CHAPTER 1: "THE" CLUB

There exists a place in this world where more single women are gathered in one spot than any other place... Combined! Never before in the history of mankind has something this amazing existed, and actually less than 10 years ago it wasn't even an idea yet. Let's just put it this way, when the world was supposed to end when the clock struck midnight on January 1st, 2000 men could not even dream of a singles club like this.

Some men would say its a myth or maybe some kind of dreamy fairytale, and when others hear about it they don't believe it could be true. They are told stories about the luxury of meeting women without having to buy them drinks, and endless dinners while sitting on boring dates but they say its to good to be true.

What makes most men flinch with disbelief is when they hear that they are even given background information on the women they want to meet, date and seduce. They are told what turns these women on mentally, emotionally and physically so that before you even say a word... you can almost guarantee your going to raise her eyebrow, put a smile on her face and make her want to know more about you.

This place is where women of all shapes, sizes, ages, interests and passions go to find what they are looking for in their boring and uninspiring dating lives. These women are looking for passion, excitement, adventure, humor and mind blowing, body tantalizing sex... with a man that can give them experiences they have always desired.

Believe it or not this club does not close at 2am, because its open 24/7 even on Christmas morning when all the little kids are opening presents from that Santa Claus character. The real icing on the cake has to be that in this club you can be anywhere in the world, at any given time meeting and conversating with women you want to date, even if your eating lunch at work.

In this club you can wear anything you want, because there is no dress code and forget about the annoying “wanna be baddass bouncers” and the little pieces of plastic they scrutinize before they give you permission to enter. Forget about buying drinks for 5x what you would pay normally, and forget about worrying about who is going to drive home so that you don't get a pulled over for drunk driving and have to shell out $5,000 in court and lawyer fees. So what this club called I am sure you wondering?

The Biggest Singles Club In The World Is... Online Dating!

In the short history of online dating over 100,000,000 people have created accounts and started chatting using this new “modern day” method of meeting potential dates. This method of meeting people went from being ridiculed as a fad to the 2nd most popular way of meeting your girlfriend or future wife in less than 8 years.

Now they say 1 in 5 people will find their marriage partner online and that number is getting smaller. Soon we will see 1 in 3 people meeting their partner online. Everyday millions of people use online dating and that's why it presents quite the opportunity.

At the same time this opportunity exists there is a major storm brewing, which some call a “major problem”. Don't worry because it's rather simple to understand and it can be turned around to be your biggest strength if you choose. The problem is...

MEN DO NOT KNOW HOW TO PROPERLY ROMANCE A WOMAN!

Us men don't understand that men and women speak completely different languages causing all sorts of communication problems from the very moment we open our mouth or send a women a message. Men think they have got their shit together, and they think this because of ego and shallow confidence. They think they know how to meet, date and seduce women when they are simply guessing every time they attempt such a feat.

That's why you hear men jokingly laugh about how “complicated” women are while they are sitting around drinking with their friends. The truth comes out at times like this, but then men right walk out the door and pretend they have it all together. For some reason they think its not “manly” to admit you don't know something, especially when it comes to women.

I know exactly what I am talking about because I used to be that guy, and I even had arguments with my Dad about who knew more about women. But then I realized something because life kept presenting this lesson and eventually I woke up and started to listen. I soon realized...

THE QUALITY OF MY DATING LIFE WAS A REFLECTION OF ME AND THE KNOWLEDGE AND UNDERSTANDINGS I HAD ABOUT WOMEN, RELATIONSHIPS AND MYSELF.

Its perfectly normal that you desire to be with a beautiful, fun, loving, sexy and adventurous woman because its only natural and actually its programmed into your DNA. The problem for most guys is that they struggle with actually going out there and getting what they want. They lack confidence, the skill set and the understandings necessary to romance a woman into any situation they desire. So they are stuck being along or settling for a girl they are not really attracted to because they would rather be with someone that alone. I get it... I have been there!

