Hi Marielle – 10:30 works. It would be great if you could come to me. I teach at 1:00 that day and leave right after class to go out of town.
Do you need a visitor parking spot or will you be using a service permit? If you use a service permit, you can park in the back lot by the Field Hockey Field. Take the elevator off the loading dock to 5 and my office is down the left-hand hallway overlooking the Field Hockey field.
Thanks,
Lissa

Greetings,

The Parr Center is happy to announce our first Lunch and Learn of the year. Visiting scholar Dan Moseley will present "Genetics, Neuroscience and Criminal Responsibility" on Thursday, September 12 at 12:30 p.m. in the University room at Hyde Hall. Lunch will be provided; an RSVP is required. Please email parrcenter@unc.edu to register.

And, we are currently recruiting for our fall undergraduate fellows program. Fellows enjoy working on a variety of projects- social media, graphic design, Ethics Bowl planning, multimedia projects and more. If you are interested in receiving or distributing a fellows application, please email parrcenter@unc.edu for the form. We are looking forward to having another wonderful group of students with us this semester!

We hope the 2013-2014 academic year is off to a great start for you, and we look forward to seeing you on campus!

Hi Bubba and Beth – Do you want to schedule discussion of the Rawlings report at the October meeting or wait until the winter or spring meetings? If there is time, I think it might be a good idea to share the report with our colleagues in October and for us to highlight for them the issues where "collective action" is required for discussion by the group. We could also divide up the school specific issues then or later for discussion in our respective groups to get the opinions of others about the recommendations and a sense of how other schools are handling the related issues. Just a thought.

Thanks for forwarding. Some interesting information and suggestions included in the report. Let me know if you all would like this to be a part of the agenda for any of the groups or for the Joint Meeting this fall. If you think it is best to wait until the winter or spring after you've had time to think through some of this, that works too. Commissioner and I haven't had a chance to talk about it yet but I will make sure he has a copy, if he doesn't already.
Thanks again.

Thanks Lissa. Jean Frankel, the NCAA consultant working on the governance review, will attend the meeting and facilitate a discussion on the first morning. That likely will cover the Division IV and January Convention discussions – or at least kick start those. We will also have someone, likely Erik Albright, there to provide an update on NCAA legal items such as O'Bannon/EA.
The MEA continues to be on the backburner from a process standpoint, though the media continues to talk about it. It is my understanding that there isn't expected to be any formal recommendation or feedback requests from the group until the governance structure is near completion. I will put this on the Joint agenda, though, and give everyone the opportunity to share any current thoughts.

- Update on O'Bannon case and affiliations of NCAA, conferences, and schools with EA Sports
- Update on what is likely to be discussed at January NCAA Convention re governance

See the attachment regarding the AALS program. Are we interested. I will likely be on family vacation during that time period, so if we are interested, I would probably not be able to participate personally.
I think it would be a good idea to schedule a meeting to see where we are on the book. I have been working on it some, but not as much as I anticipated. If we get a meeting on the books, then maybe that will spur me to finish what I am doing on Chapter 8 and share it with you. I have been going through the NVIVO nodes that relate to Chapter 8 and adding in a bunch of quotes that we haven't used before. Before I do the same work for Chapters 7 and 9, I'd love to get your opinion of Chapter 8 and whether I've struck the right balance with quotes and text.
From John's teaching schedule, it looks like Wednesdays or Fridays would be the best days for meetings. Those are good days for me too, except on Wednesday, I'm not available from 1-2 when I teach.
Let me know if we could meet for 60-90 minutes during any of the periods I've listed below:

Since this topic will be pertinent for all three groups, I think it would be best to have it on the ACC agenda for a joint session so FARs, ADs and SWAs all hear the same presentation and discussion.

Hi Bubba and Beth – Do you want to schedule discussion of the Rawlings report at the October meeting or wait until the winter or spring meetings? If there is time, I think it might be a good idea to share the report with our colleagues in October and for us to highlight for them the issues where "collective action" is required for discussion by the group. We could also divide up the school specific issues then or later for discussion in our respective groups to get the opinions of others about the recommendations and a sense of how other schools are handling the related issues. Just a thought.
Thanks,
Lissa

Thanks for forwarding. Some interesting information and suggestions included in the report. Let me know if you all would like this to be a part of the agenda for any of the groups or for the Joint Meeting this fall. If you think it is best to wait until the winter or spring after you've had time to think through some of this, that works too. Commissioner and I haven't had a chance to talk about it yet but I will make sure he has a copy, if he doesn't already.
Thanks again.

Thanks, Brad. Our university just received the Hunter Rawlings report, in case you haven't seen it. At some point, it might present some discussion items for our group. I haven't totally digested it yet though. See http://rawlingspanel.web.unc.edu/.

Thanks Lissa. Jean Frankel, the NCAA consultant working on the governance review, will attend the meeting and facilitate a discussion on the first morning. That likely will cover the Division IV and January Convention discussions – or at least kick start those. We will also have someone, likely Erik Albright, there to provide an update on NCAA legal items such as O'Bannon/EA.
The MEA continues to be on the backburner from a process standpoint, though the media continues to talk about it. It is my understanding that there isn't expected to be any formal recommendation or feedback requests from the group until the governance structure is near completion. I will put this on the Joint agenda, though, and give everyone the opportunity to share any current thoughts.

Hi Brad – In case these items are not already on the agenda for our October meeting, here are some things that we would like to have included. Bubba and I spoke briefly about these. He and Beth might have others too.

- Status of MEA/stipends and the conference position
- Discussions regarding a "Division IV" of the NCAA for the largest schools and the conference positions
- Update on O'Bannon case and affiliations of NCAA, conferences, and schools with EA Sports
- Update on what is likely to be discussed at January NCAA Convention re governance

Unfortunately, Bubba will be at the Division 1A Athletic Directors' Annual Meeting in Dallas on Tuesday, September 24 and will miss the coaches' meeting that day. Would it work for him to meet with you after your meeting with Marielle on the morning of Friday, September 27? Do you think your meeting with Marielle will end at/by 9:30am?
Bubba can meeting with you on Tuesday, October 22 and Tuesday, November 19 immediately following the coaches' meetings.
Bubba will be out of town on Tuesday, December 10th when the December coaches' meeting takes place. Would it work for you to meet with him on Tuesday, December 17 at 11:00am instead?

Hi Molly –
I don't think we've scheduled monthly meetings for me and Bubba for this year so I'd appreciate your help in getting those scheduled and on our respective calendars.
I'd like to have a meeting in September some time before our ACC meetings in Raleigh on October 1-2, with the specific purpose of discussing how to frame the discussion of the Rawlings Report at the Oct. 1-2 meetings.
An ideal scenario would be to schedule our meetings, to the extent possible, to follow the monthly coaches meetings since I will be over at the EWAC for those. The next meeting is September 24 and I could meet following that meeting if it works with Bubba's schedule. If that's not possible, I am free other times as well. My teaching time is 1-2 Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday, so we mainly need to work around that from my end.

I must have misread the info about your meeting with Marielle when you emailed your availability for the meeting with Professor Navalinsky. Sorry about that!
Bubba has an all-day meeting in Atlanta on Friday, September 20 so that day won't work for him, but Friday, September 27 at 9:30am works well.
Would Wednesday, October 23 at 9:00am work for you to meet with Bubba?

Wednesday, October 23 at 9:00am (pending your confirmation)
Tuesday, November 19 (immediately following the conclusion of the coaches' meeting)

My meeting with Marielle is on Sept. 20 at 8:30. I can't imagine it taking longer than 30 minutes.
On Sept. 27, I could stop by at 9:30 (I have a breakfast meeting before then).
Let me know which of those two dates is best for Bubba.
Bubba can meeting with you on Tuesday, October 22 and Tuesday, November 19 immediately following the coaches' meetings.
November 19 is a date, but I have a colonscopy (yuck) scheduled for October 22 so we'll need to find a different day for October.
Bubba will be out of town on Tuesday, December 10th when the December coaches' meeting takes place. Would it work for you to meet with him on Tuesday, December 17 at 11:00am instead?
Dec. 17 at 11:00 works.

Dear Faculty and Staff,
The Staff Awards Committee is now accepting nominations for the 2013 3rd quarter staff awards (July 1 – September 30).
Two awards of $1,000 will be given this quarter; both SPA and EPA Non-Faculty employees are eligible.
Please submit employee nominations by Monday, September 30, 2013.
Information about School of Law Staff Awards can be found on My Carolina Law at https://my.law.unc.edu/community/staffawards/ and nomination forms can be submitted here: https://my.law.unc.edu/community/staffawards/nomination/. The online form will automatically submit your nominations for the current awards period; nominations submitted after the quarterly cutoff date will automatically be submitted to the pool for the next quarter.
Please take this opportunity to nominate a staff member for their hard work and dedication to Carolina Law!
Best,

Subject: [FORMAL NOTICE] Thursday Night Football Game

TO: All University Employees

FROM: Brenda Richardson Malone, Vice Chancellor for Human Resources

On Thursday, Oct. 17, the North Carolina Tar Heels will host the Miami Hurricanes for a nationally televised football game at Kenan Stadium, starting at 8 p.m. This Thursday night game, which will occur during Fall Break, is expected to attract a large crowd of fans on campus, starting in the afternoon.

As communicated last spring, the University will not alter the workday or close early. However, due to the expected increase in traffic on campus beginning in mid-afternoon, we do advise departments and supervisors to be as flexible as possible in allowing employees to choose to work a flexible schedule and avoid traffic and inconvenience.

The Athletics Department and Department of Public Safety will provide additional information about the event, specifically regarding parking and transportation details and events in Chapel Hill, closer to the date of the game.

Employees who choose not to work their regularly scheduled hours on Oct. 17 because of this special event must make up the time or code leave for those hours. Several options will allow employees to be paid for these hours without undue hardship:

-- Employees can work the additional hours during that week, with management's approval, by either coming in early, staying late, working a reduced lunch break or some combination of the above on the other four days in that same workweek (Oct. 14, 15, 16, 18).

-- Employees can use available FY14 leave to cover the time. FY14 leave must be used before compensatory, vacation or bonus time.

-- If FY14 leave is not available, employees can use any accrued compensatory time, or available vacation or bonus leave, to cover the hours if they prefer.

Second- and third-shift employees will be expected to work their usual schedule unless they follow their usual leave procedures.

For additional information about work time and leave options, contact your School/Division HR Office.

Subject: [law_faculty] Junior Faculty Exchanges

I want to highlight three of our Faculty Speakers who are coming to us as part of our Junior Faculty Exchanges:

9/19/13	Cesar Rosado Marzan (Chicago-Kent)
11/14/13	Andrew Blair-Stanek (Maryland)
2/13/14	Arden Rowell (Illinois)

The Exchange program provides an opportunity for junior faculty to trade places and workshop a paper at each others' schools. We've had some terrific presentations from Exchange participants in recent years, and our junior faculty have been enthusiastic about their experiences presenting at our partner schools. So I'd like to ask everyone to please make an extra effort to attend these sessions, to make them as valuable as possible for our visitors.

Thanks,
Joan

Subject: [law_faculty] Scholastica survey

As you may recall, the Law School does not currently have a centralized payment plan for the Scholastica law review submission system. Instead, faculty members are instructed to pay out of pocket and then seek reimbursement from their professional development funds. The reason for the decision was the fact that, unlike Express-O, Scholastica does not offer a discounted institution-wide subscription; discounts are available only if the school pays upwards of $1,000 to pre-purchase submission credits. At the time this decision was made, we were not sure that faculty were using the system enough to justify this large up-front payment. However, we did indicate that the decision would be revisited periodically to see whether circumstances had changed.
As we have now gone through two submission cycles under the current policy, I would like to get an informal sense of how often we are using this system, and how much we have paid. If you have used Scholastica to submit an article to law reviews in the past year, please respond to me with the following information:

- The number of journals to which you submitted;
- Your total cost for the submissions, and
- Whether you did in fact seek and receive reimbursement from your professional development funds.

Thanks,
Joan

The password for the Onyen 'lbroome' is set to expire
at this date and time: Fri Sep 20 12:12:56 2013

Visit the following web site to change your password or for information on how to have it reset if it was forgotten:

https://onyen.unc.edu/cgi-bin/unc_id/chpw.pl

After your password expires, you can still access the above site to change your password, though you will not be able to use your Onyen to access any other Onyen-authenticated services until you change your password.

Once you change your password, it will work for another 90 days before it expires again. If you never use your Onyen, then disregard this notice.

Your new Onyen password will be copied automatically to the AD.UNC.EDU domain. If you have any Laptop, Desktop, or handheld device which uses your old Onyen password to automatically login
or re-authenticate to services using the AD.UNC.EDU domain (Exchange, for example), be sure to logout of those services and login again with your new Onyen password within 10 minutes of changing it. If you don't, and your devices continue to attempt to re-authenticate using your old Onyen password, your AD.UNC.EDU account will be locked for 10 to 20 minutes, just as if you repeatedly tried to login with a bad password. During that time you will not be able to login.

If you think you might forget your password, consider setting up
a "Challenge/Response" where you answer a few personal questions
BEFORE you forget your password. Later, if you can answer these questions again, you can get a new password without having to visit one of the password reset sites on campus. Just click
follow the instructions.

Answers to many common questions and a list of some Onyen related services can be found by visiting the web site:

THE CROSSROADS OF STUDENT SUCCESS: ACADEMICS, WELLNESS AND ENGAGEMENT

12 noon – 1:30 p.m., Hanes Hall Room 239

September 6th Notes on IX at UNC

with Ew Quimbaya-Winship, Student Complaint Coordinator/Deputy Title IX Officer

A brief overview of recent federal guidelines around harassment and sexual violence issued to higher education institutions will be provided. Carolina's response to these evolving expectations will be discussed. As well, Ew will provide an update on the work accomplished by the Title IX task Force over the summer; how students, faculty and staff are being encouraged to report and what the current reporting process is for individuals at UNC; and the conversation will end with a few thoughts and questions that will explore areas for growth.

Dear Friends,

I look forward to our first meeting of the 2013-14 academic year, scheduled for this coming Monday the 9th at 4:15 pm in the Faculty Lounge. I anticipate two agenda items. The first will be a short update from me on admissions and budget matters. The second and principal topic will cover the activities of Self-Study Committee being led by Joan Krause and Dana Remus. I am asking Joan and Dana to share with you their overall plan for the self-study process, including their intent to circulate a faculty survey shortly and to hold a faculty retreat sometime later in the fall. At their request, I'm circulating a version of the proposed faculty survey which is still being tweaked by the University's Lynn Williford, Assistant Provost for Institutional Research and Assessment, who's working with the Committee to finalize the survey. Please let me know if you have additional matters you'd like to bring before the group. Thanks.
Jack

Dear All,

I posted two draft documents - a reporting template and a list of reporting guidelines - to our working group site. I'll bring printed copies to the meeting this afternoon.

Thanks.

Gold Doesn't Always Protect Against Inflation Risk: Research Paper
International Business Times
Sept. 6
The widespread assumption that gold protects investors against excessive inflation because gold prices rise as inflation surges has come under attack in a research paper published earlier this week. … tracking the correlation between gold prices and the consumer price index over decades leads to the conclusion that gold didn't work especially well as protection against inflation in the 1990s…"The gold-inflation relationship is not stable," said one author, Dr. Cetin Ciner of the University of North Carolina…

Incense smoke can choke asthma patients
TNN (India)
Sept. 5
That divine aroma emanating from the corners of your home can cause havoc for asthma patients. The good old agarbatti, once a part of every Indian home, is known to cause indoor pollution. … A recent study by Gillings School of Global Public Health, University of North Carolina, at Chapel, found that burning incense gives rise to indoor air pollution that causes lung cell inflammation and other health problems.

25 Ways to Be More Creative
INC.com
Sept. 5
You might think of creativity as something clever marketers or copywriters whip out when they need to come up with a compelling ad, or a personal trait only certain people, such as successful serial entrepreneurs or brilliant improv actors, naturally possess. But according to Keith Sawyer, research psychologist and author of "Zig Zag: The Surprising Path to Greater Creativity," everyone can be more creative. ….. Kidney Transplants Linked to Invasive Skin Cancer
Medscape (medical news website)
Sept. 5
In a brief report published in the September 3 issue of in the Journal of Clinical Investigation, Laurence Verneuil, MD, and colleagues from INSERM, University of Caen, France, give an explanation for this increased risk. The report provides "the first evidence for donor contribution to the malignant epithelium of skin squamous cell carcinoma in a kidney transplant recipient," write Cai Bin Cui, MD, and David A. Berber, MD, from the School of Medicine at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, in an accompanying commentary.

Warrant: Agent gave cash to ex-UNC player Greg Little USATODAY
Sept. 5
Documents unsealed this week show Cleveland Browns wideout Greg Little talked to state investigators in North Carolina in January, saying he was "ready for this chapter of his life to be over and to get on with his life on a clean slate."(Photo: Ron Schwane, USA TODAY Sports)
Investigators in North Carolina say a Georgia-based sports agent violated sports agent laws by providing more than $20,000 in cash and benefits to former Tar Heels receiver Greg Little in 2010.

Osteoarthritis not just for the aging
Pocono Record (Pennsylvania)
September 5, 2013
Osteoarthritis, the most common form of arthritis, affects 27 million Americans. Your grandparents' generation accepted OA as an inevitable condition of aging, but new research is changing how doctors look at the disease. ….Osteoarthritis probably involves more than one gene with susceptibility to environmental and genetic factors, said Dr. Joanne Jordan, an arthritis researcher at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Study: Children's use of e-cigarettes increasing
KOMO-TV (Seattle; AP story)
Sept. 5
Children — like adults — are increasingly trying electronic cigarettes, according to the first large national study to gauge use by middle and high school students. ...health officials are worried. The new study suggests many kids are now getting a first taste of nicotine through e-cigarettes and then moving on to regular tobacco products, they say.Kurt Ribisl, a University of North Carolina tobacco policy expert, was a bit more restrained, saying the results "don't prove that e-cigarettes are a gateway to smoking cigarettes". …

NCAA's Strategic Plan Lacked Emphasis on Key Challenges
The Chronicle of Higher Education (blog)
Sept. 5, 2013
Ten years ago, the NCAA began work on a new strategic plan that, among other things, sought to identify potential hurdles the association might face over the next five to 10 years. I came across the plan this week while reading through a set of guidelines the NCAA recently distributed for a survey that will help redesign its top division.

Subject: [FORMAL NOTICE] Reporting Lost or Stolen Electronic Portable Devices

Re: Reporting Lost or Stolen Electronic Portable Devices

Electronic portable devices such as smart phones, USB drives, laptops, etc., carry with them an increased risk of being lost or stolen. As stewards of the University's digital information, it is important that each of us exercise care and sound judgment in our use of University and/or personally-owned electronic portable devices that are used to conduct University business. Previously, the risk associated with a lost or stolen device was the monetary value of the unit; however, now the value lies in the personal and business information that is embedded in or accessible through use of the device.

To ensure that University information is properly secure and in order to maintain the public trust, each of us is obligated to report lost or stolen electronic portable devices. As stewards of University information, we have an obligation that extends beyond property owned by the University, to include any personally-owned devices that have been used to view, access or store sensitive, University-owned data. The report of loss or theft of such a device should be considered an "incident" under the University's Incident Management Policy (see http://its.unc.edu/files/2012/03/ccm1_033423.pdf) and must be reported in the same manner as any other event involving risk to sensitive, University-owned data.

If you experience the loss or theft of personal or state property that has been used to view, access or store sensitive University-owned data;

1. Call the Information Technology Services (ITS) Help Desk at 919-962-HELP.
2. Ask to submit a "critical" Remedy ticket to the ITS-Security group regarding a security incident.
3. Do not provide additional detail until you are communicating with an incident handler from the UNC-Chapel Hill Information Security Office.
4. Provide a telephone number at which you can be reached shortly thereafter.
5. In addition, if you experience the loss or theft of any state property you are also required to file a report with the UNC-Chapel Hill Department of Public Safety at 919-962-8100.

State law (NC General Statute § 114 15.1.) requires that a University employee report the loss or theft of state property "… as soon as possible, but not later than three days from receipt of the information or evidence of the lost or theft…" NC General Statute § 114 15.1, in turn, requires a state agency to report misuse, loss or theft of state property within 10 days.

The ITS Information Security Office maintains a number of documents, cited below, that clarify sensitive, University-owned data:
• What is sensitive data? http://help.unc.edu/help/what-is-sensitive-data/
• Is this device sensitive? https://help.unc.edu/help/sensitive-data/

In addition to good stewardship of University information, there are legal requirements (e.g., HIPAA, NC Identity Theft Protection Act and others) that impose an obligation to report the unauthorized release of certain types of sensitive data that might accompany the loss or theft of a device.

Your involvement is an important component of the protection of University digital information. For additional information, please contact ITS-Information Security or the UNC Department of Public Safety.

Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.

Note: An electronic version of this memo can be found at: http://www.unc.edu/finance/fd/c/docs/2013_lost_stolen_devices.pdf.

Yet another message that appears to have slipped past me. Sorry! These messages are really confusing to me and always look suspicious at first glance. But I think in this case this message is legitimate. I seem to recall bumping your Exchange quota from the default of 2GB to 7GB at some point, and this would indicate that you've almost reached that 7GB limit. Let's take a look together at your Outlook account on Monday to be sure. Actually, you can check your quota by doing the following:

To check your quota in Outlook 2010:

1. Click on the File tab.
2. Click Info.
3. Your quota usage info will appear in the "Mailbox Cleanup" section.

Let me know what you see, and if need be, I can increase your quota by another 5GB.

Best,
Doug

Brown Bag Lunch Series on

THE CROSSROADS OF STUDENT SUCCESS: ACADEMICS, WELLNESS AND ENGAGEMENT

12 noon – 1:30 p.m., Hanes Hall Room 239

September 6th Notes on IX at UNC

with Ew Quimbaya-Winship, Student Complaint Coordinator/Deputy Title IX Officer

A brief overview of recent federal guidelines around harassment and sexual violence issued to higher education institutions will be provided. Carolina's response to these evolving expectations will be discussed. As well, Ew will provide an update on the work accomplished by the Title IX task Force over the summer; how students, faculty and staff are being encouraged to report and what the current reporting process is for individuals at UNC; and the conversation will end with a few thoughts and questions that will explore areas for growth.

If you scroll down you can see that you can unsubscribe (which is what I'm going to do because I also don't recall signing up for this list serv) -- also, these emails are all being sent to the list serv so I'm not sure who the administrator is but you might want to change those settings so that we aren't flooding email inboxes of everyone who didn't seem to sign up for this list serv.

Brown Bag Lunch Series on

THE CROSSROADS OF STUDENT SUCCESS: ACADEMICS, WELLNESS AND ENGAGEMENT

12 noon – 1:30 p.m., Hanes Hall Room 239

September 6th Notes on IX at UNC

with Ew Quimbaya-Winship, Student Complaint Coordinator/Deputy Title IX Officer

A brief overview of recent federal guidelines around harassment and sexual violence issued to higher education institutions will be provided. Carolina's response to these evolving expectations will be discussed. As well, Ew will provide an update on the work accomplished by the Title IX task Force over the summer; how students, faculty and staff are being encouraged to report and what the current reporting process is for individuals at UNC; and the conversation will end with a few thoughts and questions that will explore areas for growth.

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] HIV Prevention/Health Study for Black Men Who Have Sex With Men

HPTN 073: a HIV prevention and health study for Black gay/bi/queer men

HPTN 073 is a research study looking at the willingness of Black men who have sex with men to initiate and adhere to using the FDA approved drug Truvada as a form of pre-exposure prophilaxis (PrEP) to help prevent their chances of contracting HIV.

Along with the choice of taking this drug, research study participants will have counseling sessions with a social worker and be asked to complete tasks necessary for routine health assessments, including but not limited to HIV and STD testing.

You may be eligible if:
1. You are HIV negative or HIV status unknown
2. You are Black, Caribbean-Black, or multi-ethnic Black
3. You are a man who has sex with men
4. You are age 18 or older, and
5. You are living in the Triangle Area of North Carolina

Participants may receive up to $475 for participating in the research study over the course of the year.

If interested, please contact Alex at 919-966-8353 or email us at mychoice@med.unc.edu.

This research study is titled "HPTN 073: Pre-Exposure Prophylaxis (PrEP) Initiation and Adherence among Black Men who have Sex with Men (BMSM) in Three U.S. Cities"

Title of Study: Determine The Sustained effects on MCC and Clinical Tolerability of Inhaled Hypertonic Saline (HS) via Jet Nebulizer in Subjects with Chronic Bronchitis

UNC Pulmonary Medicine and the Cystic Fibrosis Center are conducting a research study to determine whether the administration of inhaled hypertonic saline mist several times daily over two weeks produces a sustained improvement in mucus clearance in people with COPD/Chronic Bronchitis.

If you meet the study criteria you will be eligible to participate in a study that involves a screening visit, 12 study visits, and two home treatment periods of two weeks each. If you complete the study you will receive $1250 compensation for your time and effort, plus parking and mileage.

All study visits take place on the UNC Hospitals campus in the EPA building at 104 Mason Farm Rd.

You may be eligible if you meet the following criteria:

1. Age 40-80 years
2. Not pregnant of planning on becoming pregnant during participation
4. Produces (coughs up) mucus at least 2 days per week on average
5. History of smoking now or in the past (= 10 years)
6. No continuous daytime O2 use when at rest – at night or only when active OK
7. Requires < 10 mg of prednisone (or equivalent) per day chronically
8. No history of intolerance to study medications (saline mist), and able to tolerate a short-acting beta-agonist like albuterol

For additional information about the study please call or email Fred Fuller RN at 919-966-4350 or

Good morning, I hope everyone's semester is off to a good start. I just wanted to apprise everyone of the two searches that your appointments committee is currently undertaking: First, we are continuing to look for a new Director for our Civil Rights Center. With Julius' passing, we feel, more keenly than ever before, the need to fill this position, and we have been hard at work to do this. Please share with me — or anyone else on the committee (Al Brophy, Patricia Bryan, Barb Fedders, Holning Lau, and Bob Mosteller) -- any suggestions you have on people we could consider for this important position. Second, we are looking to hire a new director for our Clinic. The committee has been asked to look for qualified candidates from outside the law school to consider for this other, very important position. Here, too, please do not hesitate to share with me or other committee members your suggestions for people to be considered for clinic director.
I plan to elaborate more on our searches for these positions at the next faculty meeting, but I hope you will not hesitate to let me or any other committee members know if you have any questions about either of these searches.
Thanks!

Subject: [FORMAL NOTICE] DDD-Reporting Lost or Stolen Electronic Portable Devices

To: Deans, Directors and Department Chairs

From: Karol Kain Gray, Vice Chancellor for Finance and Administration
Chris Kielt, Vice Chancellor for Information Technology and CIO
Chief Jeff B. McCracken, Director of Public Safety

Re: Reporting Lost or Stolen Electronic Portable Devices

Electronic portable devices such as smart phones, USB drives, laptops, etc., carry with them an increased risk of being lost or stolen. As stewards of the University's digital information, it is important that each of us exercise care and sound judgment in our use of University and/or personally-owned electronic portable devices that are used to conduct University business. Previously, the risk associated with a lost or stolen device was the monetary value of the unit; however, now the value lies in the personal and business information that is embedded in or accessible through use of the device.

To ensure that University information is properly secure and in order to maintain the public trust, each of us is obligated to report lost or stolen electronic portable devices. As stewards of University information, we have an obligation that extends beyond property owned by the University, to include any personally-owned devices that have been used to view, access or store sensitive, University-owned data. The report of loss or theft of such a device should be considered an "incident" under the University's Incident Management Policy (see http://its.unc.edu/files/2012/03/ccm1_033423.pdf) and must be reported in the same manner as any other event involving risk to sensitive, University-owned data.

If you experience the loss or theft of personal or state property that has been used to view, access or store sensitive University-owned data;

1. Call the Information Technology Services (ITS) Help Desk at 919-962-HELP.
2. Ask to submit a "critical" Remedy ticket to the ITS-Security group regarding a security incident.
3. Do not provide additional detail until you are communicating with an incident handler from the UNC-Chapel Hill Information Security Office.
4. Provide a telephone number at which you can be reached shortly thereafter.
5. In addition, if you experience the loss or theft of any state property you are also required to file a report with the UNC-Chapel Hill Department of Public Safety at 919-962-8100.

State law (NC General Statute § 114 15.1.) requires that a University employee report the loss or theft of state property "… as soon as possible, but not later than three days from receipt of the information or evidence of the lost or theft…" NC General Statute § 114 15.1, in turn, requires a state agency to report misuse, loss or theft of state property within 10 days.

The ITS Information Security Office maintains a number of documents, cited below, that clarify sensitive, University-owned data:
• What is sensitive data? http://help.unc.edu/help/what-is-sensitive-data/
• Is this device sensitive? https://help.unc.edu/help/sensitive-data/

In addition to good stewardship of University information, there are legal requirements (e.g., HIPAA, NC Identity Theft Protection Act and others) that impose an obligation to report the unauthorized release of certain types of sensitive data that might accompany the loss or theft of a device.

Your involvement is an important component of the protection of University digital information. For additional information, please contact ITS-Information Security or the UNC Department of Public Safety.

Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.

Subject: AV issues in 4085

Hello,

Charles is out all week on vacation, so of course we're having AV issues! We had our contractor come out last Friday to fix a problem in 4085, and they left here that day thinking they had. But the system remains unstable and would not work for Bill this morning. I've got it working right now, so if you need to use the computer and projector, just press the Proj On button as usual and see if it comes on. If not, send a student to get me and I'll do my best to get it working.

Problem is, we think it's a physical cable that is failing, so it'll be a jury-rigged solution until our contractor gets back out here at 4pm today to look into it further. Sorry in advance for any inconvenience.

Best,
Doug

Hi Anna –
It was nice to meet you today. I was meeting with Chancellor Folt in my capacity as the Faculty Athletics Representative. She asked me to have you schedule a meeting (60 minutes should be long enough) with her, me, Bubba Cunningham, Beth Miller (Senior Associate Athletics Director), and Jim Dean to discuss NCAA governance issues. She asked for the meeting sometime in the time period between October 3 and November 8, avoiding the week preceding her installation on October 12.
For Bubba's and Beth's information, the purpose of the meeting is to establish institutional feedback to the NCAA regarding desired changes to the NCAA governance structure. You might want to check with Chancellor Folt regarding whether Provost Dean needs to be at this meeting. I think she included him initially, but upon further reflection, I'm not sure this would necessarily be a good use of his time.
I look forward to working with you. Please let me know your phone number. It wasn't on your directory listing at unc.edu.

Friends – When Chancellor Folt and I met today she asked me to work with her assistant, Anna Medley, to schedule a one-hour meeting following the ACC Presidents' Council meeting (this week) and the AD, SWA, FAR meeting (in October) to discuss our institutional input into the NCAA governance reform discussion. You probably received an email from the NCAA asking for individual and/or institutional suggestions by November 15.

Anna has scheduled the meeting for Tuesday, October 29 from 2-3 at the Chancellor's Office.

Chancellor Folt mentioned including Provost Dean in this meeting. Jim, you are welcome to attend, but you might also be able to beg off if you decide that this is not an efficient use of your time.

INFORMATIONAL MESSAGE FROM ALERT CAROLINA: Police Seeking Information, Identity of Suspects in Student Store Larcenies

UNC Public Safety is looking for assistance in related investigations into a larceny on April 4, 2013 and an attempted larceny on August 30 of textbooks from the Daniels Student Stores on campus. Up to three suspects have reportedly stolen textbooks and then approached UNC students on campus and asked them to return the stolen books and give them the reimbursed money. Students approached in this manner should report the incident immediately to UNC Police by calling 9-1-1.

The suspects have been seen on campus driving a van or light-colored SUV with a Florida license. One person of interest has been described as a black male, about 6 feet tall, with a stocky build. Student Stores surveillance cameras have yielded photos of suspects which can be viewed at the following link:

http://bit.ly/1ewSRhR

UNC Public Safety is asking anyone with information which may aid in these investigations to please call UNC Police Investigator Matt Dodson at (919) 962-8176 or email him at "mbdodson@psafety.unc.edu" or call the Chapel Hill Police at (919) 968-2760, or contact the Chapel Hill-Carrboro-UNC CrimeStoppers at (919) 942-7515. Calls are confidential and anonymous. You can also submit information to CrimeStoppers online at www.crimestoppers-chcunc.org.

About Informational Messages: The University sends an Informational Message to inform the campus community about a situation that is not an emergency, but is expected to be of significant interest to the campus.

The New Territorialism and the Supreme Court

Recent Supreme Court decisions exhibit a new territorialism attracting the attention of legal scholars. With Morrison, the Court placed a presumptive territorial limit on litigation of securities fraud. And with Kiobel, the Court imposed a presumptive territorial limit on alien tort litigation. We have assembled a panel of eight interesting speakers, including both established and emerging scholars, across a range of substantive and methodological fields.

John Coffee (Columbia) addresses the extraterritorial reach of financial regulation. Anthony Colangelo (SMU) proposes a clarified conceptual understanding of extraterritorial jurisdiction. Eugene Kontorovich (Northwestern) tackles the problems presented by Filartiga-style assertions of universal jurisdiction in American courts. Sanford Levinson (Texas) warns of the pitfalls of exporting our Constitution as a model. Jenny Martinez (Stanford) shares historical insights on territorialism. Gerald Neuman (Harvard) focuses on the interplay of personal status and geography in adjudication of transnational tort. William Reynolds (Maryland) talks about problems of governance at the new frontier of cyberspace. Louise Weinberg offers commentary on Kiobel.

See you in New York!

Hi Bubba –
As we discussed, the three potential meeting dates for the Athletics Council this academic year (based on the GAA board meeting schedule) are October 18 (fall break)
January 17
April 11
I believe you said you would be absent on October 18. When I was inputting the other two dates into my calendar, I noticed that January 17 is during the period that the NCAA is scheduling its governance discussion during its annual meeting (Jan. 16-17). The meeting itself is Jan. 15-18 in San Diego. Last time we met, we both said we would try to attend the governance discussion.
So, April 11 looks like the best date to meet for 2013-14.
Thanks,
Lissa

Lissa,
I am working on several projects right now involving athlete agents. One such project involves working with the ULC to help redraft the Uniform Athlete Agent Act (UAAA). Based on a lot of practical experience in this area here at UNC, I have formed some strong opinions on what needs to be included in the drafting process. I wanted to see if you had a moment sometime in the next week or two to discuss this endeavor with me. I would welcome your opinion and perspective. Do you have any availability?
Thanks very much in advance,

What do you think about asking Michelle if you could nominate her for CAP? The downside would be the time it takes away from our ASPSA to perform the CAP functions, but it would be good to have her as part of the CAP conversation. If Jack is still consulting with CAP, that also might be a reason the ACC may not select her. I just looked at the July 2013 ASPSA report and Jack attended that meeting.
Take care,
Lissa

All

Please see below for a new committee solicitation from the NCAA. Please note that this nomination will replace an ACC representative on this committee in the middle of her term. Further, the committee's preference is that the successful candidate have academic advisement/support experience. I have attached the nomination form that must be completed by the athletics director for a staff member to be considered for nomination. Please complete and return that form to Tracey Haith (thaith@theacc.org) by September 30th in order for a candidate to be considered. Thanks.

The NCAA is soliciting nominations for an immediate vacancy on the Division I Committee on Academic Performance – staff contact: Azure Davey. The appointee will replace Carrie Leger, formerly of North Carolina State University. The appointee may be from any subdivision. Committee preference: academic advisement/support experience.

Subject: Climate Change & International Law

Dear Lissa Broome,

I'm writing to remind you of a documentary film that can be used to prompt dialogue of climate change, human rights, and international law.

Sun Come Up is an Academy Award nominated film that shows the human face of climate change. The film follows the relocation of the Carteret Islanders, a small island community living off the coast of Bougainville, who are losing their land to rising seas and storm surges.

For the start of the new semester, we are offering a 20 percent discount off of the educational price until October 1st. All you need to do is enter the promo code: T8F288 when you place your order online:
http://www.suncomeup.com/film/Buy_the_DVD.html

As I'm sure you know, climate change is one of the greatest challenges of the 21st century, and it raises important questions about human rights and international law. For example, who should share the burden of responsibility for climate change? Can island communities maintain their rights to natural resources, like coral reefs, when the land no longer exists?

The film has been used as a case study at the Center for Climate Change Law at Columbia University, among other law programs. I hope you might also consider using this film to highlight these issues. Thank you very much for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Redfearn, Producer/Director

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Healthy Adolescents Needed for Research!

Researchers at UNC Chapel Hill are looking to recruit adolescent males between the ages of 15 and 18 and a caregiver to participate in a research study.

What is involved:

Each caregiver will be contacted via phone for an eligibility interview.

If eligible, each caregiver and adolescent will be invited for an approximately 4.5 hour visit at our offices in Carrboro.

During this visit, the adolescent and caregiver will complete interviews and questionnaires, as well as 3 computer-tasks: one for memory, one for recording brain waves ("EEG") while looking at pictures, and one for measuring where you look when seeing pictures.

Compensation for this visit is AT MINIMUM $60.

Study participation can also be completed in 2 shorter visits if necessary.

If you are interested in participating, or if you have any questions, please contact Stephanie Miller by replying to this email or by phone at (919)-533-9305 or (919) 445-9362.

This study was approved by the Biomedical IRB at UNC Chapel Hill (IRB# 11-1403) on 8/11/2011.

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Adult Subjects needed for Research Study

Smokers, Non-Smokers, Asthmatics, and Individuals with Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease (COPD) Needed for Research Project

The Department of Pediatrics and the Center for Environmental Medicine, Asthma, and Lung Biology at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill are conducting a research project to investigate the effects of environmental tobacco smoke on the organization of the cells lining the respiratory airways. Healthy adult subjects, both smokers and non-smokers, of both genders are invited to reply. We are particularly interested in recruiting subjects who are non-smokers but who are passively exposed to environmental tobacco smoke at home or in the workplace as well as individuals with asthma or chronic obstructive pulmonary (COPD). Individuals accepted into the study will be compensated for 1-3 clinic visits occurring over a three month period. Clinic visits will involve consultation with investigators regarding recent tobacco smoke and other environmental exposures, a non-invasive assay of nasal nitric oxide, a non-invasive sampling of the cells lining the nasal cavities, and submission of a urine sample(s). For further information contact Sally Ivins at 919-966-7157 and refer to Biomedical approval--01/04/2013 IRB Study #04-1111.

Subject: [boardadvisors] Center's Annual Newsletter and Dan K. Moore Program in Ethics -- October 4, 2013 -- Chapel Hill, NC

Friends – Our annual newsletter (in color) is available at http://www.law.unc.edu/centers/banking/ (click on 2013 condensed annual at the bottom of the page). Many thanks to Conrad Bortz for putting this together and for all of you who helped make these activities possible.
Another reminder about our program coming up on October 4 (just 3 ½ weeks away). Bob Johnson from BB&T is one of our panelists and we have just added Fenita Morris-Shepard, Litigation Counsel for LabCorp. They will join David Goldman, McDermott Will; Greg McPolin, Managing Director of Pangea3, a legal process outsourcer; and Ed Winslow for this discussion. We have a great opportunity to earn Substance Abuse credit by listening to UNC Psychology Professor and author, Barbara Fredrickson discuss her research and writing on the role of positive thinking.
Please feel free to circulate this those in your organization who may be interested.
Thanks,
Lissa

Dan K. Moore Program in Ethics

THE CHANGING MODEL OF LEGAL SERVICES DELIVERY IN THE "NEW NORMAL"

The UNC Center for School Leadership Development, Chapel Hill, N.C.
Friday, October 4, 2013, 9:30 a.m. - 3:00 p.m.
Registration Now Open

The Dan K. Moore Program in Ethics is a well-regarded continuing legal education program sponsored annually by the UNC School of Law. This important program is dedicated to the exemplary legacy of professional ethics left to us by the distinguished life and work of Dan K. Moore, the esteemed former governor of North Carolina and a 1929 graduate of the UNC School of Law.

This year's program will discuss the changing demographics of law firms and the implications for training new attorneys. We will examine the expectations of in-house counsel regarding training of their own lawyers and expectations regarding lawyers from firms representing the organization. We will also explore new methods of legal services delivery, including legal process outsourcing. The professional responsibility segment of the program will conclude with a review of issues commonly faced by business lawyers.

We are also fortunate to hear from Dr. Barbara Fredrickson, Kenan Distinguished Professor of Psychology and author of "Positivity" and "Love 2.0," on how to reduce stress and enjoy life more fully. Dr. Fredrickson's scientific contributions have influenced scholars and practitioners worldwide, in disciplines ranging from business to healthcare and beyond. Her work has been featured in the New York Times, The Economist, CNN, NPR, PBS, US News & World Report, USA Today, Oprah Magazine and elsewhere.

This program provides continuing legal education credit, including ethics and substance abuse credit, and is aimed specifically at lawyers who regularly advise corporate clients. Read more about this year's program.

Registration is Now Open. Have a question? Email us at unclawcle@unc.edu.

Subject: [FORMAL NOTICE] Administrative Review of Karen Gil, Dean, College of Arts and Sciences

MEMORANDUM

September 9, 2013

TO: Members of the UNC Chapel Hill – College of Arts and Sciences
Faculty, Staff, Students

FROM: Jim Dean, Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost

RE: Administrative Review of Karen Gil, Dean, College of Arts and Sciences

I am pleased to invite your participation in the review process on behalf of the committee appointed to review the performance of Karen Gil, Dean, College of Arts and Sciences.

This review, required by University regulations, will focus on Karen Gil's performance as Dean, College of Arts and Sciences over the past four years. The committee consists of Dean Bill McDiarmid (Chair), Bill Andrews, Valerie Ashby, Shelton Earp, Carl Ernst, Louise Toppin, Christy Lambden and Kiran Bhardwaj. As required by University regulations, this committee will review areas of accomplishment as dean with respect to long-range planning, intellectual leadership, faculty and staff recruitment, retention and promotion, curriculum and program development, entrepreneurship, and the day-to-day management of the College of Arts and Sciences. The committee invites your comment on these and related issues. It is important for the committee to have some sense of how Dean Gil is viewed by her peers at UNC-Chapel Hill as a colleague and citizen of the University Community.

We encourage you to contribute to this review in the following different ways:

The committee has scheduled an open session to receive comments on the following date:

September 27 – 9:00-11:00 – Room 212 Peabody Hall
October 1 – 3:00-5:00 – Room 212 Peabody Hall

If you wish to meet with the committee, please contact Debbie Stevenson in the Office of the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost (debbie_stevenson@unc.edu or 962-7882), not later than September 23rd and she will schedule a specific time (usually about 10-15 minutes) within that time period. Note that while all comments during these sessions will be kept strictly confidential, a master list of attendees will be kept as part of Dean Gil's personnel file.

2. You may contribute to this review by providing written comments to the Chair. The review committee will treat your comments as strictly confidential. However, by law, all written communication, whether on paper or by email, becomes a confidential part of Dean Gil's personnel file and as such, is open to examination by her. Oral communication (by telephone or in person) and the committee's notes generated from these conversations do not become part of Dean Gil's personnel file. If you wish to provide oral comments, please contact the Chair or any member of the committee. University regulations prohibit consideration of anonymous letters in the review process.

All written comments should be sent to: Dean Bill McDiarmid, c/o Debbie Stevenson, 104 South Building, CB # 3000, or by emailing debbie_stevenson@unc.edu.

3. You may telephone or meet privately in person with committee members. Oral communications (by telephone or in person) and the committee's notes generated from these conversations do not become part of Dean Gil's personnel file but may be reflected in the committee's report without identifiers.

The deadline for receiving written comments is October 7, 2013.

Thank you very much for your help in this important task.

This message is sponsored by: Office of the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost

Subject: INFORMATIONAL MESSAGE FROM ALERT CAROLINA: Alert Carolina Siren Test – Tuesday, September 17

Dear Students, Faculty and Staff:

The University will TEST the emergency sirens and text messages on Tuesday, September 17, between noon and 1 p. m. We test the sirens each semester to make sure the equipment works.

During the test, anyone outside on or near campus likely will hear the sirens. (The sirens are not designed to be heard inside or while you are in a vehicle.) The sirens will sound an alert tone along with a brief pre-recorded voice message. When testing is complete, a different siren tone and voice message will signal "All clear. Resume regular activities."

The sirens sound only for a major emergency or an immediate safety or health threat such as:

- An armed and dangerous person on or near campus;
- A major chemical spill or hazard;
- A tornado warning for the Chapel Hill-Carrboro area issued by the National Weather Service; or
- A different emergency, as determined by the Department of Public Safety.

The University also sends a text message to cell phone users who registered their numbers in the online campus directory. In an emergency, the University will post safety-related announcements on the Alert Carolina website, alertcarolina.unc.edu, along with updates.

No action is required during the siren test. But we hope you have taken the time to review the poster, "What You Should Do For An Emergency Warning," posted in all campus classrooms and accessible online, http://www.alert.unc.edu/external/content/document/1395/1255639/1/AlertClassroomPoster.pdf.

The sirens are part of the University's Emergency Notification System and a communications strategy that uses multiple ways to reach students, faculty and staff, as well as visitors, local residents, parents and the public. To support that system, we launched Emergency Notification Protocols that inform the campus community using three types of notifications – Emergency Warning (sirens), Timely Warning and Informational Message.

In a real emergency, we strongly encourage students and employees to use the American Red Cross Safe and Well List to let their parents and families know they are okay in the while keeping cell phone lines open for emergency calls. The Safe and Well list is especially helpful in communicating with family members who are outside the emergency area.

You may also now access a mobile-friendly version of the Alert Carolina website during an emergency at http://m.alertcarolina.unc.edu/

About Informational Messages: The University sends an Informational Message to inform the campus community about a situation that is not an emergency, but is expected to be of significant interest to the campus. An Informational Message is one of three tiers of communication under the University's revised emergency communications plan. Emergency Warning refers to a siren activation for a significant emergency. And a Timely Warning is issued if there is a continuing danger AND notification will not compromise law enforcement efforts.Sponsored by the UNC Department of Public Safety.

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Recruiting adult women with diarrhea predominant irritable bowel syndrome for research study

We are looking for adult women with a specific type of irritable bowel syndrome (IBS) to join a research study assessing a potential new medication for IBS.

The RESTORE 5 Study will last for up to 8 weeks and involve about 5 clinic visits.

You may be able to take part in the RESTORE 5 Study if you:

• Are a woman 18 - 65 years of age
• Have had symptoms of IBS (including abdominal pain/discomfort and diarrhea) for at least 6 months
• Have loose or watery stools > 25% of the time and hard or lumpy stools < 25% of the time.

To participate in this trial, you must NOT:
• Have been diagnosed with:
  a. Crohn's disease
  b. Ulcerative colitis
  c. Diabetes mellitus
  d. Lactose malabsorption
  e. Malabsorption syndromes
  f. Celiac sprue
• Be pregnant or planning to become pregnant

Qualified participants will receive study-related care including comprehensive physical exam and investigational study drug at no cost. Monetary compensation for study visits will be provided.

If you would like to hear more about the study, please check out http://ibsstudy.com or contact the UNC research team:

Subject: [FORMAL NOTICE] Administrative Review of Bob Blouin, Dean School of Pharmacy

MEMORANDUM

September 9, 2013

TO: Members and Associates of the UNC Chapel Hill – School of Pharmacy
Faculty, Staff, Students

FROM: Jim Dean
Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost

RE: Administrative Review of Bob Blouin, Dean School of Pharmacy

I am pleased to invite your participation in the review process on behalf of the committee appointed to review the performance of Bob Blouin as Dean of the School of Pharmacy.

This review, required by University regulations, will focus on Bob Blouin's performance as Dean of the School of Pharmacy over the past five years. The committee consists of Dean Steve Matson (Chair), Bruce Cairns, Greg Copenhaver, Hal Kohn, Mary Roth McClurg, Victor Schoenbach, Carla White and Jackie Zeeman. As required by University regulations, this committee will review areas of accomplishment as dean with respect to long-range planning, intellectual leadership, faculty and staff recruitment, retention and promotion, curriculum and program development, entrepreneurship, and the day-to-day management of the School of Pharmacy. The committee invites your comment on these and related issues. It is also important for the committee to have some sense of how Dr. Blouin is viewed by his peers at UNC-Chapel Hill as a colleague and citizen of the University Community.

We encourage you to contribute to this review in any of the following different ways:

Meet with the committee, in confidence, at the information-gathering session on the following date:

September 16 – 3:00-5:00 – 1001 Michael Hooker Research Center

If you wish to meet with the committee, please contact Debbie Stevenson in the Office of the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost (debbie_stevenson@unc.edu or 962-7882), not later than noon on September 13 and she will schedule a specific time (usually about 10-15 minutes) within that time period. Note that while all comments during these sessions will be kept strictly confidential, a master list of attendees will be kept as part of Dr. Blouin's personnel file.

Alternatively, you may contribute to this review by providing written comments to the Chair. The review committee will treat your comments as strictly confidential. However, by law, all written communication, whether on paper or by email, becomes a confidential part of Dr. Blouin's personnel file and as such, is open to examination by him. University regulations prohibit consideration of anonymous letters in the review process.

All written comments should be sent to: Dean Steve Matson c/o Debbie Stevenson, 104 South Building, CB # 3000, or by emailing debbie_stevenson@unc.edu.

You may also telephone or meet privately in person with any committee member. Oral communications (by telephone or in person) and the committee's notes generated from these conversations do not become part of Dr. Blouin's personnel file but may be reflected in the committee's report without identifiers.

The deadline for receiving written comments is October 7, 2013.

Thank you very much for your help in this important task.

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Peri-Implantitis Study (Inflammation around implants)

Do you want to participate in a Dental Implant Study?

A research study that will evaluate the effect of a locally delivered antibiotic around dental implant(s) is looking for volunteers.

The study will last 6 months and require 3-4 study visits. Participants may receive up to $150 for study completion.

You may be eligible to participate in this research study if you:

- Have a minimum of one implant with inflammation and bone loss around the implant. Bone loss will be confirmed by a dental examiner with an oral examination and the use of a recent (6 months or less) x-ray. If a recent x-ray is not available, an x-ray will be taken at the Screening visit
- At least 21 years of age and in good general health

You will not be eligible to participate in this research study if you:

- Have a loose dental implant
- Are allergic to a tetracycline or minocycline
- Require antibiotics prior to dental procedures
- Have any active infectious disease such as hepatitis, HIV, or tuberculosis
- Have an unstable disease or condition
- Are undergoing treatment or have a condition or disease that affects healing
- Are taking any antibiotics
- Take chronic (defined as more than 13 days or longer) non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs such as Ibuprofen or if you take >81 mg of Aspirin daily
- Use systemically administered steroids
- Have taken any investigational drug within 30 days of enrolling in this study or have participated in a dental clinical trial within 30 days of enrollment
- Have untreated advanced gum disease
- You or your partner are pregnant, nursing, or planning to become pregnant in the next 6 months

To learn how you can be in this study, please call The GO Health Center at 919-537-3424 or visit our website at http://www.gohealthcenter.com/ to become part of our participant registry.

Hi Lissa,
As I went through the SOG's policies, it didn't seem to address the issue as directly as I thought I remembered. They don't have two tracks, but instead have different fora in which they publish (ie, not just law journals.) I think there is still some helpful ideas in here, and I have tried to highlight them as appropriate. I put them in your box.

Subject: [FORMAL NOTICE] Accuracy and Privacy of Your Information in the Online Campus Directory

This is a request that you check your information in the online campus directory to ensure that it is current and accurate. This request is sent to you following census in the fall and spring semesters.

It is very important that your information is correct in the online campus directory (http://directory.unc.edu) which is part of ConnectCarolina, the University's integrated administrative system. Because ConnectCarolina centralizes management of person information in one integrated system, any information in the directory is duplicated in all of the University's administrative systems (e.g., payroll).

You can also determine which information about you is visible in the online campus directory by changing your privacy settings (see instructions below).

To review and update your directory information, please go to http://www.unc.edu/myunc/, click on Update Personal Information (upper left of screen under Account Information) and login using your Onyen and password. You can also choose whether certain information is publicly viewable in the directory.

Your home and business addresses are explained below:

Home address: This is your "permanent" address; as such, your home address is the address where your tax forms (W-2, 1098T, etc.) will be sent. You can designate this address as private or public.

Business address: This is your University work address and, by virtue of University policy, is viewable by all. You can update your business address but you cannot delete it.

Privacy
You can change whether your home address and/or your home phone appears in the directory (i.e., is public) or not by going to http://www.unc.edu/myunc/ and clicking Update Personal Information.

If you need help using the online campus directory, please contact the Help Desk at (919) 962-HELP (962-4357).

Your time and effort is appreciated.

I also may go, depending on what the flights look like -- we are coming in from Bali, but have to connect through NYC anyway, so I was planning to go if I can make the flights work. If John knows he is going then maybe we should submit and I should know in a few weeks whether I can do it as well. Faith also asked me to comment on a paper for that panel, so I told her I'd get back to her pending our decision of whether to submit (presumably she doesn't want me as a commenter if we have a paper selected). On the meetings, I am in LA this semester, rather than NC (can't remember whether i told you guys that -- thought I did, but then I think a lot of erroneous things these days). So the Wed times are not going to work for me unless they are very late in the afternoon your time (4:30 or later EST). I could do 9/27, but I am giving a lunch workshop that day and will carpool into the office, so I'm not sure of the times that will work yet. Tuesdays and Thursdays are better for me, as I don't teach those days. Any chance that there is a T/H that would work?

Hi Kim & John –
See the attachment regarding the AALS program. Are we interested. I will likely be on family vacation during that time period, so if we are interested, I would probably not be able to participate personally.
I think it would be a good idea to schedule a meeting to see where we are on the book. I have been working on it some, but not as much as I anticipated. If we get a meeting on the books, then maybe that will spur me to finish what I am doing on Chapter 8 and share it with you. I have been going through the NVIVO nodes that relate to Chapter 8 and adding in a bunch of quotes that we haven't used before. Before I do the same work for Chapters 7 and 9, I'd love to get your opinion of Chapter 8 and whether I've struck the right balance with quotes and text.
From John's teaching schedule, it looks like Wednesdays or Fridays would be the best days for meetings. Those are good days for me too, except on Wednesday, I'm not available from 1-2 when I teach.
Let me know if we could meet for 60-90 minutes during any of the periods I've listed below:
Wed., Sept. 11 9-12
Wed., Sept. 18 9-12
Friday, Sept. 20 11:30 – 6:00
Wed., Sept. 25 9-12
Friday, Sept. 27 10-1:30, 3:00-6:00
Wed., Oct. 2 3-5
Thanks.
Take care,

Subject: Social Media Marketing

Hi Jackie and Allison – Can we meet early next week to talk about how we can use social media to market our cle programs (in general) and the ones I am most interested in (see below)?
Dan K. Moore Program in Ethics (Oct. 4)
Consumer Law and Consumer Credit Symposium at the Festival
ABCs of Banking Law April 2
Banking Institute April 3-4
Director Diversity Initiative and Broadening Corporate Board Diversity program
One of Center's board members raved about the School of Government's use of Twitter to promote programs.
Linked In is now used by most professionals, how can we exploit it and its groups?
I'm also interested in a Linked In group that Banking Journal students, Journal alums, and members of our Board of Advisors could join
We have a Director Diversity Group on Linked In, but I don't think I've ever done anything with it
I know I sat down with Allison and discussed these same subject shortly after she joined us, but I've done nothing with them since then. I think I need to take advantage of these 21st Century tools.
Next week, Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday mornings are all clear for me. Let me know if we have some common time.
Thanks,
Lissa

I also may go, depending on what the flights look like -- we are coming in from Bali, but have to connect through NYC anyway, so I was planning to go if I can make the flights work. If John knows he is going then maybe we should submit and I should know in a few weeks whether I can do it as well. Faith also asked me to comment on a paper for that panel, so I told her I'd get back to her pending our decision of whether to submit (presumably she doesn't want me as a commenter if we have a paper selected). On the meetings, I am in LA this semester, rather than NC (can't remember whether i told you guys that -- thought I did, but then I think a lot of erroneous things these days). So the Wed times are not going to work for me unless they are very late in the afternoon your time (4:30 or later EST). I could do 9/27, but I am giving a lunch workshop that day and will carpool into the office, so I'm not sure of the times that will work yet. Tuesdays and Thursdays are better for me, as I don't teach those days. Any chance that there is a T/H that would work?

Hi Kim & John --
See the attachment regarding the AALS program. Are we interested. I will likely be on family vacation during that time period, so if we are interested, I would probably not be able to participate personally.
I think it would be a good idea to schedule a meeting to see where we are on the book. I have been working on it some, but not as much as I anticipated. If we get a meeting on the books, then maybe that will spur me to finish what I am doing on Chapter 8 and share it with you. I have been going through the NVIVO nodes that relate to Chapter 8 and adding in a bunch of quotes that we haven't used before. Before I do the same work for Chapters 7 and 9, I'd love to get your opinion of Chapter 8 and whether I've struck the right balance with quotes and text.
From John's teaching schedule, it looks like Wednesdays or Fridays would be the best days for meetings. Those are good days for me too, except on Wednesday, I'm not available from 1-2 when I teach.
Let me know if we could meet for 60-90 minutes during any of the periods I've listed below:
Wed., Sept. 11 9-12
Wed., Sept. 18 9-12
Friday, Sept. 20 11:30 -- 6:00
Wed., Sept. 25 9-12
Friday, Sept. 27 10-1:30, 3:00-6:00
Wed., Oct. 2 3-5
Thanks.
Take care,

Lissa

Hi, Everyone

Attached please find a Call for Papers in which some of you may be interested. The subject of the Call for Papers is "the radical expansion in regulatory efforts to promote demographic diversity on corporate boards." It comes from Faith Stevelman at New York Law School, who has been instrumental in the formation of the new AALS Section on Economic Globalization and Governance.

All the best,

Subject: [Lawclinic] Webinar on Flipping the Law School Classroom

Hi everyone,
This fall, LegalED is hosting a series of webinars for law professors on flipped learning and legal education. The first is devoted to the topic "what is flipped learning?" If you are interested in learning more about flipping the law school classroom, please consider joining us for the first session, Friday, September 27 from 2-3 EST. A flyer with additional information is attached. And even if you can't make the session, in the spirit of our project, we produced two videos about flipped learning in legal education, they are available here.
As you know, over the last few months we have been working on developing LegalED, a website to host teaching resources for legal education, including short video clips (on substantive law, procedural law, and practical tips), exercises, problem sets and assessment tools, in addition to a series of videos for law professors on teaching pedagogy. The aim is that the law-related videos will be used by the community as a way to supplement in-class teaching and perhaps move some of the material that is delivered via in-class lectures to video, so that students can watch them outside of class and then classtime can be used for more active, problem-based learning.
This form of teaching, known as flipped or blended learning, blends online and in-class activities and is being used in many different educational settings. We see flipped learning as a way to bring additional training in practical lawyering skills and professional values into each course; by freeing up classtime that would otherwise be filled with lecture, we can bring more active learning into each course. It is also a way to bring new perspectives into a course, by assigning videos produced by other professors we can share new perspectives with our students.
We always welcome feedback and suggestions, so please feel free to send us any comments you have on the videos or any other aspect of the project.
Finally, we are always looking for content for the site, so if you have any exercises, problem sets or assessment tools that you'd like to share with the community, please send them our way.
Questions? Please feel free to reach out to any of us.

