night in Memorial Hall on Cameron Avenue on campus. She also appeared in conjunction with the NC Literary Festival.

Spring 2010 Calendar for Friday Teas

Our Friday Teas continue to attract many faculty, students, and staff from UNC and the larger community. These settings are ideal for interdisciplinary dialogue, exchange of ideas, and developing a spirit of collegiality on the campus. IAAR will continue these Friday Teas into the Spring 2010 semester. This semester, however, the Friday Teas will be hosted by various organizations and/or feature a 20 minute mini-seminar by one of our Research Fellows, Senior Scholars, or special guests. Teas begin at 2 pm during the Spring semester!

Friday, January 15th, 2010 2 pm—4 pm Charmaine Royal (Duke University) Guest of Bill Jenkins, Senior Scholar Seminar Topic: "Race Medicine"	Friday, January 29th, 2010 2 pm—4 pm Diversity Education Team (Donna Bickford, Cookie Newsom, Beth Kurtz-Costes) Seminar Topic: "Intersections between race/ gender"	Friday, February 12th, 2010, 2 pm—4 pm Charlene Chester, Research Fellow Seminar Topic: "Minority adjustment in transracial adoption"	Friday, February 26th, 2010, 2 pm—4 pm Melissa Radcliff Our Children's Place Seminar Topic: "Impact of maternal incarceration on children and families"	Friday, March 26th, 2010 2 pm—4 pm Monique McMillian-Robinson, Research Fellow Seminar Topic: "Do gender differences exist in the academic identification of African American elementary school aged children?	Friday, April 9th, 2010 2 pm—4 pm Lolita Gutierrez-Brockington, Senior Scholar Seminar Topic: "(Re)Searching colonial demographics through Parish records: Africans in the Andes 1550-1820"
Friday, April 23rd, 2010 2 pm—4 pm Jesse Hardin, Research Fellow Seminar Topic: "Organizing Community Gardens to Address Health Disparities"

HOSTED FRIDAY TEAS AND SEMINARS NOW BEGIN AT 2 PM AND END AT 4 PM. TEAS ARE FREE AND OPEN. FACULTY, STAFF, STUDENTS, AND COMMUNITY MEMBERS ARE ENCOURAGED TO JOIN US. ALL TEAS WILL MEET IN SUITE 309 STONE CENTER, 150 SOUTH ROAD, UNC CAMPUS, CHAPEL HILL, NC 27599. SEMINARS WILL BE GIVEN AT THE SAME LOCATION. WELCOME AND ENJOY!

Charlene Chester

- Dr. Chester submitted a poster to the Society for Research on Adolescents entitled Quality of Sibling Relationships in Adolescence and Young Adulthood: Genetic and Environmental Influences
- Dr. Chester submitted a paper to the International Conference on Adoption and she gave a talk at the Developmental Psychology Department Proseminar on Oct. 14, 2009 entitled Birth Parent Adjustment Post Child Placement: Is There A Special Concern for Transracial Adoption.

Jesse Hardin

- Dr. Hardin co-authored with Dr. Fatimah Jackson a manuscript entitled: Applications of natural products in the control of mosquito-transmitted diseases. It was submitted to the African Journal of Biotechnology

ABSTRACT Mosquito-transmitted diseases remain one of the most significant causes of mortality on the African continent, despite successes in controlling these diseases in other regions of the world. The disproportionate impact in areas of poverty suggests a need for control that is efficient and does not require complex technological control strategies. Focusing on the vectors of disease, the mosquito, there are many alternatives to synthetic, chemical pesticides that await discovery and development. Although some natural products have been described, there is still a need for continuing research that incorporates endogenous knowledge in the selection process for potential vector control candidates. Recent experiments using natural products are summarized. Ultimately, a paradigm shift in research that evaluates natural products in a comparative manner will help to produce new materials for effective and efficient control of vectors and thereby achieve sustainable reduction of the impacts from the diseases they carry.

Bill Jenkins

- Dr. Jenkins recently presented at the Gillings School of Global Public Health for the ECHO Program on the "Ethics of Participatory Research"

ABSTRACT Participatory research has become an approach in greater use over the past decade. While this approach offers real benefits to the research community, its benefits to the under-resourced communities may only be realized in limited circumstances. This presentation reviewed some of the history of research in under-resourced communities focusing on ethics and specifically on "The Tuskegee Study of Untreated Syphilis in the Negro Male". A hierarchy of levels of participation in community based research. It is observed that the most infamous study in medical research met many of the criteria used in community participatory research today. Thus, the community participatory research approach does not in itself guarantee an ethical study.

- Dr. Jenkins is a member of the Combined External Advisory Boards for the National Center on Minority Health and Health Disparities, the Center for Research on Minority Health (CRMH), and the Gulf Coast Trans-disciplinary Research Center on Minority Health, reviewed programs and plans, made observations and recommendations for

Dr. Bill Jenkins Receives the Abraham Lilienfeld Award at the 2009 American Public Health Association Annual Meetings

Bill Jenkins, Ph.D., MPH (pictured to the left) was recently presented with the prestigious Lilienfeld Award which recognizes excellence in the teaching of epidemiology during the course of a career. Among the many achievements of his career, Dr. Jenkins is credited with promoting the teaching of epidemiology and the development of the first MPH program at Morehouse School of Medicine in 1992. He continues to teach medical, graduate and undergraduate students in epidemiology, biostatistics and public health.

For the select holders of the Lilienfeld Award, excellence in teaching is exhibited in effective classroom lectures, professional seminars or workshops, publications of substantial pedagogical or methodological importance for students and professional epidemiologists or students who have made worthwhile contributions to the improvement of public health; Evidence of incorporating both historic and innovative epidemiologic concepts and methods in teaching; evidence of ability to communicate difficult of complex ideas in clear, understandable language or using innovative methods; evidence of influence on students or young professionals as teacher or mentor.

We salute Dr. Jenkins in this accomplishment and congratulate him on this important recognition. Dr. Jenkins is currently on staff at the Institute of African American Research where he is Resident Epidemiologist. ***

Senior Scholars Invited to Affiliate with IAAR

The Institute of African American Research very recently launched a Senior Scholars program / The program is designed to offer a two-year appointment for scholars wishing to have an intellectually supportive environment within which to complete a major research project. Senior Scholars are generally at the level of full or associate professor, experienced in teaching and research, and have held an earned doctoral degree for 10-15 years or more.

The Senior Scholar position can be combined with sabbatical leave, external fellowship support, or other mechanisms to allow for two consecutive years of Senior Scholar status. The selection process is competitive with success applicants reviewed by our External Advisory Board.

Senior Scholar research projects that would benefit from IAAR programmatic support (e.g., conferences resulting in edited volumes, workshops leading to the generation of original data) are particularly encouraged.

IAAR financial support for Senior Scholars is limited, and we regret that the status of the national economy does not allow us to offer fellowships to support housing, living expenses, child/spouse support, or travel. However, Senior Scholars will receive access privileges to UNC facilities, help in locating housing, and assistance in the publication and public presentation of their work. Institute resources available to Senior Scholars include telephone, library, photocopy, computer access, and bibliographic retrieval services. During Year 2, Senior Scholars will be assigned an undergraduate research assistant to help them in the completion of their project.

Senior Scholars' obligation to the IAAR includes an expectation that IAAR will be acknowledged in all publications, reports, and creative projects resulting from the Senior Scholar opportunity. Additionally, Senior Scholars are expected to give an in-house seminar during Year 1 of their tenure and a campus–wide seminar during Year 2. ***

We would like to invite you to apply to be a Senior Scholar at the IAAR. Application are available at the IAAR Front Desk (cookie@unc.edu Direct any inquiries to Dr. Fatimah L.C. Jackson, IAAR Director fatimahj@email.unc.edu

IAAR awarded Diversity Incentive Fund grant in October 2009

The IAAR was recently awarded a Diversity Incentive Fund (DIF) grant for $2,000. This grant allowed the IAAR to make the public and private sessions of the African American Economic Summit accessible to the hearing impaired. We at IAAR are grateful for this generous award and the opportunity it provides for the deliberations of Summit scholars to be more broadly heard and un-

WHY DONATE TO IAAR?

IAAR seeks donations to support our research, service, and stewardship initiatives.

Make a gift today to support the Institute of African American Research. Your gift will allow IAAR at UNC-CH to fulfill its mission and continue to be one of the leading public research institutions in the world. Your support will provide opportunities for diverse and high quality research on the African American experience, facilitate the training of the next generation of scholars, and improve the quantity of studies done on peoples of African descent. Become a supporter of IAAR today! Please download, printout, and mail the gift and pledge slip on the last page of this issue of The Carolina Catalyst.

Summer student internships available for 2010 at IAAR

Are you looking for a challenging summer internship for 2010? Do you know of a highly motivated student who would benefit from such an opportunity? IAAR is currently soliciting applications from students for the following summer positions:

- Research Assistant for the Endogenous Knowledge Unit
- Research Assistant for the Integrated Research Liaison Unit
- Research Assistant for the Research Technology Laboratory
- Research Assistant to the Director

Please contact Veronica Bellamy for applications: (cookee@email.unc.edu)

IAAR Seeks Judges for the March 2010 Humanities Script Writing Contest

The Institute of African American Research (IAAR) at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill requests the assistance of experts in the Arts and Humanities to act as judges for its Spring 2010 Humanities Writing Competition. The competition seeks the best cross-disciplinary, collaborative effort in the Arts and Humanities that yields a historically-grounded script on a topic that emphasizes the African American experience. The contest is open to anyone in any discipline and established and aspiring humanities scholars and creative writers, among others, are encouraged to apply by March 1, 2010 and their work will need to be judged soon thereafter.