If you want to improve your ability to meet, date and seduce women then you must adopt this principle forever. If you want something you don't currently have you must learn something you currently don't know.

I know its easier said than done, and its going to take some time to get used to. I don't know it all and I am learning more and more each and every day. In all honesty I reached a point where I thought I knew so much but I continued to learn because one thing is always true in life. The more you learn the more you realize you don't know as much as you thought you knew. Take note guys... Because this is an ideal state of mind because then and only then are you setting yourself up for guaranteed success in anything you decide to do in life.

I LIKE TO SAY THE SAME THREAD RUNS THROUGH THE WHOLE SWEATER!

That simply means that your ability to learn new information in one area of your life will translate to your ability to learn information in other areas of your life. Also if your are insecure about something in your life, it will cause you to be insecure about other areas. If you are arrogant and cocky about what you think you know about woman then you will be that way about other topics and your progress in life will be stopped. This my friend is a very unattractive thing to a women and to anyone that would have any type of relationship with you.

So stop putting on the facade, stop acting like you know everything, and realize that is exactly why your NOT experiencing the results you want. I did that for myself and it changed my life and I know this simple shift can do the same for you.

The other option is to continue going through life pretending to know what your talking about, and deep down dealing with frustration and disappointment every single day.

I would rather learn from 5 or 10 people that are good at something then just ignore them because I think I got it together. The most successful people in the world have adopted this principle and the more I have chosen to live this way, I can clearly see why.

TAKE HOME POINT: Pretend you don't know anything about dating, seduction and the opposite sex. This is because in this state you will soak up the most information, apply more of what you learn and see results you have always wanted... quicker than you thought possible!

CHAPTER 2: SEXY IN BETWEEN THE EARS

I had mentioned earlier that men and women speak a very different language and its something that confuses many guys throughout their entire lives. I would like to make sure that your not one of them by explaining how your mind works differently than a woman's mind.

Both men and women have dreams, desires, goals, thoughts, beliefs, and ideas about themselves and the world around them. The key difference is in how men and women express and live these aspects out in their lives. Traditionally speaking men and women operate out of different parts of the brain. The left brain is the part of the brain that is more dominant in the way men think and right brain is more dominant in they way women think. This single difference creates a whole range of challenges and communication blocks between the sexes.

Because men act, live and think through the left brain they are more visually oriented, and they speak with logic, numbers and rationalization. They are the type to say “I have to believe it before I can see it” because they are easily conformed to believe what they experience within the 5 senses. Men don't feel their way through life, they think their way through life. “This makes sense” or “I don't think that's true” are the types of statements guys frequently say speaking from the left brain. Just listen to guys talking and you will see for yourself. It will become quickly obvious to you that this difference is subtle to most people yet glaringly obvious to those that are looking.

When it comes to dating men “think” they must impress her, and tell her about all the things they have done in the past. They like to brag about houses, cars, toys, jobs and accomplishments thinking this will win her over. Even when men have not done everything that they say, they will just lie about what they have done or are doing to impress a woman and gain her approval.

Men act as if they are relaying the information back to the woman about their life and who they are in a reporter type of way. They report the facts and after awhile its bores a woman to death. Its like talking to a 3 year old about algebra, they will just drift off into lala land. It makes sense to a guy though, and it naturally happens based on the way men think through the left brain. I have found because of this men are more grounded in the “real world” and in everyday life than women are. This is partly due to the fact that for hundreds of years they were the ones going out and making a living for the family and playing that provider/protector role.

That is why when you look at the way men date women a major communication gap is created from the very first word. Usually a man is clearly interested in a woman but is trying to win her over in his language, not hers. This will work in some instances, but its not the ideal way to go about attracting a woman.

Let's say for the sake of this example that you speak Spanish and you are attempting to speak to this drop dead gorgeous french model in Spanish. After a short period of time you realize that no matter what you say, and or how you say it you just can't seem to get through to her. It doesn't matter how you dance around trying to impress her with material possessions or your physical appearance there will still be a communication barrier present.

This is what is happening to you every single day with women in your life! Now obviously this is a bit over dramatized when it comes to the way you are communicating with women because you both speak English, but this dynamic is still affecting the interaction. Its one of the smaller, usually overlooked details that men don't understand that can dramatically improve their ability to meet women online, as well as communicate your desires and intentions once she is spending time with you in person.

HOW DO I KNOW THIS IS TRUE?

Well one simple fact proves the point more than any words I can say. Did you know that over half of all the books sold in America are woman's erotic fantasy books? You know the ones that are poorly written and extremely boring when they are evaluated by most men. Its funny women don't seem to mind and this is because they could care less if hundreds of words are spelled wrong. They could care less if the grammar is not correct because these stories lead them on an emotional journey that becomes quite addicting. Ask any woman who reads these types of books and she will tell you.

It's not secret in the book industry, but for some reason guys don't realize the power of those writing principles and structure in their dating lives.

This is why women love erotic novels, and men are more attracted to porn. Men are left-brained creatures and part of that daily process is visual stimulation. This is why guys can get so turned on simply by looking at a really hot girl, where the same affect does not happen when a woman looks at a really hot guy. Sure she will say he is attractive but she will not be turned on and ready to bang... like a guy would.

Women get turned on, stimulated and excited in between the ears first and then the body will follow. That is why I am continually striving to become...

“SEXY IN BETWEEN THE EARS!”

I think the best way for a man to understand the key differences in how a woman's mind works is to understand how she gets turned on. This is because once you understand how her arousal works then you will get the glimpse into a woman's reality and that will change everything for you.

This process is akin to learning a new language because you are constantly learning new words, sentences and your learning how to put it all together. It takes time and practice to understand it, utilize it and put it into your life. Its one of those things that may seem hard at first but its well worth the time and energy investment!

This key language difference is the foundation of almost all problems and challenges for a guy. Shockingly almost every single problem stems from a foundation of improper communication with woman. Once you understand how to communicate to a woman you can easily communicate anything you want, easily and effectively. Most guys do it backwards and they wonder why they are not getting any results.

Most guys try to communicate many different things to a woman before they know how to properly deliver the message. Its the classic mistake of putting the cart before the horse.

The better way to approach attraction, and dating is to learn how to do things like communication. Then once you know how to use a tool like communication, you will become very good with women rather quickly. I promise it will save you hundreds of hours of hassle, headache and drama in your life if you take the time to learn it.

Women operate out of the right brain which means they are more emotionally based. They feel everything in life and their feelings are the primary deciding factor in what kind of actions they FEEL like taking. They are also more creative, and they live their lives reflecting these differences.

Why do you think women enjoy shopping, dressing up, dancing and music so much? Those are all right brained activities. They make women feel good, and it excites their senses all at the same time. (HINT: Take women on right brained adventures, and experiences and she will connect the emotions she felt with you!)

Most of the musicians and artists in our world are more right brain dominant even if they are male and now you know why women are so attracted to a man who can sing or play the guitar. This ignites their emotional fire and they unconsciously look past things like looks, and money because they feel so happy, excited, and passionate with these guys.

Both of these understandings are broad generalizations when it comes to each gender. This is because there are some women who are left brain dominant and they will be more attracted to a feminine man. Also the same can be true for men because they can be more right brain dominant which would naturally cause them to be attracted to a more masculine woman. In my personal experience I would say 80% of women are more right brain dominant, but this has been affected in recent years by the career factor.

Women really focused on their career and climbing the corporate ladder actually change themselves unconsciously in order to succeed in the left brain dominant corporate world. They become more manly as a sacrifice they are willing to pay to succeed.

This also presents an interesting opportunity for you as a man. This is because its hard for a woman to make that kind of transition each day, and she will desire for feminine supporting activities when she is not working as a way to relax and unwind. If your the guy that can give her those experiences then you will be treated like a king in her book, because she will love you and show you how much she appreciates it.

