Amankora

“Five stylish lodges in carefully chosen locations a few hours’ drive apart. All display a refined synthesis of tradition and modernity, with expanses of natural wood and stone creating the serene and elegant design aesthetic that is the hallmark of Amanresorts properties throughout Asia. Menus feature Bhutanese, Indian and Continental cuisine prepared with homegrown produce. Access to television and the Internet is limited, and at the lodge in Gangtey there are no telephones. At all five lodges, the principal amenity is a small health spa. Amanresorts’ seven-night “Amankora Journey” is the best way to experience this extraordinary country.” —Andrew Harper

“Sleek luxury tower hotel on the west bank of the animated Chao Phraya River. Panoramic and oversize river-view rooms feature every conceivable amenity. Dining choices include Mei Jiang for exquisite Cantonese cuisine. Dramatic 200-foot outdoor tiered pool with Thai-style lounging pavilions, state-of-the-art fitness center and spa, convenient riverboat shuttle service to opposite bank of Chao Phraya. The Peninsula provides the Mandarin Oriental with some genuine competition.”

PHUKET, THAILAND

Trisara

“Opulent complex of pool villas and suites overlooking the Andaman Sea on Phuket’s undeveloped northwestern coastline. The 2,585-square-foot air-conditioned Pool Villas are decorated in neutral tones with expanses of natural wood. Huge baths provide soaking tubs and indoor/outdoor showers. Wonderful teak sundecks surround 30-foot private infinity-edge pools. Dining room serves a menu of Thai and Continental cuisine. Impressive library; extensive ocean-facing spa provides a wide range of massages and treatments, as well as a seafront meditation sala; scuba diving from PADI-certified dive shop.”