Entries will be judged by a panel of experts in the Arts and Humanities. If you have a background in script writing, evaluation, and production, we invite you to serve on this panel. We hope that this competitive initiative will culminate in scripts that can be seriously considered for production. Serving as a judge will entail evaluating two to three submissions, providing a one-page review of each, and joining the group of judges for a summary meeting to consolidate our assessments and select a winner and several runners-up. Judges will receive a set of submissions for review by March 7, 2010 and will have three weeks to complete their evaluations. The summary meeting of judges will occur on or around April 1, 2010. The winner of this competition will be announced April 15, 2010, will receive a cash prize and, along with the runners up, public acknowledgement of their skills. Judges will be acknowledged at the conclusion of the competition. ***

All interested judges should contact Dr. Tomeiko Carter (tashford@email.unc.edu).

Summary of Day 1 Expert Discussions at Recent African American Economic Summit

During the first day of the Summit, scholars were asked to respond to a set of questions on each of the central topics of the meeting. What follows is a summary of these discussions. In a real sense, these questions and the following breakout groups constituted a set of focus groups with the invited experts brainstorming answers to the questions posed.

TOPIC: Housing and Subprime Mortgages

QUESTION: Why isn't there a similar tax advantage for renters like the one that exists for homeowners?

1. Form A-itemized deductions; basically change tax code: earned income tax credit
2. Not only is this not a tax advantage, but the federal guarantees provided by Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac were never made available to multi-family housing (even condos and co-ops). "Renters" have always been suspect. I think because they are "racialized" as black or immigrant.
3. There is an extreme bias in our tax code for asset development of those better off
4. Actually I am not in favor of this.
5. Homeownership encourages wealth accumulation, but renting doesn't. Banks make greater profits off mortgage loans.
6. Homeowners have more political and economic power. We need to lobby to equalize this.
7. Because renters lack a lobby that is as effective as the one that home builders have.
8. Because the nation is the capital begets capital or there should be a return of capital and legislators privilege exists asset ownership. Those who lobby and have the power to lobby only care about homeowners.
9. Why should there be any tax advantages? Or, why subsidize interest rates at one? What are the consequences of removing all interest rate subsidies?
10. Political history in American, See Dorothy Brown's (Emory University Law) excellent study
11. Because of the impact on Federal tax receipts. Taxes are highest on the poor and the upper middle class and the wealthy.
12. Political biases favoring homeowners public policy promoting homeownership.

QUESTION: What has been the role of the lenders and borrowers in promoting the conditions leading to the subprime mortgages crisis?

1. Lenders: perpetuators of discriminatory practices-reverse redlining to feed Wall Street investors opportunistic
2. Borrowers: unwitting victims/ pawns of predatory practices; complicated instruments –difficult for most educated to understand, even smart Wall Street couldn't understand—
3. There is no short answer to this one. In some ways, too much has been made of the "subprime" market. There were practices across housing markets that led to the collapse.
4. Information in mortgage markets are very asymmetric. Bankers have a lot more knowledge about the loans and borrowers ability to pay, so they (bankers) have not gotten there due share of the blame for pushing the loans.
5. Lenders have been primary in that the lenders make the decision and has the experience. Even if some borrowers have lied, lenders have the responsibility for due diligence. The background of securitization, global liquidity and retrenchment from regulation (combined with racism) has been disastrous.
6. Loan pushing by banks combined with process of securitizing mortgages.
7. Lenders were in the driver seat.
8. Lenders did not give mortgages that were enduringly affordable to all mortgage seekers. Borrowers did not accept only those mortgages that were enduringly affordable.
9. Borrowers and lenders exhibited greed, but probably far more so on part of lenders.
10. May be lenders cashed in on an "education" gap
11. Target African Americans for high interest loans discrimination.
12. Rationing of credit created incentives for subprime lenders.
13. The lenders engaged in loan pushing and created the crisis.
14. The subprime market was driven by the ability to package and sell pools of securities where the underlying risk was not well understood. The lenders were merely hucksters in a Ponzi-like scheme.

15. Some borrowers lacked information to make rational decisions, others exploited loose rules. Lenders were able to shift risks by bundling loans.

QUESTION: How has the location and/or racial composition of African Americans neighborhoods affected their economic value?

1. Easy targets because of neighborhood boundaries
2. Home in African American neighborhoods did not appreciate to the same extent as other housing. This has a wealth impact for older African Americans, even with the collapse in house prices.
3. They are disproportionately affected by banks targeting base on income and in a predatory manner.
4. Negatively!
5. Banks discriminated against neighborhoods with high concentrations of African Americans, more difficult to obtain mortgages and home improvement loans.
6. More black=lower value.
7. African Americans historically were restricted to acquiring properties in which to live that were located in areas viewed as undesirable to white Americans. Barriers in access to loans, violent reprisals, steering and redlining all were responsible for this in part. These factors all have contributed to lower economic value of properties owned by African Americans. When neighborhoods "change", however, African Americans often lack resources or savoir faire to capture the increases in property value.
8. Are the neighborhoods normally populated by mobile people?
9. Homes valued less by appraisers because of pressured characteristics of African American neighborhoods. Readily of neighborhoods so can't get loans in some places.
10. Concentrations of poverty and racial desegregation decreases home values.
11. The drop in real estate value has hurt across the board. It has had a devastating affect on public finances and credit ratings in poorer black towns. It has had an impact on homeowners, however, new less affluent homeowners loss little in terms of equity because of low down payments. The most important affect came from bankruptcy and loss of credit rating.
12. Segregation depresses values; once areas become popular, blacks are displaced through gentrification—they can't afford the increased cost of remaining in the area

TOPIC: Education and Labor

QUESTION: What is the role of racial/ethnic integration in influencing African American educational outcomes? (Has integration harmed the quality of education for African Americans?)

1. Mixed in a world that is increasingly "global"/ very difficult in a world where role models matter
2. Con- it has increased segregation in some areas(e.g. segregation w/i schools) Pro-overall, African American achievement has improved
3. Helps (empirically)
4. Integration has not harmed black students, teachers or administrators
5. For some, the most affluent, integration has dramatically improved opportunities. For others, it is less whether integration has offered large(and positive effects)
6. The issue is not about integration, but rather resources and curricula. Both in segregated and integrated environments black students get less resources and inferior
7. No. Integration is not the problem (nor is it segregation). Only a small portion of the racial gap in test scores is explained by the degree of segregation in communities
8. Desegregation has led to the substitution of separate schools with separate curricula—often within the same schools—for black and white students. Desegregated schools have ushered in a continued regime of unequal and segregated education. This curriculum gap—attributable to racialized tracking—is the source of the achievement gap
9. This is an intriguing question. Is there a differential impact of integration on black women than black men?
10. Yes, integration eliminated larger numbers of effectively performing schools that only needed. Equal resources also displaced experienced teachers and administrators.
11. Integration has been a mixed bag. There is no evidence that black students benefit from black role models. Integration has reduced that probability. However, these are resources that were not available to black students in segregated schools.
12. I have some opinion on this, but my greater concern is that we do enough for ourselves and each other. We can and should do more for formal and informal outreach [and don't let me get started on the missed opportunities at HBCU's such that there is an accelerating decline in black faculty at HBCUs…lack of research, lack of student channeling to Ph.D., etc.

QUESTION: What are the long and short term economic implications of decrease African American educa- tional attainment?

1. Short term: labor market problems, family cohesion problems, ignorance of available or possible opportunities/ long term: community cohesion difficulties, strategic thinking and political action deficiencies, wealth and generational transmissions concerns, family/ citizenship issues, inability to create sustainable opportunities
2. Short term: higher crime, stress/Long term: higher crime, stress
3. Widening gaps in wealth, health, earnings, etc…
4. There has not been a decrease, but if it were to happen it would be negative.
5. Less income, less wealth, greater jail, reduce married couple families
6. Educational attainment has not decreased. The percent of high school graduates has increased. But the quality of HS degrees has decreased.
7. I don't understand this question
8. Permanent ghettoization given the dynamics of the global economy.
9. Widening of earning and wealth gaps diminished expectations regarding upward mobility
10. Obsolescence
11. African Americans need to have a far greater understanding of the implication of global competition in the global market for labor and a far greater understanding of the increasing role of technology as a substitute for labor. African Americans need to understand that iincreasingly multiple graduate degrees and certifications, lifelong learning are required for upward mobility. Also, African Americans need to believe that educational financing is available and seek it early.

QUESTION: How does educational attainment among African Americans correlated with their employment opportunities compared with other ethnic and racial groups?

1. I believe formerly incarcerated white men have better employment opportunities than college -educated black men.
2. Similar slopes, different intercepts .
3. Education is one of the many factors affecting employment opportunities. There are groups with lower and higher average educational attainment who have higher employment rates than blacks.
4. Education raises income (and wealth) regardless of race or ethnicity. But the extent of any discrimination may be greater for more educated African Americans.
5. Education is important but we over emphasize it as an explanatory factor in labor market inequality.
6. Higher rates of return to college (and higher education) of black, than to other groups.
7. Discriminatory penalties rise with greater educational attainment for African Americans—so blacks with more education earn more than blacks with less education, but the relative wage cost to them relative to white also increase.
8. It will not matter as much as the global economy moves forward. Its all about the rate of increase in knowledge value added,
9. Education is more critical for African Americans, For example, latinos without high school diplomas get jobs; black do not. Education is not insurance against discrimination.
10. Educational attainment has a relatively larger payoff for African-Americans when considering the opportunity costs of foregoing higher levels of education; however, education has a lower payoff in absolute $ terms. When considering income/wealth compared to non- African Americans

TOPIC: Wealth Inequality

QUESTION: How do African Americans acquire, retain, and transmit wealth?

