Zoar receives grant from Ohio History Fund

The Zoar Community Association was named a recipient of a grant from the Ohio History Fund.

The award total is $14,500 and will pave the way for a new exhibit titled "The Best of Zoar" to be featured in the entry of the Town Hall Museum. This exhibit will set the tone for continued improvements and educational opportunities available to visitors.

"It is an honor to receive this grant as it allows us to turn our vision into a reality," said Tammi Shrum, historical sites director. "We will continue to prioritize the preservation of yesterday and today to ensure memories can be shared tomorrow."

Founded in 1967, the Zoar Community Association has long been the driving force for preserving Zoar, a National Historic Landmark District, including the operation and restoration of the Town Hall and School House.

For eight years ZCA has partnered with Ohio History Connection to operate, maintain and preserve the public museum buildings, collectively known as Historic Zoar Village.

maintain and preserve 14 additional historic buildings throughout the village, ZCA is responsible for the daily operation of Historic Zoar Village. Special events, programs, festivals, field trips and special tours attract an average of 15,000 visitors to Historic Zoar Village each year.

The grant funding will be used in the Town Hall Redevelopment Project. Owned by the Zoar Community Association, the Town Hall Museum is a collection facility and is a historic property that once served as the Town Hall, a post office and a fire department for the Society of Separatists of Zoar.

The Town Hall Museum has an extensive collection of artifacts, photographs and documents from Zoar, Bolivar, the Ohio and Erie Canal, and other neighboring areas. One of the first phases of the reorganization of the Town Hall is the redevelopment of the entrance area to include a "Best of Zoar" exhibit.

The "Best of Zoar" will showcase various themes and topics to give a preview of the information to be found in the Town Hall Museum. Themes will focus around three main categories: religion and communal life, the garden, and industry. The exhibit will serve as an introduction and also will be self-standing to

Tusky Valley's Trojan Crush competes no matter what

By Lori Feeney
TheBargainHunter.com

The National Weather Service said 24 F temperatures felt like 6 F, but those temperatures and limited visibility didn't stop the Tusky Valley Trojan Crush from competing in a trap shooting tournament on Sunday, March 13 at Mapleton Gun Club in Waynesburg.

The Crush is one of 26 teams in the Tri-County Trap League. The league's teams compete not only against each other, but also against adults. The Bolivar Sportsman's Club is a sponsor for the team, helping with funding, ammo and even coaching, but they still compete against one another.

"It was a difficult day, and they usually beat us handily," coach Paul

Dunlap said about the BSC. "But we beat them that day."

Students competing that day were Jacob Harps, Jakob Marzilli, Hunter Kirtley, Brayden Beatty, Aidan McClain, Hunter Ruger, Joel Kandle and Jack Reynolds.

Dunlap explained how a competition works. "In competition there are five stations for each round of competition. Each shooter shoots five shots at each station for a round total of 25 individually, 225 for the squad. Then their scores are averaged and they shoot a handicap from a different yardage."

Last year Kandle shot a perfect 25, and this year Kirtley already has one perfect round of 25 under his belt.

The Crush currently has 15 members including both boys and girls.

Lori Feeney

However, not all members want to compete, and Dunlap said that's fine. Those who do want to compete must qualify at practice at the BSC the Thursday before each tournament.

"Not everyone can compete the whole season because I have baseball players, football players, a wrestler and kids in other activities," Dunlap said.

The team practices every Thursday night from September through July when the season ends, with a two-week break over the Christmas holiday.

How it all began

Dunlap said he was approached three years ago by Tusky Valley superintendent Mark Murphy about starting a trap team. Dunlap took the bull by the horns and started recruiting.

"We looked at joining the Ohio Youth Trapshooting Association and the Scholastic Clay Target Program," Dunlap said. "We ended up going with the SCTP because they offered more opportunities. They allow the kids to shoot at the national level and compete against college athletes, and we can include middle school students on the team."

The Crush does have one member from Tusky Valley Middle School: Reynolds, a fifth-grader, who was the team's best shooter for February.

Even hampered by COVID-19 and an ammo shortage that kept the team from competing in some of the larger shoots, the Crush still placed third in the league its first year and fourth last year.

"Each shoot the kids seem to be getting better," Dunlap said. "It's great to see these young men and women grow in a sport that demands respect and safety, and these kids are top notch in that area."

Speaking of safety

Dunlap said shooting sports are among the safest activities young people can participate in. "There are fewer injuries in shooting than in almost any other sport in the nation," he said. "Safety is very important, and it's not just the adults who are responsible for safety; it's the kids too."

“There are fewer injuries in shooting than in almost any other sport in the nation... Safety is very important.”

