Superstitions

We often use the 1st conditional to talk about superstitions. Superstitions are beliefs about what the consequences (good or bad) will be if you do something.

For example, the 3 superstitions below are very common in American culture.

If you break a mirror, you will have 7 years of bad luck.

If you walk under a ladder, something bad will happen.

If you pull the bigger half of a wishbone, your wish will come true.

Notice that in the examples above, the simple present tense is used in the if-clause (the condition), and the simple future is used in the result-clause.

Now, make a list of superstitions that you know:
