Lessons Learned

- 1. Information development processes and associated issues never stop.
- 2. It is critical that your approach to information systems support the business of your state's CTE program.
- 3. CTE data emanates from school districts, technical institutes, community colleges & universities. So does SLDS data.
- 4. SLDS interests can learn & profit from what CTE data managers already know, leverage that experience.
- 5. Consider SLDS capabilities, services, infrastructure that can improve data collection and use in CTE.
- 6. Involve key state and local CTE stakeholders and partners.
- 7. Leverage opportunities for and experience in research.
- 8. Practice the principle of "quid pro quo."