LEGAL COMMUNITY

Results In, Ceremonies Set | The N.C. Board of Law Examiners has posted a list of successful July 2013 bar exam applicants who have met all requirements for licensure. Swearing-in ceremonies are set for Buncombe County (Sept. 27), Cumberland County (Sept. 17), Greensboro (Oct. 11), Mecklenburg County (Sept. 26), Pitt County (Sept. 12), Wake County (Sept. 23) and Forsyth County (Sept. 20). The NCBA's Professionalism for New Admittees CLE program, which fulfills the State Bar's mandatory 12-hour requirement for new attorneys, will be held Oct. 22-23 at the N.C. Bar Center.

Arrowood Featured | NCBA President-Elect Catharine Arrowood of Raleigh made the cover of the latest edition of Walter magazine in conjunction with a feature on the North Carolina Symphony. Arrowood serves as board chair of N.C. Symphony Society, Inc.

Cruise News | Magic Happens Travel & Cruises has an exciting lineup of CLE travel programs and promotions for NCBA members in 2014. Sail to Alaska July 25-Aug. 1 and Pick Your Perk if you deposit by Oct. 4, 2013. The Danube River Cruise (three nights in Prague followed by a seven-night cruise to Budapest) is scheduled July 20-30; save $250 if you book before Sept. 17, 2013. Call Michael or Marcie at 919-678-9800 or email travel@magichappens.com to book either of these 2014 NCBA CLE travel programs.

In Memoriam | Gibson Locke Smith Jr. of Charlotte died Sept. 6 at the age of 72. He was a partner at Robinson Bradshaw & Hinson where he practiced for 35 years, and an original member of the NCBA's Real Property Section Council. David Roland Minges of Raleigh died Aug. 5. Prior to entering private practice, he worked in the Office of the N.C. Attorney General.

IN THE OFFICE

Law Practice Matters | Social media for lawyers remains a hot topic, from Ernie the Attorney's argument against the risk-avoidance-above-all strategy of social media non-participation to advice from Allison Shields on avoiding ethics issues on LinkedIn. Access the link for this and more from Erik Mazzone, director of the NCBA's Center for Practice Management.

Law Practice Transitions | Hear nationally known keynote speaker Jay Foonberg address how to navigate critical practice transitions on Friday, Sept. 19, at the Bar Center. Lawyers of all ages need to think about the inevitable points of transitions in life and career that often intersect and affect their practice. Winding Up/Winding Down examines these aspects from partnership terms to financial and tangible planning all the way through to the psychology. This program delivers 6 hours of CLE including 1 hour of substance abuse/mental health.

ACROSS THE PROFESSION

Bankruptcy Judges Appointed | Benjamin Kahn and Lena James have been appointed federal bankruptcy judges for the Middle District of North Carolina. James succeeds Judge Thomas Waldrep in Winston-Salem while Kahn succeeds Judge William Stocks in Greensboro. Judges Kahn and James, as well as their predecessors, are members of the NCBA and its Bankruptcy Section.

District Court Judge | NCBA member Lee Teague of Greenville has been appointed to the District Court bench in District 3A (Pitt County). Teague previously served 10 years as an assistant district attorney and as a partner with Horne, Horne & Teague.

Dream Job Through Pro Bono | Lesley Rosenthal serves as vice president, general counsel and secretary of the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts. She found her dream job through pro bono service on other nonprofit boards. Regardless of whether you're searching for your dream job or simply looking for a rewarding experience that will enrich your career, the NCBA has numerous opportunities to serve.

National Firm Opens Raleigh Office | San Francisco-based Gordon & Rees has opened its first North Carolina office in Raleigh. The firm has more than 525 lawyers and 29 offices in 19 states. NCBA member Thomas Packer will serve as managing attorney.

Hi Bubba –
As we discussed, the three potential meeting dates for the Athletics Council this academic year (based on the GAA board meeting schedule) are October 18 (fall break)
January 17
April 11
I believe you said you would be absent on October 18. When I was inputting the other two dates into my calendar, I noticed that January 17 is during the period that the NCAA is scheduling its governance discussion during its annual meeting (Jan. 16-17). The meeting itself is Jan. 15-18 in San Diego. Last time we met, we both said we would try to attend the governance discussion.
So, April 11 looks like the best date to meet for 2013-14.
Thanks,
Lissa

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Do you have overactive bladder or urge urinary incontinence?

Overactive bladder (OAB) and urge urinary incontinence (UUI) are common problems that affect more than 38 million Americans. These conditions can interfere with a wide range of daily activities, since they can cause urinary urgency, frequency, and urge-related leakage.

Dr. Jennifer Wu and Dr. Elizabeth Geller at UNC Pelvic Health are conducting 1-month long research studies that will help your overactive bladder or urge incontinence by using common FDA-approved treatment drugs. These trials will provide personal, quality care from highly trained research specialists.

You may qualify for a trial if you:
-Are a woman over 65 years of age
-Have been diagnosed with overactive bladder or urge incontinence
-Are interested in trying medication for these conditions

All medication given in this study will be free, and some compensation will be provided.

For more information about the trials, please call 919-843-8259 or email uncpelvichealth@med.unc.edu.

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Seasonal Influenza Clinics for Students and Employees

Dear Faculty, Staff, and Students:

The annual seasonal influenza clinics for students and employees begin on September 17, 2013. We encourage everyone to receive a flu vaccination. You can register now for an appointment or find a walk-in clinic near you by going to http://flu.unc.edu

In addition to the campus wide flu clinics listed below, the University Employee Occupational Health Clinic (UEOHC) is offering walk-in flu clinic located at 145 N. Medical Drive. Walk-in clinics are being held Monday, Wednesday, Friday from 9:00 – 12:00 and 1:00 – 3:00 starting September 16, 2013 to University employees (including the School of Medicine) who are part of the University's Immunization Review Program.

School of Medicine employees who cannot make it to the UEOHC on a walk-in flu clinic day may also make an appointment to receive the influenza vaccine any clinic day of the week by using the online appointment schedule at https://itsapps.unc.edu/UEOHC and selecting "Immunization Review-New" from the drop down menu.

Please note that this year's clinics have a new start and end time: 9:00 am to 4:00 pm, except for the Family Flu Clinic, which is 9:00 am to 3:00 pm.

Employees without Internet access should ask their supervisor or administrative assistant for help in making an appointment or consider visiting one of the seven walk-in clinics, also listed at http://flu.unc.edu/#schedule

September 17, Medical Biomolecular Research Building, Second Floor Lobby (By Appointment)
September 18, Frank Porter Graham Student Union, West Lounge (Walk-in) September 19, Murray/Venable Hall, Second Floor Lobby, 2201 (Walk-In)

September 24, Michael Hooker Research Center, Lower Level Atrium (By Appointment)

Influenza (the flu) is a contagious respiratory illness caused by influenza viruses. It can cause mild to severe illness, and at times can lead to death. The best way to prevent the flu is by getting vaccinated each year.

Because of parking and staff limitations, on-campus clinics are for University students, faculty and staff only.

A Family Flu Clinic is scheduled for Oct. 12 at the UNC Center for Rehabilitation Care, which is now in the old Borders Book Store across from Lowes Home Improvement at 15/501 and Sage Road. This clinic is for family members (children 4 years and older), retirees, volunteers and others who do not qualify as employees or students. The hours are 9:00 am to 3:00 pm.

Additional local clinics can be found by going to "Find a Flu Clinic" on the website of the American Lung Association, http://www.lungusa.org/lung-disease/influenza/flu-vaccine-finder. This year many local and area pharmacies are offering flu vaccinations in cooperation with the State Health Plan (SHP), thus, there is no out-of-pocket expense for those insured by SHP or Blue Cross Blue Shield. Please check with your preferred pharmacy to see if it is part of this new program.

At University clinics, there is no charge for employees on the State Health Plan or for students and employees who are insured through Blue Cross Blue Shield, Partners, Aetna, Humana Gold, SummaCare, Advantra Freedom, and Medicare Part B, but you must bring your health plan card and your UNC One Card ID to the clinic. Employees and students not on the listed plans can also get a flu vaccination by paying $25. After receiving the vaccination, you will receive a form that can be filed with your health insurer. Please be sure to contact your health insurer to see if you can obtain reimbursement.

The 2013/14 seasonal flu vaccine protects against three influenza viruses that research indicates will be most common during the 2013/14 season.
http://www.cdc.gov/flu/about/season/upcoming.htm

About two weeks after vaccination, antibodies that provide protection against influenza virus infection develop in the body.

Sincerely,

Mary Beth Koza, Director, Environment, Health and Safety and Mary Covington, MD, Executive Director, Campus Health Services

Just a reminder that we'll be having our faculty meeting tomorrow at 4:15pm, in the Boardroom. Also, we'll have a reception in the rotunda after the meeting. The adjunct faculty are coming to the reception, so it would be great if we have a good turnout from the full-time faculty.

Finally, the call in number is: 919-962-2738.

Thanks.

Dear Colleagues,
Attached are the faculty meeting agenda and related documents for Thursday, September 12 at 4:15. The agenda is also pasted below.
I will send the call-in number along with a reminder later in the week.

We will have a faculty reception after the meeting (approximately at 5:30) in the Rotunda and the adjacent courtyard. All of our adjunct faculty have been invited, so it would be much appreciated if you were able to attend.
Thanks.

Study of Work Team Productivity
Location: McColl 4402/4404
Duration: 75 minutes
Pay: $20
IRB # 12-2224

Title: Study of Work Team Productivity

The purpose of this research study is to evaluate the productivity of small work teams on a sequential interdependent assembly task. You will be assigned to teams of 3 to 4 persons. Each team will work to assemble as many miniature vehicles as possible during two 15-minute production runs.

This study will take place in the Kenan-Flagler Behavioral Lab for approximately 60 to 75 minutes.

Because this is a team study, it is possible that if some participants do not show up, we will be unable to run the experiment. In such cases, it may be possible that we can provide an alternative study at the same rate of pay ($15 per hour).

Exclusions: The minimum age for participation is 18 years old. You may not participate if you were enrolled in BUSI405 in Spring 2013.

Parking: The Kenan-Flagler Parking deck should be open for free parking after 4pm, unless otherwise posted in the deck.

Location: This study will take place in McColl 4402/4404.

D. Missed Classes

The maximum number of classes student-athletes can miss, due to athletic related activities, is seven (7) per semester, unless an exception is granted.

E. Exam Travel Statement

No student-athlete will be excused from, or reschedule, a final exam to accommodate an in-season athletic contest. Therefore, an athletic contest, or travel, may not commence prior to the participating student-athlete completing final exams as scheduled by The University of North Carolina. Exams during ACC and NCAA Championship competition may be rescheduled as appropriate.

F. Travel Outside the Continental U.S.

Any travel outside the Continental U.S. must be discussed with the sport supervisor and the proper request form (Appendix bb) submitted. This form will be forwarded to the Athletics Director for discussion and approval.

G. Home Contest Change

Should it become necessary to change the date, time or venue of a previously scheduled Olympic sport home contest, it is imperative that the head coach follow these procedures as soon as the change is considered:

1. Obtain approval from the primary sport supervisor

2. Obtain approval from the facility scheduler

3. Notify your sports information liaison
4. Notify your administrative assistant
5. Either the head coach or administrative assistant should notify the following people:

    a. ACC Office, if an ACC sport
    b. Officials or booking agent

The primary sport administrator will notify the Compliance designee, who will send an email to all pertinent people, including Game Operations, Marketing and Promotions, and Ticket Office.

a. Athletic Director's office
b. Receptionists in Carmichael and the Ernie Williamson Athletic Center

H. Official Game Schedule

The Athletic Communications Office will maintain the official game schedule for each sport. No one should provide a schedule to anyone that is different from the one Athletic Communications has. Any game time or date change that is approved by the sport administrator is forwarded to the Compliance designee and will be immediately sent to pertinent people, including Athletic Communications. Administrative offices, coaches, administrative assistants, etc. can forward this schedule to interested people after receiving it from Compliance.

Lissa,
Thanks for all your input throughout the process of developing APR plans for several of our teams. Michelle and I spoke yesterday and we believe the dialogue with the coaches was very productive. I am making a few final edits to the plans and should be done shortly. If you'd like to read through them one more time before I send them out, please just let me now. We are very appreciative of all the time you've spent on these. I know it's been a tedious process but I wanted to be sure that everyone was comfortable with the final product. I look forward to sending them out to the coaches soon.
Thanks again,
Paul

Subject: Faculty survey: Comments from Dean's Advisory Committee

As I mentioned, Jack wanted to run the faculty survey by the Dean's Advisory Committee prior to finalizing it. (The University survey folks have already begun to input it, but it's not done yet.) I'm attaching a new file with some comments that came out of yesterday's meeting. The biggest change is the rephrasing of the T&P question to focus on the process used last year to revise our policy, rather than on how the policy works. Given that the new policy is not official yet, nor is it clear who will be covered, it just got too confusing to try to phrase a question about the process itself. But we can (and probably should) ask about last year's revision process. Thoughts?

We can't finalize this version until the faculty votes to accept the two new exchange programs at Thursday's meeting, but I wanted to tee this up so we can get started on the changes ASAP.

Thanks,
Joan

Subject: [law_faculty] change in exam software

Hello everyone,

John Kasprzak encouraged me to send out a quick note to inform you that after considerable thought and a thorough evaluation which we conducted over the summer, we (Dean Myers, Dean Kasprzak and myself) decided to move from Electronic Bluebook (EBB) back to ExamSoft to administer all law school exams. As many of you likely heard last year, we had more issues than normal with EBB during several exams in the fall and the spring, and while we never lost an exam, we did have to manually recover partial exams on a number of occasions. As you can imagine, this is incredibly stressful to the students who had to suffer through the experience. Many other students had trouble with the automatic upload process. Other EBB customers, including Duke Law and Notre Dame, faced similar frustrations starting last year.

ExamSoft is the leading provider of secure exam software, used by 42 state bars, including North Carolina, and over 150 law schools. They now support Mac laptops as well as PCs, and their administrative tools that IT & FAS must use to manage the exam process have improved by leaps and bounds since we last used their product in 2009.

NOTE: You will still be able to get printed or electronic copies of your exams in a timely manner, and you need not alter your current habits as far as exam prep. Of course, if you'd like to use ExamSoft for multiple choice exams instead of bubble sheets, or for take home exams, let's talk!

Students will be receiving instructions on where and when to download the ExamSoft client software (SofTest) by the end of September, and we'll be using it for all 1L practice exams in early October.

Regards,
Doug

Subject: [ctc] Reminder -- Annual IT Awards Nominations are Open

Let your IT support staff know you appreciate what they do … nominate an individual or team for an IT Award!

Nominations for the Annual IT Awards are open! Links and information on the Individual\Team Nominations are available on the http://itawards.unc.edu website and are due by Friday September 27th.
We invite you to recognize someone who has given you outstanding technical support by nominating an individual or team for an Information Technology Award. This award honors any type of information technology support on campus, from staff (permanent employee) who provide computing support, write code, or administer a network, to teams working together to provide specific technology services for a department or the University.

A nomination is an excellent way to let your IT support staff know you appreciate what they do. Please provide specific information that will tell this year's committee how the nominee or team stands out.

Winners will be announced at the Annual Carolina Technology Consultants (CTC) Retreat on Thursday October 17, 2013.
Thanks!

Subject: Faculty survey: Comments from Dean's Advisory Committee

As I mentioned, Jack wanted to run the faculty survey by the Dean's Advisory Committee prior to finalizing it. (The University survey folks have already begun to input it, but it's not done yet.) I'm attaching a new file with some comments that came out of yesterday's meeting. The biggest change is the rephrasing of the T&P question to focus on the process used last year to revise our policy, rather than on how the policy works. Given that the new policy is not official yet, nor is it clear who will be covered, it just got too confusing to try to phrase a question about the process itself. But we can (and probably should) ask about last year's revision process. Thoughts?
We can't finalize this version until the faculty votes to accept the two new exchange programs at Thursday's meeting, but I wanted to tee this up so we can get started on the changes ASAP.
Thanks,
Joan

On September 23rd, the NCAA will be hosting a summit in Indianapolis to address Val Ackerman's most recent White Paper assessment of NCAA Women's Basketball. I have been invited to attend this in-person summit. Therefore, in order for me to accurately represent the opinions of our ACC women's basketball head coaches, please take a few minutes to follow the link below and complete the simple survey that will capture your stance on priority topics identified in the White Paper. The questions in this survey address every element Val noted about potential changes to the regular season, post-season, rules of the game/officiating, and the business of the game.

DEADLINE to complete survey: Thursday, September 19th

The data collected from this survey will help us formulate a response to the NCAA regarding the White Paper. I welcome your feedback and any additional questions or suggestions you have.

Thank you and please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions.

Our Distinguished Speakers:

- Mark Hall, Wake Forest University
- Allison K. Hoffman, UCLA School of Law
- Aaron S. Kesselheim, Harvard Medical School
- Anne Drapkin Lyerly, UNC School of Medicine
- Kristin M. Madison, Northeastern University School of Law
- Michelle M. Mello, Harvard School of Public Health
- David Orentlicher, Indiana University Robert H. McKinney School of Law
- Frank A. Pasquale, University of Maryland Francis King Carey School of Law
- Lois Shepherd, University of Virginia Health System
- Peter Ubel, Duke University

The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act includes many reform initiatives aimed at improving health care decision-making, such as: encouraging the formation of integrated delivery systems that share information and coordinate care; fostering the development of shared decision-making between providers and patients; developing a more comprehensive evidence base through comparative effectiveness research; and creating insurance exchanges where patients as consumers can choose between plans offering standardized benefits and compared in standardized formats. But there are also reasons for concern that, in the new era of health care reform, decision-making will become all the more complex and daunting. This symposium will consider both the promise and limitations of recent reform efforts, highlighting the important issues that are likely to emerge as the health care system tries to improve decision-making on many levels, as well as considering the larger implications for health law and policy.

Friends – When Chancellor Folt and I met today she asked me to work with her assistant, Anna Medley, to schedule a one-hour meeting following the ACC Presidents' Council meeting (this week) and the AD, SWA, FAR meeting (in October) to discuss our institutional input into the NCAA governance reform discussion. You probably received an email from the NCAA asking for individual and/or institutional suggestions by November 15.
Anna has scheduled the meeting for Tuesday, October 29 from 2-3 at the Chancellor's Office.
Chancellor Folt mentioned including Provost Dean in this meeting. Jim, you are welcome to attend, but you might also be able to beg off if you decide that this is not an efficient use of your time.

Description:

Mr. Cammarn will be guest teaching Lissa Broome's Banking Law class on October 2nd, 2013. Scott Cammarn has 25 years of experience in the banking industry and his legal career has spanned all areas of banking compliance and finance law. His practice focuses on regulatory matters, mergers & acquisitions, legislation and lobbying, transactions, and training. He represents a number of national and international financial institutions, and has practiced before the Federal Reserve, the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, and numerous state banking departments.
Prior to joining the Firm, he was the Bank Regulatory Counsel for Ally Financial (formerly, GMAC Financial Services) where he advised on bank regulatory issues including transactional, examination, compliance, and legislative matters.
Before joining Ally Financial, Scott was the Senior Vice President and General Counsel of LendingTree and served as the Corporate Secretary. At LendingTree, he was responsible for all legal and compliance matters. Prior to joining LendingTree, he served in various legal capacities over his 11 years at Bank of America, including Associate General Counsel, bank regulatory, global marketing and global corporate affairs.
Scott has been selected to The Best Lawyers in America as one of the nation's leading lawyers in Banking and Finance Law as well as in Financial Services Regulation Law. He was also twice named Lawyer of the Year by The Best Lawyers in America, for Banking and Finance Law and for Financial Services Regulation Law, in Charlotte, North Carolina, a recognition given to only a single lawyer per practice and metropolitan area. Scott has also been an adjunct professor at Duke University School of Law, teaching the U.S. Banking Regulation course. Currently, he is a member of the ABA Business Law Section/Banking Law Committee, a Board member of the UNC Banking Law Institute, and a Practitioner-in-Residence at UNC School of Law. He is a frequent speaker on bank regulatory matters and has provided corporate executive training.
Scott earned his J.D., with high honors, from Duke University School of Law and his B.S., summa cum laude, from The Ohio State University. Following law school, he served as law clerk for The Honorable Gerald B. Tjoflat in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit.
Scott is a member of the American Bar Association and the North Carolina Bar Association. He is admitted to practice in North Carolina, Ohio and before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 11th Circuit bar and the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Ohio.

Subject: [FORMAL NOTICE] Installation of Chancellor Carol Folt

Dear Students, Faculty and Staff:

On Saturday, October 12, our University will celebrate 220 years of public higher education in America. University Day honors our heritage as the nation's first state university by commemorating the 1793 placing of the cornerstone of Old East. This year's celebration is even more meaningful because we will install Dr. Carol Folt as Carolina's 11th chancellor.

The ceremony begins at 2 p.m. in Polk Place, on the steps of South Building, with a processional of faculty, students, staff, alumni, visiting dignitaries and other leaders beginning at 1:30 p.m. During the ceremony, our new chancellor will deliver an address about her vision for our great University.

This is one of the most important days of the year at Carolina, and the installation of Chancellor Folt affirms that Carolina is well positioned to meet the challenges of higher education in the 21st century. I hope everyone in the Carolina community will attend this historic ceremony and show their support for our new chancellor.

The University also will present Distinguished Alumna and Alumnus Awards to Stuart Bondurant, William Easterling III, Karol Mason, Todd Miller and Gary Parr. In addition, Bruce Cairns, professor of surgery at Carolina, will receive the Edward Kidder Graham Faculty Service Award. Following the ceremony, there will be a reception in Polk Place. If rain is forecast, the ceremony will be moved to the Dean E. Smith Center.

While the University Day ceremony is the centerpiece of Chancellor Folt's installation, events to mark the occasion begin Thursday evening with a lecture on Carolina's history by faculty member James Leloudis. On Friday, three panel discussions on innovation, water and the future of the U.S. public research university will be held in the afternoon, followed by a concert that evening curated by Carolina Performing Arts. And on Sunday afternoon, Folt Fest, the official student-only celebration to welcome Chancellor Folt to Carolina, will be held on Polk Place.

You can find details about all the installation events at http://installation.unc.edu/.

Sincerely,

Lowry Caudill
Chair, University Board of Trustees

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Learn to Lead Staff Sustainability Efforts

Sustainability is a core value and top-level priority at Carolina. People who want to learn how to help their offices become more economically, environmentally and socially responsible can attend "Making the Workplace More Sustainable," offered by the UNC Sustainability Office and the Office of Waste Reduction and Recycling.

Based on feedback after last fall's inaugural workshop, the course has been expanded to offer more time for participants to plan their next steps. The upcoming two-day training will be held Tuesday, September 24, and Thursday, September 26, from 8:30 am - 12:30 pm, at the Administrative Office Building on Airport Drive.

Participants will learn about sustainability goals and initiatives at UNC, become "green events" certified, and gain familiarity with a Workplace Sustainability Assessment tool designed for work units at Carolina. The assessment tool helps people identify, measure, and promote opportunities related to sustainable purchasing; energy; transportation; water; waste reduction, recycling and reuse; food and events; and health and wellness.

Register soon, space is limited. Read more » (link: http://hr.sites.unc.edu/files/2013/01/Human-Resources.pdf)

Subject: [law_faculty] FW: Deans Speaker Series - Thursday, September 19, 2013

Hi all,

We wanted to share with you an invitation to attend a lecture by our alumnus Bill Johnson '82 next Thursday, Sept. 19, which we are co-sponsoring with UNC Kenan-Flagler Business School. The lecture is free but does require pre-registration (see link below).

Best,
Allison

To UNC Kenan-Flagler Alumni and Friends:

<!--[if !vml]--><!--[endif]-->I would like to extend an invitation for you to join us for our first Dean's Speaker event for this academic year. We are very pleased to welcome on Thursday, Sept 19, Bill Johnson (JD 1982), president and chief executive officer of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA)

Description: Description: http://alumniconnections.com/olc/filelib/UNO/email/Library/Kenan-Flagler/DSS/Bill%20Johnson%20-%20TVA%20-%20DSS.jpg

Appointed by the board of directors in November, 2012, Johnson is responsible for leading the nation's largest public utility toward its vision of low-cost and cleaner energy. Before joining TVA, Johnson was chairman, president and CEO of Progress Energy Inc. from 2007 to 2012 and served as the company's chief operating officer from 2005 to 2007.

He has served as vice chairman and on the executive committee of the Edison Electric Institute and was chairman of the board of directors of the Nuclear Energy Institute. He graduated from Duke University summa cum laude with a bachelor's degree in history, and received his law degree from UNC Chapel Hill. The UNC School of Law honored him with its Distinguished Alumni Award in 2011.

For this special Dean's Speaker event, we at Kenan-Flagler are pleased to partner with our colleagues at the UNC School of Law and the UNC Institute for the Environment.

The speech will be held at 5:30 p.m. in Koury Auditorium on UNC Kenan-Flagler Business School campus.

Please RSVP to this free lecture. Free parking will be available in ONLY the business school parking deck.

I hope you can join us.

Regards,

Planning for SEALS 2014

Posted: 11 Sep 2013 05:51 PM PDT

Planning for the Southeastern Association of Law Schools (SEALS) 2014 program is under way. If you wish to submit a proposal for a panel or a discussion group, you can do so through a link on SEALS website at www.sealslawschools.org.

Several things should be borne in mind about SEALS' program creation process. First, and foremost, SEALS strives to be a very "democratic" and very "participatory" organization. As a result, you need not be a section chair (in fact, we don't have formal sections like the AALS sections) or a section member to make a suggestion. Instead, the program is created and driven by suggestions from professors at SEALS' schools. As a result, if you wish to organize a panel or a discussion group, just do it! You can simply create the proposal and submit it through the SEALS' website (unlike in past years, when it was possible to make program suggestions directly to SEALS' Executive Director by e-mail), all proposals must now come through the SEALS website. If you wish to discuss your proposal before submission, in order to have a good sense of whether it is likely to be accepted, please consult with SEALS' Executive Director, Professor Russell Weaver at the University of Louisville. russ.weaver@louisville.edu Specific requirements for panels and discussion groups are set forth below.

SEALS realizes that some may not feel comfortable with the idea of organizing their own panel or discussion group. If not, SEALS is creating a special page where you can indicate your interest in participating in a panel or discussion group on a particular topic, and try to connect with others who may have similar interests. Hopefully, together, you will be able to create a panel or discussion group.

If you would like to organize your own panel or discussion group, but are not sure that you can find the requisite number of participants, or are not sure whether your proposal would have a good chance of acceptance, contact SEALS' Executive Director. He can provide you with advice regarding how to craft a suitable and appealing proposal. In addition, he can send an e-mail to SEALS' listserv seeking additional participants on your behalf, and it is possible for you to post a notice on the SEALS blog.

In order to receive full consideration, it is best to submit your proposal by the end of October. Once you submit a proposal, it will be evaluated by SEALS' Executive Director who has the authority to accept the proposal. In an appropriate case, he may provide you with feedback, or make suggestions for change. If the Executive Director believes that a proposal should be rejected, or needs more work, he will refer it to the Program Advisory Committee (PAC) which will make a final decision regarding how to proceed. The PAC can recommend acceptance of a proposal, or (more commonly) work with the proposer to iron out any difficulties. SEALS plans to distribute a draft program in mid-November.

Listed below are the types of programs that SEALS offers, along with the rules applicable to each such program.

Panels

Panels are the traditional presentations at most conferences. The time allotted is about an hour-and-a-half, and between 4 and 6 panelists do presentations around a central theme or subject. You should leave time for questions or discussion with the audience at the end of the presentations. There are some rules that govern panels.

-Panels must include at least four speakers.

-Panels must include both a title for the program, as well as a description of the program.

-If your proposal would fit into a workshop in a particular area (e.g., constitutional law, criminal procedure, business law, teaching), please indicate that fact in your proposal.

-The one-panel-per-person rule does apply.

-Before you list someone as a speaker, please confirm with that person to make sure that he/she is willing and able to participate.

-The one-panel-per-person rule. No attendee may serve on more than one panel. This rule governs all kinds of panels and includes moderators and panelists. There are a couple of situations in which this rule will not apply: the Call for Papers presentations, discussion groups, mentors for new scholars, and programming in the other special workshops with attendance limited to special registrants (e.g., the workshops for new law teachers and prospective law teachers).

-Only one person per school can be on a panel unless the two people are co-authors. They are treated as one person for purposes of time.

-Over half the panelists (including the moderator) should be from Institutional Member schools.

-Every effort should be made to ensure diversity in the panel. Diversity is defined broadly to include ideological diversity, diversity in schools represented, and diversity based on identity characteristics like race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, and gender identity.

Discussion Groups

Discussion groups usually include eight to twelve "discussants" and are scheduled in either two hour or three hour blocks. The discussants often have written papers on a central theme or have prepared some thoughts around several questions connected to that theme. The discussants circulate their papers or thoughts in writing before the conference, spend 3-5 minutes summarizing their points, and then discuss the theme in more depth along with all attendees in the room. Wide audience participation and discussion are the focus of this kind of programming.

-In order to propose a discussion group, you will need at least ten discussants.

-Discussion Group proposals must include a title, as well as a description of the discussion group.

-Before you list someone as a speaker, please confirm with that person to make sure that he/she is willing and able to participate.

-If your proposal would fit into a workshop in a particular area (e.g., constitutional law, criminal procedure, business law, teaching), please indicate that fact in your proposal.

-The one-panel-per-person rule does not apply.

-The one-person-per-school rule does not apply.

-Discussion group organizers must issue a call for participants

-The same efforts at diversity as for panels apply

Topical Workshops

Sometimes several pieces of programming are pulled together to create a workshop focused on a particular subject, like criminal law, labor and employment law, or health law, for example, that lasts a day or several days. Those kinds of workshops can be organized by anyone from an Institutional or Affiliate member school.

New Scholars Colloquia

Each member school is allowed to nominate a faculty member for the New Scholars program by sending the Executive Director and Chair of the New Scholars Committee the name of the faculty member and a title for the newer scholar's presentation. Those new scholars are organized into groups of four, and each one is assigned a mentor with expertise in the subject of their presentation. New scholar panels may be loosely grouped thematically, where possible, and scheduled near similar subjects in the regular program, where possible. Each new scholar is given thirty minutes for presentation and questions/discussion. New scholar panels are all scheduled from 8 to 10 am so as not to compete with any other programming. All of this is done to ensure that more senior scholars, and not just mentors, are able to tell which panels to attend to offer support for new scholars in their area. The focus of this type of programming is support and constructive feedback for the newer scholars.

Programming Sponsored by SEALS Committees

Some SEALS committees put on special programming. For example, the New Scholars Committee has traditionally sponsored programming on teaching, scholarship, service, and self promotion, likely to be of special interest to those newer to teaching. The International Committee and Latin America Workshop Committee has put on programming relating to specific international initiatives or issues. Additionally, the Distance Learning Committee has organized programming related to that subject.

Other Special Workshops with Attendance Limited to Special Registrants

The last few years has seen a number of workshops limited to special registrants. To date, they have included three.

Empirical Workshop: This workshop provides two days of training in empirical methods.

Prospective Law Teachers Workshop: This workshop, designed for those interested in becoming law teachers, provides mock interviews and job talks, in addition to panels devoted to helping participants navigate the legal hiring market.

Beginning and Newer Law Teachers Workshop: This workshop, designed for faculty in their first year or so of teaching, provides programming that affords participants an in-depth introduction and specific tools to help them develop their classroom skills, scholarship, and record of service.

Description:

Mr. Cammarn will be guest teaching Lissa Broome's Banking Law class on October 2nd, 2013. Scott Cammarn has 25 years of experience in the banking industry and his legal career has spanned all areas of banking compliance and finance law. His practice focuses on regulatory matters, mergers & acquisitions, legislation and lobbying, transactions, and training. He represents a number of national and international financial institutions, and has practiced before the Federal Reserve, the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, and numerous state banking departments.
Prior to joining the Firm, he was the Bank Regulatory Counsel for Ally Financial (formerly, GMAC Financial Services) where he advised on bank regulatory issues including transactional, examination, compliance, and legislative matters.
Before joining Ally Financial, Scott was the Senior Vice President and General Counsel of LendingTree and served as the Corporate Secretary. At LendingTree, he was responsible for all legal and compliance matters. Prior to joining LendingTree, he served in various legal capacities over his 11 years at Bank of America, including Associate General Counsel, bank regulatory, global marketing and global corporate affairs.
Scott has been selected to The Best Lawyers in America as one of the nation's leading lawyers in Banking and Finance Law as well as in Financial Services Regulation Law. He was also twice named Lawyer of the Year by The Best Lawyers in America, for Banking and Finance Law and for Financial Services Regulation Law, in Charlotte, North Carolina, a recognition given to only a single lawyer per practice and metropolitan area. Scott has also been an adjunct professor at Duke University School of Law, teaching the U.S. Banking Regulation course. Currently, he is a member of the ABA Business Law Section/Banking Law Committee, a Board member of the UNC Banking Law Institute, and a Practitioner-in-Residence at UNC School of Law. He is a frequent speaker on bank regulatory matters and has provided corporate executive training.
Scott earned his J.D., with high honors, from Duke University School of Law and his B.S., summa cum laude, from The Ohio State University. Following law school, he served as law clerk for The Honorable Gerald B. Tjoflat in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit.
Scott is a member of the American Bar Association and the North Carolina Bar Association. He is admitted to practice in North Carolina, Ohio and before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 11th Circuit bar and the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Ohio.

Hi all,

As you all hopefully know, our colleague Erika Wilson has had her article Towards A Theory Of Equitable Federated Regionalism In Public Education: Reversing The Role of School District Boundary Lines in Dismantling Brown v. Board of Education in the UCLA Law Review. Congrats, Erika! As you also hopefully know our regular workshop schedule is full but Erika is currently going through the edit process at UCLA and could use some useful feedback from us. Towards that end I wanted to see if I could get a small group of us to do an informal brownbag at lunchtime on Wed Sep 25 with Erika to discuss her project. As a reward to those who attend, I will bring in cupcakes from some reputable vendor. Please RSVP to Graham if you can make it.

I am attaching a copy of the article for your reference.

Experts: White House H2O evidence murky
Politico.com (website)
Sept. 12
First lady Michelle Obama's new drive to get Americans to drink more water may seem unlikely to make waves, but it spills into areas that have stirred intense controversy among scientists, public health campaigners and environmentalists. …Some experts were more receptive to the White House campaign, while expressing caution about some of the claims. "The key is drinking water is great and replacing all the junk we drink with water would be fantastic," said Barry Popkin, a professor of nutrition at the University of North Carolina.

Live webcam coaching helps struggling readers make rapid gains
phys.org (website)
Sept. 11
A new literacy webcam coaching strategy, developed by researchers at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, has been shown to help struggling kindergarten and first-grade readers in rural classrooms keep pace with their peers. The strategy, known as "Targeted Reading Intervention" (TRI) webcam coaching, not only helps reduce the gap between readers who struggle and those who do not, but does so at low cost by eliminating geographic barriers and reducing the need for special education.

UNC coach Larry Fedora on SI Oklahoma State report: It was shocking to me

The News & Observer (Raleigh)

Sept. 12

Before becoming the head coach at North Carolina, Larry Fedora was the head coach at Southern Miss. And before that, he was the offensive coordinator at Oklahoma State, where he worked from 2005 through 2007. That time period is right in the middle of one that is the focus of a lengthy Sports Illustrated investigation into the Oklahoma State football program. SI's series, which is being released in installments, alleges that Oklahoma State players were paid, that they had coursework done for them and that drug use was rampant, among other things.

Public Colleges' Quest for Revenue and Prestige Squeezes Needy Students [per MM]

The Chronicle for Higher Education

Sept. 11

Shauniqua Epps attends the Community College of Philadelphia. Although she was admitted to three better public colleges, none gave her institutional aid, so she could not afford to enroll at any of them. Shauniqua Epps was the sort of student whom so many colleges say they want. She was a high achiever, graduating from high school with a 3.8 GPA ... She served as ... president, of the student government. She played varsity basketball and softball. ...Ms. Epps, 19, was also needy. ...Public colleges and universities were generally founded and financed to give students in their states access to an affordable college education. ...But many public universities, faced with their own financial shortfalls, are increasingly leaving low-income students behind—including strivers like Ms. Epps. ...

NIH budget slashing may stall future pain research funding

Medical News (website)

Sept. 12

Multi-faceted pain research discoveries within the last decade are bringing new hope for the estimated 100 million Americans with chronic pain. Unfortunately, translation of these scientific advances into clinical practice could be stalled without sufficient funding for both basic science and clinical pain research, according to the American Pain Society. Budget slashing at the National Institutes of Health brought on by the sequester has painted a very uncertain picture for future pain research funding. ... "...a coordinated national public and private effort is required to successfully translate current knowledge into clinical practice," said William Maixner, DDS, PhD, a prominent pain researcher at the University of North Carolina School of Dentistry.

Dean Smith, beyond the medal

News & Observer (commentary)

Sept. 11, 2013

Frankly, some of us didn't expect him to show. Dean Smith, then retired as the Hall of Fame basketball coach at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, was to appear in November of 2003 at a dinner with the annual North Carolina Conference of Editorial Writers, opinion scribes from around the state. He and William Friday, president emeritus of the UNC system, were going to discuss college sports. But Friday had a conflict, so we figured Smith would likely cancel as well. But when we got upstairs at Spanky's restaurant, there was the coach …

Soiling One Of UNC's Proudest Moments

The Carolina Journal (Raleigh)

Sept. 11

Among recent headlines, the student government at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill deliberately cut the budget of College Republicans to prevent the group from bringing two speakers to campus, Fox News contributor Katie Pavlich and filmmaker Ann McElhinney … A point could be made that students ought not, through the collection of student fees, be made to “sustain political advocacy that they probably do not espouse and which, given the choice, would not fund.” That reform still beckons. Nevertheless, given that it is the system in place, fairness and viewpoint neutrality should apply.

CONSTITUTION DAY – September 17, 2013
UNC-Chapel Hill
"The Constitution, the War Powers Resolution, and the Use of Force in Syria"

Each September 17th, American colleges and universities commemorate the day on which the Constitution of the United States was signed and ratified, by holding lectures or discussions on some important constitutional theme.

This year's celebration at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill will take place this Tuesday in the School of Law Rotunda from 12:00 noon until 1:00 pm. The topic this year will be timely. It will focus on Syria, and Professor Scott Silliman will be our distinguished speaker.

Professor Silliman has a distinguished background. During his career as a military attorney, he held a variety of leadership positions, including staff judge advocate (the senior attorney) at two large installations and three major Air Force commands. In his last assignment, as the senior attorney for Tactical Air Command and later Air Combat Command, he was general counsel to the commander of the largest principal organization within the Air Force, with 185,000 military and civilian personnel at 46 primary locations throughout the world. In this capacity, he managed a command law firm of 715 active duty and reserve lawyers, paralegals, and civilian support staff. During the Persian Gulf War, he supervised the deployment of all Air Force attorneys and paralegals incident to Operations Desert Shield/Desert Storm.

Refreshments will be served at a reception in the Rotunda following the panel. You are cordially invited to attend.

Re: CAROLINA – The Magazine

A few weeks ago, The Rams Club and Carolina Athletics launched a new weekly digital magazine – CAROLINA. Initial numbers are good for online views. We expect to see a significant climb in readership in the coming days as we finally received final approval of our Apple store app (the best way to view it) this week. Along with our Google Play app for Droid tablets, these apps will drive traffic to our innovative new magazine. With the pieces fully in place, we will greatly pick up promotion of the magazine (including a press release Friday).
I encourage each of you to head to the Apple Store or the Droid Market, and download the free app for the new magazine … just search CAROLINA or CAROLINA MAGAZINE or click the links below. Once you have downloaded the app, be sure to click on "Click Here for Free Subscription" to ensure future issues are automatically pushed each week. You can view the first three issues in the app or online.
The direct link for the Apple App Store is here.
The direct link for the Google Play Store is here.
If you don't use a tablet, you can always find issues online at www.ramsclub.com/CAROLINA.
Enjoy! Go Heels!

Another school year at Carolina is off to a rousing start. With nearly 800 student-athletes on campus competing for the Tar Heels, we always enjoy getting the new year underway! The staff also looks forward to another year working with you and our Executive Board. As in previous years, we will have four meetings in 2013-2014 (all in the Williamson Athletics Center Board Room):

- Thursday, October 17, 2013 – 10:00 a.m. ... This meeting takes place the same day as the Thursday night football game with Miami. The Executive Board of Directors will meet 10:00 a.m., then join the Board of Advisors for a joint lunch. The Board of Advisors will continue with a meeting after lunch.
- Friday, December 13, 2013 – 2:00 p.m.
- Thursday, March 6, 2014 – 2:00 p.m.
- Thursday, June 5, 2014 – 2:00 p.m.

Additional messages and opportunities to RSVP will come again closer to the meeting dates. If you have any questions about the Executive Board, your involvement, or anything to do with The Rams Club, please do not hesitate to contact me or any member of The Rams Club staff.
I have attached a roster of the Executive Board membership for 2013-2014. I look forward to seeing you in Chapel Hill soon!

Faculty members are encouraged to submit proposals for the 2013 C. Felix Harvey Award to Advance Institutional Priorities: Applied Innovation of Humanities and Social Sciences Scholarly Expertise.

The C. Felix Harvey Award to Advance Institutional Priorities seeks to recognize exemplary faculty scholarship that reflects the University's commitment to innovation. For 2013, the competition is again focused on innovative engagement and outreach.

The award will be given to the faculty member or members whose proposed project best applies humanities and/or social sciences methods or approaches that directly and positively impact constituencies outside the University. To provide broad consideration across the eligible disciplines, projects should focus on at least one of these themes: technology, economic development, arts and culture or improvement of K-12 public education.

The C. Felix Harvey Award to Advance Institutional Priorities will be $75,000. The deadline for submitting proposals is Friday, September 27, 2013.

Please click https://cfharvey.web.unc.edu to review the detailed program announcement and the online application. If you have questions or need assistance, please email harveyaward@unc.edu or call Mark Meares, Director of Corporate & Foundation Relations at 919-962-3420.

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Kenan-Biddle Grants Available for Joint UNC-Duke Student Projects

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and Duke University are accepting applications for the fourth year of the Kenan-Biddle Partnership, funded by the William R. Kenan, Jr. Charitable Trust and The Mary Duke Biddle Foundation. The initiative is designed to promote collaborative projects between students of these two great universities.

Last year, the partnership awarded 11 grants totaling $54,600 for projects ranging from Cancer Pro Bono Legal project to Healthy Girls Engineering Change to NeuroCare. To read about the current and past grantees, visit studentaffairs.duke.edu/kenan-biddle.

The Kenan-Biddle Partnership grant promotes student-initiated, inter-institutional projects designed to strengthen established collaborations or encourage new ones. Proposed projects may contribute to the scholarly or public service missions of both campuses. Each project proposal must have a student or students who serve as the project initiator. An appeal for proposals from both campuses will encourage collaborative arts, sciences and humanities projects that will positively affect both campus communities. Each project must include at least one public exhibition, presentation or performance to bring the benefit of the grant to a broader community.

The Kenan-Biddle Partnership is the latest in a growing list of positive collaborative efforts between the institutions. The privately funded Robertson Scholars Program, for instance, was designed to be a catalyst for increased collaboration between students, faculty, and staff of the two universities. Since its inception in 2000, the merit-based scholarship program has allowed hundreds of top students to study at both institutions and to take part in leadership development opportunities.

Other joint efforts include the Nannerl O. Keohane Distinguished Visiting Professorship, also co-funded by the William R. Kenan, Jr. Charitable Trust, and partnerships in a variety of academic and civic-minded programs locally and abroad.

Grants can be used flexibly for project support and/or materials. Grant requests should be for approximately $5,000; however, other amounts may be considered depending upon the scope and impact of the project. The grants run for the 2014 calendar year. Preference will be given to proposals made jointly by students from both institutions. The proposals will be reviewed by an advisory committee of students, faculty and administrators co-chaired by Carol P. Tresolini, vice provost for academic initiatives at UNC, and Larry Moneta, vice president for student affairs at Duke.

Proposal applications may be submitted now through Oct. 11, 2013. Decisions will be announced in November for a Jan. 1, 2014 start. Applicants should visit http://studentaffairs.duke.edu/kenan-biddle for more information and application instructions.

The William R. Kenan, Jr. Charitable Trust was created in 1965 from the estate of alumnus William R. Kenan, Jr., a member of UNC's class of 1894. The Kenan family's ties to UNC date to 1790 when James Kenan, a member of the University's first Board of Trustees, contributed $50 to the construction of Old East, the nation's first state university building. The Trust and related Kenan entities and family members collectively were the single largest donor to the University's last major fundraising drive, the Carolina First Campaign, committing nearly $70 million.

Named for the daughter of Duke University benefactor Benjamin N. Duke, The Mary Duke Biddle Foundation's mission is to further and extend Mrs. Biddle's life-long interests in religious, educational and charitable activities in New York City and the state of North Carolina. Since its inception in 1956, The Mary Duke Biddle Foundation has awarded grants totaling approximately $36 million in support of the goals she endorsed and the values she exemplified.

Subject: [law_faculty] UNC Chancellors' Scholars Welcome Reception!

Hi all,
Attached is the formal invitation for the Chancellors' Scholars reception that Jack mentioned at the faculty meeting yesterday. I just agreed to be their advisor but cannot attend this event because of a pre-existing commitment but it would be really great if we had a large turnout both to express thanks to one of our biggest supporters, Karen Popp and to show our support for the Chancellors Scholars, who often go on to be some of our most distinguished alumni. Thanks.

Please join us for a reception honoring the UNC School of Law Chancellors' Scholars.

Karen A. Popp '85, chair of the Chancellors' Scholars Committee, hiring partner for Sidley Austin, and former associate White House counsel for President Clinton, warmly invites you to a Chancellors' Scholars welcome reception at her home. Food and refreshments provided.

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Reminder: 2013 C. Felix Harvey Award Proposals due September 27

Faculty members are encouraged to submit proposals for the 2013 C. Felix Harvey Award to Advance Institutional Priorities: Applied Innovation of Humanities and Social Sciences Scholarly Expertise.

The C. Felix Harvey Award to Advance Institutional Priorities seeks to recognize exemplary faculty scholarship that reflects the University's commitment to innovation. For 2013, the competition is again focused on innovative engagement and outreach.

The award will be given to the faculty member or members whose proposed project best applies humanities and/or social sciences methods or approaches that directly and positively impact constituencies outside the University. To provide broad consideration across the eligible disciplines, projects should focus on at least one of these themes: technology, economic development, arts and culture or improvement of K-12 public education.

The C. Felix Harvey Award to Advance Institutional Priorities will be $75,000. The deadline for submitting proposals is Friday, September 27, 2013.

Please click https://cfharvey.web.unc.edu to review the detailed program announcement and the online application. If you have questions or need assistance, please email harveyaward@unc.edu or call Mark Meares, Director of Corporate & Foundation Relations at 919-962-3420.

UNC General Education Council Update

September 5, 2013

Dear Colleagues,

In April 2013, President Ross announced appointments to the three system-wide committees formed to assist with implementation of UNC strategic planning initiatives. The General Education Council, the Efficiencies Workgroup, and the e-Learning Workgroup are comprised of faculty, deans, and chief academic officers nominated by Faculty Assembly and Provosts from each campus. As co- chairs of the General Education Council, we would like to share our charge, information on the activities of this council to date, and our plans for the future which include soliciting feedback from our colleagues across the UNC System.

The General Education Council (GEC) is comprised of faculty and administration from each of the institutions in the UNC System. As a council, President Ross has charged us with undertaking a comprehensive review of existing general education architecture and recommending a limited set of student learning outcomes appropriate to all UNC institutions. The GEC is to also explore qualitative and quantitative methodologies appropriate to assessing these outcomes, and will make its first set of recommendations to President Ross by January 2014.

In order to best accomplish our tasks, the GEC has balanced its membership across five subcommittees (Core Competencies, Engaging Experts/Quantitative Assessment, College Learning Assessment (CLA) Pilot, Qualitative Analysis, and Communications). As co-chairs, we developed charges and timelines, and appointed chairs for each of these subcommittees in the early summer. Since mid-June each of the subcommittees has been working independently on their charges, and the Council held a follow-up meeting in Chapel Hill on July 30, 2013.

Our first priority is to identify a short list of (five or fewer) core competencies to be shared across the general education programs of all UNC institutions. These shared learning outcomes will form only part of each institution's general education program and be supplemented locally to address each institution's mission. The Core Competencies Subcommittee will be sending a message in the near future outlining the background of their work and their initial recommendations, and asking for feedback and suggestions. Although there is no slow portion of your week, please make time to share your comments, suggestions, and concerns with the GEC through an online survey that will be made available, or through communication to members of the GEC. The Faculty Advisory Council on Strategic Directions included recommendations for core competencies in Section II of its November 2012 report to the Strategic Directions committee. Those recommendations were discussed and endorsed by the Faculty Assembly, the Association of Student Governments, the Staff Assembly, and at least 15 of the 17 campus senates. It is vital that the GEC's recommendations are informed by this work and are vetted by the faculty, staff, and administration who support these programs. The GEC hopes to have recommendations ready to share with the campuses and the Faculty Assembly in October or November.

Other subcommittees are working in parallel with the Core Competencies Subcommittee. The CLA subcommittee is working with representatives from the five campuses (ASU, FSU, ECU, WCU, and UNCP) participating in the Collegiate Learning Assessment (CLA+) pilot this year, The Qualitative Assessment Subcommittee has recommended funding for an e-portfolio pilot in 2014 into 2015, with a call for proposals to come this fall. GA has agreed to provide the necessary funding for this pilot. The Engaging Experts and Qualitative Assessment Subcommittees are working to identify existing methods of assessment in general education programs across the system as well as identifying experts, both internal and external, to develop assessment strategies that best reflect and support the student learning outcomes to be shared across the system. Finally, our Communication Subcommittee is organizing an informational website (an Active Collab site at:

https://collab.northcarolina.edu/public/index.php?path_info=projects/general- education-council-feedback/files that will require you to log in using your campus credentials) to provide updates on the work of the GEC as well as avenues for feedback to the Council.

Though this council of thirty members has been charged with recommending a set of student learning outcomes appropriate to all UNC institutions to President Ross, it is important that its recommendations reflect the overall intentions and vision of the faculty of the constituent institutions of the UNC System, respecting each institutions identity and mission. We need your help to assure our recommendations reflect this. Thank you for your help in making this process work for all of us.

UNC Working To Serve Veterans

With major military installations and affordable public higher education, North Carolina is well-suited to take advantage of the high number of veterans looking to attend college. The federal government has spent more than $30 billion on the post 9-11 GI bill since revamping it four years ago – a number that is likely to increase sharply as more military personnel are discharged. In an effort to increase veteran enrollment, the UNC System opened an office at Camp Lejeune earlier this year to help GI bill recipients through the application process. The UNC system has also created online tools designed specifically for veterans.

Subject: [FORMAL NOTICE] Junior Faculty Development Awards

TO: Members of the faculty who do not have tenure

FROM: James W. Dean, Jr., Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost
Chair, Committee on Faculty Research and Study Leaves

SUBJECT: Junior Faculty Development Awards

DATE: September 14, 2013

The University is accepting applications this fall for Junior Faculty Development Awards paid from endowment income from IBM and R. J. Reynolds Industries, Inc. The awards, up to the amount of $7,500, are to be expended during the period beginning January 1, 2014, and ending December 31, 2014.

The following terms apply to these awards:

A. Applicants must be permanent, full-time, salaried faculty members without tenure and must not have been proposed for tenure prior to the application deadline, Wednesday, October 9, 2013. Early career tenure-track and fixed-term faculty members (including research assistant and associate professors, and clinical assistant and associate professors) may apply.

B. Preference will be given first to persons holding the rank of Assistant Professor and then to persons holding the rank of Associate Professor. Individuals approaching a tenure decision will be seen as receiving unique benefits from a Junior Faculty Development Award.

C. Applicants in their second, third, or fourth year of service at the time of their application will be given preference over applicants with fewer than two, or more than four, years service.

D. No person who has previously received a Junior Faculty Development Award will be eligible for a second award.

E. Funds from the award may not be used to provide release time from regular employment. For persons on nine-month contracts, the award may be used to provide summer salary and fringe benefits; in this case the award will count toward the allowable limit for summer salary (one-third of base salary). Summer salary will be subject to the usual deductions. Since the fringe benefit costs will be charged to the same account as the salary, the entire amount of the award cannot be paid as summer salary.

F. Funds from the award may also be used for supplies, equipment, salaries of assistants (plus associated fringe benefits), travel, or to assist with any other dimension of faculty development.

G. Under no circumstances will a faculty member on a nine-month contract who uses the Junior Faculty Development Award for summer salary be allowed to teach Summer School or serve as an administrator in the Summer School during the summer in the year of the award.

Applications should consist of the following items,

A. a signed introductory letter to the Chair of the Committee on Faculty Research and Study Leaves;

B. a brief narrative description of the project to be undertaken. In no case should more than two pages be submitted;

C. a brief proposed budget which cannot exceed $7,500. The budget should list the kinds of expenditures proposed (e.g., salary, fringe benefits, travel, equipment, etc.), and should also indicate any other funds (e.g., NEH Summer Fellowships, University Research Council awards, etc.) which will be used or which are available for the support of the project;

D. a curriculum vitae;

E. a signed letter of endorsement from the applicant's department or curriculum chair or, in the case of non-departmentalized schools, the dean of the school. THIS LETTER SHOULD NOT BE INCLUDED WITH THE APPLICATION PACKET, BUT SHOULD BE SUBMITTED DIRECTLY TO THE PROVOST'S OFFICE, CB#8000, ATTN: GORDON JOYNER, OR EMAILED TO Gordon@unc.edu.

For Fall 2013, application documents will be submitted online using the Sakai system. Please submit a brief email to JFDA.Provost@unc.edu requesting access to the Sakai site, and be sure to include your ONYEN and UNC email address. Once you have access to the site, you should upload the above documents as soon as possible. The complete application packet, as well as the letter of endorsement, must be received no later than 5:00 PM on Wednesday, October 9, 2013. Applications presented after that time will not be considered by the Committee.

Applications will be reviewed by the Committee on Faculty Research and Study Leaves. This Committee will be convened by the Provost's Office. No written feedback on applications will be provided to individual applicants.

Please contact Gordon Joyner in the Provost's Office at Gordon@unc.edu or (919) 962-7061 if you have any questions about or problems with the application process.

Subject: Timely Warning: Assault Reported at SECU House

The UNC Department of Public Safety is investigating a report of a sexual assault that occurred the evening of Friday, Sept. 13, at the State Employees Credit Union (SECU) House on Mason Farm Road. The suspect is described as a 30- to 40-year old Hispanic male, about 5-foot-4, with dark hair in a short buzz cut. He was last seen wearing khaki pants and a dark short-sleeved shirt. He has tattoos on his inner and outer left forearm and another tattoo on his upper right arm. He has a small scar on the left side of his chest.

Anyone with information about this incident should call UNC Department of Public Safety at (919) 843-6165 or contact the Chapel Hill-Carrboro-UNC Crime Stoppers at (919) 942-7515. Calls are confidential and anonymous. You can also submit information to Crime Stoppers online at www.crimestoppers-chcunc.org.

UNC Police also shared this information with the Chapel Hill Police Department, Carrboro Police Department and UNC Hospital Police.

Continue to monitor Alert Carolina website (alertcarolina.unc.edu) for any updates in investigations into this incidents. Call 911 immediately to report any and all suspicious activity on or near campus. For a list of safety tips, see the following link through the Alert Carolina page:

Subject: The Carolina Postdoctoral Program for Faculty Diversity

I am pleased to announce the availability of postdoctoral research positions for the 2014 Carolina Postdoctoral Program for Faculty Diversity funding cycle. This program was created in order to serve two very important functions at Carolina. The first function is to attract postdoctoral fellows from underrepresented racial/ethnic groups to Carolina to prepare them for tenure-track faculty positions at the University of North Carolina and other research universities. The second function is to serve as a means for increasing faculty diversity within the University community.

Scholars for the Carolina Postdoctoral Program for Faculty Diversity are selected each year and are provided support for two years. The current stipend is $39,874 with $35,874 funded from the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Research and $4,000 from the partnering department.

The next class of the Carolina Postdoctoral Program for Faculty Diversity will begin July 1, 2014. We seek your assistance in making this a successful recruitment. There are several ways in which you can help. First of all, you can help by advertising the program within your discipline and identifying possible candidates. A sample advertisement is available via the following web link http://research.unc.edu/carolina-postdocs/departments-mentors/advertising/

In addition, you can help in the selection process. Once applications are received, we will forward them to appropriate schools or departments and ask you to evaluate the applicant, identify a recommended candidate, and describe plans for incorporating the individual, if selected, into the culture of your department (i.e., mentoring strategy and research resources).

In addition, we will ask you for information regarding the availability of a faculty member in your department that might serve as a mentor to the applicant. If selected, a committee will review the applications and make a final recommendation in February 2014. Please note the application deadline will be Friday, November 15, 2013 with recommendations due no later than December 1, 2013.

If you have any questions or need further information, please contact Program Coordinator Judson Fraley in the Office of Postdoctoral Affairs at jhfraley@email.unc.edu. You can also visit the program web page at http://research.unc.edu/carolina-postdocs/index.htm

Thank you for your help.

Would it be possible for me to come for the second half of the hour we've set aside on Wednesday -- 3:30 to 4:00 -- instead of from 3:00 to 3:30? I now have a meeting in South building that conflicts with the first part of the hour I'd set aside to be with the law school's P&T committee. I can probably leave the South Building meeting by around 3:20-ish.

Subject: [law_faculty] Friday's Visit by the US Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit
Attach: Cooper v Sheehan docx.docx; US v Hashime.docx

[Message was sent to entire Law School Community]

Dear Faculty and Students,

Many of you may know that on Friday, September 20, 2013, Carolina Law will host a three-judge panel of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit. The Court will hear arguments in two cases on Friday, September 20, beginning at 10am. The cases being heard involve a number of interesting legal issues. The visit by the Fourth Circuit presents a rare opportunity for our students to witness federal appellate arguments. I urge you to consider attending one or more of the arguments.

Limited seating will be available in the courtroom and in 5052, in which a live video feed will stream the arguments. Professors Marshall and Mosteller have written brief case summaries, both of which are attached to this email. Students should read these before attending the arguments. The first argument will begin promptly at 10am with the second beginning at 10:40am. At 11:30, the judges will then take questions from those in the courtroom audience.

In addition, the panel of judges and their judicial clerks have graciously agreed to be available immediately following the oral arguments in room 4085 for a session, entitled "Judges and Their Clerks." This session will present students with the opportunity to hear about the inner workings of the Fourth Circuit from the judges and the clerks themselves. Professor Kathryn Sabbeth will moderate. I strongly encourage you to attend this session as well.

If you have other questions about the Fourth Circuit visit, please contact Catherine Ringo Pierce at cringo@email.unc.edu. Best regards.

Jack Boger, Dean

Cooper v. Sheehan et al. (Civil)

The appeal in this case arises from a civil rights action for damages brought by the plaintiff against a number of law enforcement defendants for purported violation of the plaintiffs civil rights under both federal and state law. The primary issue on appeal that will be addressed by the Fourth Circuit is whether two of the defendants in the case, both deputy sheriffs, are entitled to qualified immunity (discussed below), thereby requiring that the federal case against them be dismissed. A secondary issue on appeal is whether certain state law claims against the defendants should also be dismissed because there was no evidence that the defendants acted with malice or acted outside of their official authority.

The facts of the case involve the shooting of the plaintiff that took place when the defendants were called to the plaintiff's residence after a report of a disturbance. The plaintiff alleges that the defendants violated his Fourth Amendment constitutional right to be free from excessive force when they shot him, purportedly without justification. The defendants argue that the officers' actions were defensible, and therefore entitled to qualified immunity, because they perceived that their lives were in danger. In support of this claim they point to the fact that when they approached the plaintiff's home, they saw him in the doorway holding a shotgun. The plaintiff, in turn, stresses that he carried the shotgun outside, barrel down, only because he heard the sounds of unidentified persons approaching his property.

Many of the key facts as to what exactly happened the night of the incident are in dispute but because of the procedural posture of the case, the court is required to consider the facts in the light most favorable to the plaintiff.

Federal Civil Rights Claim. In order for the plaintiff in a federal civil rights action brought under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 to prevail against officers raising a defense of qualified immunity he must show that 1) that the officers' actions were unconstitutional and 2) that the officers' actions violated a clearly established constitutional right. Both of these inquiries require the Court to determine, in effect, how objectively reasonable were the defendants' actions when they shot the plaintiff in this case. In making this decision, the Court will take into account that the police officers are often "forced to make split-second judgments" but will also look at the other factors present to determine whether the officers' actions were still excessive under the circumstances. Expect the plaintiff to try and rely heavily on a case called Pena v. Porter which found the police liable under not too dissimilar circumstances. The defense will try to distinguish Pena on its facts and will also claim that because Pena was an unpublished opinion (an opinion which a court issues informally), it is not entitled to precedential effect.

The state law claims. The plaintiffs' state law claims arise from the same incident and again the Court's inquiry will be factually-driven. The officers will claim that they should not be liable because they did not act with malice as required under state law – meaning acting in what a person "of reasonable intelligence would know to be contrary to his duty." Because the facts needed to assess this inquiry so closely parallel what is necessary to determine the federal claim, it is quite possible the court will not explicitly discuss the state law issues at oral argument.

United States v. Faisal Hashime (criminal)

The defendant challenges his convictions at a bench trial for production and distribution of child pornography on the ground that the district court erred in not suppressing his confession under Miranda. He challenges his mandatory minimum sentence of 15 years as cruel and unusual under the Eighth Amendment.

The 19-year-old defendant was charged with receipt, possession, production, and distribution of child pornography through the internet. The evidence, which included his confession and forensic examination of his computer, showed that, posing as a young female, he secured pornographic photos from young boys and shared some of them with others. He challenged his confession under Miranda, but the motion to suppress was denied. He then entered guilty pleas to the less serious counts of receipt and possession. Despite his guilty pleas, the government proceeded to trial on the production and distribution charges. The defendant waived his right to a jury trial and was convicted of multiple counts of production and distribution. The district court sentenced him to the mandatory minimum of 15-years (production) and 5-years (receipt and distribution) as required by the relevant statutes, but gave the defendant the minimum effective sentence allowed by the statutes by making the sentences concurrent.

Miranda issue. The defendant challenges his confession because he was not read his Miranda warnings before he was questioned by federal officers and confessed. However, Miranda warnings are required only if the defendant is in custody, and the district court found that he was not in custody when he made these statements. The result is very fact dependent. The confession was obtained after 20 to 30 federal officers executed a search warrant for the home where the defendant lived with his parents and adult aunt. The parties agree that the defendant was not placed under formal arrest. The result turns on whether the functional equivalent of an arrest occurred, which is based on what a reasonable person in the suspect's position would have understood.

The government emphasizes that the defendant was questioned in his own house, he was told he was not under arrest and that he was free to leave, and the audio tape of the questioning demonstrates it was "low-key and chatty." The defendant emphasizes the number of officers (20-30), the show of force during the search, and the fact the defendant was questioned isolated from the rest of his family in a small basement room by two agents.

Sentencing issue. The defendant notes statements of the district just to the effect that she regretted having to impose such a lengthy sentence on this young, socially immature, first-time offender. However, the Eighth Amendment law of cruel and unusual punishment presents a difficult path for relief when the sentence is a term of years rather than death or life without parole and where the defendant was not at the time of the crime a minor. A defense victory would require an atypical outcome, but it notes that the Supreme Court has recently broken new ground. The government's final argument is that, even if review is legally available for this term-of-years sentence, the crime of production of child pornography warrants this substantial sentence.

Subject: Reminder: University Will Test Sirens Tuesday

Dear Students, Faculty and Staff:

You may hear the University's emergency sirens on Tuesday, September 17, between noon and 1 p.m. during a TEST that is part of Alert Carolina, our ongoing safety awareness campaign. No action is required.

The sirens sound only for a major emergency or an immediate safety or health threat, such as an armed and dangerous person on or near campus; a major chemical spill or hazard; tornado warning for the Chapel Hill-Carrboro area issued by the National Weather Service; or a different emergency, as determined by the Department of Public Safety. Be prepared to go inside or take cover immediately in a real emergency.

The University also sends test text messages to anyone who has registered a cell phone number in the online campus directory. For more information about Alert Carolina, including audio samples of the siren tones and details about using the American Red Cross Safe and Well List to communicate with family members outside the emergency area, see http://alertcarolina.unc.edu.

About Informational Messages: The University sends an Informational Message to inform the campus community about a situation that is not an emergency, but is expected to be of significant interest to the campus. An Informational Message is one of three tiers of communication under the University's revised emergency communications plan. Emergency Warning refers to a siren activation for a significant emergency. And a Timely Warning is issued if there is a continuing danger AND notification will not compromise law enforcement efforts.Sponsored by the UNC Department of Public Safety

EVENTS AT UNC LAW

Constitution Day

Tuesday, September 17, 12:00-1:00 p.m., Rotunda

Celebrate the Constitution of the United States by attending a timely discussion about the presidential and congressional authority to authorize military actions short of war, with a focus on Syria. Scott L. Silliman '68, adjunct professor of law at UNC and expert in national security and military law, will present "The Constitution, the War Powers Resolution and the Use of Force in Syria." Light refreshments will be served

ELP EJ Summit and Pro Bono Interest Meeting

Wednesday, September 18, 12:00-1:00 p.m., Room 4082

The Environmental Law Project will hold a meeting on Wednesday, September 18 at noon to discuss an exciting new pro bono opportunity to work with Earthjustice and SELC attorneys on an environmental justice case protesting the re-permitting of Concentrated Animal Feeding Operations (CAFOs) in North Carolina.

The first part of the project involves interviewing potential Title VI complainants at the upcoming North Carolina Environmental Justice Network's EJ Summit on October 18 and 19 (Fall Break). Students will attend the summit (scholarships are available), participate in interview training by Earthjustice attorneys on the morning of October 18 and will then conduct interviews with North Carolina residents who have been affected by the operations of CAFOs.

Interested students will have also have the chance to participate in the CAFO matter throughout the fall and continuing into the spring, so even if you are unable to attend the EJ summit over Fall Break, you are encouraged to attend the meeting. Come join us to learn more about this exciting opportunity!

Immigration Law Association Interest Meeting

Wednesday, September 18, 12:00-1:00 p.m., Room 3049

The Immigration Law Association is a student organization devoted to cultivating student interest in the dynamic and fast-changing field of immigration law. ILA sponsors guest speakers on various topics concerning immigration; raises money to provide summer grants to students working in public interest immigration work; assists in developing and coordinating immigration-related pro bono projects; and provides professional development and networking opportunities for those pursuing a career in immigration law.

American Constitution Society and Constitution in the Classroom Interest Meeting

Thursday, September 19, 12:00-1:00 p.m., Room 5046

Come learn about American Constitution Society and Constitution in the Classroom with us on Thursday. Lunch will be provided!

C-PILO Local Volunteer Training

Thursday, September 19, 12:00-1:00 p.m., Room 4004

Students interested in volunteering with C-PILO will receive training on soliciting donations from local businesses. Please attend if you would like to volunteer with C-PILO for the Annual Auction or if you received a C-PILO specific public interest summer grant for the 2013 summer.

CAREER CORNER

Presidential Management Fellows Information Session

Monday, September 16, 5:30-7:30 p.m., School of Government Room 2601

This information session will explain what PMF program is, how to apply, and process of selection. The NCCU Animal Law Organization is hosting a workshop on Tuesday, from 6:00-7:00 p.m. at the NCCU School of Law, featuring Holly Stiles with Disability Rights NC. Ms. Stiles will be speaking on the Americans with Disabilities Act and compliance issues related to service animals. Please email at NCCU if you plan to attend or have any questions.

OTHER PUBLIC INTEREST OPPORTUNITIES

NC Advocates for Justice Naturalization Clinic

Saturday, October 5, 9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m., Raleigh, NC

This clinic will prepare volunteer attorneys, law students, and community advocates/allies to provide assistance to those applying for low-income fee waivers of the naturalization application (normally costs $680). This clinic is part of a nationwide campaign called "Ya Es Hora" focused on registering immigrant voters in swing states. One must be naturalized to vote, thus the need for the naturalization clinic. Learn more about "Ya Es Hora" on the campaign's website.

There will be a free 3-hour CLE and information session (with an ethics hour) on Wednesday, October 2 for volunteers. Students who would like to volunteer must be members of NCAJ (membership is free) and can visit the NCAJ website to register.

Please email Jennifer Segnere if you are interested in participating or have any questions.

CURRENT PRO BONO OPPORTUNITIES

Projects are posted on the Pro Bono Board near the mailboxes. Students can sign up for projects on the Pro Bono Board or email @gmail.com.

Lawyer on the Line Training

Tuesday, September 17, 5:00-7:00 p.m., Room 5048

Participants must attend training to participate in this pro bono project.

Lawyer on the Line asks students to volunteer an hour a week to conduct client interviews over the phone. With training and support from Legal Aid, students will find out about the legal problem that individuals are facing and summarize the legal problem for a private attorney who will provide a consultation with the individual.

This project is great for individuals who want a consistent and steady pro bono project along with people who want to develop their client interviewing skills.

Lambda Pro Bono Meeting

Thursday, September 19, 12:00-1:00 p.m., Room 4081

Learn about the Lambda health care power of attorney workshop and how you can participate. Students can also sign up at this meeting to table with Lambda at NC Pride on Saturday, September 28. The training date for the pro bono project will be on Tuesday, October 22 at noon in Room 4085, and attendance at the training session is mandatory to work with clients. The workshop will be held on Monday, October 28 at 6:00 p.m.

Network with Pro Bono Alumni!

Friday, September 20, 6:30-8:30 p.m., The Crunkleton (Franklin Street)

All students are welcome to mingle and network with UNC Alums at the Crunkleton on Friday, September 20 from 6:30 to 8:30. These alumni work in a variety of settings ranging from public interest to government, solo practitioners to big private firms. Despite these differences, they are united by their passion for pro bono work, and look forward to meeting you. Email if you have any questions. (Cash bar; appetizers from Med Deli will be provided).

Cancer Project Pro Bono Training: Substantive Law

Sunday, September 22, 10:30 a.m.-3:00 p.m., Room 5042

This training will cover the substantive law, ethics and sensitivity materials for the Cancer Pro Bono Legal Project. All students who wish to participate in the project are invited to attend.

Navigator Pro Bono Project Information Session

Monday, September 23, 12:00-1:00 p.m., Room 4004

Information Session for new Pro Bono Project involving implementation of the Affordable Care Act.

To add items or provide feedback, please contact Sylvia Novinsky, Assistant Dean for Public Service Programs, or , Public Service Fellow.

Now that drop/add is over, I want to ask everyone to be on the look out for any students who are not showing up to class regularly. At times, this can result from a medical or other personal issue that we may be able to assist the student with. But the sooner we learn about a potential problem, the better chance we have of addressing it is a helpful manner.

If you are concerned about any student's attendance please let me and/or John Kasprzak know.

Law school celebrates Constitution Day Tuesday, Sept. 17, with Syria discussion

The timely topic of possible American intervention in Syria is the focus of Tuesday's Constitution Day celebration at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Law. Scott L. Silliman, adjunct professor of law and an expert on national security, will talk about "The Constitution, the War Powers Resolution and the Use of Force in Syria."

The discussion will be held at noon Tuesday (Sept. 17) in the rotunda of the School of Law's Van Hecke-Wettach Hall, 160 Ridge Road. Light refreshments will be served.

"We are honored to dedicate a day to the contemplation and discussion of constitutional issues, particularly as they are relevant to the looming question of the potential use of force in Syria," said Jack Boger, dean of the law school and Wade Edwards Professor of Law.

LEARN NC joins project to create lesson plans about World War I cemetery

LEARN NC, an outreach arm of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill's School of Education, has been chosen to create lesson plans and other teaching materials for middle school and high school students learning about World War I.

The $357,000 initiative is funded by the American Battle Monuments Commission (ABMC), a government agency that establishes and maintains cemeteries and war memorials in countries where American armed forces have served. The partnership, a first of its kind for the ABMC, was created in advance of the 2014 centennial commemorating the start of World War I. The project will focus on developing materials about the Meuse-Argonne American Cemetery at Verdun, France.

"The ABMC was created because of World War I, a war that changed not only the history of our country, but the history of the world," said Max Cleland, secretary of the ABMC. "This is a great opportunity to introduce American children to all those we honor at our World War I overseas cemeteries."

Project partners include LEARN NC, Virginia Tech's School of Education and a team of teachers from 12 middle schools and high schools in North Carolina and Virginia who will conduct the research and help create the teaching materials. A faculty member from Sweet Briar College in Virginia and another from Piedmont Virginia Community College-Albemarle are also involved.

Ron Rash to deliver Thomas Wolfe Lecture Oct. 2

North Carolina poet and novelist Ron Rash will receive the 2013 Thomas Wolfe Prize and deliver the annual lecture Oct. 2 at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

The free public talk will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Genome Sciences Building auditorium, 250 Bell Tower Road.

Rash's prose is grounded in the cadences of his native North Carolina mountains. Over the course of his career, he has published four books of poetry, five short story collections and five novels.

Rash's latest novel, "The Cove" (2012), is a heartbreaking account of prejudice and hate brought on by the first World War — and the love and tragedy it brings to one mountain community.

His novel "Serena" (2008) tells the story of an unforgettable title character — a sort of Lady Macbeth — whose ambition powers the clear cutting of the mountains' majestic forests. The major motion picture version of the book, starring Jennifer Lawrence and Bradley Cooper, is scheduled for release this fall.

The annual lecture and prize honor Thomas Wolfe, author of "Look Homeward, Angel," who graduated from Carolina in 1920.

Subject: [FORMAL NOTICE] Update: Additional One-Time Leave for State Employees

TO: All Employees
FROM: Ashley Nicklis, Senior Director, Benefits & Work/Life Programs,
Office of Human Resources

UPDATE: Based on campus feedback, we are changing the requirements under FY14 leave. Effective immediately, the following requirements apply to FY14 leave usage:

-- An employee may choose to use special leave prior to regular vacation leave or bonus leave through December 31, 2013. Effective January 1, 2014, or later, special leave must be used before regular vacation leave or bonus leave.
-- Employees may choose to use sick leave prior to special leave for any approved sick leave absence.
-- Special leave cannot be used before earned compensatory time (holiday comp, overtime comp, gap-hours comp, on-call comp, and travel comp).

The 2013 General Assembly awarded a one-time additional five days of special (vacation) leave effective July 1, 2013, to permanent full-time leave earning employees. Since 9-month faculty do not earn leave, they are not eligible for this leave. The leave will be pro-rated for part-time employees.

The special leave, which is being referred to as FY14, is being awarded as a one-time benefit to be used by June 30, 2014. The FY14 leave must be maintained and accounted for separately from vacation and bonus leave. Any leave not used by June 30, 2014 will be forfeited. FY14 leave will not be paid out upon separation unless the separation is due to retirement and the retirement occurs the day following the date of separation. See bullets above for usage rules.

Due to this change, we are allowing another retroactivity period. Because of the timing of this change, different rules and deadlines will apply for SPA and EPA Non-Faculty in TIM.

SPA employees will have a one-time opportunity to request that any previously used FY14 leave be changed to vacation, bonus or sick leave (if the absence was an approved sick leave). Employees will have until Friday, Sept. 20, to make their requests and should contact their TIM Administrator to request a change.

EPA employees will have until Monday, Sept. 30, to request that any previously used FY14 leave be changed to vacation, bonus or sick leave (if the absence was an approved sick leave).

All employees should read the full policy for details. The policy is available on our website at http://hr.unc.edu/benefits/leave-and-holidays/.

If you have questions, contact the Benefits Office at 962-3071.

Hi Lissa,
Would it be possible for me to come for the second half of the hour we've set aside on Wednesday -- 3:30 to 4:00 -- instead of from 3:00 to 3:30? I now have a meeting in South building that conflicts with the first part of the hour I'd set aside to be with the law school's P&T committee. I can probably leave the South Building meeting by around 3:20-ish.

Subject: [FORMAL NOTICE] Core General Education Competencies -- Requesting Your Feedback

Dear UNC-Chapel Hill Faculty Colleagues,

In accordance with the UNC System's Strategic Directions report, "Our Time, Our Future," the UNC System General Education Council (GEC) has been charged with recommending a limited set of general education student learning competencies appropriate to all UNC System institutions. The Core Competencies Subcommittee of the GEC has created a short list of potential core competencies.

We ask that you please complete a short survey indicating which three competencies you think most suitable for system-wide adoption. To access this survey, please log into the General Education Council Feedback site at https://collab.northcarolina.edu/public/index.php?path_info=projects/general- education-council-feedback/files and select the "Core Competencies Survey" link at the top left of the page.

Please complete this survey by Wednesday, September 25, 2013.

Core competencies are defined here as skills or behaviors that can be developed in diverse general education courses on every campus, rather than skills that are taught by a specific, narrow set of disciplines or campuses. The Core Competencies Subcommittee has reviewed relevant materials over the summer, including the list of competencies recommended for consideration by the "Faculty Vision for UNC Strategic Directions" report (http://www.northcarolina.edu/reports/index.php?page=download&id=1637&inline=1) prepared last year by the Faculty Advisory Council (FAC) to the UNC Strategic Directions Committee, the general education frameworks across the system, and literature on best practices in general education competency assessment. From this review, a short list of suitable competencies began to emerge.

This short list of suitable competencies correlates well with employer surveys and literature on best practices in general education competency assessment. The list includes:

Critical Thinking
Critical Reading
Written Communication
Oral Communication
Information Literacy
Creative Thinking
Global Learning

The GEC asserts that any competencies shared across the system must form only part of each institution's general education program and would be supplemented locally to address each institution's mission. It is critical that any system-wide general education policy be flexible and respectful of the unique mission of each campus, of the expertise of each campus's faculty, and of the unique backgrounds, needs, and aspirations of each campus's students.

The Core Competencies Subcommittee recognizes that campuses and individuals use slightly different terminology and phrasing for similar concepts; therefore, we encourage you to use the open response options on the survey to share your opinions of what competencies, in your own words, are core. The Subcommittee chose to follow the phrasing used in the AAC&U VALUE Rubrics when writing the seven competencies listed above. This is not intended to be an endorsement of the VALUE Rubrics, but rather an attempt to offer a starting place for discussion as we determine how these competencies might be defined for UNC.

Once the survey is complete, the Core Competencies Subcommittee will consider all responses and make a recommendation for five or fewer system-wide core competencies. The GEC will then share their recommendation with the UNC Faculty Assembly and Faculty Senates/Councils on individual campuses in time for consideration and discussion at their October or November meetings.

Thank you for your time and feedback.

Sincerely,

The Core Competencies Subcommittee of the GEC:

Dr. Brenda Allen (WSSU), Chair

Cara Cilano (UNCW)
Richard Gay (UNCP)

Tuesday, Sept. 17, 2013 | Volume 13, No. 38

LEGAL COMMUNITY

JPE Survey Month | October is JPE Survey Month, during which NCBA members will be asked to evaluate judges who will be up for election in 2014. The Judicial Performance Evaluation Committee reports that surveys will be emailed Oct. 1, and once again attorney participation will be critical to the success of this endeavor. Be on the lookout for surveys and please respond during the month of October; click here to access JPE coverage, beginning on page 29, in the latest edition of the State Bar Journal.

Lakeside Perspective | President Alan Duncan provides the latest video update on NCBA events and activities.

Wills For Heroes | The first Wills for Heroes clinic of 2013-14 was conducted Saturday in Raleigh at the Wake Tech Public Safety Education Campus. Approximately 45 attorneys, notaries, law students and other volunteers assisted more than 70 first responders and their spouses/significant others and drafted more than 210 free estate planning documents. The YLD has now conducted 33 Wills for Heroes clinics and drafted more than 10,000 free estate planning documents. Next up is a program in the Winston-Salem area in October; details will follow when plans are finalized.

Feeding Frenzy | If you're familiar with Jimmy Buffet's "Fins," then you have some idea of the background noise that is building as the Young Lawyers Division prepares for the 2014 North Carolina Legal Feeding Frenzy. This year's event, again held in conjunction with the N.C. Feeding America Food Banks, will take place March 10-24, 2014, with the awards ceremony scheduled April 22, 2014, at the N.C. Bar Center. Attorney General Roy Cooper is serving once again as honorary chair.

In Memoriam | Hollis M. Owens Jr. of Rutherfordton died Sept. 12 at the age of 90. He served from as a District and Superior Court judge in the 29th Judicial District and practiced 28 years with the Owens and Arledge firm. Percy Lee Wall of Greensboro died Sept. 5 at the age of 88. He practiced law in Greensboro for 55 years and served as president of the Greensboro Bar Association in 1982-83.

IN THE OFFICE

Law Practice Matters | The latest insight from Erik Mazzone, director of the NCBA Center for Practice Management, features practice management software news from Clio, an NCBA affinity partner, which has added search functionality and updated its integrated Document Automation feature.

Constitution Day | To commemorate Constitution Day, which is today, the federal government is launching an official annotated Constitution app for iPhone or iPad. The android version, reports Robert Ambrogi's LawSites, is in development.

ACROSS THE PROFESSION

Brooks Appointed | NCBA member William F. Brooks of Wilkesboro has been appointed by Gov. McCrory to complete the term of District Court Judge Mitchell McLean who died July 3. Brooks will serve in the 23rd Judicial District (Wilkes, Alleghany, Ashe and Yadkin counties) and plans to seek a four-year term next year.

Members Seek Vacancy | District Court Judge Lisa Menefee has been appointed to succeed the retiring William Reingold as chief judge for Forsyth County. The Forsyth County Bar Association has selected NCBA members Gordon Miller and John Barrow, as well as Andrew Keever, for consideration by Gov. McCrory to fill the vacancy. Under legislation enacted earlier this year, the governor is no longer required to select one of the local bar's nominees.

Job Well Done! | Let's hear it for two young NCBA members, Kaitlyn Girard and Meghan Melo, who recently completed a yearlong assignment as Clifton Everett Fellows with Legal Aid of North Carolina's new branch office in Rockingham. Best wishes to their successors, Emma Smiley and Jason Senges, recent graduates of the Duke and Elon law schools, respectively, who are now staffing the Rockingham office.

Opinions Filed | The N.C. Court of Appeals filed new opinions today.

Welcome New Lawyers | Swearing-in ceremonies for new lawyers who passed the July 2013 bar exam are under way. If you know any of the new attorneys, please be sure to ask them if they have joined the North Carolina Bar Association, which is free for the first year.

Social Network Sites
Lori E. Harris
IRB #: 13-2935

Participants are needed for a focus group research study that investigates the use of Social Network Sites (SNS) among African American women. This study is part of my master's research project at The School of Information and Library Science at The University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, NC; is being conducted under the supervision of my faculty advisor, Dr. Claudia Gollop; and was approved by the Institutional Review Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, on September 3, 2013,Non-BiomedicalIRB Study #13-2935.

In order to participate in the study you must meet the following requirements:

•Self-Identify as an African American woman
•Age range 18-99
•Have used social network sites with a primary focus on Facebook

Participants selected to participate in the study will receive a $25.00 gift card from either Walmart or Target for taking part in this study. The estimated time of the focus group discussion will be approximately 1½ hours and will be conducted on the campus of UNC Chapel Hill in Manning Hall. Should you wish to take part in the study please contact me no later than Wednesday, September 25, 2013 at 240-676-1616 or at lorihe@email.unc.edu. At that time I will give those individuals selected to participate the exact date, time and room location of the study.

UNC researchers identify a new pathway that triggers septic shock
Medical News Today
Sept. 17
The body's immune system is set up much like a home security system; it has sensors on the outside of cells that act like motion detectors - floodlights - that click on when there's an intruder rustling in the bushes, bacteria that seem suspect. For over a decade researchers have known about one group of external sensors called Toll-like receptors that detect when bacteria are nearby. Now, researchers at the University of North Carolina School of Medicine have identified a sensor pathway inside cells.

Hi, Lissa:

Kym will be in charge of awards, but I will probably still serve on the committee. Kym is out of the office until at least September 30th. Do you have a timeframe in October in mind? I have access to Kym's schedule so we can go ahead and work on setting a meeting date.

September 17, 2013

Lifting the Cross-list Moratorium
Memo from James W. Dean, Jr.
Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost

A moratorium on cross-listing courses was put in place several years ago to allow for the migration of course catalog records from the legacy Student Information System (SIS) to PeopleSoft (Connect Carolina). The moratorium remained in effect after the migration to allow faculty and administrators to evaluate the uses and effectiveness of cross-listing.

These discussions resulted in the development of new guidelines for appropriate uses of cross-listing courses. Now that this process has been completed, the University has decided to lift the moratorium on cross-listed courses, effective immediately.

Campus units may now begin submitting requests to add, revise, or inactivate cross-listed courses. A separate communication from the Office of the University Registrar to designated system users will provide guidelines and procedures for cross-listing courses in the Course Request Approval System (CRAS).

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Participants Needed: Team Computer Game

Participants Needed at the Center for Decisions Research. To register please visit our website at www.c4dr.unc.edu/experiments.

We will run this study all semester, it fills up quickly, if you do not get a spot please keep checking back!

Team Computer Game

The purpose of the research project is to understand the factors that influence how teams perform. Participants will play a networked computer game designed to engage teams of 5 people in the common task of discovering and destroying threats and opportunities in a defined external environment.

On the day of the study, you will participate in an experiment where you will complete a series of short tasks and surveys (in McColl, Room 4402). Teams will be video recorded during the task.

Because this is a team study, it is possible that if some participants do not show up, we will be unable to run the experiment. In such cases, it may be possible that we can provide an alternative study at the same rate of pay ($12 per hour).

Location: McColl 4402/4404
Duration: 2 hours
Pay: $24
Exclusions: The minimum age for participation is 18 years old.
Parking: The Kenan-Flagler Parking deck should be open for free parking after 4pm, unless otherwise posted in the deck.

IRB # 13-0809 - Approved by the UNC NonBiomedical IRB on March 7, 2013.

Subject: Occoquan Race this fall

Hello Bubba,
During our meeting this summer you mentioned us taking the team to do something fun while on one of our trips. We are going to Occoquan Va on October 13th which is about 20' south of DC.
This would be a great opportunity for us to take the team into DC and go check out some sites. If we did that, we would leave Friday afternoon during normal practice time, spend the night in our hotel in Va, go to DC in the morning, practice Saturday afternoon and race Sunday. This would be an additional cost for an extra night in a hotel (Friday night), and extra dinner (Friday night), and additional day for the bus plus the cost of museum tickets. With a travel party of 30, we are estimating a total additional cost of ~$5,000.
As you are aware, this is not something we can afford so I wanted to check you about coming up with the funds before we booked the trip. You mentioned that it could be taken care of from your end.
If this is something that is still possible, please let us know. We would love to be able to offer this opportunity to some of our student-athletes.
Thank you,
Sarah

The password for the Onyen 'lbroome' is set to expire
at this date and time: Fri Sep 20 12:12:56 2013

Visit the following web site to change your password or for information on how to have it reset if it was forgotten:

https://onyen.unc.edu/cgi-bin/unc_id/chpw.pl

After your password expires, you can still access the above site
to change your password, though you will not be able to use your Onyen to access any other Onyen-authenticated services until you
change your password.

Once you change your password, it will work for another 90 days before it expires again. If you never use your Onyen, then disregard this notice.

Your new Onyen password will be copied automatically to the AD.UNC.EDU domain. If you have any Laptop, Desktop, or handheld device which uses your old Onyen password to automatically login
or re-authenticate to services using the AD.UNC.EDU domain
(Exchange, for example), be sure to logout of those services and login again with your new Onyen password within 10 minutes of changing it. If you don't, and your devices continue to attempt to re-authenticate using your old Onyen password, your AD.UNC.EDU account will be locked for 10 to 20 minutes, just as if you repeatedly tried to login with a bad password. During that time you will not be able to login.

If you think you might forget your password, consider setting up
a "Challenge/Response" where you answer a few personal questions
BEFORE you forget your password. Later, if you can answer these questions again, you can get a new password without having to visit one of the password reset sites on campus. Just click
follow the instructions.

Answers to many common questions and a list of some Onyen related services can be found by visiting the web site:

Subject: An Invitation to Share Your Thoughts on New Lawyers

Dear Employer:

Greetings from UNC School of Law. This fall, UNC School of Law professors Alexa Chew and Katie Pryal are conducting a survey of employers about legal writing and other practical skills. The main purpose of the survey is to help the law school serve you better. The survey takes between 15 and 20 minutes to complete, and it collects no personally identifying information about the survey taker. Of course, your participation in the survey is completely optional. Furthermore, once you begin the survey, you can stop at any time. We hope that you will participate in the survey because your feedback is important to us.

The survey will inquire about three areas:
(1) your preferences regarding writing samples that accompany job applications;
(2) your preferences regarding the legal document types that new lawyers need to know how to write; and
(3) your experiences supervising new lawyers in the workplace.

Your feedback will be used in a variety of ways:
(1) UNC School of Law□s Career Development Office and Writing and Learning Resources Center will use writing sample data to help our students tailor writing samples to employer preferences;
(2) Professors Chew and Pryal will use data to create a course on optimizing supervision of new lawyers for the Festival of Legal Learning, UNC's intensive, two-day CLE program, which will take place in February 2014;
(3) the document type data will be used to ensure that our legal writing curriculum is training practice-ready lawyers; and
(4) Professors Chew and Pryal will use survey data in research articles to be published in law journals.

This survey will close on November 1, 2013.

If you do not evaluate the written work of new attorneys or student applicants, we would be grateful if you would forward this email to the appropriate person or persons in your organization. Your assistance with this survey will help us to better serve your employment needs and better educate tomorrow□s lawyers. Thank you, in advance, for your consideration and time.

Sincerely,
UNC School of Law

Subject: [newsclips] Alert Carolina siren, text message test successful

---

UNC News Release

For immediate use: Wednesday, Sept. 18, 2013

Alert Carolina siren, text message test successful

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Tuesday (Sept. 17) successfully tested its emergency sirens as well as text-message delivery as part of the Alert Carolina safety awareness campaign.

The sirens sounded an alert tone in conjunction with a brief pre-recorded public address message broadcast. The test siren activation was followed by two test text messages – one for when the sirens initially sounded and another for the "all clear" – to cell phone numbers registered by students, faculty and staff in the online campus directory.

The sirens, all of which worked properly, are located at Hinton James Residence Hall off Manning Drive; the Gary R. Tomkins Chilled Water Operations Center behind the Dogwood Parking Deck; Winston Residence Hall at the corner of Raleigh Street and South Road; near Hill Hall behind University Methodist Church; and next to University buildings and support facilities near the Giles Horney Building off Martin Luther King Boulevard; as well as at the Friday Center, located about three miles east of the central campus.

Text messages were sent to 41,000 unique cell phone numbers registered to students, faculty and staff, with 90 percent of the siren activation messages delivered within 3.5 minutes. That means 688 messages, on average, were delivered per second. In addition, the University sent 55,000 emails for both the initial siren activation and "all clear"; the send time for delivery of 90 percent of the messages was a little more than 17 minutes. Because it is so important to get emergency-related information to people as quickly as possible, University officials constantly work to improve the delivery times for Alert Carolina messages.

In an actual emergency, the sirens would sound if an armed and dangerous person was on or near campus, a major chemical spill or hazard had been reported or a tornado warning was issued for the Chapel Hill-Carrboro area by the National Weather Service. The sirens also could sound for a different emergency, as determined by the Department of Public Safety, for which a general siren and alert message would be activated.

When the sirens sound, people should go inside or take cover immediately, close windows and doors, and stay until the "all clear" message sounds. The sirens are not designed to be heard inside buildings or while driving in vehicles. And there can be limitations with text messaging if there are problems with cell phone service or if users are out of service range.

In January 2012, the University put up posters in every classroom to help educate students and faculty about what to do when the sirens sound. The poster is accessible at alertcarolina.unc.edu.

University officials emphasize that the sirens and text messages are part of a multi-layered approach to communicating in an emergency. Those efforts are anchored by alertcarolina.unc.edu. The University also communicates through means including campus-wide email and voice mail (only for campus land lines), official University social media accounts, the Adverse Weather and Emergency Phone Line, 919-843-1234, for recorded information, and the University Access Channel (Chapel Hill Time Warner Cable Channel 4) along with other campus cable television channels.

I now have a meeting in South building that conflicts with the first part of the hour I'd set aside to be with the law school's P&T committee. Hi John and Judith and Catherine,
Does any of you know whether the revisions to the tenure and promotion policies that you worked on in the spring semester were ever made official? I know the faculty voted to approve them, but when I look on the website what I see seems to be our unrevised standards rather than what we approved.
Thanks.

Catherine,
Did the points of clarification concern the section of the document that presents the new language about engaged scholarship? I am asking because I wanted to say something to the faculty, but don't want to say something misleading.
Thanks.

Dear Colleagues,

You may have received an email from Alexa and me this morning inviting you to participate in a research study that we are conducting. The name of the study is the New Legal Writers Survey (NLWS). You received the email because you are listed as an employer in the CDO employer database.

As you may have seen in the recruitment email that you received, the NLWS is a survey of employer opinions in three major areas: (1) writing samples that accompany job applications; (2) legal document types (i.e., genres) that lawyers write; and (3) work habits of new lawyers.

If you are interested in filling out the survey, we would be interested in seeing your feedback. Or, you may simply delete the email without completing the survey. Sorry to flood your inboxes this morning.

No, it didn't have to do with that section. The three principals areas were first, whether faculty could 'opt in' or 'opt out' to the new provisions. In other words, we have a provision that allows for faculty who were hired under the old standards to be judged by those old standards. Some in the University want to make it such that the University can institute new policies at any time and faculty must be held to those no matter when they were hired.

Secondly, the Provost asked about whether we provide annual letters to the faculty noting whether they are doing well or not and that such a letter does not prejudge the tenure process (ie, if they are told they are doing fine that year that doesn't guarantee a positive tenure decision.) We don't provide such letters and never have, but we may start at some future point.

Lastly, we do not envision the selection of external reviewers to be as adversarial as it seems the University does. There was a question about whether the Provost Office is ok with our doing that in conversation with the candidate, etc.

Does that help/make sense?

Catherine

Catherine,
Did the points of clarification concern the section of the document that presents the new language about engaged scholarship? I am asking because I wanted to say something to the faculty, but don't want to say something misleading.
Thanks.

Hi John and Judith and Catherine,
Does any of you know whether the revisions to the tenure and promotion policies that you worked on in the spring semester were ever made official? I know the faculty voted to approve them, but when I look on the website what I see seems to be our unrevised standards rather than what we approved.
Thanks.

Joan, thanks for circulating this to everyone. I'd like to add just a word about this event.
Deepening the campus's commitment to the scholarship of engagement is one of the six themes of the university's current Academic Plan. (http://academicplan.unc.edu/theme5.php)
This form of scholarship is specifically mentioned in the law school's recent amendments to our tenure and promotion standards, which the faculty ratified and were sent to the Provost's Office. (The new language is below my signature block in this email.)
It's sometimes assumed that this form of scholarship is just conventional scholarship that's communicated specifically to community audiences.
That's not the case. A major purpose of the workshop that Joan forwarded is to acquaint faculty members with this new-ish breed of scholarly work.
Best regards,
Eric

As these standards are being written, most legal scholarship still appears in the form of academic books and book chapters and articles in student-edited law reviews and peer-reviewed journals. However, the law faculty recognizes that this status quo is evolving. In the future, an increasing amount of scholarly work is likely to appear in alternative formats and media. It is the sense of the law faculty that the application of these standards should evolve as well to take into account new understandings of what constitutes scholarship.

It is university policy to encourage and value faculty "engagement," defined as "scholarly, creative or pedagogical activities for the public good, directed toward persons and groups outside the [university]. Such activities (in the form of research, teaching, and/or service) develop as collaborative interactions that respond to short and long-term societal needs." The law school endorses this policy, and it is the sense of the faculty that these standards should be applied so as to encourage and value engagement in teaching, scholarship, and service.

Some further observations are in order. First, many of the activities of the law faculty have historically fit the definition of "engaged." Because the law is a pervasive institution in contemporary society, scholars analyzing the law or advocating for law reform have long directed their work not only to their academic peers but also to lawmakers, judges, and the public, and in some cases have interacted collaboratively with these constituencies in producing their work. The same has been true of the service endeavors of these scholars, including various forms of public education. These standards should be applied so as to encourage and value this tradition. Moreover, as the scope and forms of legal scholarship continue to expand, the opportunities for engagement should only increase, and these standards should be applied so as to encourage and value this trend. But the faculty also recognizes that much important scholarship, because of its content or the demands of its expression, is likely to be consumed and discussed by a narrower audience. The law faculty also places great value on scholarship in this category, and the endorsement of engagement should not be read as discouraging or devaluing such work.

Dear Mr. Ille,

I am writing to invite the University of North Carolina to participate in the NCAA Regulatory Review.

The Executive Committee of the NCAA has commissioned two law firms, Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft LLP, and Spencer Fane Britt & Browne LLP, to undertake a review of the regulatory functions of the NCAA, particularly the Eligibility Center, Academic and Membership Affairs, and Enforcement. (A link to a memo from President Simon, Chair of the NCAA Executive Committee, to the NCAA Membership regarding this Review can be found here.)

As part of this Review, we are meeting with and speaking to campuses across the country and across all three divisions to assess the effectiveness of these functions and consider how closely they meet the membership's expectations.

We would also welcome the opportunity to meet with (or speak to) the university president, senior athletic staff members, members of the general counsel's office (if applicable), coaches, the FAR, and/or any other university official that would like to participate. We should be in the North Carolina area September 12 and would like to arrange a visit, if possible. If that day does not work, we can certainly accommodate another day.

Please feel free to give me a call to discuss this opportunity at 202-862-2248. I am happy to answer any questions you might have. I look forward to hearing from you.

Thanks,
Joe

Friends – Paul Pogge in the Athletics Department is an attorney and is a member of the Uniform Law Commission's drafting committee for a revamp of the Uniform Athlete Agents Act. He was hoping to get some feedback from legal experts (i.e., you) regarding suggestions for improving the statute to assist state authorities in having recourse against unlicensed agents or those who contact student-athletes in prohibited ways.
The attachment indicates that some states (like Oregon) require that the agent contact the school before contacting a student-athlete to discuss possible representation when the student's eligibility ends. Paul wishes to discuss any potential First Amendment concerns with such a provision and would like input on this issue.
Another area of concern is how to incentivize the state to prosecute these cases. We discussed the possibility of the statute creating an alternative dispute forum that would be cheaper, faster, and easier than relying on a D.A. to prosecute this in the court of law when the DA has violent crimes and drug-related crimes that would likely be given much higher priority. To what extent is it possible for a state statute to say that issues related to violation of this statute would be heard first by a panel of 3 arbitrators (or some other group) with the possibility of an appeal to the court system (with a very high standard of review)? One idea that came to mind was the state bar having authority delegated to it to police lawyer misconduct through a system outside of the regular judiciary. Could such an alternative dispute forum mete out criminal penalties including fines or do those have to be prosecuted by the D.A.?
Any guidance you can provide on these matters would be helpful. If it would be easier to talk with Paul directly, his number is 919-843-7690. He would welcome a chance to visit with you before the end of next week.

Good day Faculty!
It's time to place textbook orders for Spring 2014. We need all textbook orders by October 4th or earlier if possible.

You may email your textbook information to me and I'll fill out the form. If you prefer to write out your own order(s), let me know, I'll place a textbook order form in your mailbox, or if you have never done so, you may submit your textbook order on-line directly to the UNC Textbooks Office.

To place an on-line order, you will need your course number and section number. This information can be found on the "green" copies of the Spring 2014 schedule or on My Carolina Law website. You will need to enter the quantity of textbooks; please enter the maximum number according to the seating capacity of your classroom. If you want to order the same book which was used by your course in the past, you can do a search for a previous semester and the book information will be retrieved. If you are unsure about any of this information, please call 962-1249 or contact me by email.

To Place Online Book Orders:

Go to the following site: www.store.unc.edu/textbooks/ You will need to log in using your Onyen and password.

Thanks, Lissa, but I don't think I will be trying to be a presenter this year, now that I have made a job change and am no longer directly involved in THAT kind of financial regulation. Best wishes for your continued success.

Friends – Thanks for your past participation in the Consumer Law and Consumer Credit Symposium at the Festival of Legal Learning. This is an important outreach effort each year for the Center for Banking and Finance and we appreciate your role in making high quality CLE available to our participants on these very vital consumer law and consumer credit issues. I have pasted in below the invitation from our Festival director, Professor Judith Wegner for this year's Festival, which will be held in Chapel Hill on February 14 and 15. If you are willing to participate again this year, please follow the directions below to so indicate. If I can be helpful in any way, please do not hesitate to contact me. If you are unable to participate this year, but have ideas for others who would make good presenters on a consumer law or consumer credit issue, please let me know.
Thanks again and all the best,
Lissa
Dear Esteemed Colleague and Friend of UNC School of Law:

I'm writing to urge you to join us as a member of the faculty for the 2014 Festival of Legal Learning CLE program. The event will take place on Friday and Saturday, February 14 and 15, 2014 at the Friday Center near the UNC campus in Chapel Hill.

This will be the Festival's 24th year. It represents one of the law school's yearly shining moments, when our full time and adjunct faculty, esteemed members of the bench and bar all join together to offer engaging programming for nearly 800 attendees. I think that nearly everyone who has taught in the program comes back glowing and saying that they've had a great deal of fun.

The program began as a "bake sale" to support the law library during the economic downturn back when I was dean, but has now grown to provide the law school with revenue of nearly $250,000 a year. These funds are a crucial resource to support such things as faculty summer grants, research assistant support, professional development and travel, and law library initiatives. It's really a wonderful partnership that gets better and better as time goes by. Even more importantly it is also one of the law school's signature service initiatives, one that is deeply appreciated by members of the bar in North Carolina and beyond.

The program will continue in its traditional format, featuring eight concurrent sessions during each of 12 hour-long segments, and running from Friday morning through mid-day Saturday. Participants choose a mix of offerings in their fields of interest, and to share in this intellectual feast. Some offerings provide introductory or basic coverage in areas that may be unfamiliar to attendees, while others are more advanced. Sessions can be one or two hours in duration, as the presenter prefers.

I'm attaching last year's Festival brochure so you can see the range of subjects we have covered in the past. I would also be happy to send you some of last year's manuscripts upon request.

Here's what we need from you if you're willing to contribute:

1. Complete the on-line form through which we collect simple preliminary information needed for the brochure (name, brief biographical information, title of presentation and two sentence description, availability for time slots on February 14 and 15). We need you to confirm and complete the form b September 27 (sooner is better, however). Here is a link to the collection point: https://unc.qualtrics.com/SE/?SID=SV_bO53DR8i2wyWVmt . Last year, we had most faculty spots taken very early, so please sign up as soon as you can so we can confirm a place for you. You'll be glad you did.

2. Drop me or Jackie Carlock, our wonderful CLE Director an e-mail if you'd like to discuss your topic or focus, or if you have other presenters to suggest. Jackie can be reached at jcarlock@email.unc.edu and I can be reached at Judith_wegner@unc.edu.

3. Submit your manuscript by January 10, 2014 (we'll remind you).

4. Join us on February 14 and 15. You get free CLE credit for all the hours you take, bonus hours for your presentation, an opportunity to see old friend or to meet new colleagues, and the satisfaction of engaging with excellent lawyers and contributing to the quality of the bar.

Thanks for giving this invitation your careful consideration. We hope you'll join us, and know that you'll enjoy it if you can. Warm wishes.

Dear Mr. Ille,

I am writing to invite the University of North Carolina to participate in the NCAA Regulatory Review.

The Executive Committee of the NCAA has commissioned two law firms, Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft LLP, and Spencer Fane Britt & Browne LLP, to undertake a review of the regulatory functions of the NCAA, particularly the Eligibility Center, Academic and Membership Affairs, and Enforcement. (A link to a memo from President Simon, Chair of the NCAA Executive Committee, to the NCAA Membership regarding this Review can be found here.)

As part of this Review, we are meeting with and speaking to campuses across the country and across all three divisions to assess the effectiveness of these functions and consider how closely they meet the membership's expectations.

We would also welcome the opportunity to meet with (or speak to) the university president, senior athletic staff members, members of the general counsel's office (if applicable), coaches, the FAR, and/or any other university official that would like to participate. We should be in the North Carolina area September 12 and would like to arrange a visit, if possible. If that day does not work, we can certainly accommodate another day.

Please feel free to give me a call to discuss this opportunity at 202-862-2248. I am happy to answer any questions you might have. I look forward to hearing from you.

Thanks,
Joe

AAU Protests Efforts to Cut Federal Funds for Social Science
Inside Higher Ed
Sept. 18

As Congress debates over a stopgap spending measure to keep the government open past October 1, the group representing America's elite research universities on Tuesday issued a statement protesting efforts by Congress impose restrictions on or ban federal funding for social and behavioral science research. The Association of American Universities said called those efforts "disturbing" and "inappropriate," arguing that they would "relegate such research to second-class status in federal research funding."

Attach: charlotte problem 2013.pdf

Good afternoon from the Office of Advancement. Thank you for participating in the UNC School of Law Charlotte Professionalism Dinner at the Charlotte City Club on Wednesday, September 25, 2013, sponsored by Lawyers Mutual Liability Insurance Company of North Carolina and Lawyers Insurance Agency. The evening will begin with a reception at 6:00 pm followed by dinner at 6:30 pm.

The 2013 Charlotte Professionalism problem and relevant rules and materials which will form the basis of the evening□s ethical discussions are attached. Two hoursof ethics and professional responsibility CLE credit are pending for this program. If you would like to receive CLE credit please email your Bar number to kmmann@email.unc.edu if you did not include it on your reply card or in your online registration. Judges, alumni, faculty, and students will discuss the scenarios over dinner. At the conclusion of dinner, Dean Boger will facilitate a group discussion and a representative from each table will summarize the conversations of their group. The main purpose of this program is to offer students the opportunity to discuss issues of ethics and professionalism with lawyers and judges.

Directions and parking information for the Charlotte City Club can be found at http://www.charlottecityclub.com/.

IMPORTANT: If for any reason you will not be able to attend, please contact Kelly Mann in the Office of Advancement at 919.445.0170 or kmmann@email.unc.edu by Monday, September 23, at 4:00 pm. Each table is carefully composed of judges, alumni, faculty, and students. If you are unable to attend an appropriate substitution will need to be made.

IMPORTANT Notice for Students: The bus will depart the School of Law parking lot (upper lot by the fountain) on Wednesday, September 25, at promptly at 3:15 p.m. and go directly to the Charlotte City Club for the evening's program. Please arrive by 3:00 p.m. to check in on the bus.

A couple of reminders:

1. The dress for this program is business attire; and

2. If you would like a vegetarian entr□e and have not already indicated so, please email me at kmmann@email.unc.edu by Monday, September 23, at Noon.

IMPORTANT Notice for Faculty Facilitators: You will receive a follow up email regarding your table responsibilities.

You are an attorney who moved from the city to take over a small town practice that does both civil and criminal law. You took over the practice a year ago from an older attorney, Fred Thompson, who was phasing out his practice. He died a month ago. Going through his files to see what, if anything, you needed to do to make sure that the practice's affairs are in order, you found the following note in his desk, addressed to you: It says:

"Dear _____, I need to tell someone about this. In 2009, I represented Charlie Smith, the son of Chuck Smith, one of my biggest clients, in connection with a homicide investigation in which a student at the local high school was killed. His father came to me because he believed Charlie needed a lawyer, but he wouldn't say why. When I talked to Charlie, he confessed to me that he had been drunk and joyriding in a "borrowed" car when he hit and killed a pedestrian. He fled the scene, and left the car a block away from the accident and ran home. I told him not to say anything, because the odds of the death being traced back to him were very low.

The owner, Bill Wilson, reported the car stolen, and it was recovered by the police. Forensic evidence proved that the deceased pedestrian's blood was on the hood, bumper and undercarriage. Two weeks after our conversation, Bill was charged with vehicular homicide. Bill is a blackout drunk with a prior history of DWI, and he was photographed behind the wheel driving the car through a photo-enforced red light 30 minutes before the time of death. An eyewitness reported seeing the car fleeing the scene of the crash. A bartender at The Salty Dog reported that he had stopped serving Bill earlier in the night and called him a cab, but he saw Bill leave the bar and get into his car. (I also represent the Salty Dog. Charlie had been drinking there with Bill earlier in the evening, and Charlie "borrowed" Bill's keys from the bar. It potentially would have opened the Salty Dog up to civil liability if they were responsible for serving Charlie when he was drunk.) In late 2010, Bill pled guilty to one count of vehicular homicide, on the basis of the eyewitness testimony and forensic evidence, and he was sentenced to 15 years in prison. Charlie refuses to do anything to correct the record. I believe he told Chuck what happened at the time. I recently found out that Charlie lied to the police when he was asked if he knew anything about what happened that night. This has been the worst thing that ever happened to me. Bill was one of my son's best friends, and he has had a horrible time in prison. I know I'm dying now, and I want to make this right. Please do what you think is right with this information."

When you took over the practice, you also inherited the representation of Chuck Smith, the most important business owner in town. He and his business interests constitute two-thirds of your business. You also represent The Salty Dog, which has become such a famous brand that the owner is now seeking to franchise it and go public. You were responsible for filing the documents for the public offering, including a statement that lists any potential exposure to litigation risk. You listed those potential liabilities as "none" on the filing form. There is an ongoing duty to disclose any such risks in future filings.

At a dinner last night, a friend who runs The Innocence Project at the local law school told you that one of his students has opened an investigation of Bill's case, and that a reporter at the local weekly paper has turned up rumors that there is another eyewitness, who can testify that someone else was behind the wheel.

1) Can you do anything about the wrongful conviction in Bill's case?
2) Should you?
3) Do you owe any additional duties to Charlie? Should you inform him about the Innocence Project investigation?
4) What are your duties to The Salty Dog?
5) Do you owe any duties to the SEC? What, if anything can you disclose to them?
6) Can you continue to represent The Salty Dog? Charlie?

Applicable Rules

Preamble:

[12] In the nature of law practice, however, conflicting responsibilities are encountered. Virtually all difficult ethical problems arise from conflict between a lawyer's responsibilities to clients, to the legal system, and to the lawyer's own interest in remaining an ethical person while earning a satisfactory living. The Rules of Professional Conduct often prescribe terms for resolving such conflicts. Within the framework of these Rules, however, many difficult issues of professional discretion can arise. Such issues must be resolved through the exercise of sensitive professional and moral judgment guided by the basic principles underlying the Rules. These principles include the lawyer's obligation zealously to protect and pursue a client's legitimate interests, within the bounds of the law, while maintaining a professional, courteous and civil attitude toward all persons involved in the legal system.

Rule 1.6 Confidentiality Of Information

(a) A lawyer shall not reveal information relating to the representation of a client unless the client gives informed consent, the disclosure is impliedly authorized in order to carry out the representation or the disclosure is permitted by paragraph (b).
(b) A lawyer may reveal information relating to the representation of a client to the extent the lawyer reasonably believes necessary:

(1) to prevent reasonably certain death or substantial bodily harm;

(2) to prevent the client from committing a crime or fraud that is reasonably certain to result in substantial injury to the financial interests or property of another and in furtherance of which the client has used or is using the lawyer's services;

(3) to prevent, mitigate or rectify substantial injury to the financial interests or property of another that is reasonably certain to result or has resulted from the client's commission of a crime or fraud in furtherance of which the client has used the lawyer's services;

(4) to secure legal advice about the lawyer's compliance with these Rules;

(5) to establish a claim or defense on behalf of the lawyer in a controversy between the lawyer and the client, to establish a defense to a criminal charge or civil claim against the lawyer based upon conduct in which the client was involved, or to respond to allegations in any proceeding concerning the lawyer's representation of the client; or

(6) to comply with other law or a court order.

Rule 1.7 Conflict of Interest: Current Clients

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b), a lawyer shall not represent a client if the representation involves a concurrent conflict of interest. A concurrent conflict of interest exists if:

(1) the representation of one client will be directly adverse to another client; or

(2) the representation of one or more clients may be materially limited by the lawyer's responsibilities to another client, a former client, or a third person, or by a personal interest of the lawyer.

(b) Notwithstanding the existence of a concurrent conflict of interest under paragraph (a), a lawyer may represent a client if:

(1) the lawyer reasonably believes that the lawyer will be able to provide competent and diligent representation to each affected client;

(2) the representation is not prohibited by law;

(3) the representation does not involve the assertion of a claim by one client against another client represented by the lawyer in the same litigation or other proceeding before a tribunal; and

Rule 1.9 Duties to Former Clients

(a) A lawyer who has formerly represented a client in a matter shall not thereafter represent another person in the same or a substantially related matter in which that person's interests are materially adverse to the interests of the former client unless the former client gives informed consent, confirmed in writing.

(b) A lawyer shall not knowingly represent a person in the same or a substantially related matter in which a firm with which the lawyer formerly was associated had previously represented a client

(1) whose interests are materially adverse to that person; and

(2) about whom the lawyer had acquired information protected by Rules 1.6 and 1.9(c) that is material to the matter; unless the former client gives informed consent, confirmed in writing.

(c) A lawyer who has formerly represented a client in a matter or whose present or former firm has formerly represented a client in a matter shall not thereafter:

(1) use information relating to the representation to the disadvantage of the former client except as these Rules would permit or require with respect to a client, or when the information has become generally known; or

(2) reveal information relating to the representation except as these Rules would permit or require with respect to a client.

Client-Lawyer Relationship

Rule 2.1 Advisor

In representing a client, a lawyer shall exercise independent, professional judgment and render candid advice. In rendering advice, a lawyer may refer not only to law, but also to other considerations such as moral, economic, social, and political factors that may be relevant to the client's situation.

Rule 3.3 Candor Toward the Tribunal

(a) A lawyer shall not knowingly:

> (1) make a false statement of material fact or law to a tribunal or fail to correct a false statement of material fact or law previously made to the tribunal by the lawyer;
> (2) fail to disclose to the tribunal legal authority in the controlling jurisdiction known to the lawyer to be directly adverse to the position of the client and not disclosed by opposing counsel; or
> (3) offer evidence that the lawyer knows to be false. If a lawyer, the lawyer's client, or a witness called by the lawyer, has offered material evidence and the lawyer comes to know of its falsity, the lawyer shall take reasonable remedial measures, including, if necessary, disclosure to the tribunal. A lawyer may refuse to offer evidence, other than the testimony of a defendant in a criminal matter, that the lawyer reasonably believes is false.

(b) A lawyer who represents a client in an adjudicative proceeding and who knows that a person intends to engage, is engaging or has engaged in criminal or fraudulent conduct related to the proceeding shall take reasonable remedial measures, including, if necessary, disclosure to the tribunal.

(c) The duties stated in paragraphs (a) and (b) continue to the conclusion of the proceeding, and apply even if compliance requires disclosure of information otherwise protected by Rule 1.6.

(d) In an ex parte proceeding, a lawyer shall inform the tribunal of all material facts known to the lawyer that will enable the tribunal to make an informed decision, whether or not the facts are adverse.

Maintaining The Integrity Of The Profession

Rule 8.3 Reporting Professional Misconduct

(a) A lawyer who knows that another lawyer has committed a violation of the Rules of Professional Conduct that raises a substantial question as to that lawyer's honesty, trustworthiness or fitness as a lawyer in other respects, shall inform the appropriate professional authority.

(b) A lawyer who knows that a judge has committed a violation of applicable rules of judicial conduct that raises a substantial question as to the judge's fitness for office shall inform the appropriate authority.

(c) This Rule does not require disclosure of information otherwise protected by Rule 1.6 or information gained by a lawyer or judge while participating in an approved lawyers assistance program.

ABA Criminal Justice Section Standards

Standard 14- 3.2. Responsibilities of defense counsel

(a) Defense counsel should keep the defendant advised of developments arising out of plea discussions conducted with the prosecuting attorney, and should promptly communicate and explain to the defendant all plea offers made by the prosecuting attorney.

(b) To aid the defendant in reaching a decision, defense counsel, after appropriate investigation, should advise the defendant of the alternatives available and address considerations deemed important by defense counsel or the defendant in reaching a decision. Defense counsel should not recommend to a defendant acceptance of a plea unless appropriate investigation and study of the case has been completed.

(c) Defense counsel should conclude a plea agreement only with the consent of the defendant, and should ensure that the decision whether to enter a plea of guilty or nolo contendere is ultimately made by the defendant.

(d) Defense counsel should not knowingly make false statements or representations as to law or fact in the course of plea discussions with the prosecuting attorney.

(e) At the outset of a case, and whenever the law, nature and circumstances of the case permit, defense counsel should explore the possibility of a diversion of the case from the criminal process.

(f) To the extent possible, defense counsel should determine and advise the defendant, sufficiently in advance of the entry of any plea, as to the possible collateral consequences that might ensue from entry of the contemplated plea.

