Series Details

The step motors listed in the table below are being offered directly from the Applied Motion Products warehouse at closeout sale prices. These motors are no longer in production, meaning once our inventory is depleted these motors will not be available for purchase again. The motors are new, unused, and available at a great price, making them an excellent choice for one-time applications, research and development work, or for use in hobby projects.

Click on the part numbers below to see full details. To view the quantity in stock of a particular part number simply add it to your cart (there's no commitment to buy).

All closeout motors are offered with Web only prices which means there are no discounts for higher quantities. Additionally, all sales of these motors are final and the motors come with a reduced warranty period of 90 days (compared to the standard 1-year warranty for all other products).
