

An Open Letter to AGIIS Non-Subscribers – How to Log in and Get Started!

September 30, 2015

Dear Trading Partner,

AgGateway has exciting news about expanding access to unique identifiers. This week AgGateway released an enhancement to the Ag Industry Identification System (AGIIS) that provides automated look-up web services for Global Location Identifiers (GLNs), Global Trade Item Numbers (GTINs) and associated demographics to non-members of AgGateway. Low-volume use of the resource is available free of charge; the fee structure is explained below. This provides the entire industry with an automated method to access the unique identifiers. This is in addition to the user friendly web interface that was released earlier this year.

Unique Identifiers are being used throughout the agricultural industry to streamline business processes. Here's just one testimonial... for more information and testimonials, see our AGIIS webpage at www.AgGateway.org.

“Using AGIIS unique identifiers and AgGateway standardized message formats means our systems are more automated, accurate and timely – that allows our people to focus on serving our customers. In 2015 we fully implemented Global Trade Item Numbers (GTINs) and barcodes at two locations and realized much improved accuracy in inventory and in Grower Point of Sale (GPOS) in contrast to reporting over previous years and that of our other locations who have not fully implemented the unique identifiers and bar coding solution.”

- Randy Fry, Information System Manager for Ceres Solutions (The eastern Indiana ag retailer is using AGIIS unique identifiers in its barcoding solution)