Good afternoon from the Office of Advancement. Thank you for participating in the UNC School of Law Charlotte Professionalism Dinner at the Charlotte City Club on Wednesday, September 25, 2013, sponsored by Lawyers Mutual Liability Insurance Company of North Carolina and Lawyers Insurance Agency. The evening will begin with a reception at 6:00 pm followed by dinner at 6:30 pm.

The 2013 Charlotte Professionalism problem and relevant rules and materials which will form the basis of the evening□s ethical discussions are attached. Two hoursof ethics and professional responsibility CLE credit are pending for this program. If you would like to receive CLE credit please email your Bar number to kmmann@email.unc.edu if you did not include it on your reply card or in your online registration. Judges, alumni, faculty, and students will discuss the scenarios over dinner. At the conclusion of dinner, Dean Boger will facilitate a group discussion and a representative from each table will summarize the conversations of their group. The main purpose of this program is to offer students the opportunity to discuss issues of ethics and professionalism with lawyers and judges.

Directions and parking information for the Charlotte City Club can be found at http://www.charlottecityclub.com/.

IMPORTANT: If for any reason you will not be able to attend, please contact Kelly Mann in the Office of Advancement at 919.445.0170 or kmmann@email.unc.edu by Monday, September 23, at 4:00 pm. Each table is carefully composed of judges, alumni, faculty, and students. If you are unable to attend an appropriate substitution will need to be made.

IMPORTANT Notice for Students: The bus will depart the School of Law parking lot (upper lot by the fountain) on Wednesday, September 25, at promptly at 3:15 p.m. and go directly to the Charlotte City Club for the evening's program. Please arrive by 3:00 p.m. to check in on the bus.

A couple of reminders:

1. The dress for this program is business attire; and

2. If you would like a vegetarian entr□e and have not already indicated so, please email me at kmmann@email.unc.edu by Monday, September 23, at Noon.

IMPORTANT Notice for Faculty Facilitators: You will receive a follow up email regarding your table responsibilities.

You are an attorney who moved from the city to take over a small town practice that does both civil and criminal law. You took over the practice a year ago from an older attorney, Fred Thompson, who was phasing out his practice. He died a month ago. Going through his files to see what, if anything, you needed to do to make sure that the practice's affairs are in order, you found the following note in his desk, addressed to you: It says:

"Dear _____, I need to tell someone about this. In 2009, I represented Charlie Smith, the son of Chuck Smith, one of my biggest clients, in connection with a homicide investigation in which a student at the local high school was killed. His father came to me because he believed Charlie needed a lawyer, but he wouldn't say why. When I talked to Charlie, he confessed to me that he had been drunk and joyriding in a "borrowed" car when he hit and killed a pedestrian. He fled the scene, and left the car a block away from the accident and ran home. I told him not to say anything, because the odds of the death being traced back to him were very low.

The owner, Bill Wilson, reported the car stolen, and it was recovered by the police. Forensic evidence proved that the deceased pedestrian's blood was on the hood, bumper and undercarriage. Two weeks after our conversation, Bill was charged with vehicular homicide. Bill is a blackout drunk with a prior history of DWI, and he was photographed behind the wheel driving the car through a photo-enforced red light 30 minutes before the time of death. An eyewitness reported seeing the car fleeing the scene of the crash. A bartender at The Salty Dog reported that he had stopped serving Bill earlier in the night and called him a cab, but he saw Bill leave the bar and get into his car. (I also represent the Salty Dog. Charlie had been drinking there with Bill earlier in the evening, and Charlie "borrowed" Bill's keys from the bar. It potentially would have opened the Salty Dog up to civil liability if they were responsible for serving Charlie when he was drunk.) In late 2010, Bill pled guilty to one count of vehicular homicide, on the basis of the eyewitness testimony and forensic evidence, and he was sentenced to 15 years in prison. Charlie refuses to do anything to correct the record. I believe he told Chuck what happened at the time. I recently found out that Charlie lied to the police when he was asked if he knew anything about what happened that night. This has been the worst thing that ever happened to me. Bill was one of my son's best friends, and he has had a horrible time in prison. I know I'm dying now, and I want to make this right. Please do what you think is right with this information."

When you took over the practice, you also inherited the representation of Chuck Smith, the most important business owner in town. He and his business interests constitute two-thirds of your business. You also represent The Salty Dog, which has become such a famous brand that the owner is now seeking to franchise it and go public. You were responsible for filing the documents for the public offering, including a statement that lists any potential exposure to litigation risk. You listed those potential liabilities as "none" on the filing form. There is an ongoing duty to disclose any such risks in future filings.

At a dinner last night, a friend who runs The Innocence Project at the local law school told you that one of his students has opened an investigation of Bill's case, and that a reporter at the local weekly paper has turned up rumors that there is another eyewitness, who can testify that someone else was behind the wheel.

1) Can you do anything about the wrongful conviction in Bill's case?
2) Should you?
3) Do you owe any additional duties to Charlie? Should you inform him about the Innocence Project investigation?
4) What are your duties to The Salty Dog?
5) Do you owe any duties to the SEC? What, if anything can you disclose to them?
6) Can you continue to represent The Salty Dog? Charlie?

Applicable Rules

Preamble:

[12] In the nature of law practice, however, conflicting responsibilities are encountered. Virtually all difficult ethical problems arise from conflict between a lawyer's responsibilities to clients, to the legal system, and to the lawyer's own interest in remaining an ethical person while earning a satisfactory living. The Rules of Professional Conduct often prescribe terms for resolving such conflicts. Within the framework of these Rules, however, many difficult issues of professional discretion can arise. Such issues must be resolved through the exercise of sensitive professional and moral judgment guided by the basic principles underlying the Rules. These principles include the lawyer's obligation zealously to protect and pursue a client's legitimate interests, within the bounds of the law, while maintaining a professional, courteous and civil attitude toward all persons involved in the legal system.

Rule 1.6 Confidentiality Of Information

(a) A lawyer shall not reveal information relating to the representation of a client unless the client gives informed consent, the disclosure is impliedly authorized in order to carry out the representation or the disclosure is permitted by paragraph (b).
(b) A lawyer may reveal information relating to the representation of a client to the extent the lawyer reasonably believes necessary:

(1) to prevent reasonably certain death or substantial bodily harm;

(2) to prevent the client from committing a crime or fraud that is reasonably certain to result in substantial injury to the financial interests or property of another and in furtherance of which the client has used or is using the lawyer's services;

(3) to prevent, mitigate or rectify substantial injury to the financial interests or property of another that is reasonably certain to result or has resulted from the client's commission of a crime or fraud in furtherance of which the client has used the lawyer's services;

(4) to secure legal advice about the lawyer's compliance with these Rules;

(5) to establish a claim or defense on behalf of the lawyer in a controversy between the lawyer and the client, to establish a defense to a criminal charge or civil claim against the lawyer based upon conduct in which the client was involved, or to respond to allegations in any proceeding concerning the lawyer's representation of the client; or

(6) to comply with other law or a court order.

Rule 1.7 Conflict of Interest: Current Clients

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b), a lawyer shall not represent a client if the representation involves a concurrent conflict of interest. A concurrent conflict of interest exists if:

(1) the representation of one client will be directly adverse to another client; or

(2) the representation of one or more clients may be materially limited by the lawyer's responsibilities to another client, a former client, or a third person, or by a personal interest of the lawyer.

(b) Notwithstanding the existence of a concurrent conflict of interest under paragraph (a), a lawyer may represent a client if:

(1) the lawyer reasonably believes that the lawyer will be able to provide competent and diligent representation to each affected client;

(2) the representation is not prohibited by law;

(3) the representation does not involve the assertion of a claim by one client against another client represented by the lawyer in the same litigation or other proceeding before a tribunal; and

Rule 1.9 Duties to Former Clients

(a) A lawyer who has formerly represented a client in a matter shall not thereafter represent another person in the same or a substantially related matter in which that person's interests are materially adverse to the interests of the former client unless the former client gives informed consent, confirmed in writing.

(b) A lawyer shall not knowingly represent a person in the same or a substantially related matter in which a firm with which the lawyer formerly was associated had previously represented a client

(1) whose interests are materially adverse to that person; and

(2) about whom the lawyer had acquired information protected by Rules 1.6 and 1.9(c) that is material to the matter; unless the former client gives informed consent, confirmed in writing.

(c) A lawyer who has formerly represented a client in a matter or whose present or former firm has formerly represented a client in a matter shall not thereafter:

(1) use information relating to the representation to the disadvantage of the former client except as these Rules would permit or require with respect to a client, or when the information has become generally known; or

(2) reveal information relating to the representation except as these Rules would permit or require with respect to a client.

Client-Lawyer Relationship

Rule 2.1 Advisor

In representing a client, a lawyer shall exercise independent, professional judgment and render candid advice. In rendering advice, a lawyer may refer not only to law, but also to other considerations such as moral, economic, social, and political factors that may be relevant to the client's situation.

Rule 3.3 Candor Toward the Tribunal

(a) A lawyer shall not knowingly:

> (1) make a false statement of material fact or law to a tribunal or fail to correct a false statement of material fact or law previously made to the tribunal by the lawyer;
> (2) fail to disclose to the tribunal legal authority in the controlling jurisdiction known to the lawyer to be directly adverse to the position of the client and not disclosed by opposing counsel; or
> (3) offer evidence that the lawyer knows to be false. If a lawyer, the lawyer's client, or a witness called by the lawyer, has offered material evidence and the lawyer comes to know of its falsity, the lawyer shall take reasonable remedial measures, including, if necessary, disclosure to the tribunal. A lawyer may refuse to offer evidence, other than the testimony of a defendant in a criminal matter, that the lawyer reasonably believes is false.

(b) A lawyer who represents a client in an adjudicative proceeding and who knows that a person intends to engage, is engaging or has engaged in criminal or fraudulent conduct related to the proceeding shall take reasonable remedial measures, including, if necessary, disclosure to the tribunal.

(c) The duties stated in paragraphs (a) and (b) continue to the conclusion of the proceeding, and apply even if compliance requires disclosure of information otherwise protected by Rule 1.6.

(d) In an ex parte proceeding, a lawyer shall inform the tribunal of all material facts known to the lawyer that will enable the tribunal to make an informed decision, whether or not the facts are adverse.

Maintaining The Integrity Of The Profession

Rule 8.3 Reporting Professional Misconduct

(a) A lawyer who knows that another lawyer has committed a violation of the Rules of Professional Conduct that raises a substantial question as to that lawyer's honesty, trustworthiness or fitness as a lawyer in other respects, shall inform the appropriate professional authority.

(b) A lawyer who knows that a judge has committed a violation of applicable rules of judicial conduct that raises a substantial question as to the judge's fitness for office shall inform the appropriate authority.

(c) This Rule does not require disclosure of information otherwise protected by Rule 1.6 or information gained by a lawyer or judge while participating in an approved lawyers assistance program.

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] A New Relationship With Food

If binge eating or loss of control over eating is something that you struggle with the Balance therapy group could offer you the support you need to develop a more healthy relationship with food.

Over 20 weeks we will explore the role of binge eating in your life and how to practice the balance needed to overcome it. Mindfulness based practices will be used throughout the group to strengthen your awareness of your thoughts as they relate to binge eating. Emotion regulation skills and awareness of the body will be interwoven to increase emotion identification and how to move through feelings as they arise. We will also focus on our relationships with one another in the group to help strengthen your relationship with yourself and with others in your life.

This group is open every 5 weeks for new comers when openings are available. Prior to beginning, an initial evaluation and an additional individual meeting must be completed with Colie so that she can get to know you and your relationship with food.

After completing the 20 week group, you can choose to join The Graduates' Group, an on-going process and support group for people in recovery from binge eating disorder who have completed The Balance Group.

Group meets Thursdays from 3:30-5:00pm at UNC in the Neurosciences hospital. Group will be welcoming new comers September 26th and again on November 7th and every 5 weeks after. Please contact Colie Taico, LCSW at 919-843-9207 or ctaico@med.unc.edu for more information.

Hi Tony & Todd -- I just noticed that as of Friday around noon, Todd's name was not on the registration list. Stu and Jonathan are using your firm's complimentary admissions and Tony is comped as a panel coordinator.
Also, Phil has two complimentary sponsor admissions since he is comped as a panelist.
If Todd or someone else needs to register, they should go to http://www.law.unc.edu/cle/bankinginstitute/logistics/ and indicate "Prepaid Corporate Sponsor" when it comes time to pay. Just let me know if someone is using the Hutchison Company complimentary admissions.
Thanks,

Thanks very much for the invite! Unfortunately, I'm in pretty much the identical situation to Clay.
Clay may have some other suggestions, but I know Chris Fowler (at MVA in Charlotte) would be a good choice for an invitee. He may already be coming to the event, but I'm not sure.
Thanks again,

Jack

I'd love to go, but I have a closing that, while scheduled for tomorrow, will almost certainly push to Thursday or Friday. If Jack is unable to make it, I can certainly provide a couple of names of folks in Charlotte who might be interested.
Thanks for keeping me in mind,

Jack or Clay; do either of you have time and/or interest in attending? I have a complimentary pass for one person from Phil Huber at The Hutchison Company if either of you want to attend; All you would need is to register at the Ritz Carlton; good CLE and good company too! Todd, Jonathan, Stu and I are going to be there. If neither of you can go, can you suggest a classmate, maybe in a Charlotte firm, that might want to use it and I will get up with him/her.
Thanks; come see me in the rarified air of the 5th floor sometime!

Understood. I hope the Banking Institute goes well this week. Unfortunately, I am stuck in Raleigh because a patent law bill (anti-patent troll) that I have worked on is likely going to be introduced this Thursday at the General Assembly during the Joint Legislative Economic Development and Global Engagement Oversight Committee meeting. Around 25 states are moving legislation in that space.

Dear Lissa:

On April 15th at 11 a.m., the North Carolina Bankers Association will hold a press conference at the Sheraton Imperial RTP (4700 Emperor Boulevard, Durham, NC 27703). During this press conference and the accompanying presentation, the results of a new study on immigration will be released. This new study will be even more expansive in its scope than a nonpartisan study commissioned by the bankers association in 2006 and produced by the nationally recognized Kenan-Flagler Business School at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The 2006 study received extensive and continuing coverage by the media. It was entitled "The Economic Impact of the Hispanic Population on the State of North Carolina."

The new study is again being produced by the Kenan-Flagler Business School at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The presentation on the study's findings will be by two UNC professors. The presentation is expected to conclude by noon.

An executive summary and electronic copy of the study will be made available to the attendees. The study will contain economic data and population trends involving workers moving to North Carolina from other states and from other countries. For example, this study will examine the growth and spending power of the Hispanic population, it will examine North Carolina's ties to Asia and the influence of Asian Americans, and it will look at migrations of people from other states as they relocate to North Carolina. In particular, the data on government expenditures and inflows to the economy will be of great interest to policymakers. This will also be a networking opportunity for those interested in this topic.

There is no cost to attend, but seating is limited. Please contact Nathan Batts (nathan@ncbankers.org or 919-781-7979) for more information, or to RSVP please contact Vickie Bowers (vickie@ncbankers.org) to reserve a seat for the presentation. Further information and a link to the prior study are available as a news item on the homepage of the bankers association at www.ncba.com or www.ncbankers.org.

We hope that you will join us for this event.

Sincerely,
Nathan R. Batts
Senior Vice President and Counsel

SUMMER AND POST-GRADUATE EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

O'Neill Institute Accepting Applications for 2014-2015 Fellows

The O'Neill Institute for National and Global Health Law is seeking exceptionally qualified candidates to serve as O'Neill Institute Law Fellows. Housed at Georgetown University Law Center in Washington, D.C., the O'Neill Institute is a leading research institute for health law. For more details about O'Neill and its ongoing work please visit the Institute's website.

Applications should be submitted online by Friday, April 25, 2014 and must include: CV, cover letter, writing sample, professional references, official law school transcripts and other graduate school transcripts (if applicable).

Any questions about the position should be directed via email to the Institute. Read more information on the position online.

1Ls and 2Ls: Mark Your Calendars for Fall OCIs!

- Bidding begins in July for Fall OCIs. The interviews will take place at the Law School Monday, August 11 through Friday, September 26, 2014. No interviews will be scheduled the week of Labor Day, September 1-5.
- Employers have begun scheduling their fall OCI dates now, and will continue to do so throughout the summer. You will be able to see the information in Symplicity for employers who have scheduled OCIs starting in late March.
- Keep in mind that bidding for regional programs and on-campus interviews will take place over the summer and don't miss these important deadlines.

FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

Equal Justice America Fellowships: Deadline Monday, April 7

EJA is now offering EJA Summer Fellowships to law students at all of North Carolina's law schools. Fellowships pay up to $4,000 for 10 weeks of full-time work. Application information can be found on the program's website.

To apply, students must line up a placement with an organization in North Carolina that provides civil legal assistance to the poor. The application deadline posted on the website is March 24, but it has been extended for UNC students until April 7. Applications must be postmarked by April 7. The application postmark deadline is April 7, 2014.

AmeriCorps JD

This year, the focus of AmeriCorps JD is on providing legal service to veterans. As in past years, law students who participate have the opportunity to earn a $1,175 Segal AmeriCorps Education Award - a voucher for educational expenses - for dedicating 300 hours of service to a qualifying legal project with legal aid organizations, veterans' law clinics, veterans treatment courts, and state or local government agencies.

The deadline for applications is April 15, and the 300 hours must be completed by August 31, 2014.

Hi Carol – I have attached the materials Karol Sparks used last year for the financial statement discussion. It includes information on capital, but Karol has not updated it. Could you review this PowerPoint (and Karol's email below) and make any modifications or additions you'd like? We are on a tight timetable and really need to receive this back by Monday at noon, if possible. We will be leaving for Charlotte on Tuesday midday and we need to have the materials copied and stuffed into participant folders before then.

Also, we would be happy to have up to two people from your firm attend the program on a complimentary basis in recognition of your firm providing the space for the program. They should register for the program by Monday at noon as well. When it comes time to pay, they can select UNC law faculty or staff and avoid paying a fee. The online registration is at http://www.law.unc.edu/cle/abcbanking/logistics/.

Thanks,
Lissa

Lissa – for financial statements, I will use the first two substantive PPT slides and will want the footnotes in the WORD doc in the written materials. If Carol would like to build her capital behind my two slides, that would be great. Plus, she can obviously use any of the ones that are there. I am also not wed to the back ground if she wants to change that. I will go over the balance sheet and the income statement – 20 minutes maybe and leave the rest for Carol, if that works.

I have to teach at WFU at 2:30 that day so I will be slipping out, and I apologize for that, but snow days prevent be from cancelling a two hour class, which I had originally planned to do.

Friends –

I need you all to update your Powerpoints for this program by a week from today, Friday, February 28 at 5:00, if at all possible. Karol and Carol should get together to review last year's materials for "Understanding a Bank through its Financial Statements" (which I have attached) to make any necessary modifications and discuss how they are going to handle that hour-long presentation. I will update and revise the "Activity and Investment Limitations" slides which have been handed down from Lawrence Baxter, to Saule Omarova, and now to me. If anyone needs me to send them a copy of their materials from last year, please let me know.

As of Wednesday, we had 17 registrants. I'm hopeful some more will register. I have attached an email you can use to encourage your colleagues to attend.

Thanks and enjoy this lovely spring weather.

Friends –

I need you all to update your Powerpoints for this program by a week from today, Friday, February 28 at 5:00, if at all possible. Karol and Carol should get together to review last year's materials for "Understanding a Bank through its Financial Statements" (which I have attached) to make any necessary modifications and discuss how they are going to handle that hour-long presentation. I will update and revise the "Activity and Investment Limitations" slides which have been handed down from Lawrence Baxter, to Saule Omarova, and now to me. If anyone needs me to send them a copy of their materials from last year, please let me know.

As of Wednesday, we had 17 registrants. I'm hopeful some more will register. I have attached an email you can use to encourage your colleagues to attend.

Thanks and enjoy this lovely spring weather.

The ABCs of Banking: Get the Basics

Agenda

Wednesday, April 2, 2014:

8:30 a.m. Registration and Coffee

9:00 a.m. Introductions

9:30 a.m. Overview of Bank Regulatory Structure and Law
Karol K. Sparks, Barack Ferrazzano Kirschbaum & Nagelberg LLP

This class provides a chronological review of the major banking legislation from the passage of the National Bank Act in 1864 through the Dodd-Frank Act with particular emphasis on the legislation that created the federal banking agencies and the mandate of those agencies. The class will include a review of the organization and structure of each of the agencies, a brief discussion of the dual banking system and a description of the role of state bank regulators.

10:30 a.m. Industry Structure, Bank and Holding Company Powers and Regulatory Themes
Lissa L. Broome, UNC School of Law and the Center for Banking and Finance

This class explores the structure of the industry and the basic powers limitation so the various entities in the structure. The dual banking system and preemption are highlighted. The session describes the regulatory themes that provide the basis for U.S. bank regulation, including limited entry, the separation of banking and commerce, the protection of the insured depository institution, the implied federal subsidy of deposit insurance, limitations on size and other themes are developed in a way that allows the class to move seamlessly to an application of those themes to the Dodd-Frank Act.

11:30 a.m. Break

11:45 a.m. Understanding a Bank through its Financial Statements
Lissa L. Broome, University of North Carolina School of Law; Eugene M. Katz, Wells Fargo & Company; Karol K. Sparks, Barack Ferrazzano Kirschbaum & Nagelberg LLP

This class will analyze the basic bank balance sheet and earnings statement with a view to understanding how banks gather funds, redeploy them and earn money. Emphasis will be placed on current events that have reshaped bank balance sheets and the causes of such changes. The guidelines of the federal banking regulators governing the measurement of capital held by banking organizations will play a central role in the class. The session also includes a detailed discussion of the proposed Basel IIII capital guidelines and the changes wrought by the Dodd-Frank Act. The use of capital in other safety and soundness regulations sets the stage for the classes on affiliate transactions and lending.

12:45 p.m. Luncheon

1:30 p.m. Prudential Limitations & Safety and Soundness
Scott A. Cammarn, Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft

This class provides an overview of all of the various types of regulations that govern lending by banks, with a particular focus on the safety and soundness regulations of loans to one borrower and loans to insiders under Regulation O of the Federal Reserve Act. Sections 23A and 23B of the Federal Reserve Act and the Federal Reserve's Regulation W on affiliate transactions are perhaps the key safety and soundness measures of the Federal Reserve to protect banks, and this class will address this key structure in detail.

2:30 p.m. Activity and Investment Limitations
Carol A. Hitselberger, Mayer Brown, LLP

This class focuses on an overview of permitted financial activities, including those that are financial in nature at the holding company and those that are the business of banking in the national bank. The securities activities are broken down into permissible underwriting and dealing and investment and agency. The class closes with a survey of permissible controlling and non-controlling investments, and the impact of the Volcker Rule.

3:30 p.m. Break

3:45 p.m. Supervision, Examination and Enforcement
Eugene M. Katz, Wells Fargo & Company

The supervisory approach of the federal banking regulators and their exam process is markedly different from the more traditional interaction of investment banks with the SEC. This class explores those differences in approach, in the exam process itself, in any remedial actions to be taken to address exam issues and, finally, in the use of certain formal and informal enforcement tools in public or non-public proceedings. There is a practical emphasis on dealing with examiners, preparing for exams by the bank regulators and in responding to exam findings and criticisms.

4:45 p.m. Deposit Insurance, Failure and Resolution
Mark C. Kanaly, Alston + Bird, LLP

This class involves a discussion of regulations governing insured bank deposits and the cost of deposit insurance. It then provides a detailed review of the failure and resolution process from the point of an adverse exam and a formal or informal enforcement action to the point of appointment of the FDIC as receiver for a bank and the alternatives available to the FDIC to resolve a failing bank. There will be some comparison and contrast of the FDIC receivership for insured depository institutions, the bankruptcy process for the parent holding company and other corporate affiliates and the Orderly Liquidation Authority of the Dodd-Frank Act.

Panelists

Lissa L. Broome

Lissa Broome is the Wells Fargo Professor of Banking Law at the UNC School of Law and Director of the school's Center for Banking and Finance. She teaches banking law and secured transactions. Professor Broome also serves as the University's Faculty Athletics Representative to the ACC and the NCAA. Broome earned a B.S. from the University of Illinois and a J.D. from Harvard University.

Scott A. Cammarn

Scott Cammarn is a partner at Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft, LLP. Mr. Cammarn has more than twenty years of experience in the banking industry and his legal career has spanned all areas of banking compliance and consumer finance law. His practice focuses on regulatory matters, mergers and acquisitions, legislation and lobbying, corporate affairs, training, and antitrust. He has represented a number of nationally-recognized consumer lending institutions, and has represented clients before the Federal Reserve, the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and numerous state banking departments.

He has been an adjunct professor at Duke University School of Law, teaching the US Banking Regulation course. Currently, he is a member of the ABA Business Law Section/Banking Law Committee and is a member of the Board of Advisors of the UNC School of Law Center for Banking and Finance Law. He is a frequent speaker on bank regulatory matters and has provided corporate executive training. Cammarn has a B.A. from The Ohio State University and a J.D. from Duke University School of Law.

Carol A. Hitselberger

Carol Hitselberger is a partner at Mayer Brown, LLP. She practice focuses on financing matters. Her experience encompasses securitization and other structured financial products, including structuring domestic and cross-border commercial paper-funded securitization vehicles and securitizing trade receivables, credit card receivables, aircraft, leases, franchise portfolios, government contracts, trademark licenses, and various other financial assets. Hitsleberger is a graduate of Bryn Mawr College and the University of Pennsylvania Law School.

Mark C. Kanaly

Mark Kanaly is a partner in Alston + Bird's Financial Services & Products Group in Atlanta. He focuses on the representation of banks and other financial institutions, as well as real estate investment vehicles such as REITs. He has counseled a host of distressed financial institutions and their boards of directors, as they have grappled with the challenges posed by the current financial and real estate environment. Kanaly received a B.S.E. in finance from the Wharton Business School of the University of Pennsylvania and a J.D. from the University of Oklahoma.

Eugene M. Katz

Gene Katz is Senior Company Counsel (Regulatory and Compliance) for Wells Fargo & Company in Charlotte, North Carolina. Prior to Wachovia's merger into Wells Fargo, he was Senior Vice President and Assistant General Counsel of Wachovia Corporation, where he served as the company's principal regulatory counsel. He was previously in private practice in Washington, DC and in Charlotte, representing and counseling institutional and individual clients on financial services regulatory, enforcement, and compliance matters. He formerly served as Director of the Litigation Division of the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency and as the Principal Deputy Chief Counsel of the Office of Thrift Supervision.

He has served as Vice-Chair of the Banking Law Committee of the American Bar Association's Business Law Section, and as the founding chair of the Subcommittee on In-House Counsel. He is a member of the Board of Advisors of the UNC School of Law's Center for Banking and Finance. He has served on the adjunct faculty of the Duke University School of Law and as a lecturer for examiner training programs of the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council. Katz received his B.A. and J.D. degrees from Tulane University.

Karol K. Sparks

Karol Sparks is a partner in the Barack Ferrazzano Kirschbaum & Nagelberg's financial institutions group. Her practice concentrates on corporate activities and regulatory issues of financial institutions, about which she has counseled banks for over thirty years. Her special emphasis is on the distribution of nontraditional bank products, including annuities, insurance, mutual funds, prepaid cards and other deposit account access devices, and the myriad federal and state laws and regulations that apply to those activities. She is the author of Insurance Activities of Banks, the definitive text on that subject.

She taught banking and commercial law at the University of Iowa College of Law from 2001 to 2008 and has been a guest lecturer on banking law at the respective law schools of Northwestern, Boston University, American University, and George Washington University. She currently is an adjunct professor at Wake Forest University School of Law, teaching contract drafting and secured transactions. She is a past chair of the Banking Law Committee of the Business Section of the American Bar Association (1998-2002), having been an active member of the committee since 1985. She was a member of the Council of the Business Law Section of the ABA, the governing body of that organization, for a term ending in August 2008. She is Vice Chair and a member of the Publications Board of the Business Law Section. Ms. Sparks serves on the Board of Advisors for the UNC School of Law Center for Banking and Finance. Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Call for Carolina Summer Reading Program Discussion Leaders

Dear Faculty, Staff, and Students:

Please join us as a discussion leader for the Carolina Summer Reading Program. The program invites all first-year and transfer students to read a book and participate in small group discussions facilitated by faculty and staff volunteers with college teaching or group facilitation experience.

"The Round House" by Louise Erdrich will be the 2014 summer reading book. "The Round House" is the story of an American Indian boy whose mother is sexually assaulted on their North Dakota reservation. The novel follows him as he seeks understanding and justice for the crime that forever transforms his family. For additional information about "The Round House" and the author, please visit the Carolina Summer Reading website at http://summerreading.web.unc.edu

If you are interested in serving as a discussion leader, please complete the online sign-up form at http://summerreading.web.unc.edu/discussion-leader-resources/. You are welcome to facilitate a group on your own or collaborate with a UNC-CH faculty member, staff member, or student. The priority date for signing up to serve as a discussion leader is Wednesday, April 2, 2014.

You will be notified electronically by April 9, 2014 if you are selected to serve as a discussion leader. Discussion leaders will be provided a free paperback copy of "The Round House" by April 16, 2014. For information about the Carolina Summer Reading Discussion sessions, please visit http://summerreading.web.unc.edu. Throughout the summer, the Carolina Summer Reading website will be updated with inter-disciplinary materials to assist you in planning and conducting your session.

In addition, we are interested in involving the UNC community through programming related to the themes explored in "The Round House." If your department plans to offer related programming, please contact New Student & Carolina Parent Programs at newstudents@unc.edu

Thank you for your continued support of this exciting intellectual endeavor!

Subject: [FORMAL NOTICE] Revisions to SPA Employee Grievance Policy

TO: All Permanent Employees
FROM: Gena Carter, Senior Director, Employee & Management Relations, Office of Human Resources

The SPA Employee Grievance Policy has been revised. The new policy is effective May 1, 2014.

CONTENTS OF THIS EMAIL

-- Reason for the Policy Change
-- Advance Copy of the Policy Available on HR Website
-- Key Elements of the New SPA Employee Grievance Policy
* What is Grievable?
* Steps in the Revised Grievance Process
-- Key Changes to the SPA Employee Grievance Policy
* Change in Timeline for Grievances
* Change in Grievable Issues
* Change in Harassment/Discrimination/Retaliation Procedures
* Change in Step 1 Process (Mediation)
* Change in Step 2 Hearing Report & Recommendation
-- Informational Sessions
-- Questions

REASON FOR THE POLICY CHANGE

Last year, the NC General Assembly made changes to the State Human Resources Act. As a result, all UNC System institutions now must have the same grievance policy ("UNC System SPA Employee Grievance Policy"). The effective date of the new policy is May 1, 2014.

ADVANCE COPY OF POLICY AVAILABLE ON HR WEBSITE

An advance copy of the SPA Employee Grievance Policy, effective May 1, 2014, is available now on the Office of Human Resources website at https://hr.unc.edu/?p=3495.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE NEW SPA EMPLOYEE GRIEVANCE POLICY

WHAT IS GRIEVABLE?

-- Suspension, demotion, dismissal
-- Separation due to unavailability and exhaustion of leave
-- Harassment
-- Discrimination
-- Retaliation
-- Annual performance appraisal overall rating of Below Good or Unsatisfactory
-- RIF and promotional priority
-- Failure to post a vacancy
-- Denial of veteran's preference in hiring
-- Inaccurate or misleading information in personnel file

STEPS IN THE REVISED GRIEVANCE PROCESS

STEP 1: The employee ('grievant') has 15 calendar days from the date of the event being grieved to submit a grievance filing form to Employee & Management Relations (E&MR) in the Office of Human Resources. E&MR will contact the Office of State Human Resources (OSHR) to schedule mediation between the grievant and a representative from their management ("respondent").

STEP 2: If mediation results in an impasse (no resolution), then the grievant has 5 calendar days from the date of the mediation session to file a Step 2 appeal. A panel of University employees will hear statements from the grievant and respondent and review additional information provided by both parties. The panel will complete its report and recommendation within 35 calendar days of the date the Step 2 appeal was filed.

FINAL UNIVERSITY DECISION: OSHR has 10 calendar days to review the recommendation. Once the University receives approval from OSHR, the Final University Decision must be issued to the grievant within 5 calendar days by the Chancellor or her designee.

FURTHER APPEAL: The grievant can appeal to the State's Office of Administrative Hearings (OAH) within 30 calendar days of receiving the Final University Decision. However, some issues cannot be grieved beyond the Final University Decision.

KEY CHANGES TO THE SPA EMPLOYEE GRIEVANCE POLICY

CHANGE IN TIMELINE FOR GRIEVANCES

Grievances must be completed within 90 calendar days. The 90 days does not include the time to file the Step 1 grievance or the time to file a state-level appeal of the University's final decision. The new deadlines are significantly different than they are under the current policy.

CURRENT TIMELINE (in calendar days)
30 days – For the Grievant to file Step 1 grievance

---
10 days – For the Department to file Step 1 response
10 days – For the Grievant to file Step 2 grievance
30 days – To complete the Grievance Hearing
10 days – To complete the Hearing Report & Recommendation
10 days – To issue the Final University Decision
---
30 days – For the Grievant to file a State-level appeal

NEW TIMELINE (in calendar days)
15 days – For the Grievant to file Step 1 grievance
---
35 days – To complete Mediation
05 days – For the Grievant to file Step 2 grievance
35 days – To complete the Grievance Hearing and Panel Report & Recommendation
10 days – To complete review by the Office of State Human Resources
05 days – To issue the Final University Decision
30 days – For the Grievant to file a State-level appeal

CHANGE IN GRIEVABLE ISSUES:

-- The University can only apply the grievance process to issues that are grievable in the UNC System SPA Employee Grievance Policy.
-- Inaccurate/misleading information in the personnel file can only be appealed at the University level.
-- Retaliation is grievable only in regard to allegations of harassment, discrimination, or whistleblowing.
-- The only disciplinary actions that are grievable are suspensions, demotions, and dismissals.
-- Only overall ratings of Below Good or Unsatisfactory on an annual performance appraisal are grievable.
-- Other grievable policy violations are limited primarily to the hiring process.

CHANGE IN HARASSMENT/DISCRIMINATION/RETALIATION PROCEDURES:

-- State policy already covered protected statuses of race, religion, color, national origin, sex, age, disability, and political affiliation for harassment and discrimination. The State policy now also covers genetic information.
-- In addition, the UNC System SPA Employee Grievance Policy includes the University's protections for gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, and veterans' status. However, these issues cannot be appealed to the State level.
-- All harassment, discrimination, and retaliation grievances will first require an "Equal Opportunity Informal Inquiry" prior to beginning the grievance process. The Inquiry should be completed within 45 calendar days. The time in the Inquiry does not count toward the 90-day grievance period.
-- The grievant has 15 calendar days from the date of receipt of the Inquiry outcome to file a grievance appeal in order to continue to Step 1 mediation.

CHANGE IN STEP 1 PROCESS (MEDIATION):

-- Mediation will be Step 1 for all cases. However, for some cases of severe misconduct, OSHR may allow an exception to move directly to a Step 2 hearing.
-- OSHR will assign state-trained mediators. The mediators cannot be UNC-Chapel Hill employees.

OTHER CHANGES TO PROCEDURES:

-- The Support Person role has been discontinued.
-- OSHR must review and approve the Final University Decision before it can be issued.

INFORMATIONAL SESSIONS

The Office of Human Resources will hold informational sessions on campus in April. The sessions will include more details on the University's procedures and resources. Dates and times of these sessions will be sent to campus in a separate communication within the next few weeks.

Rick: I have an extra complimentary admission to this week's Institute. I understand from Lissa that Tom Dunn, my former student Christ Fowler and you are attending. Todd, Stu and Jonathan are coming with me but I cannot shake loose any of the others here. Do you have someone at MVA who would want to attend, free of charge? If so, give Lissa his/her name and she can direct what he/she should do to register.
Thanks! See you Thursday

Subject: [generalfaculty] Meet the Chair of the Faculty Candidates this Wed, 9:30am, Campus Y!

To: All members of the UNC-Chapel Hill Faculty
From: Office of Faculty Governance, UNC-Chapel Hill

All members of the faculty are invited to join us at the Anne Queen Faculty Commons at the Campus Y this Wednesday, April 2, 2014 from 9:30 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. to meet Profs. Bruce Cairns (Surgery) and Andy Perrin (Sociology) — the candidates running in this year's faculty elections to succeed Prof. Jan Boxill as Chair of the Faculty when her term ends June 30.

The candidates, who are profiled here in the University Gazette, will speak briefly, take questions, and be available to talk informally with faculty. Coffee and pastries will be provided, so come and bring a colleague!

As a reminder, the annual faculty elections will be conducted April 14-21 by electronic ballot emailed to all members of the UNC-Chapel Hill Voting Faculty.

Please contact our office if you have any questions!

Subject: UNC Immigration Study

I wanted to touch base with you to see if you would be joining us for our UNC Immigration Press Conference as we only have a limited number of seats and they are filling up quickly. Do you have a Hispanic outreach person, anyone from the Hispanic community you'd like to impress, your media folks, etc. that you would like to bring? Below is a copy of an e-mail that was sent to you by Thad last Thursday regarding the particulars for the meeting. Please let me know if you will be able to join us and how many will be coming with you so that we can reserve your seats.

Thank you for registering for the Town Hall Meeting on Community Banking scheduled for April 15th at 1:30 p.m. in Raleigh. Please also make plans to attend the NCBA's press conference and presentation on the release of the UNC Immigration Study, which is sponsored by your NCBA. This press conference is also on April 15th and will start at 11 a.m. It will be held at the Sheraton Imperial RTP (4700 Emperor Boulevard, Durham, NC 27703). This is the same hotel where we hold the annual Economic Forecast Forum each January. A news article on this study is the lead item on the NCBA's homepage. A similar, but less expansive, study conducted a number of years ago received national news coverage.

This nonpartisan, economic study will give you a look into the changing population patterns in North Carolina, including the fast-growing Hispanic and Asian populations. You will want this information to help aid your bank in your marketing efforts. Like the Town Hall Meeting, it will also be a great networking opportunity as you will have the chance to interact with community leaders, members of the press, and others. There will be time for you to attend the press conference and presentation and then go out to lunch with other bankers who will be at the press conference and then joining you for the Town Hall Meeting later in the day.

Please RSVP to vickie@ncbankers.org or 919-781-7979 for the Immigration Study Press Conference and Presentation for you and/or others within your bank. Seating will be limited and we want to get an accurate headcount. On behalf of the NCBA, I strongly encourage you to attend and know that it will be time well spent.

Farm Members – You will see a slight increase ($10 per quarter) in Farm member dues in your next invoice, our first increase since 2009. This increase will help us cover increasing healthcare costs and provide appropriate salaries for our valiant staff. And, as you will see on your upcoming visits to the Farm, we have followed your advice and are implementing a wide array of improvements (e.g., better parking, lights for the back courts, repaving parts of our driveway, etc.). Could we just do a call? I was not successful in trying to navigate the Zoom meeting. Unfortunately the dates and times you listed won't work for me. On April 14, I am available before 1:30 EST and on April 17 I am available at 3:15 EST or later. I am open all day on April 18 if you will be in then (it's Good Friday) and all day on April 21.

Thanks,

Lissa

Christopher & Lissa,

I apologize that we could not meet today. It took bringing someone in from technology to help me with my computer. Here are some proposed dates/times to meet next week:

April 9 & 11 @ 1:30 CST/2:30 EST
April 14 or 16@ 1:00CST/2:00 EST.

Please let me know which times work and I will send another Zoom meeting request. Thanks.

Lissa,
Yes, I work with Lindsey! She is great to work with! What a great hire. I will let her know we have connected. No need for special technology. It is actually quite simply. Ju Until then.....

Hi Be – It is great to make the connection with you. You must work with Lindsay Babcock. We were very sorry to see her leave the ACC office. On March 31st, I am available between 2:15 and 3:15 (CST). I am not familiar with a Zoom meeting, so let me know if I need any special technology or program for it. I look forward to talking with you and working together.

Chris – Thanks for the virtual introduction.

RESOURCE UPDATE

- Scholarly Communications Institute Request for Proposals (Online Resource)
  The Scholarly Communications Institute (SCI)--"part retreat, part seminar, part development sprint, part unconference"-- is soliciting proposals that will bring people from inside and outside of academia to address issues in scholarly communications. The theme for the Institute will be "Scholarship and the Crowd." The SCI is not a traditional conference, but instead it is an opportunity to think deeply and creatively about scholarly communications issues with others from a diversity of backgrounds. Duke University will host the SCI with assistance from a variety of Triangle-area partners, including UNC-Chapel Hill, on November 9-13, 2014. Submission deadline for proposals is 24 March 2014.

Subject: Microsoft XP end of life notice

Do you use or own one or more computers that currently run Windows XP and connect to the University Network?

On April 8, 2014, Microsoft will end all support for Windows XP. There will be no more security updates or patches after April 8th, 2014. Unpatched computers create a security risk for the computer and any network it connects to.

The University's Network Acceptable Use Policy specifies that all devices that connect to the UNC network must have current antivirus software and system patches/security updates.

If you are currently using Windows XP on UNC's network, you must take action before April 8th, 2014. You must upgrade your operating system or replace your computer to continue using it on the UNC network. To discuss upgrade or replacement options, or if you have questions or need assistance, please contact your campus technical support staff or call (919) 962-HELP.

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Call for Nominations: UMA Manager of the Year Award

The University Managers Association (UMA) is now accepting nominations for the 2014 Manager of the Year Award.

Selection is based on University career accomplishments, both within and beyond normal job responsibilities, or a specific accomplishment made within the past twelve (12) months that has been of major significance.

Any current UNC-Chapel Hill faculty or staff member may submit a nomination. With the exception of current UMA Board members, nominations are open to all permanent, full-time managers with two or more years of University service.
The nomination form is available on the UMA website at http://uma.web.unc.edu/files/2014/03/ManageroftheYearAward_2014form.docx

Nominations will be accepted through Tuesday, April 22.

The Manager of the Year Award winner will be announced at the UMA Annual Meeting, to be held at 3:00pm on Wednesday, May 21 in Hyde Hall.

For more information, please contact Christine Stachowicz, UMA Vice President, at 919-962-0157 or christine@unc.edu.

Lissa & Christopher,
A call is fine. Will you two be in the same place for a call? Or do we need to set up a conference call? April 14th, I am available after 11:30 am. Just learned I have a Master's oral examination for a student's committee I serve. However, I am available for the rest of the day. April 17th, I am available any time after 10:00am CST.
Let's figure out what works and we can set the date/time. Thanks.

NEWS

Why the Patrick Cannon Sting Took So Long

Charlotte Observer - Charlotte, NC - 3/31/14

Richard Myers, a former federal prosecutor who teaches criminal law at UNC School of Law, says corruption probes often involve conflicting motives: Do we have what we need for a conviction? Or should we shut it down and make an arrest to keep a potentially tainted public figure from doing more damage? In other words, "I need to stop it as soon as possible. And I need to let it run as long as necessary," Myers says.

A Glimpse into How Federal Corruption Cases Proceed [Audio at 4:45]

WFAE FM - Charlotte, NC - 3/28/14

WFAE's Mark Rumsey discussed some of the possibilities with UNC law professor Richard Myers, a former assistant U.S. attorney who specializes in white collar crime cases. Following an arrest, Myers says there are often negotiations before the defendant is indicted. He likens the discussions to a "multi-dimensional chess game."

Northwestern Wildcats Labor Decision Has a Long Road Ahead of It in Challenging the Power of the NCAA

International Business Times - New York, NY - 3/28/14

"The hammer over the NCAA and universities' heads right now is if these athletes end up being considered employees under the NLRA and other statutes, that is a whole mess of additional problems for the universities," Jeffrey Hirsch, associate dean at the University of North Carolina School of Law, told International Business Times by phone on Thursday.

College Athletes Can Unionize, Federal Agency Says

WNCN - Raleigh, NC - 3/26/14

UNC labor law professor and former NLRB attorney Jeff Hirsch says the ruling is fair and could have far-reaching consequences. "It could potentially be a huge deal," Hirsch said. "(Universities) might be required to pay minimum wage, potentially overtime to student athletes, or at least those in the revenue-generating sports. Discrimination laws could apply."

Lexmark May Be Liable For Attacking Printer-Cartridge Rivals, Supreme Court Says

Forbes - New York, NY - 3/25/14

What Scalia said, in a nutshell, is "it's not legitimate for courts to not hear a case because they don't feel like it," said Mark McKenna, a professor at Notre Dame Law School. He studied the practical effect of prudential standing rules on false-advertising cases, along with Deborah Gerhardt and Kevin McGuire of the University of North Carolina and found significant disparities in who was allowed to sue.

Musk Spaceship Hunted by Singer for 7% Payday: Argentina Credit

Bloomberg News - Chapel Hill, NC - 3/16/14

"They're never going to seize billions of dollars' worth of assets, but they can be a multibillion-dollar pain in the neck for Argentina," Mark Weidemaier, a law professor at the University of North Carolina, said in a telephone interview from Chapel Hill.

Hi everyone,
You'll recall that I mentioned the CFE's Summer Writing Group program. Registration has been open for a couple of weeks, and 75 faculty members from across the university have already signed up. The limit for the program is 100. I wanted to let everyone know that in case you're thinking about participating in an interdisciplinary writing group this summer, registration is open for several more weeks but the current trend suggests we may max out on enrollment.
Feel free to ask me any questions you may have. Registration is here.

A call is fine. Will you two be in the same place for a call? Or do we need to set up a conference call? April 14th, I am available after 11:30 am. Just learned I have a Master's oral examination for a student's committee I serve. However, I am available for the rest of the day. April 17th, I am available any time after 10:00am CST.
Let's figure out what works and we can set the date/time. Thanks.

Dear Colleagues,

Attached are the faculty meeting agenda and related documents for Thursday, April 3, at 4:15; I will send the call-in number along with a reminder later in the week.

We will have a faculty reception after the meeting in the faculty lounge.

I am attaching a copy of the agenda, as well as materials for our two action items. Later this week I will also send the draft sections of the self-study that will be open for comments at the meeting, but that will not receive any formal action.

Thanks.

LEGAL COMMUNITY

Arrowood Named Featured Correspondent | President-elect Catharine Arrowood has been chosen as one of two correspondent-bloggers for the Life of a Leader project of the American Bar Association's Bar Leader publication. Beginning this month and continuing through her term as president of the NCBA, Arrowood will share her thoughts, opinions and experiences as a national bar leader alongside those of President-elect Jeff R. Hawkins of the Indiana State Bar Association. For more insights into life as a leader of the NCBA, be sure to follow Catharine Arrowood on Twitter today.

Happer Into Sports Hall | Marshall Happer, former executive director, chief operating officer and in-house counsel of the U.S. Tennis Association, will be inducted into the N.C. Sports Hall of Fame on May 9. A longtime member of the NCBA now residing in Florida, Happer was a high school tennis star in his native Kinston who went on to play for UNC. He practiced with Manning Fulton in Raleigh for many years and was the founding chair of the NCBA's Sports & Entertainment Law Section.

Committee Service | Participation in NCBA and NCBA Foundation committees affords excellent opportunities to meet and work with attorneys across the state, and to make a significant contribution to the legal profession. Access the accompanying Committee Preference Form and sign up now through April 4 to serve on a committee in 2014-15. A committee description list is provided with the form.

Service Honors Chambers | The Mecklenburg County Bar will host a memorial service honoring Julius Chambers on Friday, April 4, at 3 p.m. Friends and colleagues are encouraged to attend. The service will take place in the Charles R. Jonas Federal Building. Judges Frank D. Whitney and Yvonne Mims Evans will preside. Presenters include James E. Ferguson II and Geraldine Sumter.

IN THE OFFICE

Microsoft Apps | Microsoft Office now has official apps for the iPad - specifically Word, PowerPoint and Excel. The company announced the news March 27. Click here for a mini-review from Ars Technica and see more below in Blogs from iPhone J.D.

Starting Out Solo | Want to take your law firm website from hum-drum to high powered? Erik Mazzone will be the featured speaker at the next Starting Out Solo on Tuesday, April 22, at 6 p.m. at the N.C. Bar Center in Cary. His presentation, "Supercharge Your Law Firm Website," is geared toward lawyers who have a basic firm website or are preparing to build their first website. Open to solos, small firm practitioners and law students. If you plan to attend or have any questions, please email Holly@hollymorrislaw.com by April 18.

Guide to Appealability | Have you ever needed to know whether a particular court order was immediately appealable? The NCBA Appellate Rules Committee has just published a primer on appeals from interlocutory orders in North Carolina. The Guide to Appealability of Interlocutory Orders is designed to assist lawyers appearing in North Carolina's state appellate courts. In addition to providing an overview of various issues pertaining to appealability, the guide illustrates the appealability of many practical examples of interlocutory orders.

ACROSS THE PROFESSION

Willoughby Joins McGuireWoods | Colon Willoughby has stepped down as Wake County District Attorney to enter private practice with McGuireWoods. Monday was his last day in office. District Court Judge Ned Mangum will serve out the remainder of his term.

Appellate Candidates Speak | The Rowan County Bar Association hosted a "Meet and Greet" for appellate judicial candidates last week. Candidates for the N.C. Supreme Court and the N.C. Court of Appeals will also be invited to the 2014 NCBA Annual Meeting, scheduled June 19-22 in Wilmington. The Judicial Candidates Forum will take place on June 20 during the Friday morning General Session.

Opinions Filed | The N.C. Court of Appeals filed new opinions today.

Bill and I would like to solicit input on one logistical issue regarding the Supreme Court series this summer. In the past few years, we have skipped the week of July 4 due to concerns that vacation plans might impact attendance. July 4 is a Friday this year, and our sessions are on Tuesdays. Do people think the holiday would impact our ability to have a critical mass of attendees on either July 1 or July 8?

The UNC-Chapel Hill Family Scholarship committee is pleased to announce that the Fall 2014 scholarship applications for children of UNC-Chapel Hill employees are now being accepted. To apply, go to www.unc.edu/familyfund and select the Scholarship Application & Renewal Application option on the left side of the screen (it may take a minute to retrieve the application).

This need-based scholarship fund was created by Carolina employees to provide financial support to the children of our full-time colleagues to attend ANY of the 16 UNC campuses as well as any of the accredited community and technical colleges in North Carolina.

PLEASE NOTE:

* Applicants must file the necessary financial aid forms with the institution they wish to attend and notify the Office of Scholarships and Student Aid at UNC-Chapel Hill with the contact information for that institution's financial aid office, as well as provide a detailed summary of the financial aid package offered by that institution.

* The application deadline is June 1, 2014.

For previous press about the scholarship, see http://gazette.unc.edu/archives/09apr01/fundraising.html

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] April is Sexual Assault Awareness Month

Sexual Assault Awareness Month (SAAM 2014) is an annual collaborative effort coordinated by the Carolina Women's Center and Student Wellness. Throughout the month of April, organizations including Project Dinah, SWAG, Siren, Sigma Phi, the UNC Men's Project, Celebration of Black Womanhood, the Orange County Rape Crisis Center, and more organize a number of events aimed at spreading awareness to end sex- and gender-based violence.

SAAM 2014 will feature film screenings, workshops, trainings, speakers, and other interactive community opportunities for the UNC community to show support and speak out against sexual assault.

The entire event schedule is available at http://saam.web.unc.edu/2014-saam-event-schedule/

Dear Colleagues,

Attached are the faculty meeting agenda and related documents for Thursday, April 3, at 4:15; I will send the call-in number along with a reminder later in the week.

We will have a faculty reception after the meeting in the faculty lounge.

I am attaching a copy of the agenda, as well as materials for our two action items. Later this week I will also send the draft sections of the self-study that will be open for comments at the meeting, but that will not receive any formal action.

Thanks.

Description of the course: (include major topics to be covered)

This course will examine the legislative history and the jurisprudence of the Fourteenth Amendment, primarily focusing on equal protection, and placing our contemporary understanding of the case law in historical context. We will begin with a full consideration of the forces and events, including the Dred Scott case, which called the Amendment into being; and we will consider the debates of the Thirty-Ninth Congress, which adopted the Amendment. Although the Amendment was born out of the African American slavery experience, we will consider its application to women, to other people of color, and indeed, all who reside in the United States.

We will proceed from the Reconstruction Era cases to Plessy v. Ferguson before studying the Lochner Era, and the development of tiered scrutiny. The class will study the road to Brown v. Board of Education, the jurisprudence of the desegregation era, and the "reverse discrimination cases" from Bakke to Grutter and Fisher. We will also examine the application of the Fourteenth Amendment to issues of gender equality and sexual orientation.

Date Approved by Academic Affairs Cmte: _____ Date Approved by Full Faculty: _____

Information for website description and Academic Advising Handbook (200 words maximum):

This course will examine the legislative history and jurisprudence of the Fourteenth Amendment, focusing primarily on the Equal Protection Clause. The course studies the application of the Amendment to women, to people of color, to economic status, and to sexual orientation. It emphasizes the historical context in which the Supreme Court made its decisions applying the Amendment, journeying from the Reconstruction Era to Jim Crow and the Lochner Era. We will study the road to Brown v. Board of Education, the desegregation era cases, and the rise of "reverse discrimination" claims.

Justification for the course: (Why should we offer it? Do other schools offer similar courses? Student demand? Will the course make a unique contribution to your development as a scholar and teacher?)

I have taught this course for eight years at Columbia Law School. There has always been a waiting list.

Writing Exercises:

If the course is appropriate for a writing experience or rigorous writing experience, please describe the types of writing exercises that might be assigned (including number of planned writing projects and estimated page length for each, including footnotes).

Subject: Seeking Proposals for Academic Symposium at 2015 Annual Meeting

Association of American Law Schools

Request for Proposals:
2015 Annual Meeting Academic Symposium

The Association of American Law Schools is seeking proposals for the second annual Academic Symposium to be held on Monday, January 5, 2015. The inaugural AALS Academic Symposium was held at the 2014 Annual Meeting. It offered an in-depth look at constitutional change from a comparative perspective. The symposium featured both experienced and newer legal scholars who explored concepts of formal and informal amendment and identified topics for further research on how and why constitutions change.

AALS plans to follow up on the success of that program at the 2015 Annual Meeting in Washington, DC. Program proposals may be submitted by any faculty member with a full-time appointment at an AALS member school.

Proposals are due by May 12, 2014. Proposals may be for either full-day or half-day programs. Submissions should include (a) an abstract of up to 750 words describing the overall symposium program and its anticipated contribution to legal scholarship, (b) abstracts of up to 250 words describing proposed symposium papers, and (c) a list of proposed symposium participants. To see an example of a successful proposal, please click here .

Within the Academic Symposium program, you may reserve up to three slots for speakers selected from a call for papers, who need not be identified until September 29, 2014. Symposium organizers will be expected to secure publication in a scholarly journal or as an edited book volume, and to describe the publication arrangements in their proposals. The primary criterion used to evaluate proposals will be scholarly quality. Participants should reflect the diversity of the legal academy and our member schools. Organizers are also encouraged to include junior faculty as participants in their proposed symposium.

The first Academic Symposium, which was held at the 2014 Annual Meeting, can be viewed here.

The AALS welcomes comments and questions about the Academic Symposium. Questions should be directed to Judith Areen, Executive Director, at symposium@aals.org.

Proposals are due May 12, 2014.

Attach: FacultyNotice SummerRAs 03.13.2014.docx; Summer 2014 RA New Hire Form 03.13.2014.docx

Dear Faculty,

Just a friendly reminder that the hiring deadline for regular summer RAs and Summer Learning RAs is next Friday, April 11th.

Please submit the Summer RA new hire form (attached) to Fredia at your earliest convenience so that we can ensure that we have all the necessary info to get your RAs on payroll in a timely manner. This is especially important for those who were approved for Summer Learning RAs, as those slots not filled by the deadline will be forfeited.

As in previous years, the Career Development Office is happy to post faculty RA positions to Simplicity Job Bank so that interested students can contact you directly via email to apply for your position. Instructions for having RA positions posted are contained in the attached memo.

Please contact myself or Fredia if you are having trouble filling a Summer Learning RA slot or need any additional assistance with the hiring process.

Best,

~Nadera

March 13, 2014 Memo: 2014 Summer RA Hire Process

Dear Faculty:

In the summer of 2014, in accord with our general practice, eligible faculty members will be able to hire one full-time research assistant (28 hours per week) or two part-time RAs (14 hours per week) for a total of 13 weeks during the summer. All RAs will be paid an hourly rate of $9.5

In addition, the Law School has allocated funds for 18 Summer Learning RAs, which faculty can request on a first come, first served basis. The purpose of the additional RAs is twofold: to increase your research capacity and also to provide meaningful summer work and financial support to our 2Ls and 3Ls, during a difficult year for summer legal employment. Faculty interested in obtaining a Summer Learning RA, should notify Fredia Banks-Marsh via email by March 21, 2014. Faculty will be notified of Summer Learning RA request approvals by March 26th; Please to do not commit to hiring any Summer Learning RAs until you have been notified that your request for a Summer Learning RA has been approved. RAs may not hold more than one full-time position; for example, an RA cannot work 28 hours for one faculty member and an additional 14 or hours for another faculty member. RAs are permitted to work 2 part-time (14 hrs/week) positions for different law school faculty members.

The summer 2014 New RA Hire form is attached. If you plan to hire any RAs for summer 2014, please complete all appropriate sections of the form and return it to Fredia Banks-Marsh no later than April 11, 2014. You may make arrangements to hire the RAs in Part I without delay.

If you do not know of particular students whom you'd like to invite to fill your RA position, you can 'advertise' for an RA by sending a description of your summer project[s] plus any prerequisites and deadline info to Sadie Vo at svo@email.unc.edu in the Career Services Office. She will post the description to the Simplicity Job Bank and interested students can apply directly to you via email or in person, at your request.

Please include the following information in all RA posting requests:

A. FACULTY MEMBER'S NAME:
B. NUMBER OF REGULAR RAs YOU PLAN TO HIRE and FULL-TIME vs PART-TIME:
C. PREFERRED WORK SCHEDULE:
D. POSITION DESCRIPTION: (subject areas/projects summer work will involve; location where the work needs to be done)
E. QUALIFICATIONS: (class year preference and recommended qualifications, if any)
F. APPLICATION MATERIALS STUDENTS SHOULD SUBMIT:
G. WHAT IS YOUR APPLICATION DEADLINE?
H. CAN THE WORK BE DONE REMOTELY?

There are two parts of the form:

PART 1: School of Law Funded RAs

Each faculty member may hire one 28-hour RA (364 hrs total) or two 14-hour RAs (182 hours each for 364 hrs total) funded by the law school. If you are only hiring a Law School funded RA, you can submit this form any time prior to the April 4, 2014 deadline.