This is just another example of how powerful it is for you to understand how the female mind and body works. This is because you are able to communicate, and lead her through experiences that she naturally desires and wants at a very deep level. She experiences these positive emotions with you and in the future she will naturally attach those emotions to you. In her mind, she will think of you and feel the way you made her feel in that moment. This is more powerful than the words on this page can describe because a whole cascade of events transpire after this, which work very strongly in your favor. Basically set out to make a woman feel a wide range of positive emotions, and focus less and less on what she is thinking.

To some guys this does not logically make sense, but I challenge you to gain a new perspective on this by watching closely to the way woman communicate in your life.

You will be very surprised at the differences that jump out at you and will wonder why you didn't notice this earlier.

TAKE HOME POINT: The quality of the questions you ask yourself will determine the quality of the life you will live. With that being said I challenge you to ask yourself the proper questions starting today. Ask yourself the right questions and the answers will show up in your life. I promise! Here are some questions to get you started:

How can I make her feel happy?

How can I encourage her to feel deep lust and attraction for me?

How can I make her feel something she had never felt before?

How can I make her feel safe and secure around me?

CHAPTER 3: MIRROR MAGIC

Have you ever stopped to wonder what really attracts a woman to a man? Its one of those questions you could go years without asking yourself and wake up one day and wish you had. Building on the differences between men and woman we discussed in the last chapter I would like to show you how to mirror a woman's desires back at her. This is one of the most powerful tools that you will be able to utilize in your growth as a man to attract woman of all ages and backgrounds. Why?

NO 2 WOMAN ARE ALIKE! THEY ARE LIKE
SNOWFLAKES BECAUSE EACH ONE THAT FALLS INTO YOUR LIFE IS A TOTALLY UNIQUE.

So why do guys try to attract all types of woman in the same exact way? That's like trying to build a house with one tool, which would pretty much be impossible. Your dating strategy needs to adjust, change and respond differently to different woman you encounter. Your entire dating life should be dynamic rather than static for a couple reasons.

Women love a man who is dynamic in nature, because this is the true nature of a bad boy which of course you know woman love so much. If you can be dynamic in conversation, she will eagerly jump into your conversations and into your life. If you are robotic and predictable then you might as well stop wasting your time with woman until you figure this out. Part of shifting to this dynamic personality is learning to mirror her deepest desires, in a way that she can connect with on a personal level.

THEY SAY PEOPLE LIKE IN OTHERS WHAT THEY LIKE ABOUT THEMSELVES.

Woman are no different because they have been taught to live this way their entire lives. That is why they connect with a story so strongly, and that's why they like TV shows like Charmed. For example look at the name and you should know all you need to know. Its a show that ignites imagination, and mixes in romance in a brilliant way. As a guy I like shows like Suits, and Entourage and if you watch these shows sided by side you will see big differences in how they are written as compared to a show like charmed. If you haven't seen any of these shows go grab a beer and some chips and sit down and watch them. Very eye opening indeed and a good way to relax while you are learning a thing or two. Anyways my advice to guys is simple when it comes to mirroring...

DON'T TELL IT, SHOW IT!

This is because woman respond so strongly to stories and there is no reason you can't use this in your game plan. Instead of telling her you like dogs you need to craft some funny story about you and a dog. I don't recommend lying here because women will pick that up and it will hurt you in the long run.

In reality most guys have experienced plenty of things in their lives that they could use to tell a story, but they just don't know how. Once you get the hang of it though its not that hard and you will start to come up with them on the fly. You could tell her a story of when you watched your neighbors dog and he escaped ect. Fill the story with sensual explanations, funny tidbits, and character trait demonstrations. This is especially powerful online when you are meeting woman because they are being bombarded by guys who simply list what they do, and have done in boring unemotional ways.

A GOOD STORYTELLER DRAWS PEOPLE TO HIM NATURALLY BECAUSE THEY ARE INTERESTED IN WHAT HE IS SAYING!

