

ABSTRACT

The title of this research is " Analysis of students' ability in narrative text by using personal pronoun at the second grade of SMP Talitakum Medan ". The subjects of this study were students of class II SMP Talitakum and the object of this research was the students' ability to use pronouns in narrative texts. The problem the writer's found was the students' ability to make narrative text using pronouns. This study has two research questions. The first question is how the students' ability to use pronouns in narrative text? and the second question is what is the difficulty of the students' ability to use pronouns in narrative text? . In this study the writer's took 16 students, all of whom were second grade students at SMP Talitakum. Data collection techniques in this study were tests and interviews. The test was used to determine students' abilities in narrative text by using pronouns in class II SMP Talitakum and the data. Also to find out the difficulty of students' ability to use pronouns in narrative text. To find the result as a percentage, write it using the formula:

$$P = \frac{F}{N} \times 100\%$$

Based on the data that has been analyzed, the writer's can conclude that the students' abilities in narrative text by using personal pronouns are in enough and many categories. And finally, the authors conclude that the difficulty affecting students in using pronouns is a lack of understanding of pronouns and narrative text even though they have been taught by the subject teacher and the lack of grammar books.

Keywords: analysis, narrative text, personal pronoun.