PART 2: Summer Learning RAs (funded by the School of Law)

You must mail Fredia Banks-Marsh by March 21, 2014 to request a Summer Learning RA (limited number of these positions available). Faculty will be notified of approved requests for Summer Learning RAs by March 26, 2014. Faculty who receive Summer Learning RA request approval may hire one 28-hour RA (364 hrs total) funded by the law school. Please do not submit RA forms with Part 2 completed until your supplemental RA request has been approved. Any supplemental RA slots not filled by April 11, 2014 may be reallocated or forfeited.

PART 3: Additional RAs (not funded by Law School)

If you would like to hire additional RAs using other funds (e.g. grants or professional development) please complete Section III and note in the comments what source of funding will be used.

If you have any questions about the attached form, please contact me.

Thank you,
Nadera Salaam

Subject: Top Five Male and Female awards--should there be restrictions?

Hi,
In determining the winners of our Top Five Male and Female Athlete awards for the academic banquet, I realized that two of the candidates for the male award have only been student-athletes at UNC for two years. I am not sure if this is an issue or not, but I thought it was worthy of discussion before a decision was made about the winners.
One student was a transfer student who now has the highest male GPA and has been at UNC for two years. (I happen to know that his GPA at his previous institution was also very high and he would probably still be in the top position if his prior GPA was factored in).
The other student is a walk-on for the program who has only been on the team for the past two years. (Some walk-ons are a little different than walk-ons in many sports in that they are never recruited to UNC to be part of the team and only join the team for one or two years).
The dilemma is that I would hate to see the first student not receive the award just because he is a transfer when I know he was also a good student at his previous school. But I also am not sure the second student should receive the same consideration as another student who has been a student-athlete for four years.
Since we are just determining the award now, should we put in a parameter that the winners of the Top Five award need to have been active student-athletes at UNC for three years? Should any exceptions be made for transfers if we can verify their prior GPA?
Please let me know your thoughts by tomorrow. I would like to send out invitations by Monday at the latest.
Thanks!

Does It Matter Where You Go to College?
The New York Times (Opinion)
by Katherine Schulten
It's April, and that means colleges and universities are notifying high school seniors across the nation about whether they were accepted, rejected or wait-listed...The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill had a record number of students vying for its next freshman class — 31,321 — and accepted about one in six who applied from outside the state.

The News & Record (Greensboro, Letter to the Editor)

by Michael Crowell

On March 23, the News & Record published an article titled "The Law and Voter Turnout" under my name. The article was derived from a piece posted on the UNC School of Government website two-and-a-half weeks earlier. In the version published by the newspaper, the News & Record chose to omit significant portions of the original, rewrite other parts, and substitute its own graphics. Those changes were made without my knowledge or permission.

The writer is a professor of public law and government at the UNC School of Government. His article was shortened because of the late addition of a quarter-page ad in the Ideas section.

Colleges and universities prepare students for almost all professions of note -- except sports. To be sure, we have students pursuing degrees in sports management, kinesiology, and other related fields, but unlike students who come to study music performance, acting, creative writing and other talent- and performance-based professions, our students who come with athletic talent and seek opportunities to perform are left out of the academic curriculum.

Just a reminder that we've got a faculty meeting this afternoon at 4:15. The call-in number is 919-962-2717.

Also, we'll have a brief addition to the agenda, with Doug Edmunds and Becky Williams discussing plans for an upcoming renovation of the courtroom.

See you this afternoon!

-Jeff

Dear Colleagues,
Attached are the faculty meeting agenda and related documents for Thursday, April 3, at 4:15; I will send the call-in number along with a reminder later in the week.

We will have a faculty reception after the meeting in the faculty lounge.

I am attaching a copy of the agenda, as well as materials for our two action items. Later this week I will also send the draft sections of the self-study that will be open for comments at the meeting, but that will not receive any formal action.

Thanks.

-Jeff

Subject: [law_faculty] Invitation for Reunion Weekend

Dear Faculty,
Last week, you received an invitation in your mailboxes to participate in our inaugural spring Reunion Celebration. The UNC Law Alumni Association is pleased to share with you this new beginning to a proud tradition. By moving our class reunions to the spring, we are able to offer a much wider variety of opportunities and activities and we invite you to participate. You may see a complete schedule of events by visiting the schedule on our web page:
http://www.law.unc.edu/alumni/weekend/schedule/
Below are a few event highlights that will provide the best opportunity to meet and reunite with our graduates:

- Class Reunion Celebration and Affinity Group Receptions (Friday, April 11)
- Family Picnic and Concert under the Tent with Chapel Hill's own Mipso (Saturday, April 12)
- A variety of Saturday afternoon events including family fun, sports, art, community service and more
- Alumni/Student Softball Tournament (Sunday, April 13)

Our alumni enjoy seeing former professors and meeting the newest additions to the faculty. If your schedule permits, we would love for you to join us as our guests. Please complete the registration card included in the invitation or contact Kelly Mann at 919.445.0170 or kmmann@email.unc.edu.
Thank you for all you do to support our many events throughout the year.

Subject: Re: Top Five Male and Female awards--should there be restrictions?

I think transfers are OK -- once they're here, they're here and I don't think we should put further restrictions on them.

I think the bigger issue is having participated in a sport all four years, because part of this award is recognizing that they've done a great job of balancing the time demands of athletics with the academic demands. I think novice rowing or JV bkb would count, because it's still a time commitment even if it's not the varsity level. But they would have had to have done something all four years.

So, my two cents would be no restrictions on transfers, but that the honoree has to have been a member of a team all four years (or three if perchance they're graduating early — basically, they have to have been a student-athlete throughout their college career). And we could look at unique cases as they come up — a few years ago there was a player with a great GPA who spent her first year as a manager and was on the roster after that. I'd vote to be OK with someone like that, because she was still putting in the time commitment as part of the team.

Just my thoughts. I can certainly see the other perspectives on this!

Subject: RE: Top Five Male and Female awards--should there be restrictions?

Hi Jenn -- Thanks for soliciting our advice on this. I don't know what the best answer is. One the one hand, if you've been a varsity athlete here for your final two years (whether you transferred in or only played on varsity for two years) maybe that is enough. The issue you described for the player might also occur with a rower who was a novice rower before getting onto the varsity.
On the other hand, I would also be comfortable with a determination that you need to be a student-athlete here for your final three years, understanding that this would rule out most transfer students. When students transfer, they give up some things and this may be one of the costs of transferring. This would also rule out the player unless he played JV and we counted JV (or novice rowing) as part of the three years.
I'm interested in hearing the thoughts of others.

Subject: Top Five Male and Female awards--should there be restrictions?

Hi,
In determining the winners of our Top Five Male and Female Athlete awards for the academic banquet, I realized that two of the candidates for the male award have only been student-athletes at UNC for two years. I am not sure if this is an issue or not, but I thought it was worthy of discussion before a decision was made about the winners.
One student was a transfer student who now has the highest male GPA and has been at UNC for two years. (I happen to know that his GPA at his previous institution was also very high and he would probably still be in the top position if his prior GPA was factored in).
The other student is a walk-on for the program who has only been on the team for the past two years. (Some walk-ons are a little different than walk-ons in many sports in that they are never recruited to UNC to be part of the team and only join the team for one or two years).
The dilemma is that I would hate to see the first student not receive the award just because he is a transfer when I know he was also a good student at his previous school. But I also am not sure the second student should receive the same consideration as another student who has been a student-athlete for four years.
Since we are just determining the award now, should we put in a parameter that the winners of the Top Five award need to have been active student-athletes at UNC for three years? Should any exceptions be made for transfers if we can verify their prior GPA?
Please let me know your thoughts by tomorrow. I would like to send out invitations by Monday at the latest.
Thanks!

Looks like it's 9 minutes for the video AND the small group work:

<!--[if !supportLists]-->1. <!--[endif]-->Video Clip and Individual Assignment: "Through Their Eyes" (9 minutes, 9:25 - 9:34)

Debbie informs the group we are now going to watch a video clip about the effect of DV on children. Debbie states that there may be survivors in the room and advises the group that there are scenes which may be graphic and participants may choose to leave the room.

<!--[if !vml]--><!--[endif]-->

Slide 23

Debbie assigns each table to one of the members of the family portrayed in the video, and asks participants to closely watch their assigned character throughout the video clip, and individually jot down a few adjectives to describe how the violence affected the child or adult they are assigned.

<!--[if !vml]--><!--[endif]-->

Slide 24

Table Facilitators have knowledge of which character their table is assigned to and provide clarification to participants, but there will be no small group discussion of the video. There will be no note-taker or reporter as the observations will be relayed in a large group report back.

Beth begins the video clip of "Through Their Eyes."

Large Group Discussion: Effects of Domestic Violence on Children (11 min, 9:34 - 9:45)

Vivian instructs participants that we are going to discuss the effect of domestic violence on children first, before turning to the parents in the video. Vivian asks participants to share their observations of their assigned child (Tables 1 & 2 & 4) from the video clip using the developmental perspective questions. This exercise will continue for 8 minutes and Vivian will pace herself so that each child is addressed. Debbie will respond to participant's comments as well.

Slide 25

Vivian then summarizes for the last 3 minutes by reiterating that the bottom line is that there is no boilerplate legal argument when it comes to demonstrating how domestic violence impacts each child. Rather, through community resources (and expert testimony) lawyers serving victims can make accurate and compelling arguments to the court and seek appropriate remedies. Vivian stresses the importance of having children evaluated by independent counselors or therapists, if possible, who may be able to testify as to the impact of the DV on a particular child.

Dear Faculty,
Last week, you received an invitation in your mailboxes to participate in our inaugural spring Reunion Celebration. The UNC Law Alumni Association is pleased to share with you this new beginning to a proud tradition. By moving our class reunions to the spring, we are able to offer a much wider variety of opportunities and activities and we invite you to participate. You may see a complete schedule of events by visiting the schedule on our web page:
http://www.law.unc.edu/alumni/weekend/schedule/
Below are a few event highlights that will provide the best opportunity to meet and reunite with our graduates:

- Class Reunion Celebration and Affinity Group Receptions (Friday, April 11)
- Family Picnic and Concert under the Tent with Chapel Hill's own Mipso (Saturday, April 12)
- A variety of Saturday afternoon events including family fun, sports, art, community service and more
- Alumni/Student Softball Tournament (Sunday, April 13)

Our alumni enjoy seeing former professors and meeting the newest additions to the faculty. If your schedule permits, we would love for you to join us as our guests. Please complete the registration card included in the invitation or contact Kelly Mann at 919.445.0170 or kmmann@email.unc.edu.

STATE OF EXCLUSION: PROFILE ON LENOIR COUNTY

Center for Civil Rights Inclusion Project Spotlight on Exclusion in Lenoir County

Following last year's State of Exclusion report, on Monday March 24, 2014, the UNC Center for Civil Rights released its profile of Lenoir County, the first in a series of in-depth examinations of exclusion and the legacy of racial segregation in individual counties. Both the Lenoir study and last year's report are available at www.uncinclusionproject.org.

In the middle of the Black Belt of Eastern North Carolina, Lenoir County is divided between its mostly white rural population and the concentrated African American populations in Kinston and La Grange. This new report focuses on the impact of the racial segregation on public education, political representation, and utility service. Profiles of other counties will follow in the coming weeks, each highlighting particular aspects of that county's history, ongoing impacts of exclusion, and progress toward full inclusion of all residents.

The county-wide school district in Lenoir County is the result of the 1992 merger of the majority white county school system with the majority African American Kinston city school district. Despite the merger, educational segregation persists because of an inequitable assignment model. The assignment zone for Kinston High School still basically follows the lines of the former city school district. The result is that Kinston High School and other schools in Kinston are racially isolated; they have even higher concentrations of African Americans than the city itself. Compared to the county schools, Kinston High has much higher percentages of free and reduced lunch eligible students and worse educational outcomes, with an average SAT score that is 100 points lower, and significantly fewer students passing English, Algebra I, and Biology end of grade tests. Redrawing assignment zones to effectuate merger in more than name only would result in greater educational equity and opportunity for all Lenoir County students.

Lenoir County also faces challenges with respect to equal voting rights for all of its citizens. Formerly covered by Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act, the county is notorious for the challenge to the Voting Rights Act following the U.S. Department of Justice's refusal to let Kinston move to non-partisan elections. African Americans are underrepresented at every local government board in the county with the sole exception of the La Grange Town Council. Without the protection of Section 5 (gutted by the Supreme Court in 2013), there may be little hope for improvement and any further redistricting or voting changes should be closely watched for any adverse impact on African American voters. Ideally, countywide districts should be redrawn to maximize African American voting strength, and the possibility of districted elections for Kinston town council should be explored. African American voters in the county also lost federal political power in the 2011 Congressional redistricting, which packed voters from Lenoir into U.S. House District 1, represented by G.K. Butterfield, with the African American voters of 22 counties spanning from Durham, east all the way to Pasquotank County, and from Craven County north to the Virginia border. That redistricting is still being challenged in federal court under the Voting Rights Act.

The county does a better job than some in providing equal access to utilities. Most residents have water service, and sewer is provided within the towns. The majority African American towns of Kinston and La Grange also provide electricity to most of their residents and some communities outside their limits, as part of the North Carolina Eastern Municipal Power Agency. Unfortunately municipal rates are on average about a third higher than electricity sold by private utilities, and customers have no choice in electric providers. The result is that the disproportionately African American residents of the towns pay significantly higher bills than their rural, predominantly white neighbors. While the issue of high municipal electric rates will require a statewide solution, both Kinston and La Grange should cease any transfers of funds from electric revenue to their general operating fund, which unfairly burdens out of town residents.

The information in this profile of Lenoir County can only come alive through dialogue with the affected communities. The Center for Civil Rights hopes to hear from residents, advocates, and community leaders as we continue to uncover the history and scope of exclusion. Our goal is to provide communities, advocates, and policy makers with an understanding of the shared causes of the overlapping challenges facing excluded communities, provide them with data on the seriousness of the issues, and to suggest where additional data is needed. The first phase of the project was a statewide analysis and the publication of the State of Exclusion report. The results were startling, especially with respect to educational disparities and environmental justice issues, but ultimately the report raised more questions than provided answers. The Inclusion Project of the UNC Center for Civil Rights now continues this work with these profiles of individual counties. Look for information on other counties this spring.

Contact the report's author with questions about the report at pgilbert@email.unc.edu or 919.445.0175.

Jenn,
My thoughts:
This is tough, but I believe there should be some type of guideline to be considered for this award. Perhaps, must have competed on a varsity team for a minimum of 3 years. It may be a stretch for comparison, but as an example, the novice rowers and JV men's basketball players are not eligible for monogram awards, but can receive 3 monogram awards in their career, if they are on the varsity team for 3 years.
For a transfer, the guideline may be that they must compete on a varsity team for a minimum of 2 years.
I know there may be other considerations, which I would be open to, also.
Thanks,
~Beth

Re: Exam planning Spring 2014

It is time to plan for exams. Just to make sure we have everything scheduled properly, let us hear from you even if you do not require an exam in your class. Please fill out and return the forms provide the following information to Teresa Pittman no later than April 9, 2014 so that we can plan rooms for computer exam takers, handwriters, foreign students who get extra time and students with disabilities.

As you will recall, due to the significant increase in accommodated exams, we are no longer centrally administering exam proctoring for those professors who would prefer not to administer their own exam. Professors are free to make exchange arrangements as they see fit.

Note – this memo contains 2 attachments. The first provides the information necessary to schedule your exam and the second provides information that is needed to administer it to any accommodated students. The second form will also be useful if you are arranging for another professor to help you in administering your exam.

Thank you!

Changing How Colleges Deal With Rape
Bloomberg Businessweek
Sofie Karasek spent her freshman year at the University of California at Berkeley the way most college kids do...In January 2013, Clark and Pino had filed Title IX complaints against their school, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, alleging mishandling of their own assault cases.

The Virtual Option
U.S. News & World Report
During his six years in the Navy, Adam Kaeli served on the guided missile destroyer USS Pinckney in the Persian Gulf and the Indian Ocean and on anti piracy missions in the Smoali Basin...If Kaeli isn't at his computer for a live-streamed lecture on subjects like corporate finance, he is reading assignments or working on a case study with fellow students in the MBA@UNC, a three-year old program of the Kenan-Flagler Business School at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill.

Worm Subverts Plant Attack
The Scientist
Plants defend themselves against infectious bacteria and fungi by releasing a storm of reactive oxygen species (ROS), which kill the invaders...Jeff Dangl from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, who studies plant-pathogen interactions but was not involved in the work, praised the study.

PTSD: 9 questions, answered
CNN
Spc. Ivan Lopez, who ended his life after killing three people at the Fort Hood, Texas, military base Wednesday, was undergoing diagnostic procedures for post-traumatic stress disorder, according to Lt. Gen Mark Milley, Fort Hood's commanding general...The [2013] study, conducted by the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill School of Medicine, examined 1,388 combat veterans. Researchers found that about 23% of those with PTSD and high irritability had been arrested for criminal offenses.

Musk Spaceship Hunted by Singer for 7% Payday: Argentina Credit
Bloomberg
Argentina's getting a reminder that its creditors will go beyond the ends of the earth to get their money back..."They're never going to seize billions of dollars' worth of assets, but they can be a multibillion-dollar pain in the neck for Argentina," Mark Weidemaier, a law professor at the University of North Carolina, said in a telephone interview from Chapel Hill.

Was Jesus divine? Publisher hedges bets
The Houston Chronicle
Set side by side, the book jackets look almost like matching woodblock prints of a bearded, haloed figure. The titles mirror each other, too, featuring the same trio of names: Jesus, God, Bart Ehrman...Ehrman, a New Testament professor at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, said "How Jesus Became God" is unlike any book he's written for a lay audience.

Obamacare's Employer Mandate Is Toast, And Democrats Are OK With That
The Street (Finance News website)
President Obama this week cheered the milestone 7 millionth person to sign up for the Affordable Care Act (ACA), but a growing opinion is spreading among Democrats that the law's employer mandate should go..."My view is that the employer mandate is one of the most vulnerable features of the law politically," Jonathan Oberlander, a University of North Carolina professor who researches health policy, said in a phone interview from Chapel Hill, N.C.

Regional Coverage

Climate change, air quality and health
Glen Rose Reporter (Glen Rose, Texas, newspaper)
The third National Climate Assessment report, due to be released this month, confirms both the role of human activities in causing climate change and the broad range of adverse health consequences that climate change brings...A number of studies, including a 2013 study by J. Jason West of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Chapel Hill, North Carolina and colleagues in the journal Nature Climate Change, have shown that savings in health care costs from reduced air pollutants more than offsets the costs of implementing measures that reduce emissions that cause climate change over time.

Title IX Compliance and Then Some
The John William Pope Center for Higher Education Policy (Commentary)
by Harry Painter
There is an impossibly tough question that all universities must answer, from a legal if not moral perspective. How much of our limited resources should we spend to ensure that the next victim of a sex crime is given the treatment he or she deserves? The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill has spent the past year and will spend hundreds of thousands of dollars answering that question.

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Faculty Participation in Project Uplift Programs

MEMORANDUM

To: Academic Deans, Directors and Department Heads

From: Taffye Benson Clayton, Associate Vice Chancellor, Diversity and Multicultural Affairs

Date: April 4, 2014

Re: Faculty participation in Project Uplift 2014

Each summer, Diversity and Multicultural Affairs (DMA) sponsors Project Uplift, an overnight recruitment program for academically gifted rising high school seniors from underrepresented populations. Project Uplift is an opportunity for the entire campus community to contribute to the rich diversity of the student body. DMA has identified three areas in which your unit/school/division can contribute to this year's program:

* Provide faculty support for a mock classroom
This session will expose students to the general UNC academic experience

* Lead an experiential learning session (lab, simulation, group project)
This session will offer hands-on learning opportunities for participants

* Host a table at the PU Resource Fair & Expo
This session will allow students to explore various resources, academic units, and centers at the University

We are asking your unit/school/division to participate in at least one session during one of the following Project Uplift program dates:

* May 22 – 24, 2014
* May 29 – 31, 2014
* June 5 – 7, 2014
* June 12 – 14, 2014

Please encourage your faculty to sign up here: http://go.unc.edu/Fc78G. By following this link, they will be directed to detailed information about the date and time of each session.

Please direct all questions to Ada Wilson at adaw@email.unc.edu.

This message is sponsored by: Diversity and Multicultural Affairs

Below is further information about the softball event, from the 1L Class President:

Dear Faculty & Staff:

First, we want to thank all of you who came out to The Crunkleton on Tuesday night - whether you were making drinks, or drinking drinks. We students had an amazing time and cannot stop talking about it. The general buzz is "We should do that...like once a month." While monthly bar tending events may be ambitious, we see no reason not to get students and faculty/staff together one last time this school year.

Accordingly, we have the immediate pleasure of inviting you to the inaugural O'Hara Spring Softball Classic & Pig Pickin' . We are starting this tradition as a day of uniting faculty, staff, students, alumni, friends and family over softball, beer, and BBQ (other options, including vegetarian, will be available from the grill). Please consider coming out to play ball or simply to enjoy some lunch, music and games.

Below is a poster with the event's details, but here are some important notes:

Sunday,
9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.
Chapel Hill American Legion & Ephesus Park Ball Field - 1714 Legion Rd, Chapel Hill, NC 27517

Subject: [law_faculty] Invitation for Reunion Weekend

Dear Faculty,
Last week, you received an invitation in your mailboxes to participate in our inaugural spring Reunion Celebration. The UNC Law Alumni Association is pleased to share with you this new beginning to a proud tradition. By moving our class reunions to the spring, we are able to offer a much wider variety of opportunities and activities and we invite you to participate. You may see a complete schedule of events by visiting the schedule on our web page:
http://www.law.unc.edu/alumni/weekend/schedule/
Below are a few event highlights that will provide the best opportunity to meet and reunite with our graduates:

- Class Reunion Celebration and Affinity Group Receptions (Friday, April 11)
- Family Picnic and Concert under the Tent with Chapel Hill's own Mipso (Saturday, April 12)
- A variety of Saturday afternoon events including family fun, sports, art, community service and more
- Alumni/Student Softball Tournament (Sunday, April 13)

Our alumni enjoy seeing former professors and meeting the newest additions to the faculty. If your schedule permits, we would love for you to join us as our guests. Please complete the registration card included in the invitation or contact Kelly Mann at 919.445.0170 or kmmann@email.unc.edu.
Thank you for all you do to support our many events throughout the year.

Dear Athletics Council Members:
We look forward to seeing you at the Athletics Council meeting on Friday, at 11:30am. The meeting will take place in the second floor conference room (by the elevators) in the Loudermilk Center. Lunch will be served during the meeting.
The agenda for the meeting is attached to this email. Please note that the Rammys will be taking place on Monday, at 7:00pm in Memorial Hall. All of you are invited and encouraged to attend.
The minutes from our last meeting in October are attached to this email as well.
Please email Molly Norton at mbnorton@unc.edu by the end of the day on Monday, to let her know of your availability to attend the Athletics Council meeting.
Looking forward to seeing you on
Sincerely,

Bubba

Subject: [FORMAL NOTICE] Distribution of Emergency Warning Posters

Dear Faculty and Staff:

Many of you are already familiar with the bright yellow Alert Carolina posters that are hung in classrooms and classroom laboratory spaces across campus. The poster, part of ongoing efforts to keep Carolina safe, outlines what faculty, staff and students should do when the sirens sound for a significant emergency or immediate threat to health and safety.

We have printed additional "What You Should Do for an Emergency Warning" posters – enough for one to be hung in every office on campus, as well as in the hallways on each floor in residence halls – and we are in the process of distributing the posters to campus buildings. When you receive your poster from your building contact, I ask that you hang it in a highly visible place. This will help ensure that you will not have to go looking for this potentially life-saving information during an actual emergency. The posters are prepped with glue strips that will not damage paint, walls or doors.

If the siren sounds for an actual emergency rather than a test, all University operations should stop immediately, including classes and business in offices. People should go inside or take cover immediately in a safe place inside the building, close windows and doors, and stay until the all-clear is given or University officials provide other specific directions for people to follow.

In an emergency, the sirens would sound if an armed and dangerous person was on or near campus, a major chemical spill or hazard had been reported, a tornado warning was issued for the Chapel Hill-Carrboro area by the National Weather Service or the Department of Public Safety determined that a different emergency warranted sounding the sirens.

The sirens also sound during a test of the emergency siren system. The University tests the siren system and related text messages each semester because that provides the quickest way to communicate with people during an actual emergency.

You can find details about the Alert Carolina System Protocols and the different types of notification (Emergency, Timely Warning, Informational and Adverse Weather) on the Alert Carolina website: http://alertcarolina.unc.edu. I hope you'll review all the information on Alert Carolina, including frequently asked questions about campus safety, how to let family members know you are okay through the American Red Cross Safe and Well List and what to do if you're concerned about a student or a co-worker.

You play an important role in helping us keep Carolina safe, so the more you know about these health- and safety-related issues, the better it is for our entire campus community.

Sincerely,

Chief Jeff McCracken
Director of Public Safety

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] How does Vibration influence flexibility and strength? Healthy males needed

My name is Michael Scharville and I am a graduate student in the Department of Exercise and Sport Science at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. I am writing to you regarding a study we are conducting in our laboratory examining the acute effects of vibration assisted stretching on flexibility, strength, and muscle-tendon properties. We are looking for recreationally active (1 to 5 hours of exercise per week) male participants between the ages of 65 - 74 with no current or recent (within the past 3 months) serious low-back, hip, knee, or ankle injuries.

What types of testing will you do??

Strength: we will measure how strong your calf muscles are.
Flexibility: we will measure how flexible your calf muscles are.
Muscle and tendon properties: the size of the calf, muscle fiber length, Achilles tendon size, and the Achilles tendon will all be measured.

The study involves only 3 visits to the laboratory! Each visit will take about 1 hour.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR INTEREST, we look forward to hearing from you soon!!

This study has been approved by the Biomedical IRB as of 3/31/2014
IRB# 12-1112

Kind regards,

Dear Lucy, Marguerite and Laura,

Many, many thanks on behalf of the UNC Banking Institute for participating in the enforcement panel. I cannot say how helpful it is to have agency senior staff willing to travel to speak to this audience and how well received the panel is. The feedback we have received was very, very positive.

As a small token of our appreciation, I am sending to each of you on behalf of the UNC Banking Instiutte a copy of the new book Fragile by Design by two academics, Charles Calomiris and Stephen Haber. The book seeks to answer the question as to why the banking systems of some countries as unstable and others are stable. It is a fascinating march through the history of banking systems in Britain, Canada, the US, Mexico and Brazil, among others. It is excellent plane and train reading and since it is not an Amazon best seller with lots of TV coverage might be easily missed by thoughtful folks.

Thank you again,

Best, Meg

P.S. Based on long experience with government ethics rules, the book is well below the de minimus limit and can be accepted. Moreover if you have any doubt, please gift it to your agency library, regift it to anyone else or return it after reading it.

Charles S. Stone Jr., journalist and professor, dies at 89
The Washington Post
April 6, 2014
Charles S. (Chuck) Stone Jr., a prominent and pioneering American journalist who touched and shaped many lives as a big-city newspaper columnist, university professor and a founder of the National Association of Black Journalists, died April 6 at an assisted living facility near Chapel Hill, N.C. He was 89....Outspoken, but at ease in many worlds, Mr. Stone befriended both Malcolm X and the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. He was editor of three of the best-known newspapers published in the nation's black communities, and he was admired by his students at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, from which he was retired.

Investigator meets with Crowder in UNC probe
The Associated Press
April 4, 2014
The investigator looking into academic fraud at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill has interviewed a retired administrator from the department tied to the case. Attorney Brian Vick said Friday his client, Deborah Crowder, met with Kenneth Wainstein on March 19 in a daylong meeting at his firm's Research Triangle Park office.

Obama's actions test workplace ideas
The Washington Post (AP)
April 6, 2014
Lacking congressional support to raise wages or end gender pay disparities, President Barack Obama is again imposing his policies on federal contractors, in keeping with presidents' tradition of exerting their powers on a fraction of the economy they directly control..."It's an important step in implementing things in a broader scale," said [Jeffrey] Hirsch, now a professor at the University of North Carolina School of Law.

Ft. Hood shooting underscores Army's mental health crisis
The Los Angeles Times
April 4, 2014
This week's deadly shootings at Ft. Hood suggest that after years of trying to confront a mental health crisis, the military is still struggling to design a healthcare system that can identify and successfully treat service members who might become violent...A study of 1,300 combat veterans by the medical school at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill found that 23% with PTSD or suffering from "high irritability" had been arrested for criminal offenses.

As Vermont Goes, So Goes the Nation?
The New York Times (Opinion)
April 5, 2014
by Molly Worthen
When most liberals hear the words "third party," they have nasty flashbacks to Ralph Nader's spoiler campaign in 2000. The history buffs among them might think of the populist Greenback Party's feckless protests against the gold standard in the 19th century or the five presidential campaigns of the Socialist Eugene V. Debs — the last of which, in 1920, he ran from prison.
Molly Worthen is an assistant professor of history at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

SJC to decide if suits vs. Boston Children's Hospital can proceed
The Boston Herald
April 7, 2014
A case involving child sex abuse allegations, suicide and a potential sea change in how Massachusetts courts look at employer responsibility will be before the state's highest court tomorrow, as 11 North Carolina litigants fight for the right to sue Boston Children's Hospital. The plaintiffs allege the Boston hospital failed to warn the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill School of Medicine that the late Dr. Melvin Levine had been accused of molesting children before he transferred there.

Court challenge could topple NC same-sex marriage ban
The News & Observer (Raleigh)
April 4, 2014
If a federal appeals court follows the national trend, North Carolina's ban on same-sex marriage could be upended this year…"Potentially, the court could narrowly apply their decision to Virginia, but it's hard to see how they would do that," says Maxine Eichner, a specialist in sexuality and the law at UNC

In North Carolina Senate race, there's plenty of money, but whose money?
The Charlotte Observer
April 5, 2014
utside groups have spent more than $15 million on political advertising – most of it negative – on both sides of North Carolina's U.S. Senate race, more money than in any other state…"This is a state that's been a test kitchen for assault-your-opponent ads," said Ferrel Guillory, director of the Program on Public Life at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Study finds rise in NC autism rates
The Asheville Citizen-Times
April 6, 2014
The findings in a new report showing higher rates of children diagnosed with autism in North Carolina are due at least in part to greater awareness and a better job of identifying children with the disorder, local advocates say…"A lot of folks think this estimate that's come out now is maybe more a reflection of how well we are identifying children," said Michele Villalobos, clinical director and assistant professor at the University of North Carolina TEACCH Autism Program's Asheville Center.

Why aren't the PlayMakers in the Playmaker's Theater? It is a question many Chapel Hill people asked the first time they learned that the PlayMaker's Repertory Company stages its productions not in its named venue but a few blocks away in the Paul Green Theater on Country Club Road…The understandable confusion gets us into the history of drama at UNC-Chapel Hill and the impact it had throughout North Carolina and the rest of the country.

BROADENING CORPORATE BOARD DIVERSITY: EARNING A BOARD SEAT: MAY 28, 2014, CHAPEL HILL
This program was held for the first time in 2006, and has been repeated annually since then. Enrollment is limited and based upon application. Priority for enrollment will be given to applicants from sponsoring entities. Topics include; the job of a director, the skills needed and how to develop them; realistic approaches to advancing your candidacy for a board of directors' position; diverse directors in non-diverse settings; and evaluating companies and opportunities. The event proceeds support our initiative to encourage boards of directors of public companies to increase their gender, racial, and ethnic diversity. We also maintain a computerized database of potential diverse directors (many from this program). Corporate nominating committees are invited to contact UNC's Director Diversity Initiative to identify board candidates from this database.
Please visit https://ddi.law.unc.edu/programs/ for more information, sponsorship details, and an application to participate.

'Cover Your Downside'

And other top 5 priorities for being successful in business, from a Business Leader of the Year

By Jim Kristie

Ira Lubert is a good friend of Directors & Boards Publisher Robert Rock and his family, so we were pleased that he was honored as Business Leader of the Year by Drexel University's LeBow College of Business. Nearly 400 people attended the Feb. 27 luncheon at which he received the award.

Lubert is co-founder of Philadelphia-based Independence Capital Partners LLC, a family of private equity and real estate investment funds. At the award event he shared with the audience his Top 5 priorities to being successful in business. I am happy to share them with our e-Briefing readers:

One: "Be a great listener. You can't learn much when you're talking. When I take over a troubled company, the first thing I do is listen to the employees, not the owners. I promise you there's somebody in that company who knows what went wrong."

Two: "Learn to become a great loser. That's the only way you can become a good winner."

Three: "Anybody with money can be an investor. Make sure you take smart money. Look to partner with what I call 'best of breed people'—people who have demonstrated success on a consistent basis throughout their lives. My business model allows these 'best of breed people' to own a majority of their businesses, because I am very comfortable with a meaningful but minority piece of the investment. Among my partners' positive traits they must have these four, the four that I call 'Jacks or Better': they must be honest, ethical, committed, and capable. Over the years, I have deviated from this principle on a couple of occasions and the result has always been disappointing and stressful."

Four: "Cover your downside. Make money when you invest in something, instead of hoping you'll make money when you sell."

And Five: "I've learned over the years that 'knowledge is power.' Whatever the task is, learn all you can about it. Study all of the issues."

Lubert concluded, "These are the five lessons that have worked well for me over the years. And even then, I needed a lot of luck. There are thousands of hard-working people somewhere in the world who could have been me but didn't have the same breaks I did."

Running a Compelling Board Retreat

The 'local' board retreat can be a model for expanding a board's perspective.

By David Porteous, lead director for Huntington Bancshares Inc.

The annual corporate board retreat is a longstanding tradition that is routinely hosted at a resort. There boards often hammer out the company's updated strategies as they relax and play golf in the sun. While a retreat in a popular vacation spot can be a welcome reward for hardworking board members, it may also be a missed opportunity.

The 11-member board of the Columbus, Ohio-based Huntington Bank has taken a different approach: We go local. We believe this tactic provides long-term benefits, which can boost the bank's reputation and help to drive and sustain its growth.

We host our annual retreats in one of our 11 markets that span across West Virginia, western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and northern Kentucky. To an international board that oversees offices stretching from Hong Kong to London, the distinctions between Detroit and Cincinnati might not seem stark enough to require a meeting in each one.

Nevertheless, we have found that hosting a retreat in one of our Midwestern cities is a tremendous learning opportunity and has a significant impact on our strategic planning process and long-term vision.

Commitment to That Market
It also underscores for local stakeholders—including customers and colleagues—our commitment to a market. Moreover, it allows us to discover firsthand how business is being conducted in a region because during the retreat we seek the feedback of customers, colleagues, community leaders, and local elected officials. These perspectives can be critical in influencing and shaping Huntington's direction—the very reason for a board retreat.

A Russia Story

When Pepsi-Cola entered the Soviet Union, as remembered by Donald Kendall.

Editor's Note: Russia's annexation of Crimea last month prompted a dip into the Directors & Boards archives. The following is an excerpt from an interview that Publisher Robert Rock and Editor James Kristie had with Donald Kendall, who engineered PepsiCo's breakthroughs into the Eastern European and Soviet Union marketplaces. (He is famously pictured in a photo serving Pepsi to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and U.S. Vice President Richard Nixon at an historic U.S. Exhibition in Moscow in 1959.) Kendall was chairman of the executive committee of PepsiCo at the time of the interview in his office at company headquarters in Purchase, N.Y., in the fall of 1990. For a complimentary copy of the full article interview with Kendall email James Kristie at jkristie@directorsandboards.com.

Directors & Boards: What impressions of Moscow in 1959 have stuck with you?

Donald Kendall: A lot of people go to the Soviet Union today and talk about how terrible it is. Compared with 1959, it's not terrible. They've made a tremendous amount of progress—not in our terms, but you can't compare the U.S. or Western Europe with the Soviet Union. You have to go back and look at what they had during the 1950s and at what they have today. A lot of changes have been made. The hotel where I stayed had a statue of Stalin out front. The hotel is still there, but now Stalin is gone. Lenin is even disappearing in some places. Up until a few years ago, there were communist signs and slogans all over the place, and those are disappearing. And, of course, the people are more open. Before, people were very guarded in their conversation. You couldn't get people to really talk, and you had to be very careful when negotiating. That is not true today.

Is it easier to do business in the Soviet Union today than in years past?

Dealing in a democracy in the Soviet Union today is much more difficult. Before, you had a Foreign Trade Ministry where all the decisions were made. It was centralized control, so it was easy. They destroyed what they had before—a command centralized economy—but it hasn't gone from there down below. People are negotiating out in the republics, through the central system and the republics, and in the cities. If you don't know your way around, it's difficult to find out who you should talk to and who can make a decision.

Q&A With Steve Wallenstein on Private Company Governance

Director of the Directors' Institute at the Robert H. Smith School of Business at the University of Maryland

Public companies have a well defined corporate governance structure that makes for certain uniformity among governance practices. What about the corporate governance of private companies?

You need to distinguish between private companies owned by venture capital or private equity groups (PEGs) and all other private companies. Companies owned by PEGs generally have a separation of ownership from management (although Partners in PEGs often serve in management roles early on, for example as acting CEO), and in some respects are managed more like public companies. PEG private companies may be more likely to have independent directors (members of the PEG or outside consultants brought in as board members). In addition they tend to have more active boards as well as frequent board meetings (expecting periodic reports and a willingness to quickly replace a CEO or other management who are not performing), audits of financial statements, and the use of compensation professionals. Private companies that are not PEG owned are generally family owned or controlled and this leads to a number of challenges.

What are some of the governance challenges facing family controlled companies?

The board may be dominated by members of the family and/or management. So the first challenge is to have truly independent board members in sufficient numbers to make a difference. Second, most family-owned private company boards do not have formal committees, such as audit, compensation and nominating committees. These functions tend to be minimized or overlooked, or done on an ad hoc basis by the entire board. Third, many private companies do not have independently audited financial statements. The statements are often not even reviewed by the board, which raises a series of issues in its own right.

Q&A With Chester J. Hosch on Corporate Compliance Programs

Partner in the Corporate and Tax Practice at Burr & Forman LLP (Atlanta).

Because an effective corporate compliance program is an essential component of internal controls for uncovering and preventing ethical lapses and criminal violations, smart companies are prudently adopting these programs. However, it is not enough to merely implement the program. It is also essential for the program to be properly and competently administered and maintained.

What are the fundamentals of any corporate compliance program?

An effective corporate compliance program promotes a culture of ethical conduct and compliance with the law, and incorporates the following:

- Risk identification and assessment;
- Standards, procedures, policies and controls;
- Leadership commitment;
- Communication, guidance and training;
- Monitoring, auditing and review; and
- Discipline and reporting.

What common mistakes arise during implementation?

Failure to identify/quantify all material risks. The U.S. Department of Justice and the Enforcement Division of the U.S. Securities and Exchanges Commission, in its Resource Guide to the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, suggests that t the outset, it is imperative that the organization identify and quantify all material risks inherent to the business of the organization.

However, many organizations fail to invest the time and resources in this effort. Instead, they focus their programs on a single area of compliance to the exclusion of others.

TEACHING FOR CLE CREDIT

As a contribution for professionalism, attorneys may earn CLE credit for teaching in approved continuing legal education activities. Presentations accompanied by thorough, high quality, readable and carefully prepared written materials will qualify for CLE credit on the basis of one (1) hour for each ten (10) minutes of presentation. Repeat presentations qualify for one-half of the credits available for the initial presentation. A teacher may also receive credit on an hour-for-hour basis for attending portions of the CLE activity other than those for which teaching credit is earned, but may not receive both attendee credit and teaching credit for the portion he or she teaches. Attorneys who participate in panels as part of approved continuing legal education activities earn credit at the same rate as teachers.

CONTENT AND TIME REQUIREMENTS

1. North Carolina uses a 60-minute hour. That is, 60 minutes are required to equal one CLE credit hour.

2. Only the time of actual instruction counts toward CLE credit hours.

3. Question and answer sessions are considered actual instruction and may be included for CLE credit provided such question and answer sessions do not exceed 15 minutes per CLE credit hour. For example, a program approved for 4 total CLE credit hours may include up to 1 hour of questions and answers.

4. No complete CLE activity may be less than 30 minutes in length. However, a program may include individual topics of less than 30 minutes in length.

5. CLE credit, when converted from minutes to hours, will be rounded down to the nearest quarter-hour.

6. CLE credit is not given for:
   - Introductory remarks
   - Breaks
   - Business meetings
   - Personal development programs
   - Presentations on marketing a law practice or client development
   - Speeches in connection with banquets or other events that are primarily social
   - Demonstrations of services or products with intent to sell

7. Note, in reference to instruction in professional responsibility/ethics/professionalism, that programs so classified may not include topics such as attorney fees, client development, communication skills, etc., except to the extent that professional responsibility is directly discussed in connection with such topics.

8. All activities, including computer programs, must be either live or interactive. No credit will be given for self-study. Video presentations must be scheduled for a minimum of three attorneys.

FEES

The NC State Bar Board of CLE currently charges a fee of $3.00 per credit hour per attorney.

The Sponsor pays the fee in the following circumstances:
- Approved activity is presented in North Carolina.
- Sponsoring organization is based in North Carolina, regardless of where the approved activity is presented.

The Sponsor has the option of paying the fee in the following circumstances:
- Approved activity is offered without charge to attendees, regardless of where the approved activity is presented.
- Approved activity is offered by sponsor based outside North Carolina and is presented outside North Carolina.

When a Sponsor does not pay fee, the North Carolina State Bar will bill attorneys directly for hours attended.

Dear Faculty,
Last week, you received an invitation in your mailboxes to participate in our inaugural spring Reunion Celebration. The UNC Law Alumni Association is pleased to share with you this new beginning to a proud tradition. By moving our class reunions to the spring, we are able to offer a much wider variety of opportunities and activities and we invite you to participate. You may see a complete schedule of events by visiting the schedule on our web page:
http://www.law.unc.edu/alumni/weekend/schedule/
Below are a few event highlights that will provide the best opportunity to meet and reunite with our graduates:

- Class Reunion Celebration and Affinity Group Receptions (Friday, April 11)
- Family Picnic and Concert under the Tent with Chapel Hill's own Mipso (Saturday, April 12)
- A variety of Saturday afternoon events including family fun, sports, art, community service and more
- Alumni/Student Softball Tournament (Sunday, April 13)

Our alumni enjoy seeing former professors and meeting the newest additions to the faculty. If your schedule permits, we would love for you to join us as our guests. Please complete the registration card included in the invitation or contact Kelly Mann at 919.445.0170 or kmmann@email.unc.edu.
Thank you for all you do to support our many events throughout the year.
Sincerely,

Greetings everyone. Arranging a class visit for twenty students would be a problem. We usually have a maximum of five students visit a class (at the professors request). However, we have a group of high school aged kids coming at the end of the month and we are doing a mock class for them. We have a case that they will have to read in preparation for the visit and they will be given a taste of how the socratic method of instruction works. That probably better than having them visit a law school class at the end of the school year. It would be a matter of finding a professor to teach the mock class. Lissa, I have reserved the courtroom from 12:00-2:00 just in case we can make this happen. At least we have a place to host them. I could email the case to Ms. Yarde and she could distribute it to the students. Let me know if you all are able to proceed.

From: Evelyne Huber

Dear Colleagues,

Our next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, April 16, at 3 p.m. in 105 S. Bldg.

We said last time we wanted to talk about "UNC in 100 Counties" so this topic remains on the agenda.

In addition, we would want to talk about the following issues:

1. Budget projections

2. Carolina Metrics Project: faculty input and costs?

3. Work of the Sexual Assault Task Force

If you have any additional items, please let me know.

Thanks, and see you Wednesday of next week,

Evelyne

Thanks also to Carol for volunteering Mayer Brown to participate in our Career Trek with the Banking Journal students on Thursday, October 16. Gene Katz is checking with Wells Fargo to see if Wells might be the bank participant. The likely schedule for the day would be

AM – Visit with Wells Fargo attorneys

Lunchtime – Lunch at Mayer Brown with Mayer Brown attorneys, Wells attorneys, up to 15 law students, me, and one of the staff people from our career office.

Post-lunch – additional time to meet with Mayer Brown attorneys.

We will leave for Chapel Hill by 2:30.

The purpose of this day is to expose students to life in a law firm and in-house, to give them a sense of different career paths people have had, and to provide candid advice about career opportunities outside of a formal interview setting. Please confirm that the date works for you. Also, our law firm host has typically provided the lunch.

Re: Exam planning Spring 2014

It is time to plan for exams. Just to make sure we have everything scheduled properly, let us hear from you even if you do not require an exam in your class. Please fill out and return the forms provide the following information to Teresa Pittman no later than April 9, 2014 so that we can plan rooms for computer exam takers, handwriters, foreign students who get extra time and students with disabilities.

As you will recall, due to the significant increase in accommodated exams, we are no longer centrally administering exam proctoring for those professors who would prefer not to administer their own exam. Professors are free to make exchange arrangements as they see fit.

Note – this memo contains 2 attachments. The first provides the information necessary to schedule your exam and the second provides information that is needed to administer it to any accommodated students. The second form will also be useful if you are arranging for another professor to help you in administering your exam.

Thank you!

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Adolescents needed for hearing research

The Human Auditory Development Laboratory is currently recruiting adolescents between 14-17 years old for a research study to help us learn more about how children hear in noisy environments.

During the testing, your child will sit in a sound-treated room and will listen to sounds presented over a speaker or through headphones. Your child will be asked to indicate when they hear sounds by selecting a picture on a computer monitor or by repeating back words. The sounds we use are not loud.

One visit to the laboratory is required. The visit lasts about one hour. You will receive $15 and we will give you parking passes if you drive to the lab.

If you are interested please email childhear@med.unc.edu.

The principal investigator for this research study is Lori Leibold, PhD, Department of Allied Health Sciences.

This research study has been approved by the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill's Biomedical Institutional Review Board: Study# 06-0840. The title for this IRB study is "Listening in Noise for Children and Adults". The most recent approved IRB modification date is October 1, 2013.

LEGAL COMMUNITY

Clodfelter New Charlotte Mayor | NCBA member Dan Clodfelter of Charlotte, who has served in the N.C. Senate since 1999, resigned his seat in the General Assembly today to accept appointment as the new mayor of Charlotte. Charlotte City Council selected Clodfelter Monday night to replace Mayor Patrick Cannon who resigned two weeks ago following his arrest on federal corruption charges. The term expires in December 2015.

Inaugural Insurance Law Annual Meeting | Friday, April 11, at the Bar Center in Cary, the Insurance Law Section kicks off its inaugural annual meeting CLE program. Top-flight insurance coverage attorneys provide practitioners with valuable insight and the tools needed to stay on top of coverage issues. Don't miss this opportunity to meet your fellow Insurance Law Section members, hear the latest hot topics and network with experienced coverage counsel across the state. Program offers 6.25 hours of CLE credit including 1.0 Ethics/Professionalism hour.

NC LEAP Inventor Assistance Program | NC LEAP is proud to announce the launch of a regional Inventor Assistance Program which will provide pro bono support to qualifying inventors and entrepreneurs in the area of patent law. Volunteer attorneys with the Inventor Assistance Program will assist pro se patent applicants as they navigate the patent system in an effort to secure important intellectual property.

Talents & Treasure YLD Auction | A very different silent auction will be set up at the 2014 NCBA Annual Meeting in Wilmington on Friday, June 20, from 8 a.m.-6 p.m. Traditional items will include paintings, drawings, metalwork, sculpture (donations still needed). Other valuable items and in-kind services are being added, including a Bobcats basketball and signed jersey and Panthers football (similar items from each big-time school needed). Housewares, donated beach and mountain weekends and in-kind services will be auctioned. Contact Collin Cooper or Megan Milner.

IN THE OFFICE

Adobe Acrobat: Power App For Practicing Law | Now it is possible to eliminate much of the paper that has been the traditional inventory of the law office. This digitalization of the legal product allows lawyers to practice anywhere, anytime.

iPad in One Hour with Tom Mighell | iPad Apps in One Hour for Lawyers provides the "best of the best" apps that are essential for any law practice. Only three seats left! The program is part of the NCBA Center for Practice Management's Meet the Author series.

ACROSS THE PROFESSION

Justice for All Event | Legal Services of Southern Piedmont and Legal Aid of North Carolina's Charlotte office raised nearly $90,000 at their eighth annual Justice for All Luncheon held March 25 in Charlotte and attracted record attendance of 640 guests.

Brooklyn's Bold Move | Tuition is up and applications are down at law schools across the country. To combat this dilemma, Brooklyn Law School is cutting tuition, increasing need-based aid, and altering its curriculum to provide students with the option of graduating in two years.

Orr Fills DA's Position | Former Supreme Court Justice Robert Orr is taking leave from his duties at Poyner Spruill in Raleigh to fill the vacant district attorney's position in the 24th Judicial District comprising Avery, Madison, Mitchell, Watauga and Yancey counties. Gov. McCrory announced the appointment today. Orr will serve until a new district attorney is elected this year.

Talk to Law Students About Suicide and Depression | Brian Clarke is an NCBA member and assistant professor at Charlotte School of Law who has written a three-part series about the prevalence of suicide and depression among lawyers. In part three of the series he discusses his own struggles with depression and anxiety and how they impact his interactions with law students.

Subject: [law_faculty] Called Meeting on Thursday, April 10th

Dear Friends,

As you know, I have called a special meeting of the faculty on Thursday, April 10th, at noon in the Faculty Lounge. The purpose of the meeting is to consider a recommendation of the Special Subcommittee of the Appointments Committee, led by Bob Mosteller (with committee members Patricia Bryan, Alexa Chew, Luke Everett, and Craig Smith), concerning the appointment of a clinical assistant professor of law to the WLRC program.

The Faculty Reference Manual at Section VIII. A. 6, recites that:

> Tenured, tenure-track, instructional clinical faculty, library clinical faculty, and others granted similar status shall be entitled to vote on all matters except those matters relating to the appointment, retention, promotion or tenure of faculty members, which are governed by specific rules of voting eligibility.

Section VIII. B. 1 recites that "[i]t has long been UNC Law's practice that all tenured and tenure-track faculty who are present at the meeting in which a hiring recommendation is made vote on faculty hiring recommendations." Section VIII.B. 1 thereby excludes non-tenure-track faculty from voting on appointments.

Further, Section VIII. 6., which I quoted in part above, continues:

> Except as controlled by state law regarding open meetings, only those eligible to vote on matters under consideration are entitled to be present at faculty meetings. Others may be present for clerical purposes or with the approval of the Dean where their presence and/or participation would be helpful to consideration of the business at hand.

In ordinary monthly faculty meetings, clinical non-tenure-track faculty members are fully welcome participants in all other phases of regular monthly faculty meetings, and when appointments issues arise, clinical non-tenured faculty typciallly do not normally leave the meeting but instead remain without voting. Yet when there occurs, as on Thursday, a called meeting for the sole purpose of hearing an appointments issue, the literal terms of Section VIII. 6 seem to come into play.

In this case, however, where the discussion will be on the relative merits of two candidates for the open WLRC position, and after consulting with Subcommittee Chair Bob Mosteller, I believe as dean that "the presence and participation" of all clinical non-tenure-track professors, especially those in the WLRC program, will be very "helpful to the consideration of the business at hand." Consequently, I'm writing to clarify especially to our WLRC faculty colleagues, that you are welcome to come, be present, and participate in Thursday's discussion on this appointment matter (though not the final vote).

Friends –

Last week we held the 3rd annual ABCs of Banking Law program in Charlotte (on April 2) and our 18th annual Banking Institute (April 3-4). We had a great turnout for both programs, including most of our NC Banking Institute Journal students who attended the Banking Institute in Charlotte. The speakers and panelists were terrific, with the highlight probably being the Beischer Address by Tim Mayopoulos, CEO of Fannie Mae. Tim is the former general counsel of Bank of America. Many thanks to Jackie Carlock, Lance Westerlund, Conrad Bortz, and our students for providing great support for the program.

We published a second issue of the banking journal and it was distributed at the Banking Institute. This issue is in addition to our special issue collecting transcripts and papers from our 2013 DC conference, The Political Economy of Financial Regulation, which was really Saule's brainchild. We will put copies of both issues of the journal in the faculty lounge and if you would like your own copy of either issue, please let Conrad know and he will put a copy in your mailbox.

Thanks for excusing your banking journal students on Thursday and Friday to participate in this event.

Are you interested in learning how to meditate?

Science has shown that meditation improves people's health and well-being. Help UNC researchers discover how it works.

For this research study, we need people who are:

- between 35 and 64 years old
- not engaged in regular meditation practice
- willing to learn meditation
- fluent in written and spoken English
- interested in making healthy life changes

Participation includes:

- Three lab sessions (2-hour lab visit and 1-hour online surveys) at Baseline, 3-months, and 18-months later.

- Three lab visits for blood draw (15-minutes)

- Urine sample and a 5-minute resting heart rate recording during the three lab visits.

- Daily, online, brief reports for 11 weeks, and 1 week prior to 18-month follow-up.

- Attending a 6-week Meditation Workshop (1-hour per week)

- Quarterly reporting for 18-months (5 times), telling us about your health behaviors, emotions, and daily activities.

- The workshops will be audio-recorded for quality assurance and a 5-minute task in the lab sessions is video-recorded. You are not eligible for this study if you do not wish to be recorded.

We will pay up to $640 for completion of the study.

For more information, please visit www.unchealthstudy.com

Subject: 2014 career trek
Location: Mayer Brown and Wells Fargo in Charlotte

Start: 10/16/2014 4:00:00 AM
End: 10/17/2014 4:00:00 AM
Show Time As: Tentative

Required Attendees: Broome, Lissa L

Thanks also to Carol for volunteering Mayer Brown to participate in our Career Trek with the Banking Journal students on Thursday, October 16. Gene Katz is checking with Wells Fargo to see if Wells might be the bank participant. The likely schedule for the day would be

AM – Visit with Wells Fargo attorneys

Lunchtime – Lunch at Mayer Brown with Mayer Brown attorneys, Wells attorneys, up to 15 law students, me, and one of the staff people from our career office.

Post-lunch – additional time to meet with Mayer Brown attorneys.

We will leave for Chapel Hill by 2:30.

The purpose of this day is to expose students to life in a law firm and in-house, to give them a sense of different career paths people have had, and to provide candid advice about career opportunities outside of a formal interview setting. Please confirm that the date works for you. Also, our law firm host has typically provided the lunch.

Attach: How I Came to Hold These Truths, by Jeanne Sakata.docx

Hi everyone,
On the evenings of April 23 through 27, Playmakers will be presenting the one-man show "Hold These Truths" by Jeanne Sakata. (See below and attached.) It captures the story of Gordon Hirabayashi (of Hirabayashi v. United States fame -- a sister case to the better-known Korematsu case) and his conscience-based resistance both to the removal of Japanese Americans from the West Coast in 1942 and to serving in the Army.
I can't recommend it highly enough. It's mesmerizing. And it's wonderful that Playmakers is bringing it here, to the Southeast, where civil rights stories about Asian Americans are less commonly heard.
Those of you who teach public law courses (especially, but not exclusively, constitutional law) might consider mentioning it to your students.

PlayMakers presents regional premiere of 'Hold These Truths'
PlayMakers Repertory Company will present the regional premiere of "Hold These Truths," written by Jeanne Sakata, April 23-27.
PlayMakers concludes its 2013-2014 PRC^2 series with the production. PRC^2 features performances of topical plays coupled with engaging post-show discussions with the creative artists and other panelists.
Performances will be at 7:30 p.m. nightly and 2 p.m. on April 27 in the Elizabeth Price Kenan Theatre in the Center for Dramatic Art on Country Club Road. Ticket prices start at $15 and may be purchased atwww.playmakersrep.org or by calling (919) 962-PLAY (7529).
Inspired by a true story, "Hold These Truths" takes place in Seattle during World War II, where University of Washington student Gordon Hirabayashi fights U.S. government orders to forcibly incarcerate people of Japanese ancestry on the West Coast. As he struggles to reconcile his country's betrayal with his passionate belief in the U.S. Constitution, Hirabayashi journeys toward a greater understanding of America's triumphs — and confrontation with its failures.
StageScene LA called "Hold These Truths" "the powerful and moving story of one man, who, in his own words 'could not give up on the Constitution.'"
Hirabayashi (1918-2012) was an American sociologist best known for his resistance to Japanese-American internment during World War II, one of only three persons to openly defy it. After being convicted for curfew violation, he was sentenced to 90 days in prison. The verdict was appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court in Hirabayashi v. United States (1943). In 1987, the U.S. Court of Appeals Ninth Circuit overturned his conviction. In 2012, President Barack Obama posthumously awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom to Hirabayashi for his principled stand.
Stage and screen performer Joel de la Fuente will reprise his role as Hirabayashi plus over 30 other characters in the one-man drama, which had its New York premiere in October 2012 with Epic Theatre Ensemble. He was nominated for the 2013 Drama Desk Award for Outstanding Solo Performance. The New Yorker said his performance was "gripping ... eerily true to life." The Washington Post called the play "eloquent" and Fuente "magnetic."
Fuente plays Dr. Johann Pryce in the Netflix original series "Hemlock Grove" and appeared for 10 seasons on "Law & Order: SVU."
Playwright Sakata, who is also an award-winning actress, became enamored of Hirabayashi's story and interviewed him in the late 1990s.

Members of her father's family were forcibly expelled from their homes and locked up behind barbed wire in the Arizona desert during World War II, but she said they refused to talk of these painful wartime years. Sakata said meeting Hirabayashi "has been a life-changing and redemptive experience."

"His tenacious quest for freedom echoes that of all Americans who 'hold the truths' of the Constitution and refuse to let go ..." Sakata added.

Director Lisa Rothe directed the 2012 world premiere of "Penelope" for PlayMakers. She has also helmed productions at Milwaukee Shakespeare Company, Chautauqua Theatre Company and Tony Randall's National Actors Theatre. In addition to her work in theater, she is developing a new opera ("Ada") presented by The Center for Contemporary Opera. Rothe has taught and directed for many theater programs including NYU's Graduate Acting Program, Yale School of Drama and The Juilliard School.

PlayMakers is based in UNC's College of Arts and Sciences. The Drama League of New York has named PlayMakers one of the best regional theaters in America and INDY Week calls PlayMakers the best live theater company in the Triangle.

Subscription packages are currently also available for PlayMakers' 2014-2015 Season. For more on the new season, visit www.playmakersrep.org.

How I Came to Hold These Truths

by Jeanne Sakata, playwright

When I first heard of Gordon Hirabayashi, I was enthralled -- and shocked. Shocked that I'd never heard of his story before. Born and raised in a close-knit, thriving Japanese American community in the Bay Area of California, I had proudly studied Japanese American history as a college student and later became actively involved in the Asian American community as a theatre artist. Yet his fascinating story was entirely new and unknown to me.

What an incredible story it was. I became so enamored of, and obsessed with it, that I was determined to meet him, and, through a series of lucky events, was able to do so and interview him in the late 1990s.