If you want a woman who is adventurous you need to craft a good emotionally riveting story about an adventure you went on in the past. Put that on your profile or tell a woman about that on a date and you won't have to come out and say you are adventurous. She will just draw those conclusions in her mind. One hidden benefit to this is that woman tend to trust the conclusions they come to in their owns minds. They are more likely to question something that someone told them. Why because people would rather distrust another person than think they themselves could be wrong. This gives you the most powerful tool if you combine it with mirroring because it will trigger many responses in her brain that will move the interaction forward.

For example if she says she likes a guy that is passionate you know exactly what to do. Your not going to jump up and say “Oh pick me, I am passionate” because that would get the doubt response, and that would leave her questioning to herself if you truly are what you say you are. The correct way to handle something like that is to tell a funny, emotionally involved story that demonstrates to her that you are passionate. Don't tell her you are (because she probably won't believe it) but show her that your passionate through storytelling.

Storytelling is very effective if used properly and its a topic all on its own and I would love to go way deeper but unfortunately I don't have the time in this report. But if you want to learn more about how to tell stories then watch comedians closely. Watch how they set a story up, and get the audience emotionally involved. Its not accident that woman love comedians, and its simply because they are some of the best storytellers on the planet. Oh and did I mention women love stories! :) You can also check out my blog by clicking on the link at the end of the report for further videos on this topic.

CHAPTER 4: STAND OUT LIKE A SORE THUMB

Standing out with the opposite sex is definitely easier said than done. But once its done properly you will find attraction easier than words can describe. When it comes to online dating your message is one of many she is going to get that day. Its no different if your going out to meet woman in a bar or club. But no matter where you are meeting woman at you must remember and stick to the first rule.

RULE #1 IS TO STAND OUT IN A GOOD WAY!

Do you think your going to get any attention, or conversation from her if your message sounds like all the other guys? Do you think your going to get a phone number or even have a conversation with a girl at the bar for longer than 1 minute if you don't stand out in some way?

NOT A CHANCE!!!

Women live in a completely different reality when it comes to dating than most men can even imagine. They are constantly bombarded with guys that are “interested” in them, and with so many options its natural they would become selective and picky. They simply have more options than most guys could handle so they weed out the low quality ones! Its almost as if they are going through life and each day they are walking through a “cock” buffet. They can easily get a couple phone numbers each day from guys that are willing to take them out in an attempt to get in their pants. I know woman that are hot enough to get laid each day by at least a couple different willing guys. I am not saying that go out and do that but that is what kind of options exist for them every single day.

This means you MUST stand out in all the right ways in order to become someone she will pay attention to and want to spend more time with. Otherwise you can keep wasting time sending messages and getting no responses. You can continue trying to approach woman in bars and clubs and feel miserable because you seem to get rejected consistently. Or you can learn how to stand out in a way that catches her attention and ignites her desires. At this point I am sure you are wondering...

HOW DO I STAND OUT?

Well by starting to communicate differently than most guys you will start to stand out in a good way. You will speak her language, and she will naturally be attracted to this because she is comfortable with it. She will like the entertainment and fun that comes with telling stories and she won't consciously realize all the positive things you are conveying about yourself in those stories. She will find similarities in the stories and feel a connection that she might not have felt before. If you do these things properly your going to stand out in a way that is so unique that she will not experience anything like it, even if she dated 50 different guys. When it comes to online dating that is my first and most important priority because if I am not standing out I am blending in and that just means I am wasting my time.

For example, If the majority of guys are taking pictures like these for their profile...

I am putting up pictures like this...

What were the differences you saw between those pictures?

In the first screen shot you can see that 7/8 of those pictures were taken in the mirror with the guy holding his cell phone. Here is a bit of sound advice... If 7/8 guys are doing something, then don't do what they are doing. Actually do the opposite for best results!

Pictures are a great chance for you to show that you are different, unique and worth getting to know. Plus a good picture acts as a conversation starter which always helps.

Have you ever heard that saying a picture is worth a thousand words? Well online:

A PICTURE IS WORTH A MILLION WORDS!

Pictures are like stories because the mind will never doubt what it sees. With that picture of me eating a fire torch up on my profile, I have effectively showed her more about myself than 4 or 5 sentences of listing my interests would do.

Personally I like adventurous woman, so when I use online dating sites my profile always shows how adventurous I am so I will attract that type of woman. I show what I want to attract. Talk is cheap and online it usually hurts you more than helps because most guys are not using their words effectively. I don't list my interests I tell stories that reveal my personality, interests and passions.

I can illustrate this point rather easily, because while I was writing this report I got a message from the following girl on POF.com. This is part of her profile...

About Me

GUYS! Enough with the mirror pictures! You're worse than some girls. With that being said...

I really don't have much else to say because honestly, there are too many creepers on here that don't need to know all of my business lol save yourself the time and don't contact me if you're under 21 or over 26 years old. If you'd like to know more, feel free to message me BUT if I don't message you back, please don't blow up my inbox. No one likes someone who appears desperate.

First Date

Anything besides going to an Italian restaurant or going out for pizza and beer (which sounds amazing) because I am a Celiac (google that shit). Don't be awkwardly silent either. I like to talk and it can get pretty weird with you just sit there staring haha.

She shares some of the same frustrations as other girls when it comes to online dating but most don't come out and say it on their profiles. She also shares a lot about what she is looking for and what she doesn't like. This can be very useful if you know how to use this information.

A couple months back I even saw one girl that posted the “creepiest message” she got each day on her profile with the user name of the person who sent it. That profile was one of the funniest I have ever seen simply because its very obvious some guys didn't know what they were doing. It was funny and sad at the same time.

Standing out with pictures is more about picking pictures were you are having a good time, in a social setting or on some adventure. Most guys completely miss out on that point and that is why their pictures and profile don't stand out at all.

The other major areas of your profile that you need to focus on besides your pictures are your user name, your headline, your “about me” section and the types of messages your sending each and every day. Each one of these areas is an important pillar to understand when using online dating.

Its like having a table and taking out one of the legs when you don't understand the entire game. But if you understand what you need to demonstrate in each area your “online dating” table will stand strong and it will set you up for many great meals with beautiful, interesting women that are fun to be around. This will make you happy because you took the time to figure out how to use the biggest singles club in the world.

TAKE HOME POINT: If your going use something like online dating, learn how to use it. This is really simple and basic advice when it comes to driving a car but for some reason people ignore it in other areas of your life. I believe that your dating life and the romantic partners you enjoy can either be a heaven or hell experience... which of course all depends on you.

Once you learn how to drive a car, you are much less likely to get in an accident and hurt yourself and others. Online dating and dating in general is the same way.

CHAPTER 5: THE COMPLETE PACKAGE

One of the most fascinating aspects of dating for me is understanding the exponential growth principle. Albert Einstein once said,

THE MOST POWERFUL FORCE IN THE UNIVERSE IS COMPOUND INTEREST!

While he is talking about numbers and math principles, he is really talking about a principle I call “Exponential Growth”. From the very beginning of your life when you were one cell in your mothers womb this principle has been at play in your life. As a continuous process you grew from 1 cell, and doubled to 4, and doubled to 8 until 9 months later you were a baby composed of billions of cells.

Your entire life this process is happening in the background and most people don't even see it. In your dating life I have discovered this to be very accurate on more levels than one. In my experience as I learned one principle, and applied that to my life I saw improvements. But as time passed and I added more skills and knowledge to my tool belt, I noticed something funny happened. Each and every thing I learned was like adding a layer to an onion and as time passed this onion of knowledge and understandings became larger and larger.

Then one day I realized that each thing I had learned was like a giant piece to a puzzle and they all built on each other. I noticed exponential growth in my dating life and it became almost effortless for me to meet, date and seduce women.