1. On average, the wealth comes from savings, real estate and increasingly (but not enough) business ownership, also from pensions, but pension offerings are declining
2. Ownership of real property has been historically important, but property rights were not always enforceable because of discrimination.
3. Wealth creation though business ownership historically limited by lack of access to credit
4. Consume less, save more, acquire jobs that promote saving
5. Inheritance-life insurance, houses
6. Of the assets stripped or value kept low because of discrimination; not efficiently-difficulty acquiring assets because of discrimination in credit, mortgage and labor markets; usually have wealth because of homeownership but often no equity to pass on to next generation; hard work at low paying jobs but dedication to saving for an asset, often group saving-the whole family
7. Home, life insurance
8. Labor (probably engaging too many family members in low many family members in low return activities), home ownership efforts, insurance (I wish I could add business owner-

9. Via home ownership
10. Primarily via home ownership and via business development. In some cases their assets are transmitted intergenerationally.
11. It iks hare to generalize. The tax system is a major impediment to wealth accumulation and growth. Federal taxes are most onerous w.r.t labor and that is the principal form of wealth that African Americans have.
12. Mostly through savings out of income. Wealth bequests are small and unlikely to occur for most African American families.
13. Unfortunately, intergenerational transfer is the main mechanism of wealth transfers, and blacks are presently and historically constrained in their ability to accumulate wealth as a result of predation, theft, violence, and policy.
14. Primary contributor — homes in which they live, financial education.

QUESTION: What are the specific characteristics of the racial wealth gap?

1. Lower investment in financial assets, greatest investment in vehicles; over investment (relatively) in residential real estate; lower savings cushions; lower investment in riskier/high return financial assets; also the wealth gap is exacerbated by discrimination in the loan terms of African-American borrowers, personal and business
2. Blacks own fewer/less worth of financial assets; have houses with less equity; have less ability to save/accumulate because of lower income.
3. Blacks have on average ten cent for every dollar of white wealth at the median-a much higher percentage of blacks have zero or negative net worth
4. Low net worth
5. Blacks tend to hold wealth in low-yield e.g. savings accounts, or depreciable assets, e.g. cars. Blacks tend not to invest in stocks.
6. Lack of inherited assets; lack of disposable income with which to purchase and build assets; centuries of discrimination and cumulative effects of racism have escalated the problem but usually ignored in remedies
7. Net worth, inheritance8.
8. Business ownership roles for whatever reasons, education in matters of wealth buildup, access to capital, truly focused management class
9. Lower home values and lower rates of home ownership
10. African Americans hav e less wealth than white Americans across all income and educational levels.
11. What is taxed most makes up the bulk of black wealth.
12. Insufficient bequests related to wealth
13. Intergenerational.

QUESTION: What strategies would most effectively close the racial wealth gap?

1. Financial education, financed by financial and other corporations as well as government, in both formal curriculum settings as well as informal such as Boys and Girls clubs, Jack and Jill clubs, churches, Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, etc.
2. Promotion of business ownership (on average, business owners of all races are wealthier than non business owners
3. Better participation in investment . Currently African-Americans are disproportionately invested in non-financial assets which, over time, return less than financial assets.
4. There should be more offerings of low denomination municipal bonds than have less perceived risk.
5. Strategies to increase black family incomes (education, anti-discrimination, enforcement of affirmative action)
6. Subsidies to savings
7. Increased financial literacy
8. Either a full scale redistributive reparations program or a wealth targeted Child Endowment Trust Fund (baby bonds
9. The imposition of a consumption tax would provide incentive to save, and avoid status -based consumption
10. Co-operative strategies-investment clubs, rotating credit associations
11. Living wages and stable jobs; affordable housing; more business ownership; and joint ownership of productive assets such as coop housing, corporative businesses and investment clubs.
12. "40 acres and a mule"
13. Capital access related focus, very different range of educational elements in the "student" portfolio
14. Increased home ownership
15. Strategies that removed main causes of wealth loss—e.g. tax incentives for long time owners to retain home ownership; state and federal regulation of financial products acquired to build wealth
16. A serious look at the tax system.
17. Redistribution of wealth.
18. Government policies that substantially redistribute wealth on the basis of a wealth means test.
19. Fair lending practices, financial education

TOPIC: Health Insurance

QUESTION*: What is the likely impact of the public option on African American economic health?*

1. It will offer access to better quality of care for some who otherwise wouldn't have access. However, it is an imperfect substitute for single payer coverage, which ensures a certain standard of care this is paid for but at the point of service.
2. close race-based health disparities.
3. Not much in terms of benefits. It is better to get rid of the monopoly protection for health insurance companies and provide a better financial governance arrangement for Federally Qualified Health Center (FQHCs).

4. Public option should lower cost of health insurance premium and thereby enhance economic health of African Americans. The quality of care received could be problematic, though, and may in a second round way lessen economic health (if more is spent later to remediate health).
5. The public option primarily reduces cost, but may also reduce negative health outcomes thus decreasing the negative impact of illness on income .
6. Will help coverage among working blacks with low salaries.
7. The one in the present proposed legislation or a public option in general? The public option now proposed will have little constructive effect on the health of black America.

QUESTION: What specific health insurance needs do African Americans have? (link to existing disparities)

1. First and foremost, access. More importantly the social favors growing health erage of preventive health services.
2. Incentives that lead to better choices. Help in learning how to cope with stress.
3. Need for insurance coverage of preventive health services.
4. Health Insurance will not have a substantial impact to health disparities, but may reduce and prevent disease assuming prevention of disease becomes a priority of a public option
5. Create preventive care

QUESTION: What is the best way to address these specific needs?

1. Higher taxes on liquor, cigarettes, and high calorie food.
2. A holistic approach is needed. A calculation must be made of the social cost of the liability of black communities.
3. Develop a health system that center around preventing health problems that can forestall/reduce premature death. This system would have fewer payers, electronic medical records, and centralized oversight/ management of each person's wellness.
4. A national service is the best solution to producing premature death and illness. It will have some impact on health status, but not substantial impact of health disparities.
5. Creation of HMO in minority communities, expansion of community health clinics
6. National health insurance like the British or Canadian system.

TOPIC: Incarceration and Economic Policies

QUESTION: What is the cost of incarceration for African American families and communities?

1. Single parent families and grandparents raising children/loss of income/ unemployment (long term)/ disenfranchisement/not allowed in public housing/young offenders not educated, and taken away from their families and communities/ black women fastest growing group-huge consequences for families and communities
2. There are significant political, economic and social costs.
3. Lost income/wealth
4. Lost wages, emotional distress, increased access to virus, transfers to the prison industrial complex, loss of political power, loss of gov't subsidy to community based on head counts, decreased marriage rate
5. Loss of income (current) – individual, household / opportunity costs-loss potential work experience/ higher likelihood of poverty for family/diminution of social capital
6. Don't Know
7. Family instability/ increased crime/ property loss and loss of life/decline in human dignity.
8. See Charles Bestey's RBPE article circa 2001.
9. Probably more than the cost of alternatives and incarceration.

QUESTION: What impact do prison training opportunities and programs have on rate of recidivism?

1. Training and education during incarceration decrease recidivism and are worth the cost, but these programs are not being funded as much/ need more and better training programs, also entrepreneurial development while still inside/ cooperatives that sell products prison make and run the business firm outside give released ex-convicts help in business and a job when they re-enter society .
2. Don't know
   This is a research question. If returns on human capital are conditioned on race, prison training programs are unlikely to have significant success rates. In addition, if convicts are more likely to have been low-skilled, in the absence of immigration reform—which can displace low-skilled blacks—pto's will not be effective.
3. At the very least they improve human capital of a large segment of the black community
4. Limited unless tied to formal post-incarceration mentorship and employment programs

5. Training reduces recidivism.
6. Not sure, the treatment of formerly incarcerated people is astoundingly bad
7. These programs have not been evaluated well. But the 1970's literature says the impacts are small because of the Blunstein effect (small number of offenders produce most of the cost)

QUESTION: How have high rates of African American incarceration altered African American family structure and changed community economic potentials?

1. Families highly impacted, parent child relationships altered. Families have fewer human, social, and financial capitals. Must rely more on extended family or community at a time when families and communities are already overburdened.
2. Incarceration has contributed to the shortage of men and it has large negative economic impacts.
3. It creates unnatural demographic sex ratios.
4. Re-enforced trends in single-hardship created a sense of normalcy for incarceration-cradle to prison
5. Reduced the formation of married-couple families.
6. Family instability/increase crime/ property loss and loss of life/decline in human dignity
7. Again see Betsy RBPE 2001
8. Not as large as many would assume. Most of the impact occurrence in the 1970s-80s. Now the impact of incarceration on family structure is much smaller because of the long-term structural shift. ***

MURAP Gears Up For Intensive Summer Program in 2010

Plans are underway for the Moore Undergraduate Research Apprentice Program's 21st year. The ten-week research program targeting underrepresented minorities interested in pursuing graduate programs in the humanities, social sciences or fine arts will begin on May 23, when 20 eager rising juniors and seniors from colleges and universities throughout the nation will join us in Chapel Hill for what is sure to be a busy but productive summer. Ten UNC-Chapel Hill faculty mentors representing areas in the social sciences, humanities and fine arts will guide the students in their research projects (yielding papers of 20-25 pages in length), and several workshops will complete the students' pre-graduate training (GRE Review Course, Presentation Skills Workshop, Professionalizing Workshop, Writing Workshop). The program concludes with a two-day academic conference (July 22-23) and a farewell banquet on July 28.