In the turbulent years of World War II, my father's side of our family, along with all other people of Japanese ancestry on the West Coast, immediately became targets of suspicion, hostility, and hatred. The trauma of my father, aunts, uncles and older cousins being forcibly expelled from their homes and locked up behind barbed wire in the Arizona desert was so devastating that they refused to speak of those wartime years.

And so meeting Gordon, and writing Hold These Truths, has been a life-changing and redemptive experience. It has been hugely gratifying to watch his story being received by audiences not just as a Japanese American story, but as a deeply vital American one. His tenacious quest for freedom echoes that of all Americans who "hold the truths" of the Constitution and refuse to let go-- indeed, of all people around the world who hunger and thirst, and struggle and strive for justice.

What Lawyers Need to Know About the Heartbleed Bug

Yesterday, computer researchers announced that a massive vulnerability for websites that use a certain web encryption software called OpenSSL. This vulnerability, called the "Heartbleed bug," allows potential eavesdropping on users' communications on websites using OpenSSL.

Why should lawyers care about this?

The Heartbleed bug means that third parties can potentially gain access to the contents of a computer's RAM (random access memory). In testing, researchers found they were able to exploit the vulnerability to steal usernames, passwords, instant messages, emails and other business critical information. They were able to steal this information without leaving a trace behind to indicate the theft had occurred.

Which websites are vulnerable?

There are not precise statistics available, but any website using SSL/TLS encryption is potentially at risk. This is a popular technology and many popular cloud-based services rely on it, including Google, Facebook, Yahoo, etc.

As of this email, Google and Facebook have announced that they have patched and fixed the vulnerability on their websites. Yahoo and Microsoft have announced that they are assessing and implementing the fix where needed.

Please note that while the North Carolina Bar Association website (www.ncbar.org) and the online learning center (www.ncbar.org/CLE or gateway.ncbar.org) do use SSL encryption for certain site functions, a risk analysis of these sites was performed and found no vulnerabilities to the Heartbleed bug.

Is there a fix available for the Heartbleed bug?

There is a fix available called Fixed OpenSSL. The web services companies have to apply this fix, not the end users of the software, such as lawyers. Lawyers should follow the protocol below.

What should lawyers do about this?

First, compile a list of the various web services they use. If you have a username and a password to access a site, it should go on the list.

Second, identify web services that contain confidential client information, credit card numbers, bank account information, Social Security numbers and other critical information should go to the top of the list.

Third, investigate whether each web service employs SSL/TLS encryption. Websites and web services that do not employ SSL/TLS are not vulnerable to the Heartbleed bug.

Fourth, for websites which do employ SSL/TLS, investigate whether a patch or fix has been made for each website. As previously mentioned, the largest services (Google, Facebook, etc.) have already implemented fixes. Particular emphasis should be paid to web services from smaller companies. There is an easy way to check to see if the fix has been implemented for a given website by going to https://www.lastpass.com/heartbleed

Fifth, once you confirm a patch has been made for a particular service, log in and change your password for that service.

What about NCBar.org and NCBA affinity partners?

Several of our Affinity Partners use SSL encryption.

- LawPay has applied the patch and is now secure
- Clio Practice Management Software is developing a solution currently
- Fastcase is developing a solution currently
- NetDocuments was unaffected

Open Access Task Force Expert Forum
April 22, 2014
12:00 - 1:30 p.m.
Freedom Forum, 305 Carroll Hall
Light refreshments served
Sponsored by the new ad-hoc Open Access Task Force, appointed this spring by Faculty Chair Jan Boxill and Chaired by Profs. Todd Vision and Julie Kimbrough.
This is an expert forum to learn about the rights-retention policies that have been adopted by faculty at several peer institutions in recent years. Such policies typically ensure that faculty have the legal rights to publish in the journal of their choice, at no fee, while at the same time ensuring the accessibility of their peer-reviewed manuscripts through an institutional repository. Such policies can provide the researcher with greater reuse rights than are allowed by the copyright transfer agreements provided by many scholarly publishers. The forum will include presentations by two speakers who have been closely involved with the faculty-led open access policies adopted at Duke University (in 2010) and across the entire 10-university University of California system (in 2013).
Speakers:
Dr. Chris Kelty is an anthropologist at UCLA whose research focuses on the cultural significance of information technology in science and engineering.
Kevin Smith, J.D., is the Director of the Copyright and Scholarly Communications Office at Duke University Libraries and a noted expert on intellectual property in academia.

The Honorable Patrick J. Leahy
Chairman, Committee on the Judiciary
United States Senate
Washington, D.C. 20510

The Honorable Charles Grassley
Ranking Member, Committee on the Judiciary
United States Senate
Washington, D.C. 20510

Re: The Recent Debate and Vote on the Confirmation of Debo Adegbile for Assistant Attorney General for the Civil Rights Division, Department of Justice

Dear Senators Leahy and Grassley:

We the undersigned law professors write in our individual capacities to express our deep concern about the discourse surrounding the Senate vote on the confirmation of Debo Adegbile as Assistant Attorney General for Civil Rights. While we do not take a position on this or any other nominee, we are deeply concerned that the vote and the rationale publicly articulated by a majority of Senators rejecting Mr. Adegbile sends a message that goes to several core values of the legal profession. These include the right to counsel, the importance of pro bono representation, and the importance of ensuring that constitutional protections are afforded to every criminal defendant regardless of the crimes for which they are accused.

As law teachers we are particularly concerned about the disquieting message conveyed to law students and graduates entering the profession who may fear that their engagement with pro bono representation of unpopular clients may imperil their future eligibility for federal government service. Those who rejected Mr. Adegbile, while acknowledging his stellar and unquestioned qualifications for the position, repeatedly invoked the fact that Mr. Adegbile provided legal representation to an inmate on death row – Mumia Abu Jamal – while Mr. Adegbile was a lawyer with the NAACP Legal Defense Fund ("LDF").

We believe that the criticism of Mr. Adegbile, based on his representation of a death row inmate, is unjust and inconsistent with the fundamental tenets of our profession. The Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution guarantees the assistance of counsel to persons charged with crimes, and all accused defendants are entitled to zealous representation by competent counsel.

The highest calling of any lawyer is to ensure that the Constitution is applied fairly and in accordance with the decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court to every defendant. Thus it is worth noting that Mr. Adegbile's and LDF's representation of Mr. Abu Jamal successfully vindicated a constitutional infirmity in the instructions given to the jury that sentenced Mr. Abu Jamal to death. LDF's position was upheld twice by a federal court of appeals.

The debate surrounding Mr. Adegbile's confirmation also threatens to undermine the widely-recognized importance of lawyers providing pro bono representation to meet unmet legal needs. Providing representation to defendants on death row is among the most challenging, resource-intensive and critically important pro bono counsel a lawyer can provide. Lawyers engaged in this work should be commended rather than denounced for their hard-work and commitment to ensuring that the protections of the Constitution are extended even to those accused of heinous crimes. In fact, according to Standard 4-1.2 of the American Bar Association Standards for the Defense Function "Since the death penalty differs from other criminal penalties in its finality, defense counsel in a capital case should respond to this difference by making extraordinary efforts on behalf of the accused."

The message we extend to our students about the importance of pro bono representation is reinforced by state bar pro bono requirements in the vast majority of states, and even the requirement in some instances that law graduates demonstrate proof of pro bono service for admission to the bar (as is currently required in New York State). The private bar is also powerfully engaged in promoting pro bono practice. Indeed the presence of a robust pro bono practice is a significant factor considered by many of our students in evaluating which law firms may provide the best work environment upon graduation.

Finally, as every lawyer knows – including the 57 in the U.S. Senate – we are not our clients. The constitutional right to effective assistance of counsel would be turned on its head if the contrary view were advanced. Indeed, had past candidates for public office been held to the Senate's unjust standard, our nation would have been deprived of the likes of President John Adams (who defended British soldiers charged with killing Americans in the Boston Massacre), Justice Thurgood Marshall (who defended countless black men on death row in the Jim Crow South), and Chief Justice John Roberts (who represented convicted serial killer John Errol Ferguson).

Simply put, the rule of law cannot succeed if attorneys are judged guilty by association with their clients. In rejecting a qualified nominee for public service based on conduct which reflects the best of our profession, the Senate has done a grave disservice to the legal profession and those who seek to enter it.

It is our sincere hope that the United States Senate will evaluate future lawyer nominees based on their integrity, experience, professionalism and leadership, and not on the popularity of the clients they represent. To do otherwise, strikes at the core values of the profession which we prepare our students to lead.

(Institutional affiliations are provided solely for identification purposes and should not be interpreted as communicating institutional endorsement.)

Sincerely,

It's time to prepare your FY15 (JULY 1, 2014- JUNE 30, 2015) budget request.

Over the past years you have all done a wonderful job of managing your budgets and we appreciate the hard work you have put into this process. This year we have two contingencies that could possibly impact our financial situation in the upcoming year: 1L student enrollment may decline this fall and the University has asked us to plan for a 2% budget reduction. At this time we ask each of you to submit a budget proposal for a potential 2% cut to your budget allocation. A budget reduction worksheet is included in the attached file.
NEW THIS YEAR If you charge admission to an event that features live entertainment we must collect and remit sales tax on the portion of the admission charge that is for the entertainment. The event tab has been updated for you to calculate and include sales tax.
Attached you will find 2 files. One file is a set of instructions that will walk you through the budget process. The second file is your FY15 budget request worksheet. Please take time to review the files and their worksheets. Our goal is to create a process that is easy for you to navigate and at the same time capture detailed budget information.
Tricia and I are available to meet with you to answer any questions you may have.
Your budget request submission is due back to me by April 11, 2014 by 5pm. Please submit the completed budget file by email.

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] UNC-CH Research study on self-regulated writing

Subject Line: UNC Study examining middle-school students' self-regulated writing.

We are looking for volunteers to participate in an IRB approved study (IRB #13-3353 approved 04/04/2014) aimed at understanding the interrelations among cognition, motivation and affect in self-regulated writing for middle-school aged students.

This work has the potential to make an impact by informing instructional and motivational interventions to help break the failure cycle for struggling students, and enhance instruction for all students.

To Parents: If you have a middle-school aged child, or if you know of a student who may be interested in participating, please read the requirements of the study below:

Volunteers who choose to take part in this study will meet with the researcher for 2 sessions on two different days.

During the first screening session (approx. 1 – 1.5 hrs) the student will be asked to complete a writing task, and respond to 2 subtests of the Weschler Intelligence Scale for Children, fourth edition (WISC-4).

If selected for the duration of the study, each student participant will be asked to schedule a second session with the researcher (lasting approx. 1 – 1.5 hrs), to be held the following week. During this second session the student will be asked to complete a writing task, respond to measures of affect and motivation, participate in a think-aloud process, and interview with the researcher.

Please consider participating if:

1. Your child is between the ages of 11 – 15 years old.

2. You and your child are able to speak and write in English.

3. You consider your child to be any of the following: a good writer, an average writer, or a struggling writer.

Student participants in this study will receive a $25.00 gift card in addition to feedback on his or her performance on a nationally standardized test of writing (Test of Written Language, fourth edition; TOWL-4).

If you and your child are interested in participating, or would like to learn more about the study, please send an e-mail to Leigh A. Hutchison, M.A., A.B. Ed. at: lhutchis@email.unc.edu.

Study Name: Self-regulated learning in context; interplay of cognition, motivation, and affect in the composing process.

Subject: [FORMAL NOTICE] Internet Security

Colleagues,

Media outlets have been reporting on the "Heartbleed" Internet security vulnerability. The "Heartbleed" risk is a threat to many websites across the Internet. University Information Technology Services' (ITS) staff are assessing the risk to UNC-Chapel Hill and are making changes to mitigate risk.

Earlier today, as part of our outreach and communication efforts, we met with School and Department IT leadership to discuss options and identify directions. We will continue to work with your departmental and school IT officers in the coming days to address the issues.

Please take special note that despite many media reports advising people to change passwords, here at UNC-CH we are not suggesting campus users change their campus passwords at this time. When changing passwords, timing is important. Please do NOT change passwords until you have received information from ITS and your local IT service providers that the affected servers have been updated to eliminate the "Heartbleed" risk. ITS will provide further written guidance on the timing of password changes in the near future.

Additionally, we will continue to meet with and update campus technology partners as well as update the general campus in the coming days. If you have questions about "Heartbleed" and campus technology, please contact the ITS Help Desk at (919) 962-HELP (4357). Thank you.

Subject: FY15 budget
It's time to prepare your FY15 (JULY 1, 2014- JUNE 30, 2015) budget request.

Over the past years you have all done a wonderful job of managing your budgets and we appreciate the hard work you have put into this process. This year we have two contingencies that could possibly impact our financial situation in the upcoming year: 1L student enrollment may decline this fall and the University has asked us to plan for a 2% budget reduction. At this time we ask each of you to submit a budget proposal for a potential 2% cut to your budget allocation. A budget reduction worksheet is included in the attached file.
NEW THIS YEAR If you charge admission to an event that features live entertainment we must collect and remit sales tax on the portion of the admission charge that is for the entertainment. The event tab has been updated for you to calculate and include sales tax.
Attached you will find 2 files. One file is a set of instructions that will walk you through the budget process. The second file is your FY15 budget request worksheet. Please take time to review the files and their worksheets. Our goal is to create a process that is easy for you to navigate and at the same time capture detailed budget information.
Tricia and I are available to meet with you to answer any questions you may have.
Your budget request submission is due back to me by April 11, 2014 by 5pm. Please submit the completed budget file by email.

Subject: [law_faculty] Erin Hendrickson -- An Update

Dear Friends,
I talked with Erin Hendrickson this afternoon about 2:15 pm. She was gracious, pleased to hear of our interest, and appreciative of the informal offer I shared with her (which was subject to final approval, of course, by EEO and the Provost, etc.). She requested time to consider the offer with her husband Thomas Hendrickson, a Ph.D. in Classics who is presently scheduled to visit at Dartmouth for the fall. (She wondered aloud about long term prospects for Thomas in the Research Triangle area, and I assured her we'd be happy to share his CV with local classics departments, though I gave no assurances that we could actively advance his efforts to secure a position.) She promised to be back in touch with me by next Wednesday with a 'yes' or 'no' response. I asked whether we should keep word of our offer quiet until then; she responded that we need not do so, since she would be telling William & Mary of the prospect later today. Let me encourage those of you who met and/or know Erin to write @gmail.com) or call (cell:) to let her know of your interest and support for joining our RRWA professors next fall.
In the meanwhile, let me reiterate my gratitude for the exceptionally fine, quick, and thorough work of Bob Mosteller (chair) and the subcommittee members (Patricia Bryan, Alexa Chew, Luke Everett, and Craig Smith) that carried out the search process that led to two fine candidates and the prospect that Erin will opt to join us next week.

Subject: [law_faculty] 5th Annual Triangle Law and Economics Conference
Dear Colleagues -
Please see below regarding the Fifth Annual Triangle Law & Economics Conference, which is being cosponsored by Duke Law, Fuqua, and UNC Law. The event will be held on Friday April 11 at Duke and features a fantastic line up of speakers and a wide range of topics including Health, Fraud and Corruption, Finance, Energy and Climate Change, and Tax. I would greatly appreciate you passing this on to any student groups that might be interested. And, of course, I hope to see some of you there!
Many Thanks,
Kathleen

Please join us on April 10th and 11th for the Fifth Annual Triangle L&E Conference—Rethinking Regulation and Reform: Behavioral Economics and the Regulatory State—will be addressing issues at the intersection of behavioral economics and law with a special focus on the applications of decision science, choice architecture, and nudging to law, regulation, and policy.

Registration is available here; meals are provided, including an evening dinner reception on Friday, April 11th at the Museum of Life and Science, Durham, NC.
The Fifth Annual Triangle Law & Economics Conference is presented by the Law & Economics Society of Duke University School of Law and the Duke Center for Interdisciplinary Decision Sciences (D-CIDES), and is a joint collaboration between Duke Law School, UNC School of Law, and the Fuqua School of Business.

The conference will commence on Thursday, April 10th at 5:00 PM with a Keynote Address by Eric Johnson, the Norman Eig Professor of Business and the Director of the Center for Decision Sciences at Columbia University. Professor Johnson is a leading scholar in behavioral economics, decision science, marketing research, and neuroeconomics. Dr. Johnson's talk will be held in Geneen Auditorium at Duke's Fuqua School of Business and will be followed with a reception. It is free and open to the public.
On Friday, April 11th, the Conference will continue with panels on behavioral finance, health, fraud and corruption, taxation, energy and climate change, and rethinking behavior-ism. The panels bring together top scholars, policy makers, and leaders in business, law, and government; a partial list of panelists is provided below. Conference registration is free but required; meals will be provided. All panels will be held in the auditorium of Hock Plaza (on Erwin Road, Durham), with on-site parking available. A Conference schedule and panelist biographies are available at the conference website.
Panelists and Speakers for "Rethinking Regulation and Reform" include:
Dan Ariely (Center for Advanced Hindsight)
Ed Ballesien (Duke History)
Peter Barnes (Sanford DCID)
Lori Bennear (Duke Nicholas)
Bill Black (UMKC Law)

Subject: Crosscutting Programs at the 2015 AALS Annual Meeting

Association of American Law Schools

Call for Proposals:
Crosscutting Programs at the 2015 AALS Annual Meeting

Proposals Due: May 12, 2014
The Association of American Law Schools is seeking proposals for Crosscutting Programs for the 2015 AALS Annual Meeting to be held in Washington, DC from January 2-5, 2015. Crosscutting Programs focus on multi-subject and interdisciplinary subjects with new perspectives on legal issues or the profession. Crosscutting programs attract a wide audience of law faculty teaching a variety of topics.

Successful proposals include innovative approaches to subjects or topics and presentation formats. The program panel would aim to spark conversations among academics both those working inside traditional legal silos and across legal and non-law disciplines. Proposals should not feature a program or subject that could be offered by any particular AALS Section. Additionally, proposals should not conflict with other program topics being presented at the 2015 AALS Annual Meeting. To ensure there is no overlap, the Committee on Special Programs for the 2015 Annual Meeting will evaluate all proposals in light of AALS Section and AALS Committee programs already planned for the 2015 Annual Meeting.
The length of a Crosscutting program is either 1 hour and 45 minutes or can be held during the last afternoon's 3-hour time slot. Depending on the presentation format selected, we recommend you have one moderator and up to four slots reserved for speakers, and in addition, allot 20 minutes for question and answers from the audience. You may choose to select one speaker from a call for papers, who will not need to be identified by May 12, 2014. Programs might include a non-law school speaker. We recommend a small panel of three so that all panelists can contribute fully and the audience has the opportunity to ask questions.

Program proposals may be submitted by any faculty member with a full-time appointment at an AALS member school.
A proposal of 700 words would include the following information:

- Program title;
- Detailed description of what the program is trying to accomplish;
- Names of the planners of the program and description on how the program idea was generated;
- Names of speakers to be invited including their full names and schools with a link to or copy of their curricula vitae. Please describe the contributions each panelist will make to the discussion.
- Presentation format of the program;
- Program publishing information, if applicable.

The Committee will consider the following:

- Is the program focused on multi-subject and interdisciplinary subjects with new perspectives on legal issues or the profession?
- Is the format innovative?
- Will the program attract a broad audience?
- Is there diversity of presenters and of planners? (Diversity in a broad sense: school, perspectives, race, gender, experience, etc.)
- Is there a publication coming out of the program?

The following examples of prior Crosscutting Programs can be found on past annual meeting programs here.

- Climate Change and Indigenous Peoples: The Intersection of Environmental Law, Natural Resources Development, Water Law, Energy Law, International Law, and Indigenous Law (2013)
- The Business of Tax Patents: At the Crossroads of Patent, Tax and Business Law (2013)
- The Law and Science of Trustworthy Elections: Facing the Challenges of Internet Voting and Other E-Voting Technologies (2012)

The Committee on Special Programs for the 2015 Annual Meeting will review and notify authors of the selected proposals by June 2014. Speakers are responsible for paying their conference registration fee and travel expenses; for non-law speakers, registration fees are waived.
The AALS welcomes comments and questions about Crosscutting Programs. Questions should be directed to Jane La Barbera AALS Managing Director at crosscutting@aals.org.
Proposals are due May 12, 2014 and should be sent to crosscutting@aals.org.

Subject: [law_faculty] Suggestions for judges

In the last few years, the Craven Competition has succeeded in attracting some outstanding federal judges to serve as final round judges for the competition. We have been greatly assisted in identifying and attracting these judges by suggestions from faculty members about judges they know or judges who they know have some connection to this area that might make them interested in coming.
We will start extending invitations to final round judges during the summer. If you have some ideas of judges who might want/be willing to come to Chapel Hill for the moot court competition in February, please let me know. For the final round we typically focus on federal circuit and district judges. (Don targets the NC Supreme Court for the in-house moot court competition.)

Elizabeth

Subject: [INFORMATIONAL] Associate Vice Chancellor and Deputy Chief Information Officer for ITS

Dear Colleagues,

I am pleased to announce that Susan Kellogg has accepted the position of Associate Vice Chancellor and Deputy Chief Information Officer in Information Technology Services (ITS). Susan has served as the Associate Dean for Information Technology at the Kenan-Flagler Business School since 2003. In that time, Susan has also served as a lecturer in the Masters of Accounting Program and as a project advisor for several research grants on Cyber Security. Additionally, Susan served as a member of the UNC-CH Information Technology Executive Council (ITEC), working with ITS on a number of institutional projects and priorities.

In her Deputy Chief Information Officer role in ITS, Susan will join the Information Technology Services Senior Leadership Team and report to me. Susan's Deputy CIO portfolio includes IT communications and web services, IT governance, IT strategy, vendor relations and vendor management, as well as Information Security and IT compliance. Susan will also lead key institutional initiatives and represent UNC-CH in various local, state, and national initiatives.

I wish to thank the search committee that conducted the extensive national search. The committee assembled an extraordinary list of finalists over the five months of their work, and I am in their debt for their energy, judgment and commitment to Carolina. Meredith Weiss, Associate Vice Chancellor for Administration, chaired the committee that consisted of Andy Johns, Associate Vice Chancellor for Research; David Rankin, Director of OCIS in the School of Dentistry and Chair of the Information Technology Executive Council; Rob Bruce, Director of the William and Ida Friday Center for Continuing Education; and Stan Waddell, Assistant Vice Chancellor for Infrastructure and Operations and Chief Technology Officer in ITS.

Susan joins ITS on May 5, 2014, and I hope you will join me in congratulating her on her new position. Thank you.

Best regards,

Chris Kielt
Vice Chancellor for Information Technology and Chief Information Officer

Professor Broome - I feel odd giving you a sandwich order, but below are the responses. We would be happy to pick something up on the way for all of us instead if that is easier for you.

John Hoeferkamp - Turkey, ham, or roast beef on white bread or roll (plain - no cheese or toppings)
Linda Sirgo - Tuna, chicken salad, Italian, or turkey / swiss
Joelle - Veggie or turkey sandwich on wheat (any fixings or cheese will work)
We are a plain chips and water kind of group. If there is anything at all I can do, please do not hesitate to let me know. Thanks very much!

Follow the directions below and double park in the circular drive in front of the law school. Go in to the reception area off of the circular drive and the receptionist will give you a parking pass, direct you to your visitor's parking space, and call me to come meet you.
For Google Maps, use the law school's street address of 160 Ridge Road in Chapel Hill, North Carolina.
From I-40 (from Raleigh and points east)

- Take Exit 273-A (NC 54 West) towards Chapel Hill
- Continue for 4 miles to the top of the hill
- Turn left at traffic light onto Country Club Drive
- Go 100 feet, and then turn right onto Ridge Road
- Go 1/4 mile, and then turn right into UNC School of Law parking lot

I. The Center for Banking and Finance was established in July 2000 to sponsor and support the North Carolina Banking Institute continuing legal education program and the North Carolina Banking Institute Journal, both of which were founded in 1997.

II. The center's mission is to take a leadership role in the continual evolution of the financial services industry. The center provides a variety of support to banking lawyers nationwide. This support is focused in three areas:

A. Study of Legal and Policy Issues Related to Banking and Finance

1. Through its faculty and student research fellows, the Center for Banking and Finance provides top-quality research and written materials on a pro bono or sponsored research basis.
2. The center has provided logistical and research support to the North Carolina Commissioner of Banks in various research efforts, including the residency requirements for state bank directors. The center is currently supporting the commissioner's efforts to systematically examine and propose updates to the North Carolina banking status to ensure the effective, efficient and equitable regulation of banks and savings institutions.
3. Faculty associated with the center produce a wide variety of scholarship on important issues related to banking and finance.
4. The center advises, through its faculty and its distinguished board of advisors, more than two dozen students who work each year as staff members or editors of the North Carolina Banking Institute Journal. This journal publishes articles on cutting-edge issues of banking law and regulation written by law students, and it includes articles from the national experts who speak each year at the Banking Institute.
5. In 2004, the center's Board of Advisors established the Center for Banking and Finance Research fund to establish an endowment whose income will be used to provide support for research assistants, materials, and travel for the Center for Banking and Finance and its associated faculty. The endowment funds were made possible by sponsorships of the center's annual Banking Institute from law firms, corporations and banks.

1. Residency Program
The center has developed an innovative Practitioners in Residence program to integrate the experience and insights of the practicing attorney into the teaching of the rapidly changing areas of banking and finance. Each semester these practitioners are invited to share their knowledge in one or more classes. Social time with students is scheduled to introduce students to a variety of law practice settings and to a number of practicing attorneys.

2. Law School Curriculum
To meet the changing practices in banking and finance, the School of Law's banking and finance faculty are continually reevaluating the school's curriculum to provide new courses such as global financial markets; international banking; law, finance, and development, financial innovation, derivatives and advanced seminars on commercial law and securities law.

3. Teaching Material
   The center's faculty have developed new teaching materials for a variety of banking, finance and corporate law courses.

4. Externship
   The center was instrumental in establishing an academic credit externship with the North Carolina Commissioner of Banks. This externship exposes students to the workings of a banking regulatory agency. The center also helps support semester-long internships in Washington, D.C., with the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

5. Speaker Series
   The center supports a speaker series that brings nationally prominent academics to the School of Law to present their work to the faculty and to students enrolled in specialized seminars.

6. Scholarship
   The Board of Advisors to the Center has established a scholarship to be awarded each year to a third year student on the North Carolina Banking Institute Journal.

C. Sponsoring Conferences for Industry Professionals

1. Since 1997, the Center for Banking and Finance has sponsored an annual continuing legal education program for the banking law community. The Banking Institute is a well-attended program that, in recent years, has been held in Charlotte. Speakers at past institutes have included:

   - chairman of the FDIC
   - Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System
   - Comptroller of the Currency
   - CEOs of Bank of America, Wachovia, BB&T, and First Union
   - General Council of Bank of America, Wachovia, and RBC

2. The center sponsors three other annual programs:

   - The Dan K. Moore Program in Ethics, with a focus on ethical issues of interest to corporate attorneys, since 2002.
   - The Consumer Law and Consumer Credit Symposium, as part of the Festival of Legal Learning, since 2001.
   - The North Carolina Bank Directors' College, with the North Carolina Office of the Commissioner of Banks, since 2002.

3. An Emerging Issues Forum has also been developed to provide in-depth programs on an occasional basis on particular issues of current interest to the financial services community.

4. The center has also co-sponsored conferences outside of North Carolina with other organizations, including the American Bar Association, the Securities Industry Association, and the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta. In addition to helping market these conferences, the center provides speakers from the center's faculty and helps identify other leading speakers from throughout the country.

   - The Consumer Law and Consumer Credit Symposium, as part of the Festival of Legal Learning, since 2001.
   - The North Carolina Bank Directors' College, with the North Carolina Office of the Commissioner of Banks, since 2002. The Center just held its first Lecture in New York City. The speaker was nationally prominent banking lawyer, Rodgin Cohen. The event attracted over 100 banking lawyers, regulators, and financial professionals. The second New York lecture will be held this fall.

Director Diversity Initiative

The Center also oversees the law school's Director Diversity Initiative which aims to increase the gender, racial, and ethnic diversity on the corporate boards of public corporations. The DDI holds an annual one-day training program for diverse directors, maintains a database of interested potential diverse directors, and publishes a survey every three-years of the diversity of the boards of the 50 largest public companies headquartered in NC. In addition, faculty associated with the Center are engaged in research projects on whether and how diverse boards affect board processes and corporate performance.

Student Involvement

In addition to membership on the North Carolina Banking Institute journal, students may serve as research assistants for the Center during the summer and the school year and for faculty working on projects related to financial issues. Students also are invited to attend all Center programs (except the Bank Directors' College) for free, and benefit from the variety of speakers who give presentations at the law school each year pursuant to invitations from the Center.

Dear All,

Below is the schedule for the fall meetings of the Dean's Advisory Committee. We recognize that these dates may conflict with class schedules and other ongoing obligations for some of you, and for that, we apologize.

For those of you who are new to this group, the DAC is made up of the dean, associate deans, and all the faculty committee chairs. As a group, you will meet to discuss issues related to the larger mission and vision of the School of Law. The meetings will begin at 4:15pm on each of these Monday afternoons and will be held in the faculty lounge. We hope many of you will be able to attend. Thank you.

Best,
Catherine

Hello Allison,

Lisa asked me to hatch out some time for you two to meet and chat.

The Center has worked with K. Kershaw and your predecessor in the past. So, I am sure you two can find other opportunities to have our paths cross and leverage strengths.

Cheers,
C Bortz

Hello eaters!
We are moving this grazing to Wednesday to allow more folks to participate, sorry if this fouls anyone.
Considering no one has “officially” accepted the original date, we should be fine ;^)
*I am trying to get the van reserved, but I need to know how many bodies we have going from the law school first

http://35.ypguides.net/

Carpool will leave from the rotunda at 11:45 sharp

I am not sure of this day and time combo as most folks have their visibility blocked

Subject: Request for information from the UNC School of Medicine

Dear Professor Mutima,

Hello! I'm writing to you from UNC's Center for Aging and Health, School of Medicine, with a request for information. My colleagues and I have been doing research and program planning with populations of older-adult immigrants in North Carolina. We have partnered with community-based organizations, aging service providers, and health care providers on a range of projects aimed at improving the health and well-being of immigrant elders. I would very much like to engage the African Diaspora in our work. Do you know of any community-based organization or association that serves the African Diaspora in North Carolina? I'm not sure if such a group exists, but if so, I'd like to cultivate a relationship and talk to them about the needs of their older adults.

Thanks in advance,

Subject: African Studies Co-Sponsorship Request for {It is in you} Health Justice Performance in Tanzania

Hello Dr. Sahle, Dr. Mutima, Dr. Selassie, Dr. Dunbar, Dr. Lee, Dr. Nyang'oro and Dr. Anderson,

I am writing to each of you, as former professors and mentors of mine, both to invite you to the upcoming re-production of my honors thesis {It is in you}: Health Justice Performance in Tanzania on September 26th and 27th in Gerard Hall, and also to ask if the African Studies Department would like to co-sponsor the event?

One of the principal purposes of the original evening (which it was a big honor for Dr. Sahle and Dr. Mutima to shape and see last April), and also the purpose of the upcoming performances, is to gather people invested in African Studies, Global Studies and development, Public Health and Cultural and Performance Studies to enter into conversation and dialogue which might open eyes and opportunities for further work together.

-- Organizers of the event tell me the publicity is going out in the next few days from Carolina Performing Arts, and it would be wonderful, and I think respectfully fitting given what each of you has taught me and how you have influenced this process so profoundly, to list a co-sponsorship with UNC African Studies.

-- Below is some information about the performance and sponsorship, and I would love to hear from you all at your earliest convenience, either by email, or if you would like to catch up on the phone, my number is 919.607.5533.

With much love, respect and anticipation,
Marie Garlock

Co-sponsorship Information
{It is in you}: Health Justice Performance in Tanzania
The evening length performance was originally part of my honors thesis this past April, and rather unexpectedly (!?) and excitingly was nominated and selected to open the Carolina Performing Arts: Process Series this September 26 and 27th (Friday and Saturday at 8pm, Gerard Hall - next to Memorial Hall).

The directors of the program have asked me to ask for interdisciplinary sponsorships, given the program and its intentions, including

- Support and outreach within your department, colleagues and classes

- Funding for publicity and outreach (which will cost $500-$600 in sum)

- Funding for the East African reception to follow the performance each night (a few dishes of food and chai tea from Durham's Palace International very successfully kept the audience around for a rich post-performance discussion in April). The cost for each evening's food will likely be $250-$350.

Beyond the departmental support for outreach, what do you think about the African Studies department being able to do a co-sponsorship for part of these costs?

In any case, I hope to catch up with each of you soon, before the performances in September. Thank you especially for all of your personal support and encouragement.

Subject: FORMAL NOTICE: 2009 JR FACULTY DEVELOPMENT AWARDS

TO: Non-tenured Members of the Faculty

FROM: Bernadette Gray-Little, Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost
Chair, Committee on Faculty Research and Study Leaves

SUBJECT: Awards for Junior Faculty Development

DATE: August 21, 2008

The University will accept applications this fall for Junior Faculty Development awards paid from endowment income from The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Foundation. The awards, up to the amount of $7,500, are to be expended during the period beginning January 1, 2009, and ending December 31, 2009.

I. The following terms apply to the awards:

A. Applicants must be full-time, salaried faculty members without tenure and must not have been proposed for tenure prior to the application deadline date, Friday, September 26, 2008.

B. Preference will be given first to persons holding the rank of Assistant Professor and then to persons holding the rank of Associate Professor. Individuals holding fixed-term appointments will generally be considered as less competitive.

C. Applicants in the second, third, or fourth year of service at the time of their application will be given preference over first-time applicants with fewer than two or more than four years' service.

D. No person who has previously received an award will be eligible for a second award.

E. Money from the award may not be used to provide release time from regular employment. For persons on nine months contracts, the money may be used to provide summer salary and fringe benefits; this source of funds will count as part of the one-third allowable for faculty members on nine months service. Summer salary will be subject to the usual deductions. Since the awards are required to cover fringe benefit costs, the entire amount of an award cannot be paid as salary.

F. Funds from the awards may also be used for supplies, equipment, salaries of assistants, travel, or to assist with any other dimension of faculty development.

G. Under no circumstances will a faculty member on nine months service who uses the Junior Faculty Development Award for summer salary be allowed to teach Summer School or serve as an administrator in the Summer School during the summer in the year of the award.

II. Applications should consist of:

A. a letter to the Chair of the Committee on Faculty Research and Study Leaves

B. a curriculum vitae

C. a narrative description of one or two pages describing the project to be undertaken and in no case should more than two such pages be submitted

D. a proposed budget which cannot exceed $7,500. The budget should show the kinds of expenditures proposed, e.g., salary, fringe benefits, travel, equipment, etc.

E. an indication of other funds (e.g., NEH Summer Fellowships, University Research Council awards, etc.) which will be used or which are available for the support of the project

F. a letter of endorsement from the applicant's department or curriculum chair or, in the case of non-departmentalized schools, the Dean of the School.

The original and seven copies of the application must reach the Office of the Provost, CB #8000, 218 South Building before 5:00 p.m. on Friday, September 26, 2008. Applications presented after that time will not be considered by the Committee.

IV. The Committee on Faculty Research and Study Leaves will consist of the following individuals for the 2008-09 Academic Year: the Deans of the School of Medicine and the College of Arts and Sciences, two faculty members (one from Academic Affairs, one from Health Affairs), the Executive Associate Provost, the Associate Provost for Academic Initiatives, and the Provost as Chair.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: URC DEADLINE SEPT 22

UNIVERSITY RESEARCH COUNCIL FALL AWARDS- Deadline September 22

The deadline for The University Research Council (URC) Small Grant Program is September 22, 2008. The Office of the Vice Chancellor for Research and Economic Development sponsors a small grant program for full-time faculty and professional librarians at UNC-CH. Applicants must be full-time members of the faculty in the tenure, tenure-track, or research professorial or clinical ranks, or be professional librarians in the analogous librarian ranks. Adjunct professors are not eligible for URC grants, nor are lecturer, instructors or others of non professional rank.
There are two types of grants, Research and Publication. A faculty member may submit only one URC proposal each semester- either research or publication. The maximum total award is $5,000 to be used over a two year period.
Research grants support the scientific, scholarly or artistic efforts of faculty to cover cost such as collecting pilot data, research related travel, research equipment or supplies, or the cost of smaller scale projects.
Publication grants help pay the cost for publishing scientific, scholarly, or artistic work to cover cost for such things as photographs, drawings, figures or tables, or permissions to reprint.
For more information, contact Jennifer Pruitt, 962-7757, or refer to http://research.unc.edu/red/internal.php#urc.
URC award notices for the Fall term are expected to be sent out November 1, 2008.

Subject: Fulbright reviewer?

Dear Alphonse:

As you may know, the Center for Global Initiatives serves as the UNC-Chapel Hill home to the Fulbright Program. As part of the application process, students must undergo a brief campus interview.

Because of your internationally oriented work, I would be grateful if you would consider serving on this year's Fulbright committee.

In early/mid October, committee members will review up to 6 proposals (1-2 pages in length) and participate in a 15-minute interview with each applicant (6 total interviews). Prior to the review process, I'd like to invite you to a lunch information session.

If you are willing to serve as a Fulbright reviewer, please complete this brief online form to convey your availability to Beth-Ann Kutchma who manages the Fulbright program for us:

http://gi.unc.edu/survey/fulbright_review_availability_0809.htm

Beth-Ann will then be in touch to confirm your involvement.

Many thanks for considering it.

Best regards,

Niklaus

We provide state-of-the-art comprehensive assessment and psychotherapy for children, adolescents, adults, couples, and families for a wide range of personal concerns. In addition, we offer specialized treatment for adults with anxiety disorders.

We are affiliated with the UNC-CH clinical psychology Ph.D. program and provide reduced fees based on income. Treatment is provided by doctoral students under the supervision of licensed psychologists who are faculty members in the Department of Psychology.

Children and adolescents are seen in our nearby off-campus location on Finley Golf Course Read, with afternoon and evening appointments and readily available adjacent parking. Adults are seen in our conveniently located on-campus location in Davie Hall.

Please visit our website at http://psychologyclinic.unc.edu/ or contact the clinic at 962-6906 or clinic@unc.edu for more information, screening, or to make a referral.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: ESL Support at the Writing Center

As part of UNC's commitment to internationalization, the Writing Center is pleased to offer support for students and scholars in the College of Arts and Sciences who speak English as a second language (ESL), and to all who work with them.

NEW! English Language and American Culture (ELAC):

ELAC offers free ESL workshops in all skill areas (reading, writing, listening, communication, grammar, and vocabulary) as well as U.S. and classroom culture. These workshops are open to undergraduates, graduates, exchange students, post-doctoral scholars, faculty, and staff at UNC. Writing groups are also available. Information, schedules, and registration are online at:
http://www.unc.edu/depts/wcweb/elac/index.html

Writing Tutorials and Online Resources:

Students and scholars in the College of Arts and Sciences can receive individual tutoring at any stage of the writing process. Our tutors are graduate students from a wide variety of academic disciplines who are specially trained to work with ESL writers. Writers can choose 50-minute face to face tutorials or submit their drafts online. In either case, our tutors provide reader responses and help the writers develop strategies for mastering the demands of advanced academic writing in a second language. Make an appointment, submit online, and find our handouts by going to http://www.unc.edu/depts/wcweb/

Faculty Consultation:

The Writing Center also offers individual consultation and workshops for faculty and teaching assistants who would like to work more effectively with the international/non-native English speaking students in their courses. Read our tips for teaching ESL students at http://www.unc.edu/depts/wcweb/esl/esl_student_tips.html for information and strategies. Also contact Dr. Gigi Taylor, ESL Specialist in the Writing Center, with individual questions or to arrange group consultations or workshops on specific topics. She can be reached at 962-0725 or vgtaylor@unc.edu.

Subject: [asc_faculty] film Clando at Duke September 17

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 7:00 pm Griffith Theater, Bryan Center, Duke University
FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC screening of "CLANDO" [CLANDESTINE] directed by Jean-Marie Téno

(1996, Cameroon, 95 min., color, 35 mm, in French with English subtitles)

Introduced by Bouna S. Ndiaye, Dept. of Asian & Middle Eastern Studies

'Clando' wrestles with a dilemma facing many educated Africans: whether to work to change the autocratic regimes at home or seek their fortunes abroad. "Clando" is German slang for an illegal immigrant.

A native of Cameroon, Sobgui Anatole is such an unwanted guest. Sobgui had been a computer programmer until he was arrested and tortured for his involvement with a radical group in Cameroon. Following his release, the only work he could find was as a free-lance taxi driver. Psychologically devastated, Sobgui became impotent and his marriage fell apart. With nothing left to look forward to in his native land, he decides to sneak into Germany for a better life. In Cologne, Sobgui joins a community of hard-working and ambitious African emigrants. He even enters into a love affair with Madeleine, a German political activist who encourages him and his friends to return home and fight for change.

This screening is part of the "Scenes of Secrecy" series hosted by Screen/Society. Sponsored by the Visual Studies Initiative, the Provost's Office, the Department of Cultural Anthropology, and the Film/Video/Digital Program.

CIRCA 1958: BREAKING GROUND IN AMERICAN ART

1-3 PM at the Ackland

Public reception and the opening celebration of the Ackland's 50th anniversary year!

Circa 1958 fills four Ackland galleries with works of art from public and private collections across the United States and Canada. The exhibition explores two vastly different trends that emerged in and around 1958: Post-painterly Abstraction and Assemblage. From large scale paintings, to intimate collages, with sculpture in every gallery, and installation art that invites visitors to participate in the artist.s process, each gallery presents very new and entirely different approaches to art making. Together, these works laid the groundwork for much of the American art defined the second half of the twentieth century.

Bring your friends and family to this event and enjoy sweets courtesy of Sugarland, listen as UNC-Chapel Hill student actors recite beat poetry from the late 1950s, and enjoy the sounds of two live DJs.

Re: Spring 2009 Textbook Orders

Dear Liaison,

Just a reminder: the September 26 deadline for textbook order submissions is fast approaching. We would like to ask your help in reminding your faculty. Early submissions give us more time to find used books, where appropriate; in addition, knowing which books are being adopted for Spring allows us to buy back these titles, if appropriate, from students. This means lower textbook prices and higher buyback value for students.

We would also like to remind you of our incentives. Each faculty member who submits textbook adoptions by the due date will receive a $1.00 coupon to the Daily Grind, the espresso café located by the Bull's Head Bookshop in Student Stores, for each order submitted, up to four courses. In addition, you, as your Department Liaison, will receive a special Daily Grind coupon in appreciation for your help.

More importantly, if your faculty submits on time, your department is eligible to win a $500 textbook grant for your graduate students. To qualify, a minimum of 75% of faculty members from your department must submit textbook adoptions by Friday, September 26. The three departments with the highest percentage of on-time adoptions within their category will win. The categories are based on the number of courses being offered: departments with less than 30 courses, departments with 30-80 courses, and departments with more than 80 courses.

Five Easy Ways to Order Textbooks

1) Use the Student Stores website: http://www.store.unc.edu/textbooks/

2) Fax your order to: 962-3334

3) Email:

Textbook Office	textbook@unc.edu
George Morgan	gfmorgan@store.unc.edu
Frank Bellamy	fbellamy@email.unc.edu

4) Send your order by campus mail to the Course Materials Department at Campus Box #1530

5) Stop by the Textbook Office, 1st floor, Student Stores

Thanks for your help!

CIRCA 1958: BREAKING GROUND IN AMERICAN ART

1-3 PM at the Ackland

Public reception and the opening celebration of the Ackland's 50th anniversary year!

Circa 1958 fills four Ackland galleries with works of art from public and private collections across the United States and Canada. The exhibition explores two vastly different trends that emerged in and around 1958: Post-painterly Abstraction and Assemblage. From large scale paintings, to intimate collages, with sculpture in every gallery, and installation art that invites visitors to participate in the artist.s process, each gallery presents very new and entirely different approaches to art making. Together, these works laid the groundwork for much of the American art defined the second half of the twentieth century.

Bring your friends and family to this event and enjoy sweets courtesy of Sugarland, listen as UNC-Chapel Hill student actors recite beat poetry from the late 1950s, and enjoy the sounds of two live DJs.

Free.

CIRCA 1958: TENSIONS IN AMERICAN CULTURE AND TRENDS IN AMERICAN ART

Sunday, September 21
3:00 PM
Hanes Art Center Auditorium (adjacent to the Ackland)

As part of the 50th Anniversary Reception and Celebration, join a panel of experts in the Hanes Art Center Auditorium for a discussion of American culture and art circa 1958. Featuring moderator David Sontag, Wesley Wallace Professor of Communication Studies, exhibition Guest Curator Roni Feinstin, Professor of American Studies and English Joy Kasson, and Ackland Director Emily Kass.

Free.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Housing Housekeeping Update

Dear Carolina Community,

Yesterday I met with two leaders from our Housekeeping staff and the Student Action with Workers group after they delivered a letter detailing concerns about work schedules for our residence hall housekeepers. I fully support the work of our Housing Support Housekeeping Committee and its proposal that housekeepers who don't want to work weekend shifts in our residence halls won't be required to do so. We'll hire new employees or use housekeepers who volunteer to work weekends. In addition, we won't ask housekeepers to perform an unreasonable amount of work.

Let me share some background information about this issue. Last spring, the University began discussions with housekeepers from the Department of Housing and Residential Education to plan for changes in their work schedule to accommodate the demands our campus faces throughout the academic year.

Administrators from the Divisions of Finance and Administration and Student Affairs established the Housing Support Housekeeping Committee in July to assess interim changes made over the summer, with an October 15 deadline for making final recommendations. The committee's representatives are housekeepers from each work zone and managers from Housing and Facilities Services. Housekeeping members were chosen by employees in each zone because they are most familiar with the duties being performed, and their input is critical to the committee's work.

The committee continues to assess workloads and potential alternative work schedules. Its final proposals will go to Carolyn Elfland, Associate Vice Chancellor for Campus Services, and Christopher Payne, Associate Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, who will report to the administration. (For details about this committee, its charter and work, see http://www.fac.unc.edu/.)

It's important to let the housekeepers and managers on the committee continue their discussions as originally envisioned. Please know how appreciative I am of our dedicated staff, whose work is vital to the University's success.

Sincerely,

Holden Thorp

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Adult Participants Needed for Hearing Study

The Human Auditory Development Laboratory is currently recruiting adults between 18-30 years old to help us learn more about how children hear in noisy environments.

During the testing, you will sit in a sound-treated room and will listen to sounds presented over earphones. You will be asked to indicate when you hear sounds by touching a picture on a touch-screen monitor. The sounds we use are not loud.

One visit to the laboratory is required. The visit lasts about one hour. You will receive $15/hour and give you a parking pass for parking if you drive to the lab.

If you are interested please call (919) 843-3672 or email childhear@med.unc.edu and leave your first name, and a number by which we can reach you (indicating the best times to call).

The UMass Amherst W. E. B. Du Bois Department of Afro-American Studies invites applications for a tenure-track position in the broad area of African American Historiography and Social Theory beginning September 1, 2009. We are particularly interested in candidates with a strong background in the history of and theoretical perspectives within Black

Studies; African American historiography and research methods; and issues of race, class, gender, and social identity in the African American experience viewed from a philosophical/theoretical perspective.

Scholars with pedagogical and/or research training or demonstrated interest in some phase of the Digital Arts and Humanities and the digitization of the African American experience will be accorded special consideration. Duties include teaching introductory courses in social and political theory at both graduate and undergraduate levels, upper-division undergraduate courses, and courses in the UMass/Five College Graduate Program. Demonstrated experience building cross- and off-campus partnerships desirable. Preference will be given to candidates whose research complements existing fields of study on this campus or in the Five Colleges. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Massachusetts Amherst has significant strengths in Afro-American Studies, with well-established focus areas in the humanities including historical, political, literary, and cultural research, as well as linguistic studies of African American English. The University has the second oldest Ph.D. program in Afro-American Studies in the U.S with the largest number of full-time faculty dedicated to the field, and is a leader in the exploration of new media and the Digital Arts and Humanities in the context of the African American experience.

Qualifications:

Qualifications include a Ph.D. in hand by 1 September 2009, promise of excellence in teaching and scholarship. Candidates must have an earned Ph.D. degree in, or related to Afro-American Studies & Afro-American Social/Political Theory, promise of excellence in teaching and scholarship, and a commitment to both undergraduate and graduate education.

Review of applications will begin on November 28, 2008, and continue until position is filled. Please send a letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, a statement of teaching and research interests, and copies of any representative publications to Theory Search Committee, W.E.B. Du Bois Department of Afro-American Studies, 325 New Africa House, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003-9289. Electronic applications may be sent to tlovelan@afroam.umass.edu; please specify "Theory Search" in the e-mail subject header.

The Afro-American Studies Department is committed to developing a more diverse faculty, student body, and curriculum. Are you or someone you know currently pregnant? Are you between 14 and 28 weeks?

We are currently conducting a research study of dental health during pregnancy at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, entitled "Validation of a Self Report Tool to Screen for Periodontal Disease". To participate you must be between 14 and 28 weeks pregnant and not need to take antibiotics when you go for dental visits. Women who participate will complete a questionnaire about the health of their teeth and gums, and then undergo a dental exam. To learn more about the research study, send an email to @gmail.com with your name, phone number, and times that you can be reached. We will not share your email address with anyone outside of the study.

Participants receive:

-Free dental exam
-$15 dollars for completing a questionnaire about dental health and dental exam
-Potential for additional $5, if blood is drawn at the time of the dental exam

We need your help! Women who participate in our research study can advance knowledge by sharing information about their dental health. Please share this email with friends or family.

The principal investigator for this research study is Kim Boggess, MD, UNC School of Medicine, Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology. This research study and this message have received approval from the UNC Institutional Review Board on research involving human subjects, study # GCRC-2606.

Several of you have directly received funds in the past two years for course development, research and/or conference travel. Please take the time to respond quickly to queries from our staff, Stacey Sewall or Amelia Defosset.

None of us enjoys "bean counting," but both the continuation of our current grant and our prospects for receiving another 4-year cycle of grant funds is directly related to our reporting. Thanks so much for your help with this. Barbara

KATHARINE WHALEN AND HER JAZZ SQUAD

TOMORROW
Saturday, October 4
4:00 PM

Renowned Squirrel Nut Zippers front-woman Katharine Whalen brings her Jazz Squad to the courtyard of the Ackland tomorrow for a special concert to help celebrate the Museum's 50th Anniversary.

This is event is FREE for UNC-Chapel Hill students who sign up for a free Museum membership at the event. Just bring your One Card and see Katharine Whalen for free!

Known throughout the world for her success with the Squirrel Nut Zippers, the jump blues/hot jazz outfit that scored a platinum record in the 1990s with its album Hot, Whalen has also long performed as a solo musician. Here for the first time in years, she will perform with the group that accompanied her on her first solo album, Katharine Whalen's Jazz Squad. The group will be performing vintage jazz standards from the late 1950s in celebration of the Ackland's current special exhibition Circa 1958: Breaking Ground in American Art.

Light food and cash bar available. Feel free to bring blankets to spread on the lawn if space is available. Limited chairs for seating. Doors open at 3:30 PM.

Registration recommended | Free to members | $15 non-members

Subject: Please help the African Studies Center with grant reporting

Hello Dr. Mutima,

Thank you for updating your entry in the Faculty International Expertise Database. I noticed that there were no publications listed for you, and was hoping to find out if there are publications I could enter for you if that would be more convenient for you. We're especially interested in articles and books published in the past year. In addition, although there is no entry form for this in the Database, Title VI is also very interested in data on faculty who've given presentations at conferences which have Africa content during the past year. If you could email me information on any conference presentations you may have given, that would be very helpful.

We really do appreciate your help with this. The sooner you can send that information, the better, as we will need to submit our reports in only one week. Thank you!

-Stacey

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Spring 2009 LAC TAs Needed: Deadline Oct 31

UNC's Languages Across the Curriculum (LAC) Program is currently seeking experienced bilingual TAs to lead LAC discussion sections for the following Spring 2009 courses:

FRENCH LAC section for POLI 239: Introduction to European Government.

FRENCH LAC section for INTS 210: Global Issues in the 20th Century.

GERMAN LAC section for POLI 239: Introduction to European Government.

GERMAN LAC section for GERM 257: Society and Culture of Postwar Germany.

SPANISH LAC section for HIST 143: Latin America Since Independence.

SPANISH LAC section for INTS 210: Global Issues in the 20th Century.

Responsibilities of LAC TAs:
* Meet with the faculty member teaching the main course prior to the semester to discuss the course syllabus, develop a semester plan for the LAC section, and select teaching materials.
* Collaborate with the course faculty member and TAs as necessary to develop exams and assignments.
* Develop a website of teaching materials for the LAC section, based on a template provided by the LAC Coordinator and materials used by previous LAC sections. A one-time payment of $1,000 will be withheld until these materials are submitted by the specified deadline at the end of the semester.
* Attend main course lectures, as required by the faculty member.
* Lead a weekly 50-min. discussion section in the target language based on the assigned teaching materials.
* Evaluate students' participation and written work, according to LAC pedagogy guidelines.
* Participate in a LAC Workshop during the academic year.

Eligibility for Application:
Eligible applicants must be currently enrolled as graduate students at UNC, and be employed as teaching assistants in their home department or other campus unit. LAC TAships are not intended to serve as a primary form of employment or source of funding.
Applicants should possess native or near-native fluency in the target language. Advanced graduate students with interdisciplinary interests are especially encouraged to apply.
Preference will given to TAs who have attended a LAC workshop.

Application Procedure:
To apply for one of the above positions, please submit the following materials by Friday, October 31:

1) An application form (available online at www.unc.edu/lac);
2) A cover letter summarizing your qualifications, including experience in webpage design using Dreamweaver;
3) A curriculum vitae that includes any relevant degrees and your past

teaching experience;
4) One letter of recommendation that attests to your academic strengths and your ability to lead undergraduate-level discussions on topics that may lie outside your area of study;
5) One foreign language evaluation form (available at www.unc.edu/lac), completed by a UNC faculty member.
Please send copies of all materials via campus mail to:
Tanya Kinsella, Center for European Studies, CB# 3449
Applications will be reviewed by the LAC Program and relevant faculty members.

Stipend:
LAC TAs are paid a total of $5,000 for the semester ($4,000 stipend + $1,000 one-time payment upon submission of course website materials).

Tuition Support:
The LAC program is funded by federal grants that prohibit us from paying tuition or fees for LAC TAs. Tuition, fees, and benefits must be paid by the home department or covered by the graduate student.

For more information on UNC's LAC Program, visit http://www.unc.edu/lac.
Please direct any questions about the application procedure to lac@unc.edu.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Installation of Chancellor Holden Thorp on October 12

Dear Students, Faculty and Staff:

This coming Sunday, October 12, our University will celebrate its 215th birthday. University Day honors our heritage as the nation's first state university by commemorating the 1793 placing of the cornerstone of Old East. This year University Day will be especially festive since we will install Holden Thorp, a native North Carolinian and Carolina alumnus, as Carolina's 10th chancellor.

The ceremony begins at 2:40 p.m. in Polk Place and features the UNC Symphony Band and UNC Wind Ensemble performing with the Carolina Choir for a pre-processional concert. The center of the ceremony will be an address by our new chancellor.

This is one of the most important days of the year at Carolina, and the installation of Chancellor Thorp trumpets the next stage of the continuing journey for our University. On behalf of the installation committee, I hope the Carolina family - students, staff, faculty, alumni, parents and friends - and the community will attend, both to show their support and to hear Chancellor Thorp describe his vision for Carolina.

The University also will present Distinguished Alumna and Alumnus Awards to Mary Wilmer (Molly) Barker, William Joseph Bynum Jr., W. Lowry Caudill, Leah McCall Devlin and Debra Wehrle Stewart.

Following the ceremony, there will be a reception in Polk Place. If rain is forecast, an official announcement will be made Sunday morning about moving the ceremony to the Dean E. Smith Center. You can find details about the day's events, including information about parking, at http://www.unc.edu/installation/.

Sincerely,

Joe Templeton
Chair of the Installation Committee

Each year, the Center for Global Initiatives produces a calendar of international photography... This year, I am adding some new languages to the mix.

I have attached the days of the week and a month in Wolof, Swahili and Lingala.

Are you willing to take a moment to confirm that the spelling and context is correct?

Also, do you know anyone on campus that could verify Afrikaans and Zulu?

Asante sana!

Subject: FORMAL NOTICE: Administrative Review of Mr. Norm Loewenthal

---

TO: UNC-Chapel Hill Faculty, Staff and Students

FROM: Carol Tresolini, Associate Provost for Academic Initiatives

October 13, 2008

RE: Administrative Review of Mr. Norm Loewenthal
Director, William & Ida Friday Center for Continuing Education

On behalf of the committee appointed to review the performance of Mr. Norm Loewenthal Director, William & Ida Friday Center for Continuing Education, I am pleased to invite your participation in the review process.

The committee is being chaired by Professor Tom Thornburg, Senior Associate Dean and Professor of Public Law and Government. Other members include: Lynn Blanchard, Annette Madden, Carolyn Cannon, Anne Hastings, Richard Blackburn and Jesse White.

As required by University regulations, the Provost has requested a review of Mr. Loewenthal performance as Director of William & Ida Friday Center for Continuing Education over the last five years. Areas for review include vision, long-range planning, day-to-day management of the Center, and leadership in actualizing the ideals and goals of the Center. The committee invites your comments on these and related issues. It is important for the committee to learn how Mr. Loewenthal's performance as Director is viewed by students, staff, and faculty at UNC-Chapel Hill.

We encourage you to contribute to this review in the following different ways:

1. The committee has scheduled two open sessions to receive comments. These times are:

October 28 - 3:00 - 5:00 -2600 Knapp-Sanders Bldg, School of Government
October 29 - 10:00 - 12:00 - 222 Finley Golf Course Road

If you wish to meet with the committee, please contact Debbie Stevenson in the Office of the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost (debbie_stevenson@unc.edu or 962-7882), and she will schedule a specific time (usually about 10-15 minutes) within that time period. Note that while all comments during these sessions will be kept strictly confidential, a master list of attendees will be kept as part of Mr. Loewenthal's personnel file. Request must be made no later than October 24, 2008.

2. You may provide written comments to the chair or other committee members. The review committee will treat your comments as strictly confidential. By law, all written communication - whether on paper or by email - becomes a confidential part of Mr. Loewenthal's personnel file. As such, comments are open to examination by him. University regulations prohibit considerations of anonymous letters in the review process. All written comments should be sent to: Professor Tom

Thornburg c/o Debbie Stevenson, 104 South Building, CB # 3000, or by emailing debbie_stevenson@unc.edu

3. You may telephone or meet privately in person with committee members. Oral communications (by telephone or in person) and the committee's notes generated from these conversations do not become part of Mr. Loewenthal's personnel file but may be reflected in the committee's report without identifiers.