Trojan Crush shooters compete in all weather including the below-freezing temps and low visibility at the tournament on Sunday, March 13 in Waynesburg.

United Way launches volunteer program

The first class for United Way's Give 5, a no-cost civic-matchmaking volunteer program that connects soon-to-be retiring and retired individuals with volunteer opportunities that best fit their skill sets and passions, will be April 21.

Give 5 offers retirees the opportunity to learn more about nonprofits in Stark County that are addressing childhood poverty and about a variety of volunteer opportunities at one time, find a role that matches their passion, and benefit the community through their time and talent. Retirees will be part of a learning environment, connect with other retirees and visit nonprofit organizations.

"This program focuses on Baby Boomers, people born between 1946 and 1964, and in Stark County, according to the April 2020 United States Census, there are almost 75,000 people age 65 and over," said Angela Perisic, United Way of Greater Stark County executive vice president of resource development and community impact. "They are a very large, active group of talented individuals with experience, expertise, passion and, for the first time in their lives, time. Volunteering can increase energy, decrease depression, give people new connections and a sense of purpose. This program offers retirees a wonderful opportunity to channel their talents and skills."

The program will be implemented over three program days on three consecutive Thursdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at United Way. Program days will last from six to seven hours with lunch and snacks included. The schedule includes orientation, guest speakers, bus trips to visit 13 different nonprofits focused on reducing childhood poverty and a graduation. Visits to nonprofits allow retirees to better understand the types of volunteer opportunities available.

Interested participants can sign up for the first class at www.uwstark.org/give-5.

Give 5 is a program of United Way of Greater Stark County and is funded by sponsoring organizations and private donors. The presenting sponsor is United Healthcare.

Buckeye Career Center is seeking businesses interested in participating in the annual Career Connections Career Fair on Friday, April 22 from noon to 2 p.m.

Area business owners and representatives will be supplied a 6-foot table and two chairs to use as they interact with BCC high school students. Set-up and lunch will be served from 11 a.m. to noon.

The career fair has grown into an event that benefits students and local employers, according to Buckeye Career Center superintendent Bob Alsept.

“Our students have an opportunity to meet people from their career cluster and learn about their expectations for successful employment. They also have an opportunity to share their resume and business card with potential employers,” Alsept said. “Our local employers have an opportunity to meet our students and instructors and increase their pool of candidates for employment.”

The deadline to register a business is April 8. Registration is free, though donations to benefit Buckeye Foundation scholarships will be accepted.

Exhibitors could potentially meet and interact with students from the following programs offered at Buckeye: agricultural and diesel technology, auto collision repair, auto technology, business/marketing, CAD/development and design, commercial truck technology, computer technology/network systems, construction technology, cosmetology, culinary arts, early childhood education, electrical systems technology, energy operations, exercise science and sports medicine, floral design, graphic arts, HVAC-R, hospitality, intro to nursing, landscaping and turf management, law enforcement, masonry, meat cutting, deli and bakery, medical assisting, natural resources, outdoor power equipment technology, Project Lead the Way/engineering, pharmacy technician, precision machining, teaching professions, TRACE-U, and welding.

To register for the event or for more information, call Julie Beaber at 330-339-2288 ext. 1221 or email jbeaber@buckeyecareer-center.org.

Buckeye Career Center is located at 545 University Drive NE in New Philadelphia.

Trail Run returns to TWC

In celebration of Earth Day this year, The Wilderness Center will offer The Run Wild! Spring Trail Run on April 23 from 8 a.m. to noon. Take on the timed 10k or 5k or bring the whole family out for the 1-mile fun run.

Registration fees support conservation and nature education efforts in the community. Participants also can partake in a free yoga flow provided by Flex Yoga Studios after the races.

In addition to the various trail runs, Earth Day activities for the whole family are planned. At 10 a.m. the annual Tree of Life tree plantings will begin. Throughout the year donors give Tree of Life gifts in memory of loved ones, in honor of special achievements or to celebrate life's monumental occasions.

The funds donated to this program support a conservation project, and this year work will continue to reforest an old farm field on Alabama Avenue by planting 250 sugar maples and 250 black cherry saplings.

Anyone who gave to the Tree of Life program or was honored with a Tree of Life gift for themselves or a loved one is encouraged to participate in the planting.

In addition, The Wilderness Center will feature local artists onsite demonstrating art with recycled materials. Other family-friendly events include a play date at the Nature Playscape with Earth Day science experiments and a spring flower walk led by a naturalist. All of these events — besides race registration — are free and open to the public.

New exhibit features Native American artists

“Un-settling: A Story of Land Removal and Resistance” will be exhibited in the Massillon Museum’s Aultman Health Foundation Gallery from March 26 through May 22.