Rosa Perelmuter
MURAP Director

Below, AAES Scholars and other members of the audience listen intently to a prominent community activist and economist (Andrea Harris) speak passionately about the economic crisis and its impact on African Americans.

NEW IAAR INITIATIVES FOR 2010

Several new projects are currently being planned for 2010 at the Institute. These include:

- Submission of revised versions of the formal papers and the comments presented at the recent African American Economic Summit for publication consideration;
- Revision of the IAAR Mission, Goals, and Activities statements and assessment of their synchrony with published UNC – Chapel Hill priorities;
- Initiation of a 2-day forum on Black Theodicity scheduled for August 6-7, 2010 (see page 19 for more details);
- Initiation of a 2-day international conference on the Genetics of Africa and the Transatlantic African Diaspora (more news on this event in coming issues of The Carolina Catalyst);
- Development of a broad-based seminar series featuring established scholars speaking on various and diverse topics of relevance to the African American experience; and
- Planning for a symposium on the African American Diet (in 2011) with a focus on geographical variation in dietary composition and its relationship to existing health disparities.

We invite UNC faculty, students, and staff as well as the larger North Carolina community (including our colleagues at nearby universities) to join us in designing and implementing these plans. ***

IAAR Plans to Host Black Theodicy Forum August 6 - 7, 2010
Institute Requests Local and National Collaborators and Sponsors

Background on Black Theodicy:
Black Theology is the foundation for Black Theodicy. Basically Black Theodicy poses the following core questions: How does a omnipotent and omni-benevolent God permit 400 years of collective Black American suffering? What does this tell us about the nature of God and of group suffering? How do we reconcile the fact of group oppression over 400 years with the concept God's unlimited Mercy?
This topic has received widespread attention among Black American theologians and scholars. Recently, Dr. Sherman Jackson of the University of Michigan (Ann Arbor) has published a profound book that reexamines these core questions in the light of Sunni Islam. Our goal at IAAR is to provide Christian and Islamic perspectives on the issue of extended collective Black American suffering by examining the responses that both traditions have developed (or are developing) in response to the fact of Black American group oppression and disenfranchisement.

The Purpose of the Forum:
Our objective is to explore the similarities and differences offered by representative scholars of the major Black American Christian denominations and the major Black American Islamic sect. These two key religious traditions were selected because collectively they represent the majority of Black American religious affiliations. As a spiritual people, Black Americans have historically looked to religion for insight, consolation, and contextualization of daily trials and tribulations and oppression directed at Black American group identity. This Forum hopes to tap into this powerful reservoir in exploring Black American responses to historical patterns of group subjugation and suffering.

What Can the Public Expect to Gain from this Forum?
The public can expect to hear clear responses from respected representatives from each faith tradition on the question of collective Black American suffering. Knowledgeable scholars and theologians will provide a set of consensus Christian and Islamic responses to the convening questions. The public will be allowed to ask additional questions and offer its own responses to the issue. Summaries and conclusions of the Forum will be provided to participants.

The event will be free and open to the public but will require preregistration. Tickets can be obtained from our website and by calling us.

What this Forum is NOT:
The Forum is a religious competition; it is not meant to provide justification for or to stand in advocacy of either Christianity or Islam or any specific denomination of either faith. Rather, the Forum is to be a place where leading scholars can offer theological and intellectual reasons for various Black

How Can You Help Us?
Here is some of what we need your help with:
1. Representatives of the important Black American Christian and Islamic groups in the audience and among the scholars;
2. Local publicity assistance among the various denominations, particularly in North Carolina;
3. Any written materials on the topic that we can reproduce and archive at the Institute;
4. A team of faculty members with expertise in the topic to serve as advisors on this project;

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: South Rd. one-way; Raleigh St. Blocked Dec. 21-Jan. 9

Due to underground utilities construction, through traffic on South Road through the campus will be limited to one-way westbound between Country Club Road and Bell Tower Drive from Monday, December 21, 2009 through Saturday, January 9, 2010. Two-way access will be allowed from McCauley and South Columbia Streets only as far east as Bell Tower Drive. Northbound motorists on Stadium Drive must turn left (west) on South Road. Pedestrian traffic will be detoured and routed to avoid the construction areas.

During this same time period, there will be no access to Raleigh Street via South Road. Raleigh Street will be blocked at its intersection with South Road. Two-way access to facilities along Raleigh Street north of the blockage will be maintained from the north via the Cameron Avenue / Country Club Road intersection. For more information or to see a map of the affected area and related detours, visit the following link:

http://www.dps.unc.edu/NewsLinks/SouthRoadWeb/SouthRoad.pdf

Chapel Hill Transit (CHT) will be implementing detours and will NOT serve bus stops along Raleigh Street or South Road at Fetzer Gym, Woollen Gym, or the School of Government (at Country Club Road). Buses will resume normal routing on January 11, 2010. For further details on transit changes, visit the CHT link at:

The African Activist Association @ UCLA…

Invites you to submit abstracts for the 5th Annual African Studies Graduate Student Symposium

May 14-15, 2010 at UCLA

"Changing the face of Conflict: Africa and its Diaspora"

The purpose of this conference is to attempt to shift the frames of reference on questions related to conflicts in Africa and its Diaspora. Problems in Africa and its Diaspora are often posed in generic and static terms that do not fully appreciate the complexity of the situations that underlie them. Our aim is to showcase paradigm-shifting work on a wide range of issues so as to broaden the scope of discourse on and proposed solutions to various problems. Topics may be in any field related to the myriads of conflicts that ensues on the African continent and it's Diaspora. We encourage you to submit papers on topics including, but not limited to:

Public Health
History Education Economics Psychology
Religion/Philosophy
Arts
Political Science
Agricultural Science
Linguistics
Geography

Abstracts and papers must be submitted in English. Individual presentations may not exceed 15 minutes.

Please submit abstract of 250-500 words by email to africanactivists@gmail.com, no later than March 1, 2010. The body of the email should contain the title of the presentation, your name, institutional affiliation, address, email address, and phone number. The abstract should be sent as a Microsoft Word attachment. Participants will be notified of acceptance via email. Everyone is welcome to submit and we look forward to hearing from you-The African Activists Association at UCLA.

Carrie,

I think we talked about this, but I don't see that I ever received a corrected letter from Anthropology for this promotion packet.

Linda Goldston wrote:

> "I write to recommend that Dr. Kia Caldwell be promoted from Adjunct Assistant Professor to Adjunct Associate Professor in the Department of Anthropology effective July 1, 2010 through _____." The EPA Web action hasn't been corrected, but currently the Anthropology promotion is entered as being for one semester. I question why it is being made for only one semester, but that's up to Anthropology to decide.

>> - The Anthropology Chair's letter needs to state that Anthropology is recommending her promotion from Adjunct Assistant Professor to Adjunct Associate Professor and to reflect the new 7/1/2010 effective date since they can't appoint her as Adjunct Associate Professor before she becomes Associate Professor in her primary rank
>> - The AP-2 also needs to include the current Anthropology appt in the "present appt info." section. Also need to correct dates of the Anthropology jt appt in the proposed section: Begin date 7/1/2010, Adjunct Assoc. Prof., End date – 6/30/2011 (if it is just to be for one year). Also remove the "4" that denotes a probationary term.
>> - A joint appt. form signed by both departments needs to be included in the packet.
>> - Since this review was begun over a year ago, I would suggest that Julius' letter to the Dean say something about that and why submission of the recommendation was delayed so as to clarify the time frame, i.e., the letter to solicit outside recommendations was written in September 2008 indicating a promotion date of July 1, 2009; the recommendation letters were received in fall 2008 and spring 2009; and the reviewers were provided with Caldwell's CV dated September 2008.

Let me know if I can help further.

It arrived in the midst of my various attempts at retirement. Then we realized we needed a letter from ANTH and it was secured after my actual retirement and I just haven't been able to get back here long enough to put together the packet. I realize the effective date may be an issue and may have to be extended to July 1, 2010. I do not have internet access from home so if there is anything I can do to assist Adam or Travis in correcting anything that is amiss, please contact Travis and he will track me down. I think otherwise it is in reasonably good shape. Adam, the epa web form is in your inbox. Hope all is well with everyone. Debby

Hi Debby:

Anth's letter has been corrected and I sent it to Linda for approval to make sure I had it right. I think I still need to sign a joint appt.
form and possibly a corrected AP2 which I thought Travis was going to bring by at some point.

Wake County Carolina Club Old Well Celebration: Carolina Basketball Through the Years

Thursday, Feb. 11 | 6:30 p.m.
N.C. Museum of Natural Sciences | 11 West Jones Street, Downtown Raleigh

Gather with alumni from across Wake County to celebrate the achievements of our wonderful University and to raise funds to support scholarships for deserving UNC students from Wake County. With your help, the 2008 Old Well Celebration raised $12,000 for the Wake County Carolina Club Scholarship Fund.

Our 2010 event will include cocktails and hors d'oeuvres, a silent auction and a presentation by a panel of Carolina basketball players from across the decades including Lennie Rosenbluth '57.

Cost is $65 per person. Graduates from the class years of 1999-2009 may attend for $50. GAA members from all classes receive a $15 discount. Register online today. Deadline for online registration is Wednesday, Feb. 3.

