

MEDIUMS

The Highland whiskey enjoyed prominence following the repeal of Prohibition.

Black Bull 40 Year Old Blended Scotch Whisky

This Highland whisky has been around since 1864, but it enjoyed renewed prominence following the repeal of Prohibition. The 40 Year Old, a less potent blend, is composed of 10 percent single-grain whiskies and 90 percent single malts. The single malts range in age from 40 to 44 years and are sourced from some of Scotland's most revered distilleries: Bunnahabhain, Glenfarclas, Glenlivet, Glenburgie, Highland Park, Miltonduff, Springbank, Tamdhu, and Invergordon. Non-chill-filtered and bottled at a gentle 80.4 proof cask strength, the whisky coats the palate with almonds, sweet vanilla, and oak. ($250)

Concannon Irish Whiskey

Considering the abuses that went on behind the doors of speakeasies, Concannon Irish Whiskey is probably not the first time the spirit has met

TOP RIGHT: MARGARET BOURKE-WHITE/TIME LIFE PICTURES/GETTY IMAGES