The exhibition is a visual accompaniment to the memories of yesterday and stories of today that parallel the words of Native American Joy Harjo, U.S. poet laureate, in her award-winning book, “An American Sunrise.” In celebration of “An American Sunrise,” the contemporary Native American artists featured in “Un-settling” add their own reflections on removal and resistance.

Artwork by Native Americans across the country will be exhibited: Dakota Mace, Gregg Deal, Hulleah J. Tsinhnahjinnie, Jesse Cooday, Melanie Yazzie, Natani Notah, Norman Akers and Will Wilson. The exhibition is co-curated by Dr. Shana Klein and Marissa Tirolly, Kent State University.

The Abolitionist Library is a component of the exhibition; visitors can spend time with a selection of books and articles that provide further context for the exhibit themes.

“An American Sunrise” is the 2022 book selection for MassMu’s NEA Big Read. Free copies of the poetry book will be available at the NEA Big Read Kickoff on Saturday, April 2 from 1-3 p.m. The kickoff will mark the opening reception for “Un-settling” and “Threads Moving Backward and Forward: Contemporary Textile Artworks from Ohio,” which also complements the Big Read.

Massillon Public Library, which has partnered with MassMu on the NEA Big Read for 15 years, will have its Bookmobile at the event.

Thirty community events will accent the NEA Big Read. Among them, MassMu will stream a live online curator and artist panel discussion on Wednesday, April 13 from 7-8 p.m. via MassMu’s Facebook — later uploaded to YouTube. The panel will be moderated by Klein and Tirolly. Artists Norman Akers, Gregg Deal and Natani

Will Wilson, “Swiller Kanim”

Notah will participate.

MassMu’s free monthly Brown Bag Lunch will feature Dr. John N. Low, director at Newark Earthworks Center, on Tuesday, April 26 from 12:10-12:50 p.m. in Gessner Hall.

Klein also will moderate a discussion with Sundance, executive director at Cleveland American Indian Movement, on Thursday, April 28 from 5:30-6:30 p.m., also in Gessner Hall. The event is free and open to the public, but registration is required at www.MassMu.org/Tickets.

The highlight of the NEA Big Read will be the keynote by Harjo at MassMu on Thursday, May 5 at 7 p.m. Her presentation is free, but registration is required at www.MassMu.org/Tickets.

A related exhibition, “This Is Home: Recent Painting by Luanne Redeye,” can be seen through May 14 at the Kent State University Downtown Gallery in Kent.

The Big Read is funded by the National Endowment for the Arts. The Massillon Museum receives operating support from the Ohio Arts Council and ArtsinStark, as well as marketing support from Visit Canton. One Tiger and Rotary Club of Massillon have helped fund the 2022 NEA Big Read and the complementary Little Read.

Call 330-833-4061 or visit www.massillonmuseum.org.

The Massillon Museum is located at 121 Lincoln Way E. in downtown Massillon.

Wright Flight introduces youth to flying airplanes

By Kyle Valentini

A free nine-week program for middle school students grades 6-8 is being offered by the Experimental Aircraft Association Chapter 1077 at its educational facility and hangar at Harry Clever Field in New Philadelphia. A parent and student orientation will be held April 12 at 5 p.m. Subsequent classes will be held each Tuesday from 5-7 p.m.

Class size is limited. Students who are enthusiastic about learning to fly a plane must preregister.

The course is taught by Federal Aviation Administration licensed personnel and A&P mechanics Tim Conkey and Todd Aston, along with commercial corporate pilot Ellen Pretorius.

The course includes classroom instruction where students learn about engines, gauges, basic principles of flight and aviation history.

Hands-on instruction includes how to build a 1905 Wright Brothers aircraft wing rib the students can take home upon graduation.

The course culminates with a Saturday morning flight that allows students to take control of a certified aircraft with a licensed FAA pilot.

"The mission of Wright Flight is to use the inherent motivational power of aviation as a stimulus for students to set and achieve higher goals in their educational and personal development," said Terry Henry, EAA Chapter 1077 educational hanger chairman. "We represent highly motivated aircraft owners, pilots and aviation personnel who share our mission to serve as role models, teaching students that through commitment and hard work, they can achieve their goal, earn the rewards of exciting aviation-related experiences and develop a more positive self-concept."

EAA Chapter 1077's Wright Flight program reflects real life. "It's not your normal nonprofit," Henry said, "nor is it a team where everyone gets a trophy. Kids learn you have to earn the right to graduate. If you don't work hard, you won't get off the ground."