Become a Host or Sponsor
Support the Wake County Carolina Club Scholarship Fund by becoming a host or sponsor of the Old Well Celebration. Hosts pay $500 and receive four tickets to the event. Sponsors pay $250 and receive two tickets. Young alumni sponsors (classes of 1998-2009) pay $150 and receive two tickets. Learn more.

We look forward to seeing you on February 11. Questions? Contact Danita Morgan '81 at dmorgan@gmbcounsel.com.

Register Now; Run in April

And maybe even take in a basketball game in March...

Sign up by Jan. 31, 2010, for the Tar Heel 10 Miler and Fleet Feet Sports 4 Mile Run on April 10, and Endurance Magazine will automatically enter your name in a drawing to win two tickets to the final regular season men's basketball home game against Miami on March 2 (Senior Day).

If that's not enough incentive, GAA members receive a discount on race registration. Use promo code GAA10 to save $10 on the 10-mile run and GAA4 to save $5 on the 4-mile run. A valid GAA member card will be required at packet pickup for runners receiving the discount.

Take in the sights of campus and the town on Saturday, April 10. The course for Endurance Magazine's Tar Heel 10 Miler and Fleet Feet Sports 4 Mile Run will include campus landmarks and a finish line inside Kenan Stadium.

Thank You

We appreciate your membership in the GAA. Your member dues provide important support to the GAA and local Carolina Clubs. Members have exclusive access to the digital version of the award-winning Carolina Alumni Review. Read the magazine online as it appears in print.

Title: Deadline for Instructional Space Requests for Graham Memorial - Fall 2010
Date: Monday, January 4, 2010
Time: 4:30 p.m. Eastern Time (US and Canada) Time

Description: We are now planning the allocation of instructional space in The James M. Johnston Center for Undergraduate Excellence in Graham Memorial for Fall 2010. If you have courses that you would like to schedule in this facility, please submit ALL requests via AdAstra on or before Monday, January 4, 2010, 4:30 p.m. You no longer need to submit a Graham Memorial Classroom Reservation Request Form!

Courses using information technologies will be given priority, but that IS NOT a condition for access to Graham Memorial. Our aim is to schedule as eclectic a mix of classes as possible.

If you have questions about the Graham Memorial classrooms, please feel free to contact me, 843-7001.

Dear Travis,

Thanks for this information, which I had already understood upon a closer look at the bulletin. I have the same room for AFRI 101. The latter may be printed on both sides of a single sheet.

Attached please find my course outlines for both classes. Since I will not be back next week, could you please take care of my classes as follows:

AFRI 550

MONDAY, JANUARY 11: HAND OVER THE SYLLABUS TO THE STUDENTS.
For their information, the UN book cannot be sold, so they have sent me copies that I will place on reserve in the Undergraduate Library.

AFRI 101

TUESDAY? JAN. 12: HAND OVER THE SYLLABUS TO THE STUDENTS

THURSDAY? JAN. 14: SHOW THE FILM "AFRICA: THE LOST CIVILIZATIONS"

If you cannot find a copy of the film, tell the students on Tuesday that htey ought to use Thursday to study the map of Africa.

Thanks in advance for your help.

AFRI 550: DEMOCRATIC GOVERNANCE IN AFRICA

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
Department of African and Afro-American Studies
Spring 2010
Monday, 3:00 -5:50 PM
FEDEX Global Education Center 1005

Instructor: Professor Georges Nzongola-Ntalaja
Office: 201 Battle Hall
Office Hours: M /1:30-2:30 pm; T/12:30-1:30 pm; R/10:30 am -12:30 pm; and by appointment

Course Summary

This course is an in-depth examination of the evolution of trends and theories on democratic governance since the end of the cold war, together with the implications of these trends and theories for Africa. It is designed to analyze the challenges of democratic governance in Africa today from the standpoint of current debates on democratic governance and its relationship to human rights, sustainable development, conflict prevention, and post-conflict reconstruction and development. Topics of discussion include the meaning of democratic governance, state capacity for security and development, the role of non-state actors, and issues relating to the rule of law and global governance and its impact on Africa. Students are expected to actively participate in class discussions, and to choose a topic from the course outline for both class presentation and research paper.

Course Requirements

Class attendance and participation: 10% of the final grade
Class presentation of a discussion topic: 20% of the final grade
Mid-Term Review (Mon., Mar. 15): 30% of the final grade

Dear Adam,

Happy 2010!

Kindly let me know if we're all set to go on Friday 22 so that Travis can book a a room for Lydia's job talk at 12.00pm. In addition, let me know when the 2nd candidate is meeting with the Dean so that we can finalize other arrangements.

Travis: Are there any Afri101 courses being taught on Friday, Mon, and Tue this semester? Please let me know.

Best wishes, Eunice.

Dear Adam,

Thanks. Please let me know when Lydia is leaving on Saturday. Dinner arrangements with members of the search committee (which also includes students representatives) is another item we need to finalize. We can address this by the end of next week as we wrap their up schedules.

Best wishes, Eunice.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Unity Conference--Call for Workshop Proposals

The Unity Conference is now seeking workshop proposals for the eighth annual conference to be held April 9 - April 11, 2010 at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Last year's event welcomed over 500 participants from ten different states. We fully expect to grow our event this spring and invite you to participate!

The Southeast Regional Unity Conference is an annual gathering of progressive lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, intersex, and queer identified people and their allies in the Southeast. It was founded to create dialogues about the intersections of gender and sexuality with ability, age, class, faith, health, and race/ethnicity, to explore strategies for effective grassroots organizing, and to share work that we and other LGBTIQ activists are doing in the Southeast. In generating these conversations, the Unity Conference serves to foster a progressive Southeastern LGBTIQ movement that affirms and reflects all aspects of the identities of LGBTIQ people.

With the theme "Intersecting Identities: Performance, Politics, Power" the 2010 Unity Conference Steering Committee has chosen to use this year's conference as an opportunity to more explicitly engage the concept of intersectionality as an ethic of theorizing and organizing. The multiple sites of difference that inform our experience of queer and allied communities will not be placated or contested. Rather, we wish to explicitly take up difference as a primary and generative site of social change.

To focus our topic, we have developed three primary sub-themes:
1)How do we perform and theorize our intersecting identities?
2)How do assimilationis and anti-assimilationist politics operate within LGBTQ communities?
3)How do we build and sustain diverse communities committed to social justices?

To that end, we have invited a broad range of performers, educators, and human rights advocates from diverse activist backgrounds to lead workshops and address the full conference. We have reserved space for 30 different workshop sessions over the weekend. With this year's theme we hope to provide a wide range of workshops dealing with both practical and theoretical issues.

Submissions for workshop proposals must be received by February 1, 2010 and will be accepted on a rolling basis. Those workshops relating to the theme "Intersecting Identities: Performance, Politics, Power" and received earliest will receive highest priority. Please visit <http://unityconference.webs.com/> to access the necessary workshop proposal form. Submit completed workshop proposal forms unityconference2010@gmail.com

Thank you, and we look forward to seeing you in Chapel Hill!

Cheers,

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Faculty & Staff Women's Basketball Tickets

As the UNC women's basketball program moves back into Carmichael for the remainder of the season, we wanted to take this opportunity to inform the university's faculty and staff of the ticket policies that are in place. We are extremely excited about the women's basketball team's new home in Carmichael and hope you can join us to support the Heels!

There are three premium games this season versus Maryland, N.C. State, and Duke. All patrons must have a ticket in advance for these games. You will need to obtain a ticket through our faculty/staff distribution for these games. The distribution will be held at the Smith Center Athletic Ticket Office from 12:00 noon through 5:00pm, January 13th-January 15th, on a first-come-first-serve basis and while supplies last. You may obtain up to 4 tickets per UNC One Card or UNC Hospital ID, based on availability. For these games your UNC One Card and UNC Hospitals ID will not be honored at the game.

For the other eight remaining women's basketball games you may show your UNC OneCard or UNC Hospitals ID and gain admission, free for you and your immediate family. You simply display your UNC One Card or UNC Hospitals ID at the Carmichael Ticket Office to receive a ticket.

Please note that all remaining home women's basketball games are held in Carmichael.

RESEARCH SUBJECTS NEEDED
Study of infants with cow milk allergy or atopic dermatitis

We are conducting a study to learn more about the causes of cow milk allergy and atopic dermatitis in children. This information will help us understand the processes in the body that might contribute to these diseases.

Your child may qualify if:
 Your child is newborn-1 years of age
 Your child has cow milk allergy or atopic dermatitis

If yes, then you may be eligible to participate in a research study looking to identify biological factors that may be linked to cow milk allergy or atopic dermatitis.

 Participation includes a one-time visit to UNC hospital
 Subjects will be compensated $35 for their participation in this study.

Dear Yusuf,
In the past two weeks I have been beating around the bush in Dar trying to respond to the querries you raised in your last email about tracking regional inequalities Nyerere vs post-Nyerere period. Not even the chief economist at the Central Bank could say there is such data. Everything is anecdotal. Not even the economist at Univ of Dar whose specialist is inequality (Mtatifikolo) could give me something that makes sense. The only published data on this is from a 1995 World Bank Publication. All it does is the following:

Regional Index of Wealth

Region Wealth Index
Dar es Salaam 35
Mara 27
Arusha 25

Mwanza 24
Kilimanjaro 21
Singida 18
Mbeya 11
Coast 10
Dodoma 7
Iringa 5
Shinyanga 4
Tabora 4
Tanga 4
Kagera 3
Morogoro 3
Ruvuma 3
Rukwa 3
Lindi 2
Mtwara 2
Kigoma 1

Source: Luisa Ferreira and Lucy Goodhart, Incomes, Welfare and Poverty, Tanzania,1993.(Washington, DC: World Bank) pviii

The authors do no elaboration of this data. Indeed, they do not even say what the index is. I can only summise that in 1993, Dar es Salaam region was the wealthiest and Kigoma was the poorest. I already noted those observations in my chapter, with reference to both the colonial and post-colonial periods.

