A Look into Brunswick Forest Veterinary Hospital

Brunswick Forest Veterinary Hospital is a new state of the art animal hospital in Leland, NC. The owners of the practice, Dr. Patrick Terry and Dr. Rich Zielinski, have always envisioned a practice on the coast of North Carolina and found the Leland area to be a perfect fit. With the help of Bobbitt Construction, they were able to create a building that is not only “green,” but also has a nice coastal feel. They made sure to include in the design, very large windows, to bring in the natural light, and a synthetic grass play area for the animals to be able to enjoy the outdoors. The building process went as planned and Brunswick Forest Veterinary Hospital is now open for business.

The Staff

The staff at Brunswick Forest Veterinary Hospital have many years of experience working in the veterinary industry. The two technicians, Jenna and Tasha, have previously worked with Dr. Terry and Dr. Zielinski at an animal hospital in Greensboro, NC. They are very enthusiastic animal lovers and enjoy spending one-on-one time with our boarding patients. They are both so excited about living in the Leland area and can not wait to meet all the four-legged friends.

Boarding

At Brunswick Forest Veterinary Hospital we understand that boarding your pet is not only stressful for you but also for your pet. To make the experience better for your pet, we have built separate areas for our cats and dogs. Our cats will have very spacious condos with the luxury of a very large window to gaze out of. Our dogs can either stay in our regular cages in the kennels or upgrade to one of our luxurious runs. No matter what you choose, they get to spend time out in our very large play area. We even have the option available for your dog to have additional play time while they stay here.

Therapy Laser

One of the newest technologies in both human and animal medicine is the use of a class IV therapy laser. At Brunswick Forest Veterinary Hospital your pet can experience a new form of pain relief without the use of medications. This new device generates high-energy, near-infrared lasers that penetrate deep into the body to diminish pain and stimulate healing. The K-Laser can provide amazing relief from chronic and acute pain, as well as treat many other veterinary conditions.

Vaccinations

The doctors of Brunswick Forest Veterinary Hospital understand that each animal is an individual, and thus they need different forms of care. With the constantly changing concepts of vaccines and pet care, we strive to maintain a very well rounded vaccination protocol. We like to evaluate every patient and their life style to determine whether annual or triennial (every third year) vaccinations are needed.
