

COMPASS PODCAST

Episode 12 Show Notes, September 21, 2018

Rev. Robert W Lee was our guest. Rev. Rob is a descendant of Confederate general Robert E. Lee. Rob has become a critical voice in racism, appearing on MTV and many talk shows. He lost his job due to his statements on MTV. In the episode, Rob discusses dealing with critical voices and finding strength to keep speaking.

Rev. Rob's appearance on MTV's Video Music Awards can be seen in its entirety:

<https://www.vox.com/culture/2017/8/27/16212642/vma-2017-robert-wright-lee-susan-bro-heather-heyer>

Pre-order (or order) Rob's new book, A Sin by any Other Name. The book chronicles his story of growing up with the South's most honored name, and the moments that forced him to confront the privilege, racism, and subversion of human dignity that came with it.

https://www.amazon.com/Sin-Any-Other-Name-Reckoning-ebook/dp/B07D6C7WZ2/ref=sr_1_2?s=digital-text&ie=UTF8&qid=1537709096&sr=1-2