One would have thought that the Human Development Reports (2002/2003) would have the data we are seeking. But even there, the reports are repetitive about Tanzania making the transition from a command economy to a liberal one, with examples of say educational opportunities (rural vs urban) from a couple of regions, not very useful data by any stretch of imagination. The reports are actually very shallow.

I know that you are anxious to have comparable data for all the chapters, but unless one is willing to research this on their own over a long period of time (several years), you will not get this data today in Tanzania, unless the chief economist at the Central Bank does not know what he is doing. So Yusuf, the lack of data is not a result of not trying.

Sincerely,
Julius

Professor Nyang'oro

I am excited to be considered for the Assistant Professor position in the Department of African and Afro-American Studies at UNC. I am sending a copy of a chapter from my dissertation, "New Concepts for the New Man:" The Institute of the Black World and the Incomplete Victory of the Second Reconstruction. The enclosed chapter is on the internal debate in the Institute of the Black World and its attempts to move beyond Black Nationalism and Marxism. Furthermore, the chapter looks at how the Institute used collective scholarship to explicate and create a "Black perspective." I am also sending a copy of this chapter via mail, which should arrive on Monday. This email is to give the search committee an opportunity to look at the chapter over the weekend if necessary and to express my interest in the position. Thank you and I look forward to hearing from the committee.

Thanks

Derrick

CHAPTER 4

"WE ARE INTELLECTUALS:" RE-ORGANIZING THE INSTITUTE OF THE BLACK WORLD

"Black Power, then, was raised when social reality forced so-called revolutionaries to put action aside and start thinking." - Harold Cruse[1]

In December 1970, The Institute of the Black World could look back at a difficult, but successful first year. A revised statement of purpose stressed its independence from the Martin Luther King, Jr. Center, and emphasized the need for Blacks "to control the definition of our past and our present if we are to become masters of our future." The Institute's separated from the King Center over the latter's narrow understanding of the legacy of Martin Luther King, Jr. Now independent, the Institute believed that it could recruit the necessary scholars who would "use [their] skills of research and analysis to forward the struggles of the black community towards self-understanding and ultimate liberation."[2]

During the civil rights era of the 1950s and 1960s, Black intellectuals had taken a back seat to grassroots activists. The dramatic events of the early movement did not allow for much theoretical reflection. For the most part, activists accepted the integration framework through nonviolent direct action provided by Martin Luther King, Jr. Relying on Christian imagery and the Old Testament narrative of the Jewish exodus from Egypt, King forged a political language of freedom. While Malcolm X and others questioned these goals and techniques, their voices were on the periphery of most early protests. However as the limits of civil rights and integration became clear through the 1960s, the theoretical perspective, and direction of the movement once again fell open for debate.[3]

The stagnation of the Black Freedom struggle after 1965 led to calls of Black Power and debates on the ideological and theoretical direction of the movement. Social critic Harold Cruse argued in the Crisis of the Negro Intellectual that the Black Freedom struggle's arrested development was due in large part to Black intellectuals' inability to create new ideas. His statement, cited in the epigraph, that activists had to "start thinking" was borne out in Stokely Carmichael's (Kwame Ture) Black Power: The Politics of Liberation (1968). When Carmichael introduced the slogan "Black Power," the idea became a source of controversy. The media interpreted the idea as Black violence and separation; many activists viewed it as the next stage in the movement; and the civil rights establishment believed it was disruption. Regardless of the interpretation, Black Power was a shift in the movement, which all parties agreed needed to be studied.

[3] Richard King, Civil Rights and the Idea of Freedom, (New York, NY: Oxford University Press, 1992).

Carmichael's Black Power, co-authored with political scientist Charles V. Hamilton, attempted to clarify the concept, yet the authors did so by primarily explaining what it was not. It was not a call for violence. Rather, Carmichael insisted that Blacks needed to "close ranks" before they entered open society. Exactly how this was to function was ambiguous and reflected the stage of uncertainty after Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party's failure in Atlantic City; the passage of the Civil Rights Act (1964) and Voting Rights Act (1965); and King's 1968 assassination.[4]

The Institute of the Black World took on the challenge presented by Harold Cruse in his two classics Crisis of the Negro Intellectual (1967) and Rebellion or Revolution? (1968). Cruse demanded that Black intellectuals take a more pronounced role in leading the Black Freedom Struggle. "The Negro intellectual," stated Cruse, "must deal intimately with the white power structure and cultural apparatus, and the inner realities of the black world at one and the same time." To complete this task, Black intellectuals needed to "develop and begin to use a new set of ideas." While Cruse conceded that the Civil Rights Movement was disturbing the racial status quo of the nation, he felt the movement was not revolutionary because of its failure to develop "any unique ideas of its own." He believed the movement's integrationist aims incorporated the Black middle classes into the prevailing system and did not transform the economic, political, and cultural structures of America.[5]

Cruse criticized Black intellectuals for their uncritical acceptance of the philosophies of Liberalism, Marxism, and forms of Black Nationalism. He saw these theories as unable to account for "the realities of race in America." For Cruse, Black intellectuals reliance on White intellectuals and the acceptance of their "myths" of either capitalist or socialist integration accounted for some of their shortcomings. Black intellectuals relied on White intellectual models and resources because of the Black community failed to support for Black intellectuals financially or socially. Consequently, Black intellectuals became primarily interpreters of Black life for Whites, a role that stymied the intellectual leadership in the movement and their relationship to the Black community. According to the social critic, Black intellectuals were "a rootless class of displaced persons who are refugees from the social poverty of the black world." In order to become revolutionary, Black intellectuals, must, first define their role in the struggle and their relationship towards the Black community.[6]

Black intellectuals, Cruse concluded, had to work on the political, economic, and most importantly cultural front. "The special function of the Negro intellectual is a cultural one," Cruse declared.[7] America's perception of itself as only a White nation made the various non-white populations invisible from the "inner eyes" of the hegemonic White perspective.[8]

> America has grown planlessly and chaotically, leaving her racial and ethnic minorities to sift for themselves while she cultivates the idea that America is an all-white Anglo-Saxon nation. This is a totally false image. A psychology, whether individual or national, that tries to deny the essential facts about its social origins is lying to itself and to the world... America in its national psychology lies to itself that Anglo-Saxon and North European racial ingenuity plus the resources of a virgin continent built American capitalist democracy.[9]

Cruse's answer to the problem of American "national psychology" was a cultural revolution that would assume control of the definitions and interpretations of Black life and its relationship to America.

The Institute of the Black World did not agree with all of Cruse's assessments, but its founders attempted to answer his intellectual challenge. IBW Senior Associates, Vincent Harding, William Strickland, and Robert Hill, sought to define the purpose and role of the Black scholar, and to identify the scholar's relationship to the Black community in order to develop a coherent "Black perspective" from which to analyze the problems facing the community. A Black perspective generated by the Institute was to be the basis of revolutionary scholarship that would move both the organization and the Black Freedom Struggle forward. In attempting to ascertain the viewpoint, the organization held a series of internal meetings and organized a symposium on the role of the Black Scholar in the summer of 1971. At the symposium, the Institute enlisted support of distinguished Black intellectuals such as C.L.R. James, St. Clair Drake, and Lerone Bennett to develop further the newly independent organization's role and direction.

"What is the Institute of the Black World?" Defining the Purpose

From its independence from the King Center through the 1972 National Black Political Convention, IBW strove to clarify its organizational structure and purpose in the context of the slowing Black struggle of the 1970s. The Institute used the year after its separation to redefine its identity, understand the Black intellectual's role and to clarify its ideological and analytical orientation. These activities, in the organization's opinion, would allow it to become influential and move the struggle for Black liberation forward.

The rhetoric of Black Power and its political languages of autonomy and relevancy provided a framework for IBW to oppose the racial liberalism imposed by the King Center. However, the same political language obfuscated the diversity of analysis within Black Power and produced, according to Adolph Reed, Jr. "a muddled intellectual world of vague ideas and conceptual confusion."[10] The demand for political unity often understated the diversity of analytical perspectives. The Institute differed from other Black organizations due to its goal of controlling the definitions of Blackness, and its organizational structure as a Black intellectual collective.[11] However, the political language of Blackness in opposing Liberalism, allowed for two modes of analysis, Pan-Africanism and Marxism, to function within IBW leading to internal and external confusion about the organization's purpose and direction. These two viewpoints were by no means inherently contradictory, but in those ideologically tense times these positions found little common ground. IBW's internal disagreement over the ideological perspective mirrored the Black Power movement's early years (although on a much smaller scale).

Many Black protest organizations, regardless of ideological perspective and goals, faced, both internal and external crises all of which contributed in slowing the dynamic civil rights movement to a crawl. For example, SNCC's ineffectiveness began as early as 1965 as a variety of issues - Vietnam, Black Power, and Women's Rights - fragmented the organization, making it virtually defunct by 1970. As the

The Joint Center existence to date points to its ability to etch out a centrist position on Black issues that continue its White funding sources. See Robert C. organization questioned the integration's superiority, its White financial support diminished. Moreover, issues of ideology came to displace grassroots organizing effectively bringing the organization to its unfortunate, but logical conclusion.[12]

By the early-1970s, many Black Power organizations faced crises over the correct path to Black liberation and as a result many of these organizations became increasingly narrow ideologically. The central debates were over the correct role of culture in the process of revolution. Both cultural nationalists, such as Maulana Karenga and Amiri Baraka and political nationalists, such as the Black Panther Party, realized the importance of culture.[13] However, political nationalists maintained that transformation could not wait on the cultural conversion insisted by the cultural nationalists.