The deadline for submitting comments regarding Mr. Loewenthal's performance to the committee is November 7. 2008 Thank you very much for your help in this important task.

Subject: New Posting to "American Diplomacy"

Dear Subscriber,

My thanks to former publisher Bart Moon for keeping you informed of our new postings while I was away for several weeks.

Please check out our website (http://www.unc.edu/depts/diplomat/) for this morning's new postings. We have two "Commentary & Analysis" articles. The first, "Social Networking Services: The New Influence Frontier," looks at Facebook and similar service as ways of influencing world public opinion. The second, "From Progressive to Liberal Internationalism," tracks the development of liberalism in U.S. foreign policy in the decades following the Progressive Era.

Under "Announcements" we highlight an important report by the American Academy of Diplomacy which "provide[s]…a blueprint for fixing the human capital crisis that has hobbled United States diplomacy worldwide, crippled its response to crises, and inappropriately thrown additional foreign policy burdens on the military in recent years."

We post a comment by a reader who strongly criticizes our January commentary "Torturing Ourselves Over Torture."

A new Internet Article Review links to a recent article in "Foreign Affairs" by the Carnegie Endowment's Robert Kagan entitled "The September 12 Paradigm: America, the World, and George W. Bush" in which the author suggests the next president can build on the administration's policies.

In "The Spoken Word" we offer a link to the video of a late September speech at the Heritage Foundation by the Minister of Defense of Afghanistan, Gen. Abdul Rahim Wardak, in which he discusses the ongoing conflict in his country.

Finally, we have two new reviews on our "Book Shelf." The first reviews "States Without Citizens: Understanding the Islamic Crisis" by Middle East Scholar Dr. John Jandora. The second introduces "Security First: For a Muscular, Moral Foreign Policy" by Amitai Etzioni who foresees the formation of a world grouping of some ten "core" nations in addition to the United States with a vital, key role in stopping nuclear arms proliferation..

We hope you enjoy these new items, and, as always, we welcome your comments and contributions.

Regards,

Michael Cotter, Publisher, American Diplomacy

Breaking the Cycle of Risk: Intervention for Mothers with Eating Disorders

The University of North Carolina's Eating Disorders Program is developing a research study for mothers with a history of disordered eating. The intervention will focus on developing effective parenting styles and creating a healthy home environment around food and body image. We are seeking mothers to assist us with the treatment development by participating in focus groups. Participants will read the treatment manual, hear a presentation about the intervention, and participate in a 1.5 hour focus group to discuss their views on the intervention. If you are female aged 18 years or older with a history of an eating disorder or disordered eating and have a child under the age of ten, you may be eligible. Please contact the Research Coordinator at (919) 966-3065 for more information.

---

The Boettiger Lab at UNC Chapel Hill is conducting a study to explore the role of learning in addiction. We are recruiting volunteers who are between the ages of 18 and 40 who either have no history of substance abuse or have a substance abuse history but are currently abstinent. Your participation would require you to come to our laboratory in Davie Hall on the University of North Carolina campus for two separate sessions and complete learning-related tasks on the computer for about 1 hour per session. For your participation, you will be compensated with $10/hour.

Other requirements:
o No history of seizure, head injury, loss of consciousness, or other known neurological problems
o No psychiatric diagnoses (aside from substance abuse/dependence)
o Not currently using any psychoactive drugs (including antidepressants)
o Normal color vision

If you meet these requirements and think you may be interested in participating please send an e-mail to @gmail.com and include the following information:

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: A Genetic Study to Tailor Tamoxifen Breast Cancer Treatment

Are you a believer in personalized medicine? Have you wondered why some therapies work for one person and not for another?

At UNC, we have a research study that looks at this issue with tamoxifen, a medication used for the treatment and prevention of breast cancer. Tamoxifen is an excellent drug for personalized medicine, because there are already two FDA approved doses and we know a great deal about how it is metabolized. Your body has a gene that is responsible for converting tamoxifen to its active form. There are several different versions of this gene, some are very active, some are less so. Our research study consists of a blood draw that will allow us to determine which of these genes you have. If you have one of the less active versions of the gene, we will increase your tamoxifen dose to the higher FDA approved dose, and recheck the active metabolite levels after a few months to see if changing the dose of tamoxifen can overcome having a less active form of the gene.

If you are interested in learning more about this research study and personalized medicine, please contact Donna Rowe, RN, at 919-966-4432.

This study,08-0483, was approved by the UNC Biomedical IRB Office of Human Research Ethics on 9/17/08.

Children with Reading and/or Attention Issues Needed for Research Study!

UNC-Chapel Hill's Center for Development and Learning (CDL) is studying an approved, on the market, medication for attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), in an investigational use, for children who have the symptoms of ADHD with dyslexia or dyslexia alone.

Your child may be eligible if:

* He or she has symptoms like overactivity, distractibility, inattention, difficulty reading, problems in school
* is 10-16 years old
* currently weighs between 25 and 70 kg (between 55 and 154 lbs.)

Children who qualify for and enroll in the study will receive study-related neuropsychological evaluations, study medication at no cost, and ongoing follow-up by a Pediatrician for the duration of the study.

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: University Resources Cannot Be Used To Support Political Campaign Activities

Dear Carolina Students, Faculty and Staff:

With Election Day approaching, this is a reminder that students, faculty and staff may not use University resources - e-mail accounts, computers, vehicles, equipment, supplies, funds, postage, photocopying, faxes, and the like - for political campaign activities.

University employees who want to engage in political campaign activities may do so when those campaign efforts will not interfere with their job responsibilities.

Everyone in our campus community has the right to freely express their views on any subject, including advocacy for or against candidates for public office. It's just that, in exercising this right, no University resources may be used.

I urge everyone to become informed and to vote. If you live in Orange County, consider registering (if you have not already) and voting early at the one-stop location at the Morehead Building on campus starting today, Oct. 16 through Nov. 1. (For details, see http://www.co.orange.nc.us/elect/onestop.asp.) You can find a complete list of one-stop voting locations by county at http://www.sboe.state.nc.us/content.aspx?id=17.

See you at the polls.

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: Administrative Review of Ms Alice Ammerman

TO: UNC-Chapel Hill Faculty, Staff and Students

FROM: Associate Vice Chancellor for Research on behalf of the Review Committee for Alice Ammerman

October 16, 2008

RE: Administrative Review of Ms. Alice Ammerman
Director, Center for Health Promotion and Disease Prevention

On behalf of the committee appointed to review the performance of Ms. Alice Ammerman, Director, Center for Health Promotion and Disease Prevention,
I am pleased to invite your participation in the review process.

The committee is being chaired by Professor Kenneth Bollen, Director H.W. Odum Institute for Research in Social Science and Professor of Sociology.
Other members include: Amanda Briggs, Marci Campbell, Steve Cline, Albert Collier, Jennifer Leeman, and Jesse White.

As required by University regulations, the Provost has requested a review of Ms. Ammerman's performance as Director of the Center for Health Promotion and Disease Prevention over the last five years. Areas for review include vision, long-range planning, day-to-day management of the Center, and leadership in actualizing the ideals and goals of the Center. The committee invites your comments on these and related issues. It is important for the committee to learn how Ms. Ammerman's performance as Director is viewed by students, staff, and faculty at UNC-Chapel Hill.

We encourage you to contribute to this review in the following different ways:

1. The committee has scheduled an open session to receive comments. The time and location is listed below:

Monday, November 3, 2008 (3:00PM-5:00PM)
Administrative Office Building, 104 Airport Drive, Suite 1500A.

If you wish to meet with the committee, please contact Jennifer Pruitt in the Office of the Associate Vice Chancellor for Research (jennifer_pruitt@unc.edu or 962-7757), and she will schedule a specific time (usually about 10-15 minutes) within that time period. Note that while all comments during these sessions will be kept strictly confidential, a master list of attendees will be kept as part of Ms. Ammerman's personnel file. Request must be made no later than October 28, 2008.

2. You may provide written comments to the chair or other committee members. The review committee will treat your comments as strictly confidential. By law, all written communication - whether on paper or by email - becomes a confidential part of Ms. Ammerman's personnel file. As such, comments are open to examination by her. University regulations prohibit considerations of anonymous letters in the review process. All written comments should be sent to:

The Review Committee, Alice Ammerman Five-Year Review
Office of the Associate Vice Chancellor for Research
University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
Campus Box #4100, 301 Bynum Hall
Chapel Hill, NC 27599-4100

or by emailing jennifer_pruitt@unc.edu.

2. You may telephone or meet privately in person with committee members. Oral communications (by telephone or in person) and the committee's notes generated from these conversations do not become part of Ms Ammerman's personnel file but may be reflected in the committee's report without identifiers.

The deadline for submitting comments regarding Ms. Ammerman's performance to the committee is Friday, November 28, 2008. Thank you very much for your help in this important task.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Clinical and Translational Science Award (CTSA)

The North Carolina Translational and Clinical Sciences (TraCS) Institute was established with a grant from the National Institutes of Health, the Clinical and Translational Sciences Award (CTSA), to transform clinical and translational research here at UNC-Chapel Hill and across the State of North Carolina.

This email is to update all of you on our planned activities on behalf of all faculty at UNC and all CTSA-affiliated institutions. Over the next few months, we will be visiting all schools with faculty in the sciences to explain this information and to answer questions. Eventually, we hope to visit our partner institutions as well.

Newly-organized efforts that the NC TRACS Institute will support include, but are not limited to -

NC TraCS Institute Pilot Projects
The NC TRACS Institute will award approximately $4.3 million dollars in pilot funding in the first year of the CTSA award. The pilot program includes five different awards with levels of funding ranging from $2,000 up to $100,000. Details will be distributed in late-October.

NC TraCS Institute Research Navigators
We are in process of recruiting up to three Faculty Research Navigators to assist UNC and affiliated faculty. We are looking for faculty who have a strong background in translational and clinical research, have grant funding and are well-published, possess knowledge of technology transfer and/or have been involved in the community. The Research Navigators will either be an MD or a PhD. Faculty with 35-45% effort available are encouraged to apply. For interested applicants, the available positions are posted at: http://www.tracs.unc.edu/jobs.htm

NC TraCS Institute Services
Announcements are forthcoming as we open up services that support translational and clinical research. Services will include biomedical informatics, bionutrition, biostatistics, clinical data, cores, ethics, career development and grant assistance, and regulatory advice.

NC TraCS Institute Clinical Research Units
The General Clinical Research Center (GCRC) and the Carolina Center for Clinical Trials (CCCT) are merging and will be managed as one unit within the NC TraCS Institute. The new name is now the Clinical and Translational Research Center (CTRC). Each site will continue to operate in their current locations and be identified as; CTRC-Hospital (formerly the GCRC) and CTRC-Burnett Womack (formerly CCCT). The CTRC staff are working together to streamline operations across the two sites and expanding current services.

The North Carolina Center for Biomedical Innovation Translation (NC-CBIT)
NC TraCS Institute is proud to announce the formation of NC-CBIT. Housed in TraCS, NC-CBIT will: 1) help scientists at UNC and NCSU develop and commercialize their ideas; 2) educate faculty about the commercialization of their intellectual property by working with the Carolina Entrepreneurial Initiative; and, 3) provide small grants to access outside business expertise for new faculty-initiated start-up ventures.

Translational Research Advisory Board (TRAB)
The NC TraCS Institute leaders will receive advice from individuals at UNC and our CTSA partners. TRAB members include faculty from Arts & Sciences, Schools of Public Health, Dentistry, Nursing, Pharmacy, Medicine, Information and Library Science, and representatives from partner academic institutions: North Carolina State University, North Carolina Central University, East Carolina University, North Carolina A& T State University, and UNC-Charlotte.

TraCS Address and Contact Information
In about a year, the Institute will move into permanent space on the second floor of the Brinkhous-Bullitt Building at the School of Medicine. Until then, administrative staff is housed in the basement of Wing D. CB# 7064. For general inquiries about the NC TraCS Institute, please contact the staff at 919-966-6022 or visit them at www.tracs.unc.edu

We welcome input from the entire research community, both here at Carolina and from our affiliated partners across the state. If you'd like to share your thoughts with me, please email or call me to make an appointment (etpisano@med.unc.edu or 919-966-6932). If you are interested in receiving NC TraCS announcements and news in the future, please email us at nctracs@unc.edu and we will be happy to add you to our communication list.

We look forward to working with many of you on this important project that aims to transform our research enterprise.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Preventive Home Visits Study

Do you have a relative who is at least 75 years old? Does that relative plan to remain in their home for at least the next two years?

We are looking for volunteers who might be eligible for research being conducted by UNC and the Orange County Department on Aging and who reside in Orange, North Chatham, or West Durham County. The study is testing a program to help your relative remain at home longer with a higher quality of life. The research will take about 15 months.

The study will not cost your relative anything. There will be 2 intervention groups: (a) a group that has four visits from an occupational therapist over one year and 5 additional brief (30 minute) surveys at home, and (b) a group who receives phone calls and printed information (no visits) and 3 brief surveys at home. Group assignment will be random. All activities will take place at your convenience. For their time, participants who take part in the entire project will receive two $25 gift certificates to a local grocery store (regardless of which group they are in).

If you think your relative would be interested, please share this information with them. If they agree, please provide their name and phone number to the email or telephone number listed below so that investigators can contact them. Thank you!

PERFORMING CIRCA 1958
AN EVENING OF JAZZ

Gerrard Hall
Tuesday, October 21
7:00 - 8:30 PM

Carolina comes together this fall to celebrate the Ackland's 50th anniversary and the exhibition Circa 1958: Breaking Ground in American Art with the special series Performing Circa 1958, held in the newly restored Gerrard Hall.

Tomorrow evening, Performing Circa 1958 starts with An Evening of Jazz. Professor Jim Ketch, Director of Jazz Studies, and Assistant Professor of Jazz Studies and Composition Stephen Anderson join students in presenting "Jazz in Transition," an exploration of important jazz milestones from the late 1950s. Selections include music by Miles Davis, John Coltrane, Ornette Coleman, and Antonio Carlos Jobim. Reception to follow in the Campus YMCA, adjacent to Gerrard Hall.

Seating limited. Free to members and UNC-Chapel Hill students, $15 non-members. Tickets may be purchased at the Ackland or at Memorial Hall. For questions, call the Ackland at 919.843.3687.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Headache Study

The UNC Headache Clinic is seeking individuals who suffer from occasional migraines to participate in a research study, described below. You will be compensated $50 to thank you for your participation. This study involves two visits to the UNC Headache Clinic. The first visit lasts about 90 minutes; the second visit takes 15 minutes or less. You will be asked to complete a one-page checklist diary for at least 30 days. The diary takes about one minute to complete and asks questions about headache pain and associated symptoms. This checklist is completed daily--whether or not you have a headache--until you have recorded six qualifying headaches. The study does not require changes in your usual headache care.

If interested, please contact Tami or Cameron atheadachestudy@listserv.unc.edu for more information. You may also contact us at (919.843.7641)

This study is approved by the Biomedical IRB. It was approved on 10/5/2007 and is assigned the number 07-1124.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: The Tim Quigg "Can Do" Award

Reminder: Nominations for the Tim Quigg "Can Do" award are due Friday, October 24.

The Office of the Vice Chancellor for Research and Economic Development is calling for nominations for the first annual Tim Quigg "Can Do" Award. The award will recognize a University central support office employee who exemplifies the "can do" attitude by continually making meritorious efforts to provide service to professors and staff. The award honors those who streamline procedures, reduce lead times, remove outdated requirements and other obstacles to getting things done. The recipient will receive a $500 cash award and be honored at a luncheon.

To be eligible for nomination the individual must be a permanent University employee (SPA or EPA Non Faculty). Nominations are restricted to employees of central offices. Department, center/institute and school/ college employees are not eligible for this award. Any member of the University community is invited to submit an application.

The Tim Quigg "Can Do" Award was established with funding from an anonymous donor. The donor has created this award to honor Tim Quigg, associate chair of computer science, who has established an exemplary record of service on campus. His philosophy of working with other campus units has created an atmosphere that fosters interdepartmental collaboration, teamwork, and a sense of achieving one's goals. He is a recipient of many awards including the Research Administrator of the Year Award from the Office of the Vice Chancellor of Research and Economic Development and the Chancellor's Award.

Some factors you may want to consider in preparing your nomination justification for outstanding accomplishments include:

* Provides excellent customer service.
* Takes charge of problem solving.
* Guarantees timely review and processing.
* Promotes collaboration between departmental and central administration.
* Streamlines programs and procedures
* Creative and resourceful handling of challenges.

The nomination form can be found at http://research.unc.edu/red/quigg_can_do_nomination.doc. Nominations must be received by Friday, October 24, 2008. Please submit nominations electronically to: Quigg_Can_Do_Award@unc.edu .

Subject: FORMAL NOTICE: Correction to Formal Notice for Administrative Review of Dr. Alice Ammerman

PLEASE NOTE: CORRECTIONS TO THE FORMAL NOTICE SENT ON FRIDAY, OCTOBER 16, 2008

CORRECTIONS: The administrative review is for Dr. Alice Ammerman, Director, Center for Health Promotion and Disease Prevention (HPDP), and Professor of Nutrition, Schools of Public Health and Medicine.

TO: UNC-Chapel Hill Faculty, Staff and Students

FROM: Associate Vice Chancellor for Research on behalf of the Review Committee for Alice Ammerman

October 20, 2008

RE: Administrative Review of Dr. Alice Ammerman, Director, Center for Health Promotion and Disease Prevention (HPDP), also Professor of Nutrition, Schools of Public Health and Medicine.

On behalf of the committee appointed to review the performance of Dr. Alice Ammerman, Director, Center for Health Promotion and Disease Prevention, I am pleased to invite your participation in the review process.

The committee is being chaired by Professor Kenneth Bollen, Director H.W. Odum Institute for Research in Social Science and Professor of Sociology. Other members include: Amanda Briggs, Marci Campbell, Steve Cline, Albert Collier, Jennifer Leeman, and Jesse White.

As required by University regulations, the Provost has requested a review of Dr. Ammerman's performance as Director of the Center for Health Promotion and Disease Prevention over the last five years. Areas for review include vision, long-range planning, day-to-day management of the Center, and leadership in actualizing the ideals and goals of the Center. For more information about the Center see: http://www.hpdp.unc.edu/. The committee invites your comments on these and related issues. It is important for the committee to learn how Dr. Ammerman's performance as Director is viewed by students, staff, and faculty at UNC-Chapel Hill. Suggestions regarding improving the overall functioning of HPDP are also welcome.

We encourage you to contribute to this review in the following different ways:

1. The committee has scheduled an open session to receive comments. The time and location is listed below:

Monday, November 3, 2008 (3:00PM-5:00PM)
Administrative Office Building, 104 Airport Drive, Suite 1500A.

If you wish to meet with the committee on this date, please contact Jennifer Pruitt in the Office of the Associate Vice Chancellor for Research (jennifer_pruitt@unc.edu or 962-7757)with a suggested time from 3:00-5:00PM (usually about 10-15 minutes). She will confirm the suggested time is available. Note that while all comments during these sessions will be kept strictly confidential, a master list of attendees will be kept as part of Dr. Ammerman's personnel file. Request must be made no later than October 28, 2008.

2. You may provide written comments to the chair or other committee members. The review committee will treat your comments as strictly confidential. By law, all written communication - whether on paper or by email - becomes a confidential part of Dr. Ammerman's personnel file. As such, comments are open to examination by her. University regulations prohibit considerations of anonymous letters in the review process. All written comments should be sent to:

The Review Committee, Alice Ammerman Five-Year Review
Office of the Associate Vice Chancellor for Research
University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
Campus Box #4100, 301 Bynum Hall
Chapel Hill, NC 27599-4100

3. You may telephone or meet privately in person with committee members. Oral communications (by telephone or in person) and the committee's notes generated from these conversations do not become part of Dr. Ammerman's personnel file but may be reflected in the committee's report without identifiers.

The deadline for submitting comments regarding Dr. Ammerman's performance to the committee is Friday, November 28, 2008. Thank you very much for your help in this important task.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Call for Proposals from Faculty in the Humanities and Social Sciences

AWARD ANNOUNCEMENT
The C. Felix Harvey Award to Advance Institutional Priorities 2008:
Applied Innovation in the Humanities and Social Sciences

Purpose
The C. Felix Harvey Award to Advance Institutional Priorities seeks to annually recognize exemplary faculty scholarship that reflects one of the Chancellor's top priorities.

2008 Focus
For 2008, the focus is on engagement and outreach. One award of $75,000 will be given to the faculty member whose project proposal reflects, "Applied Innovation in the Humanities and Social Sciences" through the creative and aggressive application of faculty scholarship to serve constituencies outside the University.

Eligibility
The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill full or part-time faculty in humanities and social sciences.

2008 Award Criteria
Proposed projects in the 2008 award cycle - with a focus on engagement and outreach - will be judged primarily on four factors that reflect the Applied Innovation of scholarly expertise: creativity, collaboration (within and outside the University), applicability to real world challenges, and sustainability and/or degree of adoption.

To provide equal consideration across the many eligible disciplines, projects should focus on at least one of the following themes (examples provided):

Technology

Example: Professor Gary Bishop and his students in the Department of Computer Sciences develop and deploy technology-assisted learning tools for disabled students.

Economic Development

Example: Faculty at the Kenan-Flagler Business School direct the STAR (Student Teams Achieving Results) Program. STAR students team up in groups of four to six and use their collective business know-how to help North Carolina companies analyze their position, identify new business opportunities and outline strategies and implementation plans for success in an increasingly global market.

Arts and Culture

Example: In 2001, Journalism Professor Jock Lauterer launched The Carolina Community Media Project, dedicated to the proposition that strong community media help strengthen communities, and that communities -- be they rural or suburban -- with a vital civic life and a sense of place are key to high livability in a free democratic society.

Improvement of K-12 Public Education

Example: Kenan Professor Robert Phay launched World View in 1998 to increase the global awareness of the state's K-12 educators through seminars and international travel and to help them integrate a global component into all coursework, reinforce English-as-a-Second-Language (ESL) programs and promote foreign language training.

Application Requirement
Please submit the attached one-page award application, a brief project narrative (maximum of 3 pages) containing the components outlined in the application guidelines, and a one-page budget. For Award Announcement, application, and application guidelines, please visit http://provost.unc.edu/ under Announcements. If you have questions, please contact Mark Meares, Director of Corporate and Foundation Relations for Academic Affairs, 962-3420 or mark_meares@unc.edu.

Deadline
Award applications, narratives and budgets must be submitted electronically (PDF format or MSWord) to HarveyAward@unc.edu by November 30, 2008, for consideration by the Harvey Awards Committee consisting of the Chancellor, the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost, the Vice Chancellor for University Advancement, and two members of the Harvey family. The Committee will recommend the project that it deems to be of the highest quality to the Provost. The Provost will notify the selected faculty member or members (if the project is collaborative) no later than December 31, 2008.

Duration of Award
The award project may be active for a maximum of 15 months commencing as early as June 1, 2009, and concluding by August 31, 2010.

Project Reporting
The recipients of the C. Felix Harvey Award to Advance Institutional Priorities will submit a final narrative and financial report to the Harvey Awards Committee within three months of the conclusion of the project.

Restrictions
Award funds cannot be used to support academic research, University curriculum development, special events or speaker series, or surveys.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Halloween 2008 Transportation and Parking at UNC

ATTENTION UNC STUDENTS, STAFF, AND FACULTY:

On the evening of Friday, October 31, 2008, numerous campus parking lots and services will be affected by Halloween operations. Streets adjacent to campus will also be affected. Consequently, it is highly recommended that students, staff, and faculty take a few moments to familiarize themselves with the overall parking and transportation plan. Advance planning and preparation on the part of everyone will go a long way toward making the operations plan work better and toward making the evening as enjoyable as possible.

CAMPUS PARKING:
To support the regular academic function of the University, the medical mission of UNC hospitals, and in hopes of supporting Chapel Hill's plan of a more "home town" Halloween, ALL parking regulations as well as several temporary parking restrictions will be in effect from 7:30 a.m. on Friday, October 31 through 8 a.m. on Saturday, November 1.

(For example, Stadium Drive parking normally requires an S4 permit Monday - Friday, 7:30 a.m. - 5 p.m. For Halloween, it will require a valid S4 permit from Friday, October 31 at 7:30 a.m. until Saturday, November 1 at 8 a.m. Any vehicle without a valid S4 permit between Friday at 7:30 a.m. and Saturday at 8 a.m. will be ticketed and possibly towed. The restriction illustrated by this example will apply to all permitted lots and all normal reserved spaces that are not already 24-hour spaces.)

UNC student and staff Halloween visitors should NOT come to campus prior to 6 p.m. There will be no place for Halloween guests to park until weekday employees can leave campus between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. After that time, $10.00 public parking in specifically designated lots can be established in several locations across campus. For further information, visit the following Halloween Transportation and Parking Link through the Public Safety Website:

http://www.dps.unc.edu/NewsLinks/HalloweenWeb/Halloween2008.pdf

Additionally, several campus parking lots and roadways will be closed at various times throughout the evening. Vehicles parked in or along closed areas will be ticketed and towed at the expense of the owner (see website for details).

Parking Control Officers and tow trucks will be on duty on campus throughout the day on Friday, October 31 and for the duration of the evening to enforce the parking and road restrictions (including the early hours of Saturday morning).

Illegally parked vehicles on the UNC campus on the evening of Halloween will be cited and towed at the expense of the owner, including vehicles parked on the sidewalks, landscape, in fire lanes, in reserved spaces, and in restricted areas, etc. Payment for the citation, the tow, and any outstanding balances owed to the UNC Department of Public Safety WILL BE REQUIRED BEFORE the vehicle will be released. Towing fees range from $90 to $110 and citations range from $20 to $250. Cash and credit card payments will be accepted from 7:30 a.m. Friday, October 31 until 2 a.m.

the Saturday morning, November 1. Cash and credit card payments will not be accepted from 2 a.m. Saturday morning until 7:30 a.m. Monday morning, November 3.

For complete campus parking information, visit the UNC Public Safety website at "www.parking.unc.edu" and look for the link on the left-hand side of the website marked "Halloween Transportation and Parking at UNC" or visit the link directly at the web address listed above.

UNC POINT-TO-POINT SHUTTLE SERVICE:
The Point-to-Point Express campus shuttles will run during their normal hours on Halloween night. The route will be modified, however due to the closing of portions of Raleigh Street, Franklin Street, and Columbia Street. On Halloween ONLY, the P2P Express will run in the opposite direction (clockwise) than all other nights.
-- P2P Express will NOT serve the following normal stops: (1) Swain Hall, (2) Granville Towers, (3) Stops along Rosemary or Franklin Streets, (4) Stops along Raleigh Street north of Cameron Avenue.

-- P2P Express WILL stop at the following extra stops on Halloween night only: (1) Bowles Drive just below Hinton James Residence Hall, and (2) Cameron Avenue across from the Old Well.

TOWN OF CHAPEL HILL STREET CLOSINGS:
The following downtown streets will be closed to vehicular traffic at 8:30 p.m. on Friday, October 31:
-- Franklin Street: Raleigh Street to Roberson Street
-- Columbia Street: Hillsborough Street to Manning Drive
-- Raleigh Street: East Franklin to Cameron Avenue
-- South Road: Country Club to Pittsboro Street
-- McCauley Street: From Pittsboro to Columbia and the neighborhood off Pittsboro Street
-- Stadium Drive: From South Road to Ridge Road
-- Battle, Boundary, and Park Place: Blocked at Franklin Street
-- Country Club Road: From South Road to Cameron Avenue and from Ridge Road into the Laurel Hill neighborhood
-- Cameron Avenue: From Country Club to Pittsboro Street

Note: Residential streets near downtown will be closed except to residents of those streets and their guests.

For information on the Town of Chapel Hill Halloween Plan including, visit The Town of Chapel Hill website:

http://www.townofchapelhill.org/index.asp?nid=127

CHAPEL HILL TRANSIT:
The Town will NOT provide shuttle bus service from four Park-and-Ride Lots this year. Out-of-town patrons are encouraged to stay at home or go somewhere other than Chapel Hill. Key traffic lanes will be reduced to make it more difficult to enter Chapel Hill.

Chapel Hill Transit Safe Ride routes will attempt to operate the normal printed schedule for the "Safe Ride T," "Safe Ride JV," and "Safe Ride G" routes along the detoured routes. Safe Rides will not serve Downtown / Franklin Street area. Please be advised that due to road closures and traffic pattern changes, Chapel Hill Transit may be unable to operate its exact usual schedules. The "Safe Ride JV" and "Safe Ride G" routes will pick up and drop off from Columbia Street (Sitterson Hall across from Carolina Inn). The "Safe Ride T" route will pick up and drop off at the Chapel Hill Town Hall.

For detailed information on Chapel Hill Transit routes and changes to routes (including Safe Ride routes) for Halloween, call them at 969-4900 or visit the following website:

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Mixed Paper Recycling Comes Indoors!

Throughout campus the newspaper/magazines bins will be labeled to invite the campus community to recycle their mixed paper products along with their newspaper and magazines.

Mixed paper includes such materials as paperboard/boxboard, broken down cereal boxes, tissues boxes, and other types of non-corrugated cardboard. These materials may now be recycled in any newspaper/magazines bin on campus, both indoor and outdoor. We are in the process of re-labeling the bins on campus, and the new labels that reflect the Mixed Paper inclusion will be coming to a building near you soon!

The indoor paper bins will also have lids placed on them. These lids discourage contamination and keep the indoor recycling sites cleaner. We encourage you to keep the new lids on as part of our efforts to increase recycling on campus!

As always, we here at the Office of Waste Reduction and Recycling thank all of you in the campus community for all that you do to help reduce waste and make the campus more sustainable. Thank you for working to make Carolina Green!

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: How can Carolina become the best place to teach, learn and discover?

Tell us what you think. We want to make "Carolina: The Best Place to Teach, Learn and Discover." At the request of UNC Board of Trustees Chair Roger Perry and Chancellor Thorp, we are leading a campus-wide conversation about how Carolina can be an even better university. We need your help in identifying the really big ideas that can make Carolina even stronger than it is today.

We have launched a new Web site, http://bestcarolina.unc.edu/, to support this initiative. Features include an online form that you can use to share your thoughts. Even better would be the opportunity for discussion in person. Check the Web site for more information and upcoming events, including a campus-wide forum next week that you are invited to attend.

We hope you will choose to participate in this important process.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Employee Worksite Wellness Program

Dear Carolina Faculty and Staff:

I am pleased to tell you about a new program intended to promote a healthy work environment for our faculty and staff. In February, the Office of State Personnel adopted a new policy allowing universities to create worksite wellness programs for their employees. This is great news for people at Carolina.

Brenda Malone, associate vice chancellor for human resources, has agreed to be the Wellness Leader for our University. Brenda brings strong leadership and management skills to this key role. Soon, she will appoint a Wellness Committee that will work with Employee Services, part of our Office of Human Resources, to develop and administer Carolina's worksite wellness program.

The Wellness Committee will develop a program that includes ways to:

* Provide increased workplace support and opportunities for physical activity, healthy eating, tobacco cessation and stress management;

* Increase employee awareness of healthy lifestyle choices; and

* Promote available resources and benefits, such as the State Health Plan's tobacco cessation pharmacy program.

You can read more about the state's Worksite Wellness Policy at http://www.osp.state.nc.us/manuals/man8-9.html.

I fully support the efforts of the Wellness Committee members as they help us create a strong and dynamic worksite wellness program for our employees. In the coming months, you will receive more detailed information about our program.

Sincerely,

Holden Thorp

Are you or someone you know currently pregnant? Are you between 14 and 28 weeks?

We are currently conducting a research study of dental health during pregnancy at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, entitled "Validation of a Self Report Tool to Screen for Periodontal Disease". To participate you must be between 14 and 28 weeks pregnant and not need to take antibiotics when you go for dental visits. Women who participate will complete a questionnaire about the health of their teeth and gums, and then undergo a dental exam. To learn more about the research study, send an email to @gmail.com with your name, phone number, and times that you can be reached. We will not share your email address with anyone outside of the study.

Participants receive:

-Free dental exam
-$15 dollars for completing a questionnaire about dental health and dental exam
-Potential for additional $5, if blood is drawn at the time of the dental exam

We need your help! Women who participate in our research study can advance knowledge by sharing information about their dental health. Please share this email with friends or family.

The principal investigator for this research study is Kim Boggess, MD, UNC School of Medicine, Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology. This research study and this message have received approval from the UNC Institutional Review Board on research involving human subjects, study # GCRC-2606.

Subject: FORMAL NOTICE: Administrative Review - Dr. Peggy Jablonski, Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs

To: Members of the UNC Chapel Hill Faculty, Staff and Students

From: Dr. Karen Gil, Chair, Review Committee

Date: October 27, 2008

Re: Administrative Review of Peggy Jablonski, Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs

On behalf of the committee appointed to review the performance of Dr. Peggy Jablonski, Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs at UNC-Chapel Hill, I invite your participation in the review process.

As required by University regulations, the Chancellor has requested a review of Dr. Jablonski's performance as Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs at UNC-Chapel Hill. The Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs oversees the Dean of Students' Office, Housing and Residential Education, Campus Health Services, the Carolina Union, Disability Services, Career Services, Campus Recreation, New Student and Parent Programs, the Campus Y, as well as other programs concerned with student life. Areas for the review include vision and long range planning for Student Affairs, day-to-day management of administrative units that comprise Student Affairs, and ability to work effectively with the many relevant constituencies - students, parents, faculty, staff, alumni, and other administrative leaders on our campus and in the UNC system.

We encourage you to contribute to this review in the following different ways:

1. The committee has scheduled two open sessions to receive comments. These times are:

November 17 - 9:00-12:00 - 203 Campus Y
November 18 - 1:00-3:00 - 203 Campus Y

If you wish to meet with the committee, please contact Debbie Stevenson in the Office of the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost (debbie_stevenson@unc.edu or 962-7882), and she will schedule a specific time (usually about 10-15 minutes) within that time period. Note that while all comments during these sessions will be kept strictly confidential, a master list of attendees will be kept as part of Dr. Jablonski's personnel file. Requests must be made before November 13, 2008.

2. You may provide written comments to the chair or other committee members. The review committee will treat your comments as strictly confidential. By law, all written communication - whether on paper or by email - becomes a confidential part of Dr. Jablonski's personnel file. As such, written comments are open to examination by her. University regulations prohibit considerations of anonymous letters in the review process. All written comments should be sent to: Dr. Karen Gil c/o Debbie Stevenson, 104 South Building, CB # 3000, or by emailing debbie_stevenson@unc.edu

3. You may telephone or meet privately in person with committee members. Oral communications (by telephone or in person) and the committee's notes generated from these conversations do not become part of Dr. Jablonski's personnel file but may be reflected in the committee's report without identifiers.

The deadline for submitting comments regarding Dr. Jablonski's performance to the committee is November 24, 2008.

Black Gold Film Screening and Ghanian Drumming Performance
Thursday, October 30, 2008, 7 PM
Global Cup Cafe, FedEx Global Education Center, UNC-CH

Ghanian drummer Habib Yazdi will kick off the event with a live performance followed by a screening of Marc and Nick Francis' 2006 documentary film Black Gold. This thought provoking documentary follows Tadesse Meskela, manager of Oromia Coffee Farmer's Co-operative Union in Ethiopia, as he travels throughout the Western world searching for buyers willing to pay a fair price for the co-op's coffee. Black Gold explores the complexities of the multi-billion dollar global coffee industry, juxtaposing the impoverished situation of many Ethiopian coffee farmers with New York City commodity traders and coffee connoisseurs. Q & A led by Counter Culture Coffee's Lydia Troxler following the screening. Enjoy complimentary Ethiopian coffee while you watch! Free. Please Contact: sewall@email.unc.edu for more information.

Time-to-Conceive is a research study at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill focusing on fertility in women between 30 and 44 years of age. To learn how you can be in the study, call us at (919) 843-8246 or send an email to fertility@unc.edu with your name, phone number and times that you can be reached. We will not share your email address with anyone outside of the study.

Participants receive:
- Free pregnancy tests
- Free early pregnancy ultrasound
- Monetary compensation for study activities

No medicines or pills to take and no changes to daily lifestyle or existing health care routine.

Please visit our new website at www.med.unc.edu/timetoconceive for more information.

We need your help! You can advance knowledge by simply sharing information about yourself while trying to get pregnant. Please share this message with friends or family.

The principal investigator for this study is Anne Z. Steiner, MD, MPH, Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, University of North Carolina.

This study, Time to Conceive, and this message have received approval from the UNC Biomedical Institutional Review Board on 3/14/2008, study # 08-0423.

Subject: Early Voting -- Please Remind Your Students

Dear Julius,
Could you please post this to your faculty list serve? I would be really grateful. And please do remind your own classes to vote early.
Many thanks, Milada

Dear Colleagues,

I am working with the students of Project SERV (Students Engaged in Registering Voters), a non-partisan voter registration drive.

I am writing to ask you to please encourage your classes to vote early this week at Morehead Planetarium.

The hours through Friday, October 31, are 9am to 4pm. The hours on Saturday, November 1, are 9am to 1pm. (Saturday is the last day of early voting.)

All UNC students who live in Orange County -- either on or off campus -- are eligible to vote at Morehead, even if they are out of state, and even if they have not yet registered to vote here.

Here are a few reasons why students should consider voting early at Morehead:

1. Students can still register to vote during the early voting period. They can also update their registration if they have moved. Many students who registered last spring, but have not re-registered, need to update their registration but may not know it. They'll be able to fix this at early voting -- but not on election day.

To register AND vote at Morehead, students who live in UNC residence halls just need their student id. Students who live off campus need their student id plus something that shows their current address in Orange County (for example, a phone bill, a utility bill, a bank statement, or a credit card statement).

2. Officials are expecting long lines on election day. Students who plan on driving home to vote may be discouraged by a long line. Also, they will be making the line longer for others.

3. On election day, students must vote based on where they live. Students may not be familiar with their precincts, and may not have transportation to their polling place. Voting at Morehead is fast and easy!

Many thanks,

Black Gold Film Screening and Ghanian Drumming Performance
Thursday, October 30, 2008, 7 PM
Global Cup Cafe, FedEx Global Education Center, UNC-CH

Ghanian drummer Habib Yazdi will kick off the event with a live performance followed by a screening of Marc and Nick Francis' 2006 documentary film Black Gold. This thought provoking documentary follows Tadesse Meskela, manager of Oromia Coffee Farmer's Co-operative Union in Ethiopia, as he travels throughout the Western world searching for buyers willing to pay a fair price for the co-op's coffee. Black Gold explores the complexities of the multi-billion dollar global coffee industry, juxtaposing the impoverished situation of many Ethiopian coffee farmers with New York City commodity traders and coffee connoisseurs. Q & A led by Counter Culture Coffee's Lydia Troxler following the screening. Enjoy complimentary Ethiopian coffee while you watch! Free. Please Contact: sewall@email.unc.edu for more information.

IN THE COURTYARD: THE FIREHOUSE RHYTHM KINGS

Saturday, November 1
4:00 - 6:00 PM

The Firehouse Rhythm Kings, a swing ensemble based out of Carrboro, comes to the courtyard of the Ackland this Saturday for a special concert of bebop and cool jazz from the 1950s to help celebrate the Museum's 50th anniversary. Joe Troop, a veteran of multiple swing bands on three continents, leads the band with hot fiddling and powerhouse singing. Charles Cleaver drives the piano with brute force and lush harmonies and Chris Roszell pounds out rhythm on the tenor banjo with raw energy. The Firehouse Rhythm Kings are guaranteed to make you jump and jive!

Light food and cash bar. Chairs available. Feel free to bring blankets to spread on the lawn. Doors open at 3:30.

FREE for Ackland members and UNC-Chapel Hill students who sign up for a free student membership at the event (One Card required) / $15 for non-members.

To register, call 919.843.3687 or email jocelyn.arem@ackland.org.

PERFORMING CIRCA 1958: AN EVENING OF JOHN CAGE AND OTHERS

Gerrard Hall
Wednesday, November 5
7:00 - 8:30 PM

Carolina comes together this fall to celebrate the Ackland's 50th anniversary and the exhibition Circa 1958: Breaking Ground in American Art with the special series Performing Circa 1958, held in the newly restored Gerrard Hall.

On Wednesday, November 5, at 7:00 PM, celebrated composer and Professor of Music Stefan Litwin will be joined by faculty and students of the UNC-Chapel Hill Music Department in presenting An Evening of John Cage and Others. This special event will include a performance of John Cage's Concert for Piano and Orchestra, written in 1958, which is perhaps the most radical example of so-called "indeterminate music" from the late 1950s. In this unique piece, all performers, the conductor included, follow only their individual parts and are largely free to decide what they play. A score of the

To all members of the UNC Faculty:

A special message from the Fixed-Term Faculty Committee of the Faculty Council:

Fixed-Term Faculty Committee to hold discussions and forum on fixed term faculty issues, November 7

The Fixed-Term Faculty Committee of Faculty Council invites the faculty to join us on Friday, November 7, 2008 in the Faculty Commons at the Campus Y (on Cameron Avenue, near the Old Well) to discuss these questions: "What changes or new provisions should appear in policies that apply to fixed-term faculty?" and "What would make being a full-time fixed-term faculty member at Carolina a more attractive career choice?"

Faculty members will have two opportunities that day to share their thoughts:

- 10:30 a.m. - 12:00 noon: Committee members will be on hand in the Faculty Commons for one-on-one conversations with faculty members. This will provide a chance for discussing issues that may require more confidentiality.
- 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.: Public forum. Committee members will share information about the committee's work and engage attendees in a wide-ranging discussion of the topics listed above.

Click here to learn more about the recent work of the Fixed-Term Faculty Committee.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Employee Flu Clinics

The response to this year's employee flu clinics has been very strong with more than 3,000 employees vaccinated to date. But there are only a few clinics left, so if you plan to get a flu shot, please sign up soon for one of our remaining appointment clinics on our new Flu Health Central at http://ehs.unc.edu/ueohc/flushot.shtml.

There you will be able to see the remaining Flu Clinic times, learn about the flu and sign up for an appointment. The online registration will walk you through the process of selecting the most convenient date, time and campus location. If you have difficulty accessing the EHS website, ask your supervisor or administrative staff to help you.

If you cannot make an appointment, we have added three Walk In Clinics this year for your convenience. You can find the dates and times at http://ehs.unc.edu/ueohc/flushot.shtml.

The shots are free to employees covered under the State Health Plan, or one of the state's preferred provider organization (PPO) plans. If you are not a member of the State Health Plan, you will need to pay $30 by cash or check at the time of vaccination and obtain reimbursement from your insurance provider.

At your appointment, you will need to present your State Plan/PPO card along with a photo ID for coverage under the plan. These flu shot clinics are for University employees only.

Contact your health care provider for flu shots for family members and dependents, or go to http://flucliniclocator.org for a flu clinic near you.

Health experts advise against taking a chance on getting the flu because it can lead to serious complications and -- in some cases -- even death. By getting vaccinated, you reduce the flu risk for everyone.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: New Scholarship at Carolina!

As Veterans Day quickly approaches, I am very pleased to announce the establishment of a new scholarship at Carolina - the Carolina Veterans' Scholarship Fund. The intent of the scholarship is to provide members of the Carolina community with a way to give back to those who have sacrificed so much in the service of our country. The fund will be distributed to veterans enrolled at Carolina for their first two semesters of attendance, as a small but tangible "thank you" from the Carolina community for the veteran's service. The scholarship will raise funds through fundraisers and donations from citizens and businesses in the local area, so it represents the appreciation of the local community to those who have served.

For more information about the new Carolina Veterans' Scholarship Fund, please go to the Carolina Veterans' Organization website, listed below, and click on the "Carolina Veterans' Scholarship" link on the left side of the page. Here you will find out more about the story behind the scholarship, how it works, and what you can do to support the fund.

On the CVO's website you will also find information about the initial fundraiser for the Carolina Veterans' Scholarship Fund - the Veterans Day 5K. To learn more about the Veterans Day 5K or the Carolina Veterans' Organization, the student organization responsible for establishing the fund, please click on the link below.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Emotion Study

Are you a healthy individual interested in participating in research on the differences in emotional regulation between age groups?

We are looking for participants for a study where your heart rate, blood pressure and other physiological changes are measured while you view different images and discuss some of your happiest memories and recent events that have upset you. If you are interested in helping us to learn more about emotion regulation, please consider participating in Dr. Sy-Miin Chow's study, Feeling Stressed But Happy (IRB Study # 08-109, Approved 10/06/08 by the IRB, UNC-Chapel Hill).

If you meet the following criteria, please reply to this message by calling 919-843-3611 or emailing emotion@unc.edu and Steve Newell, Project Manager will contact you for a screening interview. Please see the Emotions and Dynamics Systems Lab website at: http://www.unc.edu/~symiin for more information.

Our criteria include:

* Ages 35-80

* Men and women

* Willing and able to participate in a short fifteen minute phone screening session, a two hour laboratory session, and a thirty day follow-up study consisting of short daily surveys. You must agree to participate in the follow-up study to participate in the laboratory session.

* You must have no history of psychiatric diagnosis, cancer/chemotherapy, or seizures

* You must not have taken cortisone, prednisone, or hydrocortisone or any other steroids within the past six months

* No substance abuse disorders

* No learning disabilities or neurological disorders

* No open-heart surgery or significant head trauma within the past two years

* No implanted neurostimulators, defibrillators, or insulin pumps

This study provides compensation for both portions of the study at a rate of $20 for the laboratory session, and up to $120 for the follow-up study.

Thank you,
Sy-Miin Chow

Subject: Upcoming Stone Center Visit/UNC-Chapel Hill
Attach: African Diaspora Lecture_Flier.pdf

Good Morning all,

I am Ursula Littlejohn, program coordinator with the Sonja Haynes Stone Center for Black Culture and History and I am reaching out to each of you to announce an upcoming event here.

Next week, Dr. Abdul Alkalimat will be visiting with us and conducting the African Diaspora Lecture on Tuesday evening (11/11) at 7pm. As many of you know, his work is widely renowned in both the African Diaspora sector as well in the library and information sciences fields. Dr. Alkalimat will be here on our campus beginning on Monday and I would like to extend the opportunity for persons to schedule time to meet with him. Please let me know if this may be of interest to you and we can look at accommodating this . Perhaps we could look at a group meeting for your department if that may be more convenient.
I have also attached a copy of the poster detailing the Diaspora Lecture event.

Please let me know if you have any questions/concerns and I look forward to hearing from you.

Many thanks,

PERFORMING CIRCA 1958: AN EVENING OF JOHN CAGE AND OTHERS

Gerrard Hall
Wednesday, November 5
7:00 - 8:30 PM

Carolina comes together this fall to celebrate the Ackland's 50th anniversary and the exhibition Circa 1958: Breaking Ground in American Art with the special series Performing Circa 1958, held in the newly restored Gerrard Hall.

Tomorrow at 7:00 PM, celebrated composer and Professor of Music Stefan Litwin will be joined by faculty and students of the UNC-Chapel Hill Music Department in presenting An Evening of John Cage and Others. This special event will include a performance of John Cage's Concert for Piano and Orchestra, written in 1958, which is perhaps the most radical example of so-called "indeterminate music" from the late 1950s. In this unique piece, all performers, the conductor included, follow only their individual parts and are largely free to decide what they play. A score of the entire piece does not exist as each performance embraces choice and chance. The concert will also include other selections of experimental music of the 1950s, including works by Karlheinz Stockhausen, Luciano Berio, and others. Reception to follow in the Campus YMCA, adjacent to Gerrard Hall.

Professor Litwin is an internationally celebrated composer and pianist who joined the UNC-Chapel Hill Department of Music in 2008. He has performed with renowned orchestras and conductors throughout the world, including Christoph von Dohnányi, Michael Gielen, and Marek Janowski, and has recorded for Deutschen Grammophon, Auvidis/Montaigne, Arte Nova, and Cala Records, among others.

FREE for Ackland members and UNC-Chapel Hill students who sign up for a free student membership at the event (One Card required) / $15 for non-members. Tickets available at the Ackland front desk, Memorial Hall, or at the event.

For questions, call 919.843.3687 or email jocelyn.arem@ackland.org.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: 2009 Faculty Mentoring Award

Nominations for Faculty Mentoring Award sponsored by the Carolina Women's Leadership Council due Jan. 28, 2009; each winner to receive $5,000

The Carolina Women's Leadership Council has generously provided funding for annual faculty mentoring awards at the University.

The 130-member Women's Leadership Council is a network of women from across the country who are committed to supporting the University and students' educational experiences. Along with providing financial support, members volunteer their time and share their expertise, as well as champion Carolina in their regions and serve on boards that further the University's mission. The council is co-chaired by Mary Anne Dickson '63, Molly Dewar Froelich '83 and Julia Sprunt Grumbles '75.

The Faculty Mentoring Awards sponsored by the Carolina Women's Leadership Council recognize outstanding men and women faculty members who go the extra mile to guide, mentor and lead students and/or junior faculty as they make important career decisions, embark on innovative research and teaching initiatives, prepare for leadership positions, and enrich their lives through public service, teaching and meaningful educational opportunities. These awards will honor faculty-to-student mentoring and faculty-to-faculty mentoring, with one award given in each category. Each recipient will receive $5,000.

All tenured and tenure-track faculty are eligible for this award, as are fixed-term faculty who have been at Carolina for at least three years. Visiting faculty are not eligible. Nominations may be submitted by anyone from the Carolina family, including current and former faculty, staff, and students.

Please note you will be asked to provide three separate attachments (please use Microsoft Word) consisting of the following:

1. Brief (one-paragraph) statement of rationale for nomination.

2. Narrative description -- not to exceed two pages -- of the extent, type and character of the mentoring provided by the nominee.

3. Nominee's curriculum vitae.

Nominations should be electronically submitted by visiting:

http://www.unc.edu/pcgi-bin/WLCMA_viewapp.pl

and must be received by Jan. 28, 2009.

A selection committee appointed by the provost will review and recommend the award recipients. This committee will include representatives from the faculty, the student body, the Office of the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost, the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, and the Carolina Women's Leadership Council.

Selections will be made in mid-February 2009, with awards presented to winners at the annual meeting of the Carolina Women's Leadership

Council, which will be held Feb. 26-27, 2009.

For more information about the Faculty Mentoring Award sponsored by the Carolina Women's Leadership Council, contact Carol Tresolini, Associate Provost for Academic Initiatives, at 962-3907 or Carol_Tresolini@unc.edu

"It turns out there are all kinds of things about working in an ER that most of us haven't learned from TV or having sat in one. In Something for the Pain, Paul Austin—the ER doc you'd hope to get if something really bad happened— tells us, vividly and with uncommon candor, how, if you aren't careful, saving people's lives can make you sick." — Ted Conover, author of Newjack

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Get Fit from Head to Heel!: Physical Activity and Weight Loss Program

Motivating Carolina students and employees to Get Fit from Head to Heel!

Interested in modifying your lifestyle and adopting healthy new patterns? If you need to lose weight, and want to learn how to do it the healthy way, while meeting new people and having fun, Get Fit from Head to Heel! is for you...

Carolina Campus Recreation and Counseling & Wellness Services introduces Get Fit from Head to Heel!, a 10-week healthy lifestyle, weight loss and physical activity challenge available to UNC-Chapel Hill students and employees. The program, formerly called Carolina's Biggest Loser, is designed for individuals interested in modifying their lifestyle and adopting healthy, new patterns.

With the support of a team and coach, participants will attend weekly fitness challenges and nutrition workshops. The program emphasizes the importance of maximizing physical activity and making healthier lifestyle and eating choices. The program not only provides motivation and support, but the resources to be successful. The impact of the program can best be described by feedback from past participants.

"I was at a standstill...I was sick of dieting, I was sick of exercising, I was sick of everything, and I needed a little push..."

"I've tried new things that I never thought I'd do, and learned that I actually like exercise, which I never thought would happen..."

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: Message from the Chancellor: University Budget Update

Dear Faculty and Staff:

We know the global economic crisis will affect the University's budget in the coming months and years. Short term, here's what that situation means for us. North Carolina has cut one-time (non-permanent) state appropriations by 4 percent. We expect to be asked for an additional 1 percent any day now. To put that in perspective, state appropriations equaled $574 million, or 22 percent, of Carolina's total operating budget. A 5 percent cut adds up to about $25 million.

We're leaving decisions about the state reductions to each vice chancellor and dean; they know best how to minimize the effect on our people, programs and the quality of the education we provide to our students. We've received no word that a general state or UNC system hiring freeze is imminent. The funding designated in this year's state budget for our building repairs, renovations and new capital projects has been frozen - at least for now.

To be prudent, we're planning for the likelihood of permanent (recurring) state budget cuts for fiscal 2009-2010 because revenues are expected to decline. In the event of a permanent state budget cut, we would carefully scrutinize all University operations and programs.

The University's budget is complex. Besides our state funding, we rely on tuition and fees, sales and services such as patient care, research contracts and grants, athletics, and private support. Most of this funding comes with restrictions on how it can be used - such as a federal grant awarded to conduct a research study or a donor's private gift intended to benefit a scholarship program.

We're in better shape than many public universities that have been forced by their state's circumstances to make very difficult budget decisions over the past several months - even before the current global financial meltdown. In North Carolina, we can be grateful for the historically strong support that public higher education receives from our General Assembly. Faculty research funding has stayed strong despite an already challenging federal funding environment. The successful Carolina First Campaign has strengthened teaching, research, and public service along with the endowment - and set the bar high for continued private support.

These are extraordinary economic times, and the global financial crisis and its ripple effects create uncharted territory for most of us. We're closely examining everything that we do to make responsible choices to position the University for the economic recovery. We're committed to getting through this rough period as smoothly as possible with your help, cooperation and patience. And we pledge to keep you informed.

Sincerely

Holden Thorp

Walk In Employee Flu Clinics
Department of Environment, Health and Safety - November 9, 2008

If you still have not received your flu shot, plan now to visit one of our last three clinics. For your convenience, these last three clinics are Walk In Clinics. No appointment necessary; just walk in at a time convenient for you. For more information, go to http://ehs.unc.edu/ueohc/flushot.shtml.

The shots are free to employees covered under the State Health Plan, or one of the state's preferred provider organization (PPO) plans. If you are not a member of the State Health Plan, you will need to pay $30 by cash or check at the time of vaccination and obtain reimbursement from your insurance provider.

You will need to present your State Plan/PPO card along with a photo ID for coverage under the plan. These flu shot clinics are for University employees only. Contact your health care provider for flu shots for family members and dependents, or go to http://flucliniclocator.org for a flu clinic near you.

Health experts advise against taking a chance on getting the flu because it can lead to serious complications and -- in some cases -- even death. By getting vaccinated, you reduce the flu risk for everyone.

College of Arts & Sciences Dean Search Committee

November 10, 2008

The Search Committee for the Dean of the College of Arts & Sciences at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill has retained Dr. Jean A. Dowdall, Senior Vice President of Witt/Kieffer, a leading search firm for institutions of higher education, as part of its ongoing search for a new Dean of the College. The committee is very pleased with the quality of the internal and external candidates who have applied to date for this position. Dr. Dowdall will aid the Committee in conducting further outreach and in developing profiles on each candidate. The Committee remains on schedule to bring candidates to meet with the University community in mid-spring of 2009, and to present finalists to the Provost in late spring of 2009.

Healthy male and female volunteers are needed to participate in a research study investigating the effects of an intervention on hip strength, range of motion, and muscle activity on a knee valgus position during functional movement tasks. This study is sponsored by the Department of Exercise and Sport Science.

If you participate in this study, you will...
* Be screened for participation in the Sports Medicine Research Laboratory. The screen takes approximately 5 minutes.
* Report for two test sessions lasting approximately 1 hour each.
* Be willing to participate in an exercise program, 3 times per week for 20 minutes for 3-4 weeks.

You should not participate in the study if you...
* You have any current symptoms of injury (redness, swelling, pain)
* You have had leg surgery in the past year
* You have had a lower extremity injury in the past six months that required you to miss three or more consecutive days of physical activity

Participants should be between 18-35 years of age.

You can receive up to $45 for your participation if you are in the intervention group and $20 if you are in the control group.

Please contact David Bell if you are interested in volunteering or would like more information about the study.

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: UNC System Voluntary 403(b) Retirement Program

FROM: Brian Usischon, Senior Director, Benefits & Employee Services
Office of Human Resources

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) released final 403(b) regulations on July 26, 2007. These regulations are the first comprehensive rewrite of the rules affecting 403(b) arrangements in 43 years. The regulations are effective Jan. 1, 2009.

The University of North Carolina institutions and affiliates decided to combine efforts and implement a new system-wide voluntary 403(b) retirement program in response to the new Internal Revenue Code 403(b) regulations. TIAA-CREF and Fidelity, two strong, highly respected financial service companies, have been selected to provide a wide range of services and 403(b) investment options through their own funds and other top investment managers in the industry, beginning Jan. 1.

To help facilitate this change, we have been actively working with Fidelity and TIAA-CREF to schedule group and individual counseling sessions, and to provide additional materials to help employees make informed decisions concerning participation in the 403(b) program. The 403(b) Program Guide (http://hr.unc.edu/Data/benefits/suppretire/403b-09) provides additional information about the new program, including who needs to enroll. Copies of the program guide are in the process of being distributed to all UNC-Chapel Hill 403(b) participants via campus mail. In addition, we have established a UNC System 403(b) Enrollment Web site (http://hr.unc.edu/Data/benefits/suppretire/403b-09) with additional information and important links.

We will sponsor campus-wide information sessions for employees in November and December. See the enrollment Web site above for dates and locations.

Enrollment Process

There is a simple two-step enrollment process:

Step 1: Complete a new Salary Reduction Agreement (SRA) and return the form to Benefits Administration, CB #1045. (The SRA is available at http://hr.unc.edu/formfinder/forms-benefits/403b-sra.pdf)

Step 2: Enroll in the program with either Fidelity or TIAA-CREF

You can enroll in the program through TIAA-CREF and/or Fidelity right now by following the links below to each 403(b) provider's online enrollment Web site. While contributions will not begin until you have completed your Salary Reduction Agreement form, you do NOT have to wait to open your new account(s). Simply click on the links below to find out more information about your investment options and complete your enrollment.

Fidelity (https://www.mysavingsatwork.com/atwork/unc403b.htm): Use Plan

ID 08310 to get started
TIAA-CREF (http://enroll.tiaa-cref.org/unc403b/): Use online access code NCH123

Deadlines
SPA employees must complete the Salary Reduction Agreement form by Dec. 15, 2008, to start your deductions beginning with the first bi-weekly pay day in 2009 -- Jan. 2, 2009.

Faculty and EPA Non-Faculty employees must complete the Salary Reduction Agreement form by Jan. 15, 2009, to start your deductions beginning with the first monthly pay day in 2009 -- Jan. 30, 2009.