It was like I hit a point where the interest from all my “Dating” investments started growing faster than I could cash it in and spend it. I had reached a breaking point! I mean imagine multiple woman calling you and texting you trying to spend time with you. It was a dream come true I thought to myself. I will always remember the time when this started to happen and if you haven't ever had this happen in your life trust me its an amazing thing to experience. At one point in my past I struggled getting woman to simply respond to a text I sent, and now they are texting me asking me to hang out with them!

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN MY LIFE WOMAN WANTED TO SPEND TIME WITH ME AND THEY WERE PURSUING ME AND IT FELT AMAZING!

Its one of those situations where $1+1$ does not equal 2 because the exponential growth factor changes the equation. You reach a point where everything you put into your dating life is paying back 10x and your grateful you spent the time necessary to achieve this.

This leads me to a very important point. Your success or lack of it in your dating life is more about what you do when your not on a date with a woman than anything else.

This simply means you become the man woman want to date during the hours you spend each day working on yourself. This is when you become desirable because dating success is simply preparation paying off in the moment you are spending time with a woman.

I believe based on my own experience that online dating is the perfect medium to meet woman without having to spend lots of money on drinks and dates. Its a method of meeting woman that you can easily fit into your lifestyle but sadly most guys won't learn how to use it and this great opportunity will pass them by.

I meet woman in the comfort of my own home at all hours of the day, while I am wearing basketball shorts and listening to music I want to listen too. Sometimes I pinch myself because It seems to good to be true.

Take a second and imagine I am sitting on your couch eating dinner and watching a movie and getting done to the sound of your phone telling you that you 2 new messages in your inbox. Well if you have never experienced this than take my word for it... Its the best!

There are a couple reasons why online dating is the ideal way to meet women. Firstly this method is a very time efficient which allows you to test, track and tweak what your doing to get the ultimate results... Even if your standing in line at the DMV. The second thing I really like about online dating is that its one of the most cost effective ways to meet women which is really important because I'm not made of money and I don't think you are either.

Another huge benefit with online dating is that fact you can know many different things about a woman your going to message even before you say anything to her. This allows you a “competitive advantage” over other guys if you know how to use this raw data properly. And last but not least women are looking to meet you! They want to be romanced, taken out and you can be the guy to give them that experience if you position yourself right.

What I didn't realize before I was successful with online dating was the power of the profile. I thought it wasn't that important and boy was I wrong. Now that I have it done right I reap the benefits each and every day. Woman message me and its happens without my involvement which is a really good feeling. Its like a woman doing her hair once and it stays like that forever and she has guys complimenting her and thinking she is really hot. Well it's that same affect for me because when I got my profile right I just left it and now I am meeting and dating woman a year later. Its a great way to live your life... Do the work once and get laid many times, even months and years later based on something you did right the first time. Anyways I recommend learning how to properly craft the perfect profile and watch how your experience with woman changes forever.

It's as if someone is out there acting as my personal match maker working day and night trying to find me the exact type of woman I like best. Who wouldn't enjoy that? I know I love it and I would like to show you exactly how to get the same results in your life.

Right now you have 2 choices that are presenting themselves and now that you know about the largest singles club in the world you can choose option A or B.

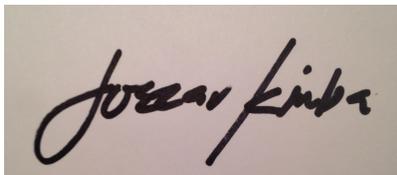

Option A:

You can try online dating out for yourself and just guess on what to say on your profile and in your messages. Good Luck!

Option B:

Peak over my shoulder and watch as I create profiles, user names, and messages that you can use to meet woman you want to meet in your area starting tonight. You and I both know that following a proven system is the fastest way to achieve a desired result so why reinvent the wheel? Watch the free video now. Click Here Now

Unfortunately the greatest opportunity to meet woman will pass most men by, simply because they don't know how to use it. They will be stuck on the sidelines wondering why they can't seem to get in the game. They will watch other guys walk right by them with beautiful woman on their arms. They will sit there scratching their heads wondering “How did that guy get that girl?”. But you don't have to be one of them, because you can meet your first woman online starting right now.