In addition, to the split between the political and cultural nationalists, there was an ideological split between nationalist and Marxist oriented organizations. As the Panthers and eventually Baraka turned to a Marxist analysis, they vilified cultural nationalists making them the outsider group, regulating their insights to the margins. Stokely Carmichael spoke to the effects of the Panthers labeling, remembering, "The Panthers made the position so extreme…automatically if you were what they called a 'cultural nationalist,' you're a reactionary … so in order for you to get away from the stigma, you had to denounce cultural nationalism."[14]

The FBI exacerbated these ideological divisions with its Counter Intelligence Program (COINTELPRO). The FBI's crusade against the Black Panther Party exemplified its ability to undermine and destabilize an organization. In the mid-1960s FBI director J. Edgar Hoover labeled the Black Panthers "the most dangerous organization in America." Hoover used COINTELPRO to create divisions within the Panther leadership and between them and other organizations through the use of informants and false information. The false communication heightened organizational paranoia and reduced the leadership's effectiveness. Furthermore, COINTELPRO legitimated an all-out attack on the organization by federal, state, and local police. In 1969 alone, 27 Panthers were killed and 749 were arrested or jailed.[15]

In addition to the FBI, television media exacerbated the identity crises within Black organizations. The media reduced complex political analysis to sound bites, creating an atmosphere in which organizations often competed to gain national attention and the associated spoils – including financial support, membership, and ideological dominance. Organizations moved away from grassroots organizing towards media spectacles that focused solely on charismatic leadership and grandiose spectacles.[DEW1][16]

The ideological splits, FBI subterfuge, and media distortion increasingly diluted the Black Freedom Struggle's effectiveness in the early 1970s. These organizations wanted to make changes through a multiplicity of means. Electoral politics, non-violent direct action, community control, and even guerrilla warfare all became viable options depending on the ideological stance. The diversity in ideologies did not yield any consensus on the Black freedom struggle's trajectory. Associates at IBW observed:

> …black America is in ferment and turmoil. It initiates rebellions in the street and on the campus; it mounts an increasingly deadly war with the national police force and abandons traditional politics to form independent political parties in Mississippi, Alabama, and South Carolina; black professionals at all levels of civil and social service accelerate the black caucus movement, and there are conferences and congresses for every stratum of black America as each seek some answer to the particular form of white oppression that afflicts it. Yet while the unorganized black movement widens daily, the formal black movement is beset with political, ethical, and ideological conflicts of all kinds. So-called revolutionaries advocate everything from black capitalism, to reparations, to repatriation. Some have abandoned economic, political, and racial oppression altogether to embrace sexual perversion as a new revolutionary force. This while white America is in a state of profound crisis, black America is in a state of profound confusion….[17]

The Institute of the Black World faced internal confusion that paralleled the crises in Black and White America. In October 1970, IBW began the process of reorganizing in hopes of clarifying IBW's unique role in the struggle.[18]

Reorganization

In the spring 1971 IBW Senior Associates, Vincent Harding, William Strickland, and Robert Hill, led a series of reorganization meetings to assess the organization's direction. IBW's Executive Committee organized the meetings around several essays written primarily by William Strickland and Robert Hill over the previous six months. The meetings addressed concerns surrounding the Institute's programs, principles, administration, and finances. Each of these areas produced honest debate and proposed resolutions. IBW viewed these meetings as a "process not salvation." The debates on programs and principles provide a look at how Harding, Strickland, and Hill, understood their role, as intellectuals, in the movement.[19]

Recognizing the turmoil facing IBW mirrored that facing other Black organizations, the associates and staff sought to identify the sources. As Vincent Harding and William Strickland observed, IBW's problem was "the problem of identity." While, IBW developed a rationale for existence - controlling the definitions of Blackness – according to some associates this was not an identity. The rationale failed to provide the ideological or theoretical perspective for redefining representations and how this would impact the Black Freedom Struggle. Ultimately, IBW's developing theoretical perspective was to "solve the problem of finding the correct relationship between its educational, political and organizational work."[20]

The reorganization documents identify several basic causes of organizational imprecise direction. First, the name The Institute of the Black World allowed associates to examine everything under the purview of Blackness. This issue erupted in discussions over a new IBW sign. "I came back from a trip one day," Strickland recalled, > walked up the steps and there was the sign: "… dedicated to the struggles of African peoples." A fait accompli. IBW thus became formally and publicly identified with a particular ideology in a very informal and casual way. The ramifications of the ideology, its enduring relevance for black people, its historical sufficiency and analytical clarity, none of these questions was thoroughly gone into before the fact.[21]

The political language of Blackness, illustrated by the sign's phrase, "dedicated to the struggles of African people," represented the discourse's amorphous use. The political language of Pan-Africanism promoted unity, while at the same time it cloaked cleavages in the movement, providing an avenue for cooptation.[22] The Institute of the Black World's casual use of language permitted the organization to be loosely identified with any ideological perspective, regardless of the Institute's position. Furthermore, this uncritical use of Blackness cast too wide of an analytical lens, stretched the meager resources, and provided no focused direction for the organization. The numerous projects attempted during the early years exemplify the IBW's diversity. For example, The Institute organized the Black Studies Directors workshop, began the Black Policy Studies Center, published articles, and held a Summer Research Symposium. These projects demonstrated how the political language of Blackness, while providing an oppositional stance to the liberal framework, often weakened Black organizations because the quest for unity led IBW and other organizations in too many directions under the "gospel of blackness." The discourse provided an alternative to that of liberalism, however, its oppositional stance was continually vague allowing it to be shaped by adherents and opponents alike, making the discourse at times vacuous, and often providing a veil for Black middle class advancement.[23]

Another source of confusion identified by the reorganization documents was a common belief that IBW was a school because of its origins in the Black Studies movement. The Institute facilitated this perception on several fronts. In their initial concentration on the Black University and Black Studies, IBW attempted to become a clearinghouse for Black Studies programs. This activity inextricably linked IBW to Black Studies - even founding member Stephen Henderson remembered IBW primarily for providing direction to Black Studies, omitting the numerous other IBW projects. Furthermore, the Institute housed several university students. These students provided much needed labor for the numerous IBW projects and they often negotiated with their home universities for funds for IBW. For example, students from Dartmouth and Wesleyan University worked at the Institute with the latter university providing $90,000 of support. Another reason for the perception of IBW being a school was its close relationship to Atlanta University Center (AUC). While, Harding was not continually employed by AUC, IBW often used campus facilities and co-sponsored events at the universities. Furthermore, the Institute's association

Hill, NC: University of North Carolina Press, 114-158, 219-254. Some of the Black films of the 1960s recognized this trait as well, namely Uptown Saturday Night, starring Bill Cosby and Sidney Poitier. As Mark Anthony Neal points out, "This same generation of black officials is also an object of contempt, as when the duo (Cosby and Poitier) attempts to enlist the assistance of local congressman, Lincoln, played by Roscoe Lee Brown. Steve (Poitier) and Wardell's (Cosby) attempts to meet with Lincoln underscore that depth to which Black Power politics and early manifestations of Afrocentric thought were already used as perfunctory symbols by black elected officials to convey a sense of belonging to the masses they were ostensibly elected to represent.... In preparing for receiving Steve and Wardell, Lincoln literally labors to transform his identity - he replaces a picture of Richard Nixon with one of Malcolm X and dons a dashiki - to one he sees more in line with his core constituency, whom he describes as the 'real salt of the earth.'" Derrick White – with the AUC made associates hesitant in challenging university policies. Ultimately, as William Strickland pointed out, IBW's job "is not to be a school but, to promote change in schools and scholars."[24] [DEW2]

Lastly, institutional confusion stemmed from the failure to take "a position for or against the system." While, highlighting liberalism's limitations, IBW, like many other Black Power organizations, failed to articulate clearly an alternative theoretical framework for understanding American society. Vincent Harding confirmed this stating in a 1971 interview in response to the question of IBW's methodology. "I don't know at this stage," he noted, "if we could speak about a basic methodology except for this. We assume that the style of individualistic scholarship is not a black style…."[25]

The reorganization meetings sought to rectify these sources of confusions by examining the Black intellectual's role and developing an ideological perspective. IBW leadership proclaimed, "We are intellectuals and we do intellectual work," although the role and responsibilities of intellectuals in the Black freedom struggle was at best ambiguous.[26] The Institute's goal was to clarify their role, for themselves and for the public. Beginning from the premise that education was political, William Strickland outlined the Black intellectual's responsibilities.[27] He believed that there were three responsibilities of intellectuals. First, they had "to describe the social, economic, cultural, and political problems of black people from a black perspective." Secondly, they had "to analyze the nature of those problems from a black perspective." Finally, Black intellectuals had the responsibility "to prescribe remedies from them that contribute to the liberation of black people." By accomplishing these three tasks, – describing, analyzing, and prescribing - IBW would be producing revolutionary scholarship that would allow "an oppressed people to take power."[28]

IBW contested the notions of scholarly objectivity, contending it could not "engage in open-ended research" believing "research and analysis are means not ends."[29] Revolutionary scholarship, according to the Institute, consisted of analysis and advocacy. IBW demanded scientific analysis that examined specific [27] Carter G. Woodson made a similar point in The Mis-Education of the Negro, (Washington, DC: Associated Publishers, 1933, 1972). Woodson stated, "No systematic effort toward change has been possible, for, taught the same economics, history, philosophy, literature and religion which have established the present code of morals, the Negro's mind has been brought under the control of his oppressor. The problem of holding the Negro down, therefore, is easily solved. When you control a man's thinking you do not have to worry about his actions" (xiii).

contemporary conditions and contradictions, projected solutions, and promoted programs to achieve solutions. Therefore, IBW, wanted move its focus beyond academic education and create an "all-class" system of analysis, which would allow for linkages to the community and other organizations.[30]

Strickland described this process as propaganda, "not in its hypocritical western sense, but propaganda based on the truth of the black condition." "The function of black propaganda," according to Strickland, was > to make black people understand that to oppose white America, to concretely and consciously struggle against it with all one's mind and all one's heart and all one's soul is the only way to protect oneself and one's family and one's people; that the concrete task of black individuals is to do a 'good job in their field' from a black perspective; that the black struggle will definitely be victorious, and the devils defeated.