If you are required to re-enroll because you are contributing to a vendor other than TIAA-CREF and/or Fidelity and do not return the forms by the above deadlines, your 403(b) contributions will stop and your contributions will not resume until you complete the required forms and submit them to Benefits Administration.

If you have any questions, call Benefits Administration at 919-962-3071.

Dear Carolina Students, Faculty and Staff:

The week of November 17-21 marks International Education Week 2008 across the nation, and we have an array of activities planned to promote and celebrate international education at Carolina. Attend a performance by a Sufi Qawwali ensemble, explore human rights in an unconventional forum, enjoy the 22nd annual Latin American Film Festival and view an exhibition of international photography.

If you do not yet have a passport, or need to renew your passport, don't miss our 4th annual "Get-a-Passport-Drive" on Tuesday, November 18 and Wednesday, November 19. State Department officials will be on campus with passport applications, and you can get passport photos taken on site. More details about the event and required documentation are available at http://global.unc.edu.

All the events are open to the public, and I hope you'll take the time to participate, learn and enjoy. A complete schedule of International Education Week events happening around campus is posted at http://global.unc.edu, or you can access it directly from the UNC homepage.

I encourage all of you to help us in our mission to make Carolina a truly global university and take advantage of our numerous opportunities for international study, research and service.

Faculty members at UNC and Shaw University Divinity School are conducting a research study on communication in African American Families when an adult (60 and older) has a serious illness.*

We invite you to participate if you help an African American family member who has a serious illness.

* Your participation requires either a 20-25 minute telephone interview or a brief 5-minute telephone interview.

* If asked to complete the 25 minute interview, we will send you a $20.00 Wal-Mart gift card as a "thank you" for talking with us.

* If you know others who help provide care to a seriously ill older family member, please tell them about the study.

The interview will cover family communication related to: 1) topics regarding the serious illness, including the possibility of dying from the illness 2) who is involved in the conversations, and 3) decision making about health care.

We do hope that you will agree to be a part of this important work. We need to learn from you. Please contact Dr. Sharon Williams if you are willing to participate or would like more information.

I just wanted to see if it worked for you to set up my exam tomorrow in the African Studies Department at 11pm, so that I would have enough time to complete it. If you could get back to me as soon as possible, it would be greatly appreciated. And I Cc-ed incase one of you happened to check your email more frequently and would be able to catch Prof. Mutima if you saw him. It would be for Swah . Thanks so much, and I will see you soon!

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Red Cross Blood Drives in the Student Union This Week

The American Red Cross is holding blood drives in the Great Hall of the Student Union! Please visit www.unc.givesblood.org for dates coming very soon and make an appointment. We'd love to have you drop in, too!

One person's donation can save three lives. Giving blood is a quick and simple way to give back to our community, and if you sponsor a blood drive, you are eligible to win a $500 scholarship from the Red Cross.

We all expect blood to be there for us, but barely a fraction of those who can give do. Yet sooner or later, virtually all of us will face a time of great vulnerability in which we will need blood. Please come to the Great Hall and donate to give someone "The Gift of Life".

Thank you from the American Red Cross!

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: UNC Men's Home Basketball Parking and Transportation

---

ATTENTION UNC STUDENTS AND EMPLOYEES:

The following reflects parking and transportation information related to 2008 / 2009 UNC Men's Basketball home games:

RESERVED GAME PARKING:
The lots surrounding the Dean E. Smith Center, plus several mid and south campus parking lots are reserved for men's basketball games. Of these lots, several require advance removal of vehicles. Consequently, vehicles parked in reserved game lots must be removed by 5:30 p.m. or 6 p.m. for weeknight games and 10:00 a.m. for weekend games unless otherwise posted (check lot entrance signs for specific times).

Vehicles not removed from reserved game lots risk being ticketed and towed at the owner's expense ($110 to $120). To avoid ticketing and towing, PLEASE DO NOT park your vehicle in the reserved game lots beyond the times specified on the entrance signs.

Unless otherwise posted, the 5:30 p.m. and 10 a.m. lots affected by tow policy are as follows: (1) Williamson Lot / Williamson Drive (formerly named the Smith Lot); (2) Dean E. Smith Lot (formerly the Koury Lot and the Dean E. Smith Lot); and, (3) the Bowles Lot. Unless otherwise posted, the 6 p.m. and 10 a.m. lots are: (1) Business School Deck, and (2) the Public Safety lot.

NOTE: All vehicles will need to be removed from basketball lots by 8 a.m. on Saturday, February 28, 2009 for the 12:00 p.m. (noon) game against Georgia Tech.

Though the Craige Deck will be used for basketball parking, CD permit holders do not need to relocate and will be allowed to park during event operations as long as they are reporting to work.

S11 or BD employee permit holders who cannot remove their vehicles by 5:30 or 6 p.m. on weeknights, may obtain alternate parking by visiting the UNC Hospitals parking office (hospital employees only) or the UNC Department of Public Safety Parking Office (non-hospital employees only).

STUDENT PARKING LOTS:
Student resident lots are reserved for students with valid permits on weeknights and for residents on the weekends. There is NO PUBLIC PARKING allowed in student lots such as Hinton James, Ehringhaus, Morrison, Craige, or Odum Village (S12). Additionally, temporary parking restrictions will be in place which will require a valid lot permit during event times. For example, S12 permits will be required in all S12 lots from 7:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. on all game dates.

ROAD RESTRICTIONS:
Bowles Drive will be restricted beginning 5 p.m. for weeknight games and 3.5 hours prior to all weekend game times. No through traffic will be allowed to cross in front of the Smith Center during road restriction times. Buses will be reversed to run one-way from the Bowles Lot side to the Manning Lot side.

Additionally, Stadium Drive will close to thru traffic at 5 p.m. for weeknight games and 3.5 hours prior to weekend game times. S4 permits will be required.

SCHEDULED GAME DATES:
For a complete listing of game dates/times, visit the Athletic Department website:
"http://www.tarheelblue.com"
On that website, select links for "Men's Basketball" and then "Schedules."

If you have questions concerning event parking, please call Public Safety at (919) 962-3951, Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. at (919) 962-3951 or log onto the Public Safety website:
http://www.dps.unc.edu
...and look for the link to "Men's Home Basketball Parking and Transportation."

Information is also available on radio channel 1610 AM on game dates.

Thank you for your cooperation throughout the upcoming 2008 / 2009 season, and "Go Heels!"

Subject: Carolina for Kibera Summer Volunteer Application and Interest Meeting

Hello,

Carolina for Kibera is now accepting applications for Summer 2009 volunteers. I would like to ask you to please send out this email over your listserv and encourage students to apply. It is an incredible opportunity for any UNC student to travel to Kenya and work in a complex environment.

Thank you,

Please delete everything above (and including) the line before sending out this email over your listserv.***

Dear friends,

Carolina For Kibera (CFK) is now accepting applications for summer volunteers! CFK fights abject poverty and helps prevent violence through community-based development in the Kibera slum of Nairobi, Kenya and beyond. Run by Kenyans and advised by American and Kenyan volunteers, CFK's primary mission is to promote youth leadership and ethnic and gender cooperation in Kibera through sports, young women's empowerment, and community development. Additionally, CFK works to improve basic healthcare, sanitation, and education in Kibera.

CFK will hold an interest/information session on Wednesday, November 19th at 5pm on the fourth floor of the FedEx Global Education Center, Room 4003. The meeting will address the summer volunteer positions as well as ways to be involved with CFK on campus throughout the year.

The application to volunteer with Carolina For Kibera (CFK) in Kenya during summer 2009 is available on the CFK website at http://cfk.unc.edu/about-volunteers.php. The application is due January 23, 2009. Please feel free to email cfk@unc.edu or yaniv@email.unc.edu if you have any questions about the volunteer position or application process.

We hope to see you there!

Summer Volunteer,

Greetings Bull's Headers,

We've got a busy week at the Bull's Head next week, so without further ado...

Dick Vitale, the college basketball icon, will meet fans and sign his new coffee table book Dick Vitale's Fabulous 50 Players and Moments in College Basketball: From the Best Seat in the House During My 30 Years at ESPN.
Tuesday, Nov. 18th from noon to 1:30pm.

John Shelton Reed and wife Dale Volberg Reed will be here to read from their new book Holy Smoke: The Big Book of North Carolina Barbecue. A great book and definitely an event you won't want to miss.
Tuesday, Nov. 18th at 3:30pm

Betsy Greer, author of Knitting for Good!: A Guide to Creating Personal, Social, and Political Change Stitch by Stitch. For all you knitters and crafters out there, or anyone interested in getting in to that, this will definitely be a treat.
Wednesday, Nov. 19th at 3:30pm

Tomeiko Ashford Carter, the Interim Director of the Institute of African American Research at UNC, will read from her new book Powers Divine: Spiritual Autobiography and Black Women's Writing.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Research study investigating smoke exposure and nasal spray flu vaccine

The purpose of this research study is to learn how influenza virus administered as an FDA approved nasal spray vaccine affects nasal inflammation in people who smoke and in nonsmokers passively exposed daily to cigarette smoke or those not exposed at all. Currently, we are looking for healthy young adults aged 18-35 years with no underlying medical problems, who are active smokers.

Specific exclusion criteria will include history of asthma, chronic lung or heart disease; any type of immunodeficiency; influenza or flu like symptoms in the past three weeks; current pregnancy; egg allergy; or subjects who have already have had a flu shot this season. Your participation will last 4-8 weeks, and will require 8 study visits.

Subject: Addendum To Sister Carol's Thoughts On Article Entitled "World View On Obama" . . .

Date: Thursday, November 13, 2008, 6:07 PM

Beloved,

Here's how I've learned to write? I remain curious! I always want to know.

Then here's another way: While reading, I always have paper or note paper and pencils and pencils beside me. I also have dictionaries there too.

When I find a book's author that is too pompous, too wordy and too much arrogant for words, if that author is much too complex then, I leave the book alone especially if the work is too obscure or cloudy!

[One such example of this type of complex writing or ideological thought can be seen in the writings of one K. Appiah, a Harvard University professor. Some earlier historical and African-American writers are also very difficult to understand. I find the writings of W.E.Dubois not easily comprehendile. The "talented ten" for instance, that he makes much ado about!]

Other writers have simple ways of explaining things. But I too also can get cloudy, complex and obscure! When I write that way, it's usually when I "allow The Holy Spirit" to "Lead" me --- then I also know that such a work is for a select few who will most likely understand the entire body of "spiritual thoughts" that I was laboring under.

Keep reading Annie! You'll most likely understand how to write and to frame your thoughts if you keep reading.

Another way I learn to write is through writings explaining works of art. You can learn how to frame your thoughts by reading poetry and art books and from people who do travel writing!

Thanks for sharing your heart with me, Annie!

Yes, I'll read what you sent me about Mr. Obama and share what I learned from it! Just now, I am reading a number of works at the same time. I've read a great deal of the work by Liza Mundy on the work she brought forth entitled, "MICHELLE" and Sister, I am just floored! While I am floored by what Miss Mundy found out about Michelle and her family, and Michelle Obama and her life in Princeton and Harvard, I even get very stirred and upset, for I wonder what will make the African American people really content.

But all in all, anything you'll read about Michelle Robinson-Obama and her husband Barack Obama will be very compelling.

I know that so many are watching and the whole world and people in this country will not give the couple and their family rest from now onwards till the end of their days!

I am still nervous for the Obama administration and for the couple personally! My stomach remains unsettled for their success and because of their triumphs, I have learned volumes even about myself and about our people.

Both Michelle and Mr. Barack Obama can be successful and will be able to run their lives and this country for even two or three terms! They'll only do so if they lean heavily on Christ Jesus and do not waver or lean on their own finite abilities.

And if the Obamas humble themselves and pray to Almighty God their Heavenly Father before every decision, calling upon their Abba Father mightily and often, they'll find good success with God and with man.

Yes, let me go now and read your article! And many thanks for it.

I hope never become too opinionated after every reading for I do not know much of anything!

God Knows all. All I know is in part.

Ever and always your Sister in Christ and in meekness and humility,

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Naming Contest for ERP

MEMORANDUM

TO: Carolina Faculty, Staff and Students
FROM: Bernadette Gray-Little
Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost
RE: Contest to Name ERP

The Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) team is working diligently to configure Oracle's PeopleSoft to create a new powerful and fully integrated administrative system that will soon serve the University. The first component of this is Student Systems (admissions, student records, financial aid and student finances); it will be followed by the Human Resources/Payroll and Finance components. Student Systems begins rolling out in summer 2009 to support admissions.

Students, staff and faculty at the University will use this integrated administrative system for many years. It is going to be prominent on campus (and off, to some extent, through applicants and parents) for a good long time.

Some universities that have completed an ERP project have named their systems after a mascot or school symbol. Others have used acronyms. Still others have not named their systems at all, leaving the PeopleSoft name in place. (ERP itself is a generic term used in many industries and encompassing a variety of enterprise-wide applications.)

We believe this system should have a name and image that reflect the positive feelings we share about Carolina as well as connote the vision we have for the ERP project:

* The project directly supports the University's mission of making Carolina the nation's premier public university
* The ERP system is not simply a software implementation; it is an opportunity to rethink how the University does business at all levels
* Individuals from across the University are working and/or advising on all phases of the project to ensure that the needs of the entire community are addressed
* The end result of this effort will be an integrated management system that will improve processes and simplify policies in a way that makes interaction with the University easier for applicants, students, faculty and staff

Given the excellence and creativity we have at the University, who better to ask to name or brand this new system than those who will use it - YOU! We're looking for ideas on what to call our future integrated administrative system from you, the people who will use it:

* A student registering for classes,
* A staff member running a report,
* A faculty member recording grades,
* An employee checking a payroll stub, or
* A business manager processing a check request.

Please submit your ideas to name this integrated administrative system encompassing Student Systems, Human Resources/Payroll and Finance to erp_name@unc.edu. Entries are due by 5:00 p.m. (ET) on Friday, November 28, 2008. The ERP Sponsors Committee will make the final selection.

Thanks for your help as we prepare for this very important launch of our ERP system.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Preventive Home Visits Study

Do you have a relative who is at least 75 years old? Does that relative plan to remain in their home for at least the next two years?

We are looking for volunteers who might be eligible for research being conducted by UNC and the Orange County Department on Aging and who reside in Orange, North Chatham, or Durham County. The study is testing a program to help your relative remain at home longer with a higher quality of life. The research will take about 15 months.

The study will not cost your relative anything. There will be 2 intervention groups: (a) a group that has four visits from an occupational therapist over one year and 5 additional brief (30 minute) surveys at home, and (b) a group who receives phone calls and printed information (no visits) and 3 brief surveys at home. Group assignment will be random. All activities will take place at your convenience. For their time, participants who take part in the entire project will receive two $25 gift certificates to a local grocery store (regardless of which group they are in).

If you think your relative would be interested, please share this information with them. If they agree, please provide their name and phone number to the email or telephone number listed below so that investigators can contact them. Thank you!

Sunday, December 7, 2008 at CHICLE, 5:00 pm, Talk, Working in the Congo for Doctors without Borders, Anna Freeman, repeat program

This is a rerun. Anna's presentation on November 9 was overflowing so we're going to repeat it for those of you who couldn't get in or who weren't able to come at that time.

Anna recently spent six months working with Medecins Sans Frontieres in Rutshuru, a town in the North Kivu provence of Eastern DRC. The MSF mission is to run a large hospital with a surgical program, a cholera treatment center, and a mobile clinic to serve the population in Rutshuru and the surrounding towns. The people that are served are often victims of violence, sexual violence, preventable diseases, and have been displaced because of fighting in their villages.

She will talk about her experience working with an international NGO, working and living in the Congo, learning about and treating the diseases and injuries seen in a third world country in the middle of war, working in a francophone country, and how this all has affected her as she return to the US. Anna will show slides from her work and stay, as well as information about MSF.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Durhams babies deserve the BEST We need to hear from African American dads!

The Community Health Coalition in Durham County and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill are partnering on a research project that is intended to reduce health disparities in Durham - and we need to hear from African American dads!

What is this project about?
The purpose of the project is to learn more about the experiences of African American families in our community, including their experiences with and attitudes about breastfeeding.

How can you help?
If you know of any men who might be eligible for this study, or local men's groups who might be interested, we are asking you to reply to this email and let us know.

Men are eligible for this study if they:
* Are African American
* Are at least 18 years of age
* Live in Durham
* Have a child who is between the ages of 6 months and 5 years who resides in Durham County.

We will be asking men to participate in a two-hour discussion group. The information gathered in this group will be used to help develop ways to support African American women in Durham meet their own goals for breastfeeding. We will provide all participants with a $25 gift card to thank them for their time. We will also provide lunch or dinner and $10 for transportation. We may provide childcare, if needed.

If you have additional questions about the project or the type of help we are requesting, please contact Sharon Baker at 919-470-8684.

We thank you for your time and appreciate your assistance helping us to identify eligible dads to participate. Together we can help build a healthy Durham!

Cross-campus course for UNC grad students, faculty and staff:

Artistic Entrepreneurship (BUSI 701)
SPRING 2009, Mondays 5:00-7:30 PM
McColl 4731 (nearby free parking)

This course is a study in entrepreneurship and the specific challenges faced by artistic entrepreneurs. The course will be taught from three perspectives. First is a startup approach which will cover the fundamentals of creating new ventures. The second approach for this course is an experiential learning "soft skills" component that uses improvisational techniques to assess personal risk. The third perspective will be provided by visiting artistic entrepreneurs who will come to class to share their experiences and insights.

Join other students, staff and faculty from these departments: Dramatic Arts, Journalism and Mass Communications, Information and Library Sciences, Communication Studies, Folklore, Public Health, UNC-TV, ITS, UNC Student Store..

Taught by a former professional musician turned business school professor and current improvisational actor/teacher/professor.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: New Oral Health in Pregnancy Study

Are you or someone you know currently pregnant? Are you between 14 and 28 weeks?

We are currently conducting a research study of dental health during pregnancy at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, entitled "Validation of a Self Report Tool to Screen for Periodontal Disease". To participate you must be between 14 and 28 weeks pregnant and not need to take antibiotics when you go for dental visits. Women who participate will complete a questionnaire about the health of their teeth and gums, and then undergo a dental exam. To learn more about the research study, send an email to @gmail.com with your name, phone number, and times that you can be reached. We will not share your email address with anyone outside of the study.

Participants receive:

-Free dental exam
-$15 dollars for completing a questionnaire about dental health and dental exam
-Potential for additional $5, if blood is drawn at the time of the dental exam

We need your help! Women who participate in our research study can advance knowledge by sharing information about their dental health. Please share this email with friends or family.

Subject: FORMAL NOTICE: SafeRide Route Changes

Fellow Tar Heels

Chapel Hill Transit (CHT) and the University of North Carolina Student Government will be proposing changes to the Safe Ride program for the spring 2009 semester. Prior to implementing changes input is being requested from students and staff. The proposed changes include routing and schedule to the following routes:
*Safe Ride G - bus will travel both directions along Raleigh/South Road, no longer serving the University Mall area.
*Safe Ride JV routes - service frequency on the J portion of the route will be increased to every 15 minutes, providing improved service between downtown Chapel Hill and downtown Carrboro. The V portion of the route will be eliminated due to reduced demand

Among the opportunities for input are an official public forum and email submissions.

For information on the forum, visit unc.edu/studgov. If you are unable to attend the Public Forum and would like additional information on the proposed changes to the Safe Ride program or any Chapel Hill Transit service, please contact Student Government at UNCSafeRide@gmail.com or Chapel Hill Transit's customer service department at 919.969.4900 or chtransit@townofchapelhill.org

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Nominate students, faculty and staff for public service awards

To all UNC students, faculty, and staff,

Look around. Do you see students, faculty or staff or know of programs that have made a significant difference in the lives of people and communities in North Carolina? Although few of them dedicate themselves to public service and engaged scholarship for the recognition, don't you think they deserve to be honored? If so, nominate them for a 2009 Public Service Award!

The Carolina Center for Public Service (CCPS) announces its call for nominations for three awards: the Ned Brooks Award for Public Service, the Robert E. Bryan Public Service Award, and the Office of the Provost Engaged Scholarship Award. These prestigious awards recognize individual students, faculty, staff and University units for extraordinary public service and engaged scholarship. Winners receive a monetary award and will be honored at the annual Public Service Awards luncheon scheduled for April 17, 2009.

Nominations may be submitted by students, staff, faculty, and/or community members and are due by 5:00 PM on Friday, February 6, 2009. Nominators are cautioned to review the criteria for each award to ensure their nomination is aligned with stated requirements for the award.

To obtain detailed information on each award and access the on-line nomination form, go to the Carolina Center for Public Service website: http://www.unc.edu/cps/public-service-awards-index.php You can also get tips on writing effective nominations at this site.

Questions may be directed to ccps@unc.edu or 843-7568.

RE: State Employees Combined Campaign Extension

==========

Dear Colleagues:

We have extended the 2008 "Carolina Cares-Carolina Shares" State Employees Combined Campaign (SECC) through December. I am confident that during these final weeks our support of this important effort will continue to set an example in our community and beyond.

As of November 26, we have raised $651,397 toward the University goal of $800,000. Although the UNC community has shown tremendous compassion and generosity, we have a challenge ahead of us. However, I am convinced that with strong employee participation we can meet and even exceed our goal.

The SECC is a meaningful way to affirm our commitment to the local community and to support almost 900 nonprofit organizations that share our vision of helping others. Each organization has been screened for fiscal responsibility, ensuring your donations will be used wisely. During the extended campaign, we will continue to automatically enter contributors in the weekly drawings for gift cards, goods, and services donated by local businesses

I thank those who have already contributed to this year's campaign and ask that you help to ensure the campaign's success by encouraging others to participate. Division Leaders, Team Captains, and all those who have volunteered their support to the University campaign also deserve our thanks and gratitude. Let us continue to work toward our fundraising goal and demonstrate, in light of this year's theme, that "Carolina Cares" and "Carolina Shares."

If you need any additional information about donating to the campaign, please e-mail secc2008@unc.edu or call Dana Caudill at 962-6462. You may also visit the campaign website at <ssw.unc.edu/secc>.

Sincerely,
Jack Richman

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Web cast your lectures! Enrich your courses!

Hello,

A group of administrators and students welcomes you to participate in a pilot program during the spring semester of 2009 to judge the effectiveness of web casting course lectures to undergraduates. OASIS will help faculty members to capture, save and post audio or video files of course lectures or supplementary materials to be accessible online. This service allows students to access material covered in lectures after class, which can enrich their learning experience. We are also able to simultaneously capture anything on the computer screen, like a PowerPoint presentation, and audio in order to present the two together as a video. Research indicates that this technology can improve student performance without affecting attendance. Additional work from faculty will be minimal. If you have any questions, please contact Matt Hendren at 843-4521 or mhendren@unc.edu. Thank you for your interest.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: 2009 Faculty Mentoring Award

Nominations for Faculty Mentoring Award sponsored by the Carolina Women's Leadership Council due Jan. 28, 2009; each winner to receive $5,000

The Carolina Women's Leadership Council has generously provided funding for annual faculty mentoring awards at the University.

The 130-member Women's Leadership Council is a network of women from across the country who are committed to supporting the University and students' educational experiences. Along with providing financial support, members volunteer their time and share their expertise, as well as champion Carolina in their regions and serve on boards that further the University's mission. The council is co-chaired by Mary Anne Dickson '63, Molly Dewar Froelich '83 and Julia Sprunt Grumbles '75.

The Faculty Mentoring Awards sponsored by the Carolina Women's Leadership Council recognize outstanding men and women faculty members who go the extra mile to guide, mentor and lead students and/or junior faculty as they make important career decisions, embark on innovative research and teaching initiatives, prepare for leadership positions, and enrich their lives through public service, teaching and meaningful educational opportunities. These awards will honor faculty-to-student mentoring and faculty-to-faculty mentoring, with one award given in each category. Each recipient will receive $5,000.

All tenured and tenure-track faculty are eligible for this award, as are fixed-term faculty who have been at Carolina for at least three years. Visiting faculty are not eligible. Nominations may be submitted by anyone from the Carolina family, including current and former faculty, staff, and students.

Please note you will be asked to provide three separate attachments (please use Microsoft Word) consisting of the following:

1. Brief (one-paragraph) statement of rationale for nomination.

2. Narrative description -- not to exceed two pages -- of the extent, type and character of the mentoring provided by the nominee.

3. Nominee's curriculum vitae.

Nominations should be electronically submitted by visiting:

http://www.unc.edu/pcgi-bin/WLCMA_viewapp.pl

and must be received by Jan. 28, 2009.

A selection committee appointed by the provost will review and recommend the award recipients. This committee will include representatives from the faculty, the student body, the Office of the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost, the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, and the Carolina Women's Leadership Council.

Selections will be made in mid-February 2009, with awards presented to winners at the annual meeting of the Carolina Women's Leadership

Council, which will be held Feb. 26-27, 2009.

For more information about the Faculty Mentoring Award sponsored by the Carolina Women's Leadership Council, contact Carol Tresolini, Associate Provost for Academic Initiatives, at 962-3907 or Carol_Tresolini@unc.edu

INFORMATION: Seeking Adolescent Participants (ages 12-16) for UNC Friendship Study (Earn $80)

Parents and Mental Healthcare Providers:
Researchers are currently seeking participants (ages 12-16) for an important study of adolescent friendship and development called Project ARCH (Adolescents Relationships, Coping, and Health). Specifically, we are seeking adolescents who have ever been assessed or received treatment for depressed mood, anxiety, or other mental health concerns.

Participants would complete questionnaires and discuss several adolescent-oriented topics with a close friend. We can schedule visits to our near-campus location on Finley Golf Course Road any afternoon or evening during the week and anytime on the weekend. Participants earn up to $80 for participating and we offer driving reimbursement for long-distance participants.

For more information, please contact Casey Calhoun at 919-843-2352 or by email at project.arch@unc.edu.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Have you been infected with Dengue Virus

Study at University of North Carolina School of Medicine

Have you ever been infected with Dengue Virus?

Donate blood to aid in the development of a dengue vaccine!

Dengue virus is a mosquito-borne virus that circulates in tropical areas of the world including Southeast Asia, the Indian subcontinent, parts of Central and South America, and parts of Africa. It causes dengue fever and dengue hemorrhagic fever in infected individuals, and causes thousands of death each year, mostly in children. Symptoms of dengue include a high fever that can last from 2-10 days, rash, joint and muscle pain, and in some cases, hemorrhaging. Many people who suffer from the more mild forms of disease do not know that they have been infected with dengue. If you have ever resided in or traveled to these tropical areas and suspect exposure to dengue virus, please consider donating some blood. We only need about 1/10 the amount of blood collected during a typical blood donation. We will collect a small blood sample and use it to study immune cells and antibodies present and how they interact with dengue virus. There is no reimbursement for this study. However, people who donate blood will be able to find out if they have been previously infected as well as the serotype of the virus responsible for their infection. The study is funded by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation through the Pediatric Dengue Vaccine Initiative and the National Institutes of Health.

The study (#08-0895) has been reviewed and approved by the Institutional Review Board of UNC-Chapel Hill.

Please contact Ms. Anne Broadwater, Study coordinator, at (919) 843 9963 or abroad@med.unc.edu if you are interested in participating.

Subject:	INFORMATIONAL: Call for Burch Seminar proposals (international or domestic)

Call for Proposals
Burch Field Research Seminars
"Education in the Classroom and Out in the World"
http://www.burchseminars.unc.edu

Overview of Burch Field Research Seminars

Burch Field Research Seminars showcase the relationship between faculty research and undergraduate education. Burch Seminars offer undergraduate students the opportunity to participate in UNC faculty-led off-campus programs that combine traditional course work with active, experiential learning. A changing roster of seminars is offered each year in destinations foreign and domestic. The Office of Burch Programs invites faculty members from all UNC departments to submit proposals for the development of Burch Seminars following the guidelines outlined below.

Guidelines for Burch Faculty Proposals

Faculty interested in leading a Burch Field Research Seminar are invited to submit proposals outlining the program, including the courses that students will take and the "hands-on" experience in which they will be engaged. Since these seminars typically require extensive planning, proposals must be submitted a minimum of 18 months in advance of the scheduled launch date. Proposals are reviewed by the Burch Field Research Seminars Faculty Advisory Board, which recommends four to five seminars each year to the Director of Burch Programs and Honors Study Abroad and the Associate Dean for Honors.

Burch Field Research Seminars provide 12-15 hours of academic credit in a mix of independent study and formal course work. In addition to the course(s) offered by the faculty director, additional courses can be arranged through partner institutions or adjunct faculty at the program site. While the majority of Burch Seminars are semester programs, proposals for summer programs (minimum of six weeks, six credit hours) are also welcomed.

Proposals should include the following:

* Detailed description of the program and academic goals
* Choice of program location and affiliations
* Program dates
* Outline of program itinerary
* Course description(s) and suggestions for additional course work (semester programs)
* Description of cultural immersion activities and additional excursions
* Outline of program budget
* Curriculum vitae

A number of successful models have been used to deliver the "hands-on" experience of the Burch Field Research Seminars, and new models are always welcomed. Proven models include:

* Internships: Students work with businesses, non-governmental organizations, or governmental agencies.

* Unique Observation and Experience: Students are invited to observe and experience first-hand unfolding world events.
* Documentary Projects: Students investigate and document the history or culture of the field site.
* Performance: Students are provided a special opportunity to engage in an artistic endeavor.

The faculty director should be familiar with the intended program site. Previous experience in developing a study abroad program is not required. Faculty directors will receive training and logistical support from Friederike Seeger, Director of Burch Programs and Honors Study Abroad and the UNC Study Abroad Office. Burch Seminars that enroll at least 12 students can generally support a position for a teaching assistant. The Honors Program will pay the department $15,000 plus benefits (the standard two-course buy-out rate in the College of Arts and Sciences) for faculty leading semester programs.

For additional information, or to discuss ideas for a seminar proposal, please contact Ms. Friederike Seeger, Director of Burch Programs and Honors Study Abroad at fseeger@email.unc.edu or 919-962-9680.

From 9AM - 10PM, original student etchings, screenprints, photographs, drawings, digital works, and ceramics will be available at 144 E Franklin St (the old Schoolkids Records store). Bring a blank T-shirt (or get one at the print sale) to the third floor of Hanes Art Center (Room 301) and have something printed on it. Choose from screen-printed images, linoleum blocks, or stencil prints. Bring your own blank cards or paper (up to 10 cards) and have them printed with antique letterpress cuts and other hand-carved relief images.

From 6 - 8PM, enjoy the UNC-Chapel Hill Art Department's Graduate Open Studios. Meet local artists and find out what goes on behind the scenes. Free refreshments.

Proceeds benefit students and the UNC-Chapel Hill Studio Art program.

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: UNC Voluntary 403(b) Retirement Program Update

To: All Employees

From: Brian Usischon, Senior Director, Benefits & Employee Services
Office of Human Resources

This email is a follow up to an earlier message sent out this week concerning the University's Voluntary 403(b) Retirement Program. The following points should help clarify some issues concerning the variety of retirement program offerings available to employees.

All University employees are encouraged to supplement their state and federal retirement benefits by participating in one or more of the University's supplemental retirement savings programs. A significant part of the retirement planning process may include voluntary supplemental retirement plans, which offer significant tax advantages.

The University offers three supplemental retirement plans:
-- a 401(k) plan, sponsored by the State
-- a 403(b) plan, sponsored by the UNC System (effective Jan. 1)
-- a 457(b) plan, also sponsored by the State

A supplemental retirement plan allows you to make contributions through payroll deductions to a variety of investment vehicles and, depending on the program you enroll in, postpone paying taxes on these contributions until after you retire. These are all voluntary programs and the University does not match contributions to any of these programs.

The University is making significant programmatic changes to the supplemental 403(b) program effective Jan. 1. After this date, only two providers will be available -- Fidelity and TIAA-CREF. Here are some frequently asked questions that may help provide some clarity concerning the forthcoming changes.

* Does this change impact the Optional Retirement Program for Faculty and EPA Non-Faculty, where I am required to contribute 6 percent to the plan and the University matches this with a 6.84 percent contribution?

No, the changes that go into effect on Jan. 1 DO NOT impact the Optional Retirement Program (ORP). The following vendors will continue to be available in the ORP: AIG Retirement, Lincoln Financial, Fidelity and TIAA-CREF.

The changes that go into effect on Jan. 1 impact voluntary (supplemental) 403(b) savings only.

* If I currently have supplemental 403(b) contributions withheld from my pay for TIAA-CREF and/or Fidelity, do I need to re-enroll?

No, you DO NOT need to re-enroll if you have an active account already in place with either TIAA-CREF and/or Fidelity. Funds contributed to any of these supplemental plans are over and above the required 6 percent mandatory employee contribution to either the Teachers' and State Employees' Retirement System (TSERS) or the ORP.

However, now is a good time to for Fidelity and TIAA-CREF participants to review their asset allocations, because new fund options will be available through both TIAA-CREF and Fidelity. In addition, you may wish to switch from the traditional pre-tax method for contributing and start saving on an post-tax basis using the new Roth 403(b) feature available under the plan.

If you want to make a change to your asset allocation, you will need to contact either TIAA-CREF and/or Fidelity directly:

TIAA-CREF: 800-842-2776
Fidelity: 800-343-0860

If you want to change the amount you contribute, or start to contribute on a Roth post-tax basis, then you will need to complete a new Salary Agreement Reduction form and return it to the Benefits Office. Here is a link to the Salary Reduction Agreement form:
http://hr.unc.edu/formfinder/forms-benefits/403b-sra.pdf.

This form can be returned to the Benefits Office via fax at 919-962-6010.

* If I have supplemental 403(b) contributions withheld from my pay for AIG Retirement, ING, MetLife, Verity Investment and/or Lincoln Financial, do I need to re-enroll?

Yes, you must re-enroll with either Fidelity and/or TIAA-CREF for supplemental 403(b) contributions to continue after Jan. 1. Here's a link to the 403(b) enrollment site:
http://hr.unc.edu/Data/benefits/suppretire/403b-09.

* Do the supplemental 403(b) changes impact the State's 401(k) or 457(b) supplemental programs?

No, the changes being implemented on Jan. 1 to the University's 403(b) program DO NOT impact the State's 401(k) or 457(b) programs. These supplemental plans will continue to be available after Jan. 1. Both programs will now be managed by Prudential, as previously communicated. However, the State is making some changes to these programs; additional information is available here:
http://hr.unc.edu/sys/emaillist/20358/147442.

If you have additional questions, call the Benefits Office at 919-962-3071.

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: Benefits Update for 2009

TO: All Employees

FROM: Brian Usischon, Senior Director, Benefits & Employee Services
Office of Human Resources

With the start of the New Year upon us, it's important to review some important benefit news and information.

-- Annual Enrollment Changes: Any benefit elections made during the annual enrollment for NCFlex and the University benefit programs take effect Jan. 1, 2009. Remember to check your pay stubs (Jan. 2 for biweekly paid employees and Jan. 30 for monthly paid employees) to ensure that the programs you elected are reflected with the corresponding deductions.

-- Assurant Dental: This plan operates on a pay-in-advance basis. Deductions from your December pay provide coverage for the month of January. If you are enrolled in Assurant Dental or elected this plan effective Jan. 1, the new dental rates went into effect with the December pay periods.

-- MetLife Group Term Life Insurance: If you are enrolled in this plan, you may see a change in your deductions beginning with your January paychecks. Your age and salary as of Dec. 31 of each year is used to determine the age band your premiums are subject to for the next calendar year.

-- ING Group Term Life Insurance: If you are enrolled in this plan, you may see a change in your deductions beginning with your January paychecks. Your age and salary as of Jan. 1 of each year is used to determine the age band your premiums are subject to for the next calendar year.

-- Health Care and Dependent Care Flexible Spending Accounts (FSAs): Claims for limits elected for the 2008 plan year must be filed with Aon by March 31. Services must have been rendered by Dec. 31. You can check the balance of your FSA, status of claims submitted, and pending reimbursements by registering with Aon Online at www.ncflex.selfservicenow.com.

 FSA claims kits will be mailed to employees' home addresses the last week in December. Please read the materials enclosed with the claims kit concerning when to file claims and when documentation is required.

Receive Claim Status Updates via E-mail: You can provide your e-mail address and receive e-mail notification of your claims and payment status. Enter your e-mail address on the FSA ClaimsPlus site(www.ncflex.selfservicenow.com). You will continue to receive paper statements if no e-mail address is on file.

Check your pay stub: Review your paycheck to verify the correct per-pay period deductions are taken out for your 2009 NCFlex FSA account(s). If you find errors, contact Benefits Administration.

--NCFlex Convenience Card: If you have an NCFlex Convenience Card, do not destroy it. New cards will not be issued for the new plan year; they are automatically reissued 30 days prior to the card expiration date.

Requesting NCFlex Convenience Cards: You may request an NCFlex Convenience Card through the ClaimsPlus Online Reimbursement System (www.ncflex.selfservicenow.com). If you would like to request dependent cards, you must call the NCFlex FSA Customer Service Center at 877-371-2926 and speak to a customer service representative. You may also cancel your NCFlex Convenience Card online, or by calling the NCFlex FSA Customer Service Center at 877-371-2926. It takes approximately 7-10 business days for cards to reach participants. There is a $6 annual fee, and you receive two cards per request. If you would like additional cards, there is a one-time $5 fee for each request which is good until the card expires. These fees will be deducted from your FSA the month in which you request the card.

--Retirement Plan Changes for 2009:

UNC Voluntary 403(b) Retirement Program
Effective Jan. 1, Fidelity and TIAA-CREF will be the only vendors available for 403(b) voluntary contributions. If you are enrolled or have completed an enrollment with TIAA-CREF and/or Fidelity you will see your deduction reflected beginning with the January paychecks.

If you are enrolled with AIG Retirement, ING, MetLife, Lincoln Financial or Verity Investments and do not re-enroll with either TIAA-CREF and/or Fidelity, your 403(b) contributions will stop with your first January paycheck.

North Carolina 457(b) Deferred Compensation Plan
The State awarded the 457(b) plan administration contract to Prudential. If you are enrolled in this plan, beginning with the Dec. 19 bi-weekly and monthly payroll, your contributions will automatically be re-directed to Prudential.

Retirement Plan Limits for 2009
The limit on contributions to a 403(b)/401(k) plan for 2009 is $16,500. If you are over the age of 50, or will turn 50 by Dec. 31, 2009, you are eligible for an additional $5,500 catch-up contribution. The 15-year service rule that allows additional contributions to be remitted to a 403(b) program will no longer be available as of Jan. 1.

The limit on contributions to a 457(b) plan for 2009 is also $16,500. If you are over the age of 50, or will turn 50 by Dec. 31, 2009, you are eligible for an additional $5,500 catch-up contribution.

Employee contributions to a 403(b) and 401(k) plan are combined together; however, employees can maximize saving opportunities by contributing to a 457(b) plan. Amounts contributed to a 457(b) plan are not combined with your 403(b) and/or 401(k) contributions.

If you have questions about your deductions or elections, email benefits@unc.edu or call 919-962-3071.

The fourth annual Malawi-Carolina Summer Institute will be held in June 2009 at the University of Malawi College of Medicine in Blantyre. UNC has over 250 employees in Malawi conducting research and providing health care on nutrition and infectious diseases such as HIV and malaria.

Program Description (download program description)

The Malawi-Carolina Summer Public Health Institute is held in Blantyre, Malawi, during the summer each year, with the first being held in 2006. Students from UNC join Malawian MPH students in a course on research design and proposal development. This course will allow UNC students to partner with their Malawian counterparts to learn how to develop projects in a resource-poor setting. Students are then matched with and participate in on-going research projects in Malawi for an additional 2-6 weeks.

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Want to join disaster relief in NC?!

This past mid-November, several tornadoes tore through eastern-central North Carolina, killing 2 and displacing up to 125 people making 2008 the deadliest tornado year in a decade. Half a dozen counties were affected and nearly 1,000 customers experienced power outages. In Kenly, where one of the casualties occurred, an almost five mile path was left behind from the tornado touch down.

Extended Disaster Relief is dedicated to lending a hand in our own community. Next Saturday, EDR will take its second work trip in what will be an ongoing effort in Kenly, NC. This will be a half-day workday. If you're interested in joining this work trip, please send David Marshall at dmarshall@unc.edu a message. There is NO trip fee; however, when sending this message, please indicate whether you have a car available and are willing to be a driver.

Sunday, January 18
2:00 - 4:00 PM

Visit the Ackland this Sunday and enjoy the music of Mike Taylor and Hiss Golden Messenger, performing songs from the Southern Folklife Collection. Free.

REINVENTING THE FIGURE

January 17 – March 22, 2009

Reinventing the Figure, the first new collection installation of 2009, opens to the public this Saturday. Curated by Ackland Curator of Exhibitions Barbara Matilsky, the exhibition brings together sixteen of the Museum's most important contemporary and modern paintings and sculptures to address issues of identity, body, race, and gender through the depiction of the human figure.

ART & LITERATURE IN THE GALLERIES

Wednesday, January 21, 7:00 - 8:30 PM
Thursday, January 22, 3:30 - 5:00 PM

Start reading now for the next Art & Literature in the Galleries! The winter series will focus on books that enhance paintings, sculpture, prints, and photographs that are new on view at the Ackland. Some are long time holdings of the Museum seen in a new configuration; others are new gifts and acquisitions. Still others are part of a local private collection on loan for a temporary exhibition.

The first session will focus on Cathedral by Raymond Carver, a collection of character-driven short stories. Wednesday session co-facilitated by Jennifer Ho, Assistant Professor, English and Comparative Literature.

Registration required. Free to members and high school students, $5 non-members.

Subject: New material posted on "American Diplomacy"

Dear Subscriber,

Today, Tuesday January 20, 2008, Barack Obama was sworn in as the 44th president of the United States. "American Diplomacy" salutes the President and wishes him and his administration success in meeting the challenges ahead.

We have just posted a variety of new material on our website (http://www.unc.edu/depts/diplomat/) addressing some of those challenges.

Leading off are two new Commentary & Analysis articles. The first, by a retired U.S. ambassador, offers suggestions for developing a true strategic partnership between the U.S. and Indonesia. The second, is another in a series of reports prepared by retired General Barry McCaffrey, this one on the threat to U.S. national security posed by narco-terrorism in Mexico.

Recently we broadened our editorial section to include opinion pieces by outside contributors. In this issue we offer two such op-ed articles. One, by a retired senior CIA officer, argues for normalization of U.S.-Cuba relations. The other, by a retired FSO who is a frequent contributor, takes a hard look at realities in the Middle East in the context of the recent fighting in Gaza.

We review three new Internet Articles. The first links to a recent report by the Bipartisan Policy Center, established in 2007 by former Senate Majority Leaders Howard Baker, Tom Daschle, Bob Dole, and George Mitchell to provide a forum where difficult policy challenges could be addressed and solutions developed and embraced by both political parties. This report, issued last September, is intended to focus the new administration on the challenge of the prospect of a nuclear-armed Iran. The second links to a January/February "Foreign Affairs" article by Secretary of Defense Robert Gates outlining his strategy for reorienting the Defense Department "for a new age." The third links to another article in the same issue of "Foreign Affairs" by Richard Haas and Martin Indyk in which they outline a new U.S. strategy for the Middle East.

There is one new offering in our "Spoken Word" section, an introduction and link to the text of a November 8 address by General Sir Richard Dannatt, the commanding general of the British Army, at a gathering of Rhodes and Marshall Scholars at Oxford University in which he focused on specific leadership principles and approaches applicable to the conduct of foreign policy.

Finally, we feature a review of "Leadership: Combat Leaders and Lessons," a compilation of 25 vignettes on leadership collected from members of the 1959 graduating class of the U.S. Military Academy for presentation to the class of 2009. The book was co-authored by Col. (ret.) James Abrahamson, a member of the class of 1959 and a member of the board of "American Diplomacy."

Once again, we hope you enjoy these offerings and we welcome your comments and contributions to our journal.

Regards,

Michael Cotter, Publisher, American Diplomacy

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: New Medical Leave Provisions for Military Families

---

From: Brian Usischon, Senior Director, Benefits and Employee Services
Office of Human Resources

In late November 2008 the federal government released final rules and regulations regarding two new military family provisions under the Family & Medical Leave Act. The first provision allows up to 26 weeks of FMLA to be granted for caregiving to an injured service member (the employee must be a parent, spouse, child or a "next of kin" of the service member as defined in the policy). The 26 weeks includes the usual 12 weeks of FMLA plus an additional 14 weeks.

The second provision allows FMLA to be granted for "qualifying exigencies" for attending to issues related to the active duty deployment of the employee's parent, child or spouse.

An addendum to the FMLA policy has been placed on the OHR Web site to further explain these two provisions. You can access that addendum at: http://hr.unc.edu/Data/SPA/leave/fmla-prov.

Employees who may qualify under these provisions should contact their department's assigned Benefits Specialist in the Benefits Administration Department for instructions on processing any leave requests. You can search for your assigned Benefit Specialist using HR Connect (http://hrconnect.unc.edu/).

"The UNC Comprehensive Sickle Cell Program is conducting a study of pulmonary hypertension, a common complication in sickle cell disease. To study this, we use a test called an echocardiogram to tell us how the heart is functioning in relation to the blood pressure in the vessels of the lungs, and examine the blood and urine for factors that may influence pulmonary blood pressure.
Healthy subjects who meet the following criteria are needed for a control group:

- Age 18 to 55
- Of African descent
- No daily medication use
- No chronic medical condition

The study consists of a single visit to the Clinical Translational Research Center (CTRC) in UNC Hospitals, where you will have blood drawn, provide a urine sample, and have an echocardiogram performed. The study should take less than 2 hours to complete, and you will receive a check for $30 for your time.
If you think you might be interested in participating, please call Susan Jones at 919.966.6876. If no one is available at the time you call, please leave your name and contact information and Susan will return your call."

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Nutrition Study on Choline & DHA in Toddlers

We are conducting a research study at UNC-Chapel Hill to determine if choline and/or docosahexaenoic acid (DHA - an omega-3 fatty acid) supplements can enhance brain development in healthy toddlers.

Studies have found that specific nutrients such as choline and DHA are critical for brain development in the prenatal and infant period (first year of life). However, no studies to date have examined the effects of choline and/or DHA supplementation on brain development in toddlers, a time when brain development is still ongoing.

To be eligible for this study, your child should be 18-21 months of age, no longer breastfed, or on an infant/toddler formula, and should not be receiving a dietary supplement that contains DHA or choline. You child should also not be in this study if he/she has any identified developmental delays or neurological disorders.

Your child will be asked to take dietary supplements containing choline, DHA, choline and DHA, or corn/palm oil for 6 months and to make 3 short visits (2 hour or less) to our clinic. During these visits we will measure your child's height, weight, and head circumference and administer simple questionnaire-based cognitive tests. We will also ask you to record what your child eats and drinks in order to determine how much choline and DHA he/she is consuming.

Each participant in the study will receive up to $230 as compensation.

For more information, please call 408-3320, extension 31 or send an email to choline_DHA_study@unc.edu.

2009 IT AWARDS: CALL FOR NOMINATIONS

It's time for the 17th annual IT Awards nominations to begin. Has there been a team or an individual that has given you outstanding computer support in the last year? If so, please recognize their efforts by nominating them for the 2009 Information Technology award!

This award honors any and all types of information technology support - from network administrators to PC support, from software developers to telecommunications. The IT staff helps keep the university running and a nomination is a great way to show your appreciation for their efforts.

Nominations should include: the name(s), department, telephone number and email address of the nominee(s), and no more than a page of text explaining his individual or team is being nominated. The nomination should also include the nominator's name, relationship to the nominee, campus address, telephone number and email address, and an indication of whether nomination information may be shared with the nominee.

Example nominations and forms can be found at http://itawards.unc.edu/faq/73-nomination-samples

Last year's award winners are not eligible for this year's award - they include: Alex Azad, Bonnie Smyre, Caitlyn Hill, Carrie Holbert, Christina Artis, David Perrin, Diana Woodhouse, Eric Chapman, Erin Adair, Gary Wilhelm, Jeff Vandrimmelen, Kevin Masters, Manuel Garcia, Roger Carden, Scott Wilber, Shumin Li, ResNET (Chris Williams, Jeremy Buenviaje, Paul Kamen), ITS Internal Support (Richard Hill, Tony DeLuca), and IT South building (Leslie Kreizman, Penny Ward, Baskin Cooper, Curtis Webster).

Please submit your nomination by Friday, March 6. Nominations can be made online at http://itawards.unc.edu/ - links to the nomination forms are at the left, under the section titled `Main Menu'. If you have any questions, please send e-mail to itawards@unc.edu. Winners will be announced at the 2009 IT Awards Banquet, April 21, 2009, at the Carolina Club.

Subject: [asc_faculty] Sawyer Grant on Muslim Societies

UNC has received a Sawyer Seminar grant from the Mellon Foundation for our project, "Diversity and Conformity in Muslim Societies: Historical Coexistence and Contemporary Struggles." The Seminar will meet twice each month from September 2009 through April 2010 to discuss issues of immediate interest to the community of scholars in the region who focus on the Middle East and the broader Muslim world. We hope that you will participate in these seminar meetings, and in the three conferences we plan for the 2009-10 academic year.

As a first step, we invite you to a planning meeting on Monday, 9 February from 3 to 5 at the National Humanities Center. At this meeting, we hope to get your help in designing the seminar and the workshops. We have chosen the Center in the hope that people from outside UNC can get there (and park) more easily. For directions, please see http://nationalhumanitiescenter.org/routenhc.htm

The Sawyer Seminar will be divided into three thematic sections; at the end of each, there will be a two-day conference. The first section, "Nationalists and Salafis," analyzes contemporary pressures encouraging diverse societies to conform to increasingly well-defined ideologies. The conference will be held in October. The second conference, "Sacred Spaces, Sacred Sounds," is scheduled for January. In this conference and the seminar meetings that will precede it, we want to explore the richly varied architectural, musical, and linguistic styles that span "Muslim societies." The final workshop will be held in April. "Hermaphrodites, Minorities, and Constitutions" will give us an opportunity to examine ways in which sexual, racial, ethnic, and religious minorities have been incorporated–or excluded. Longer descriptions on these themes and possible speakers for the two-day conferences are on the grant proposal attached.

The success of the Seminar will be contingent upon wide, interdisciplinary participation and we welcome your participation. Our plan is to circulate papers for each of the twice-monthly seminar sessions, and request a discussant. If your research is related to these questions, we hope you will consider presenting a paper. We hope to publish some of the papers from the seminars and workshops.

As for the announcement part, the Sawyer Seminar grant funds a postdoc in a related field in any discipline from any institution. We will send an announcement of this position soon, and we hope you will forward it to anyone who might be interested in a year at UNC-Chapel Hill.

We are very excited about this project, and looking forward to working with you. If you cannot attend the planning meeting on February 9, we hope you will email suggestions, questions, and proposals.

Sincerely,
Banu Gokariksel

Call for Nominations
2009 University Awards for the Advancement of Women

On behalf of the Offices of the Chancellor and the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost, the Carolina Women's Center is pleased to announce the call for nominations for the 2009 University Awards for the Advancement of Women. This award recognizes contributions to the advancement of women at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Each year, three individuals--one faculty member, one staff member, and one undergraduate/graduate student/postdoctoral scholar--may be selected to receive the award. The faculty and staff recipients each receive $5000 and the undergraduate/graduate student/ postdoctoral scholar recipient receives $2500. Awardees are honored in a ceremony during the Carolina Women's Center's annual Women's Week Celebration.

Please submit nominations for women and men who have contributed in one or more of the following ways:

* Elevated the status of women on campus in sustainable ways;
* Helped to improve campus policies affecting women;
* Promoted and advanced the recruitment, retention, and upward mobility of women;
* Participated in and assisted in the establishment of professional development opportunities for women; and/or
* Participated in and assisted in the establishment of academic mentoring for women.

To submit a nomination, please use the online form at:
http://www.unc.edu/oira/public/women_nomination.html

All faculty and staff nominees must be permanent employees. No self-nominations will be accepted. Carolina Women's Center administrators and staff are not eligible for nomination. The deadline for nominations is Monday, February 23, 2009, at 5:00 p.m.

Previous award winners are:
(2008) Kay Lund, Cookie Newsom, Emily Joy Rothchild
(2007) Barbara Harris, Annette Madden, Emily Dunn,
(2006) Jan Boxill, Terri Houston, Matt Ezzell

Please contact Dr. Donna M. Bickford, Director of the Carolina Women's Center at dbickford@unc.edu or (919) 843-5620 if you have questions about the awards or nomination process.

The link to the nomination form is also available on the Provost's website at www.unc.edu/provost and the Carolina Women's Center website at womenscenter.unc.edu.

Subject:	FORMAL NOTICE: Message from the Chancellor: Campus Budget Update

Last week, Governor Perdue directed most state agencies to cut spending by a total of 7 percent from this fiscal year's budget. The UNC system's cut for now is only 6 percent.

We already identified state cuts totaling 5 percent on campus last fall, so we're currently looking at another 1 percent. We're working with President Bowles and General Administration to absorb these additional reductions half-way through the academic year. I credit Provost Bernadette Gray-Little and Vice Chancellor Dick Mann for their prudent financial management in positioning the University to take the one-time cuts as best we can and keep moving forward.

We expect permanent state cuts next fiscal year. At President Bowles' request, we recently submitted planning scenarios for reductions of 3 percent, 5 percent and 7 percent. Even though state funds account for about a quarter of our total budget, permanent cuts of that magnitude would be painful. At this point, the scenarios are just that - estimates of the potential impact. For example, at 5 percent permanent reductions in state funding, we could lose as many as 120 faculty and teaching positions and 85 staff positions (SPA and EPA non-faculty). When possible, we would draw from vacant positions to reach these targets. Cuts at that level would mean reducing courses and increasing class sizes. At 7 percent cuts, we could lose a total of 230 faculty and teaching positions and 150 staff positions.

At the risk of repeating myself, let me remind you that these are only planning scenarios. I'm sharing them because we promised to keep you informed as we track how the economic crisis will affect us. I am inspired by the way the campus has rallied to face the budget situation. Overwhelmingly, what I've heard is that we're all in this together. What matters is the University's future success in educating students and helping people. That kind of response shows true Carolina spirit and pride. And it will carry us quite a long way.

To those of you who responded to my call for creative cost-cutting ideas, thank you. We invite anyone with a constructive suggestion to e-mail budgetideas@unc.edu. General themes to date have touched on energy savings, sustainable practices, personnel, technology and facilities. These ideas have been helpful. We're reading them.

Sincerely,

Holden Thorp

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: UNC Athletics Faculty/Staff Family Day Program

---

To: UNC faculty and staff who enjoy fun and free family activities

From: Dick Baddour, Director of Athletics
Steve Reznick, Chair, Faculty Athletics Committee

UNC Athletics is proud to announce the Faculty/Staff Family Day program. This program's mission is to increase UNC Faculty and Staff knowledge, involvement, and interest in UNC Athletics. Our specific goal for this semester is to organize several Faculty/Staff Family Days at select spring sporting events that would involve faculty, staff, and their families along with Athletics Department representatives, coaches and players. We hope that many Carolina families will join us at these events to have fun, and to learn more about our Olympic sports, our coaches, and our student athletes.

The Family Day activities will involve free game tickets, conversations with coaches, and "meet and greet" time with players.

Full information on the Faculty/Staff Family Day program may be found online at:
http://www.unc.edu/faculty/faccoun/news/special/2009ATHFacStaffDay.shtml or obtained by contacting Bonnie Clarke at bclarke@uncaa.unc.edu.

WebEvent Reminder

Title: Due Date for Application for Course Development Funds in Latina/o Studies
Date: Monday, February 2, 2009
Time: Unspecified

Description: The UNC Program in Latina/o Studies will open a new, Spring 2009 competition for a course development award. Please note that the Spring 2009 competition is limited to applicants from the social sciences and professional schools. UNC-Chapel Hill fixed-term and tenure track faculty are eligible for this award. Please submit all materials by Monday, February 2, 2009.

We will consider courses that have 50 percent (or more) U.S.-based Latina/o material and that are not less than 200-level or higher than 700-level. The winning proposal will add new dimensions to Latina/o Studies rather than duplicating courses already being offered. Courses currently on the books can be found on the website of the UNC Program in Latina/o Studies: http://english.unc.edu/latina-o/UNCLatResources.html

Applicants should teach the course no later than Spring 2010 and at least once a year for three years in a row after the course has been approved and listed on the UNC Program in Latina/o Studies website. A letter or email from the applicant's Chair or Dean should be included in the application. Those who plan to offer a course in a professional school outside the College of Arts and Sciences need to submit an additional letter of support insuring that undergraduates from the College of Arts & Sciences will be admitted to the proposed course every time it is offered.

Include 2 hard copies of proposal, syllabus, and letters of support to: Lucila Vargas, School of Journalism and Mass Communication, Campus Box 3365, lcvargas@email.unc.edu. For further information, contact: Altha Cravey, cravey@unc.edu

Subject: CGI Curriculum Development awards

Dear Alphonse,

Given your international work, I want to make sure you know about the Curriculum Development awards offered by the Center for Global Initiatives. These awards support faculty who are interested in adding international content to existing courses that have little or no such content; adding comparative cases to courses that are currently area specific; or developing new courses with significant international content.

Applications are due February 13. For more information, please visit this website http://cgi.unc.edu/funding/curriculum-dev.html

Best, Niklaus

Subject: INFORMATIONAL: Typically Developing Participants Needed for Speech and Listening Study

The UNC Division of Speech and Hearing Science's Speech Science Laboratory is currently recruiting typically developing children between 7 - 11 years old to help us learn more about how children perceive and produce certain speech sounds.

In order to participate in the study, your child will receive a speech, language, and hearing screening and a short listening task, lasting approximately 60 - 75 minutes. If your child passes this screening, he/she will be asked to complete another session of speaking and listening tasks, lasting approximately 60 - 75 minutes, at the Speech Science Laboratory on the UNC campus. If your child passes the screening and completes the study, you will receive $40 for your child's participation.

If you are interested in participating, please contact Kerry Callahan-Mandulak in the Division of Speech and Hearing Sciences at mandulak@email.unc.edu or 919.358.6282.

The principal investigator for this study is Kerry Callahan-Mandulak, MA, CCC-SLP, Doctoral Candidate, Department of Allied Health Sciences.

This project #08-2100 has been approved by the Biomedical IRB, for the period from 01/07/2009 to 01/06/2010.

We Are Conducting A Study with Milk Thistle in NASH and Hepatitis C

Silymarin is the active ingredient in Milk Thistle. Milk Thistle has been used by patients with liver disease for centuries. Milk Thistle may have protective effects on the liver but this has not been studied well enough to know for sure.

The purpose of this phase 2 study is to explore the safety and effectiveness of milk thistle in treating two groups of patients:

 patients with non-alcoholic steatohepatitis (NASH) or "fatty liver"; and  patients with chronic hepatitis C virus (HCV) who did not get rid of the virus after taking conventional antiviral therapy.
