

Council on Aging Seeking Board Members

The Chatham County Council on Aging is seeking several individuals to serve on its Board of Directors and help lead the organization as it strives to further reach and assist Chatham's growing older population. With more than 44 years of service as a nonprofit agency, the Council on Aging has been recognized for its outstanding achievements by such groups as the NC Association of County Commissioners, the Chatham Chamber of Commerce, and the Western Chapter of the NAACP.

"We are eager to recruit persons who can further strengthen our capacity to help provide the vision, oversight and technical assistance that will sustain and enhance our Council's ability to serve," remarked David Marty, chairman of the Board's Nominating and Governance Committee. "We are especially eager to add some individuals with legal and financial backgrounds and also hope to broaden our Board's membership in terms of diversity to better reflect Chatham's population," added Marty.

The Council's Board is a governance and working Board that requires participation in its various activities and to be ambassadors in the community at large.