IBW did not want to focus on the Black experience in as a purely theoretical or academic process, but used historical analysis to focus on contemporary problems and potential solutions.[31]

Reorganization, for IBW, was also a process of educating themselves on the various analytical perspectives in the movement and 1970s America. Identifying a systematic viewpoint was critical because it was the basis from which the organization would "educate Black America." Soon after the split with the King Center, Strickland explored various ideological views prevalent at the time. He predicted, as was common at the time, the fall of Western/American culture. IBW wanted an intellectual position, a Black perspective, which would recreate a more humane society. In order to come to this outlook, Strickland wanted IBW to relinquish "the illusions that integration is the solution, that spontaneous urban eruption are the solution, that militant rhetoric is the solution, that mystical notions of connections with Africa are the solution…."[32] IBW situated itself almost solely in negation to the contemporary ideological stances and it was unable to analyze critically how other social issues, such as feminism, the Vietnam War, and drug use, related to the politics of the Black community. While, IBW associates discussed their apprehensions with other social movements and other ideological standpoints, these concerns were rarely made public because of "false notions of [Black] unity."[33]

IBW associates agreed that the Black intellectual's role was to describe,[DEW3] analyze, and prescribe from a Black perspective. Robert Hill in discussing his meaning of a Black viewpoint, stated,

> First of all, it is necessary to be clear on the nature of that struggle and what the process of the definition entails. On the first question [What does it mean to define the black experience from a black perspective?], it should by now have become obvious that the black struggle in American encompasses more than the contestation for control of the streets, control of office, or even the control of resources. No major historic struggle has ever encompassed these things alone…. [Antonio] Gramsci postulates two kinds of struggle, which he describes as the 'war of positions' and the 'war of maneuver." The first is the one responsible for seizing hegemony of social values, of validating new paths of culture for the society, of establishing the broad principles of new social relationships. The second mode of struggle involves > literally hand-to-hand combat for control of the social and political organs. Both are modes of contestation and at times occur even simultaneously.

> …[W]e must be clear about what point in the struggle that [defining the black experience] represents ("position") and what that means for the task of definition. In other words, we don't define the black experience merely to return it to the hands of Black people (impossible), to get back what is our experience (unworthile [sic]), but to shape it for the contestation of hegemony with the white racists values of the broader society.[34]

Despite Hill's observations, the question remained - what made an analytical perspective "Black?" IBW claimed that its analysis must come from a Black standpoint, but it failed to fully explicate what such an analysis was and what made it Black, other than the negation of attributes deemed critical to Western culture. However imprecise the notion of a Black perspective, it was a powerful conception, one that was capable of mobilizing organizational support.[35]

In May 1971, the Institute of the Black World held a staff meeting to re-examine the reorganization project it had begun the previous fall. The Executive Committee, which included Harding, Strickland, and Hill, produced a document entitled "Toward a Higher Stage," which outlined the future direction of the organization. IBW held the May meeting because despite the "positive good" that came from previous reorganization meetings, "there [had] been many areas in which it has not worked to our benefit." The earlier reorganization failed because, according to the senior associates some IBW staff and associates had not internalized key aspects of reorganization, thus stagnating the development of the organization.

Harding, Strickland, Hill and several key staff members formed an Executive Committee, which took full responsibility for these failures, and looked at its "own faults and wrongness." It also believed that the organization's principles that were "lightly accepted" by the membership and that self-criticism was necessary, if the organization was going to grow. A key point in "Towards a Higher Stage" addressed the persistent individualism in the Institute, specifically in the administrative staff.

> [W]e are committed to the life of this organization, and we are convinced that the entire organization must look at itself in the same critical way as has the Executive Committee in the light of what Reorganization was supposed to be and do. Indeed, not only must we look at ourselves, but we must move firmly and persistently to deal with the tendencies within the organization and within ourselves as individuals which hold us back from the kind of total commitment to the struggles of our people which must be the hallmark of IBW.[36]

IBW looked at three areas - principles, policies, and programs - in an "attempt to assess the positive and negative aspects of our development since last November,

[36] "IBW Reconsidered: Moving to a Higher Stage/ Towards a Higher Stage," IBW Papers, Box (Reorganization – August 1969 – November 1971), Folder (May 1971), 2

with the intention of moving on to the next stage; a higher stage [unencumbered] by certain weaknesses of the past."[37]

The organization defined principles as "what the organization believes to be the truth about itself, about the struggle and about the world."[38] Twenty principles provided a conceptual frame for the organization. The Executive Committee organized the principles according to organizational discipline and philosophy. In terms of discipline, the committee stated that IBW associates and staff needed to be slaves to a cause, specifically, "the cause of the struggle of our people towards self-determination/liberation." This struggle must "take precedent" over all things, thus, loyalty to IBW reflected a loyalty to the struggle, rather than individual and careerist goals.[39]

Philosophically, the organization assumed that the 1970s was "an age of collapse in the West," and that IBW "shall die with them, or we shall enter into the struggle to overcome them and build anew for our children." More importantly, the Executive Committee reiterated, "all education is political and that black education must participate in the politics of struggle for self-determination/liberation." IBW decided to become a political organization rather than a "narrowly professional one." It insisted on principles of self-reliance, self-sacrifice, and self-criticism in the organization. IBW's goals of organizational discipline and philosophy necessitated collective scholarship.

> "We must make this Institute stronger than any single individual in it, and more than the sum of its total parts." We believe in collective leadership and collective work. We see collective leadership as the best guarantee against personalism, and collective work as the way our traditions point for the highest form of creativity and the necessary strength for struggle.

These principles structured the policies of the organization.[40]

IBW's procedures reflected its values and structured the organization. Policies were staff rules and goals, such as "the needs of the organization will consistently be placed before individual wants or needs." The Committee outlined the rules for dismissal, and time of staff meetings. The goal of the guidelines was "to change habits, life-styles and commitments which are contrary to the principles, policies and programs of IBW." The Committee believed once the staff internalized the ethics, and plans the organization's agenda would be more effective.[41]

The Committee argued that its program "must become more sharply committed to create a black analysis of the condition of the black community, past and present." This analysis must "clarify both the situation of our community and the nature of its oppressors." The programs would be aimed at Black local leadership who would use radical analysis as a "weapon of advocacy" in moving towards Black self-determination. The committee concluded,

> This is what we mean by our program as one of revolutionary scholarship, what we mean by the politicizing of all black education and the proper educating of all black politics. We are engaged in political education in the fullest sense of that term. We are explaining, clarifying, defining the black situation, placing it in the context of the past and future struggle for liberation. Thereby we are moving to free the minds of our people with truth, recreating and recasting the educational function into a struggle vehicle, a revolutionary weapon.[42]

The Institute of the Black World looked to the Summer Research Symposium (SRS) to clarify and expand this goal, by meeting Black intellectuals "who did signal works of research on the past."[43]

Summer Research Symposium 1971

In the summer of 1971, IBW invited C.L.R. James, Edward Kamau Braith[dew4]waite, St. Clair Drake, and George Beckford to Atlanta for the Summer Research Symposium (SRS) whose theme was "The World of Black Scholarship - Past, Present and Future." The six-week symposium was composed of seminars, a Black research agenda, and public lectures. The symposium participants spent between nine and fifteen hours a week in seminars led by IBW Senior Associates and the invited guests. In addition, the participants had a Black social analysis research project. The public lectures were the community-oriented portion of the program, and formed the basis of IBW's audiotape lecture series. The conference served as "an integral part of the development of IBW" and was a "part of the clarifying

IBW reorganization meetings stressed the importance of its intellectual work to the Black struggle of the 1970s and the invited scholars confirmed the importance and further clarified the role of Black intellectuals. Sociologist St. Clair Drake emphasized institutions such as IBW were apart of "intellectual tasks" as opposed to "street tasks," exemplified by the urban rebellions. Drake outlined several fundamental roles for Black intellectuals: raising Black consciousness, supplying information for the movement, and creating special institutions, such as IBW. Based on his own intellectual experiences, Drake stressed a three-pronged approach. First, intellectuals needed "to make some contribution to general theoretical work in his discipline…." Secondly, they needed, "to decide upon some aspect of the social structure in which to become expert at the empirical level – i.e. one tried to make a contribution at the widest level of generality and then select some specific aspect to concentrate upon…." Thirdly, Black intellectuals should "select a problem that contributed to racial advancement, as we used to call it. Today we call it Black Liberation…."[45] The importance of intellectual work, according to Drake was in its challenge to what heretofore was known as objective scholarship and to supply a counter ideology.[46]
