

PROTECT AGAINST PARASITES

It is that time of year when I want to remind all pet parents to protect their companions from parasites. A simple application of REVOLUTION™ given once a month will protect your dog or cat from the dangers of heartworms, roundworms, hookworms, fleas, and ear mites. Heartworms and hookworms are intestinal parasites that can be transmitted to humans. Fleas can be hosts for tapeworms and can be difficult to eradicate if they take up residence in your home. If left untreated, ear mites can lead to serious damage to the ear and secondary bacterial infections.

There is no need for your pet to suffer any of these consequences. REVOLUTION™ is a highly effective and simple preventative measure I urge you to consider. In a recent study conducted by Purdue University, 28% of exclusively indoor cats tested positive for heartworm infestation. There is no effective treatment for cats so they must try to survive two years with the burden of heartworm that damages mostly the lungs. Getting them protected against this parasite with a simple monthly topical application seems to be a great solution.