Wright Flight shows raising standards and expectations is way to raise self-esteem. "Our students set a goal, meet a challenge and change their life," Henry said. To learn more or to register, call Terry Henry at

Easter Journey

Walk Through the 7 Scenes of the Passion

United Dayspring Church

5641 TR 362, Millersburg, OH 44654

TOUR TIMES:

Friday, April 1 • 6:30-9:00PM

Saturday, April 2 • 3:00-8:00PM

Sunday, April 3 • 1:00-5:00PM

Come see the seven scenes leading up to and surrounding the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus Christ our Lord. You will be taken on a guided tour through the bustling streets of Jerusalem and the busy temple courtyard in search of Jesus and His disciples. Witness the sadness and confusion of His followers in the upper room after His betrayal. Experience a slightly irritated Pilot and a Roman guard admitting it must have been the Messiah they crucified and ultimately, and empty tomb!

Children will love the live animals and you will come away with a different perspective of how the most important event in history affected His closest friends and followers. Invite your friends and neighbors to enjoy a memorable Easter experience! We look forward to seeing you there! Light refreshments will be served to all guests after your tour.

Winter HEAP ends March 31

The deadline is coming for the Home Energy Assistance Winter Crisis Program; all applications must be started by Thursday, March 31.

Income-eligible households that have been disconnected or have a pending disconnection notice, need to establish new service, need to pay to transfer service, have 25% or less of bulk fuel supply remaining, or have been diagnosed with COVID-19 in the last 12 months may receive assistance through the program.

This year more than 1,025 families in Harrison, Carroll and Tuscarawas counties have worked with HARCATUS to participate in the Home Energy Assistance Winter Crisis Program. If you are one of the 147 incomplete applications still pending, all documents must be received by HARCATUS no later than April 13.

To apply for the program, residents of Harrison, Carroll and/or Tuscarawas counties are required to schedule a telephone appointment with their local HARCATUS Community Services offices by calling 855-806-9650.

Applicants need to provide a copy of the following documents to HARCATUS prior to their appointment: copies of their most recent utility bills, a list of all household members and proof of income for the last 30 days or 12 months for each member, proof of U.S. citizenship or legal residency for all household members, and proof of disability if applicable.

The Ohio Department of Development Winter Crisis Program provides eligible Ohioans assistance with their main heating source and/or secondary heating source (electric), as well as with fuel tank placement, fuel tank testing and heating unit repair/replacement. The maximum benefit amounts for the 2022 program are $175 for clients of regulated utilities, $750 for clients of unregulated utilities (municipal utilities or cooperatives), $900 for clients with bulk fuel including kerosene, and $550 for clients with wood or coal.

Ohioans must have a gross income at or below 175% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines to qualify for assistance.

For more information about the Winter Crisis Program, visit HARCATUS at www.harcatus.org/HEAP.

To be connected to your local energy-assistance provider through the state, call 800-282-0880. Hearing-impaired clients may dial 711 for assistance or visit www.energyhelp.ohio.gov.

The different ways to handle cremated ashes

Dear Savvy Senior,

A while back I saw an article on different ways to scatter a person's ashes after they're cremated, but I've misplaced it. Can you help me with this? I'm preplanning my funeral and would like to include instructions on what to do with my remains that my family will appreciate.

Jim Miller
Savvy Senior

Planning Ahead

Dear Planning,

There's no shortage of options when it comes to handling or disposing of your cremated remains after you're gone. Your family can keep, bury or scatter them in a variety of imaginative ways that reflect your life and personality. Here are some different options to consider.

Scatter them

The most popular option is to have your ashes scattered at a location you loved: a favorite fishing spot, camping area, golf course, beach, park or at home. If you choose this route, keep in mind some places such as national parks require a permit, and many public areas, like parks or sports stadiums, may prohibit scattering.

Store them at home

Many families choose to keep their loved ones close by storing them at home. If you and your family chooses this option, you can purchase a decorative urn through your funeral provider or online at Amazon.com. Or you may want to use an old cookie jar or favorite container that reminds your family of you.

Bury/inter them

The burial option is good if you wish to have a special place for your family to visit. This also is the only option for cremated ashes sanctioned by the Catholic Church, which specifies ashes of the dead should be kept in sacred places like a cemetery or a columbarium and not kept at home or scattered.

Plant them

If you're the environmental type, you can have your ashes planted with a tree. There are companies that offer living urns — like www.TheLivingUrn.com or www.UrnaBios.com — that mix your ashes with other nutrients that can be used to grow a plant or tree in your yard or a place of your choosing.

Scatter them at sea

If you love the water, there are many businesses that offer ash-scattering services at sea, especially close to coastal areas, or your family could rent a boat and do it themselves. There also are companies like www.EternalReefs.com that offer reef memorials so your ashes can rest on the ocean floor.

Scatter them by air

This option will scatter your ashes into the sky so the particles can be taken by the wind. To do this, they could hire a private plane, helicopter or hot air balloon service or use a balloon scattering service like www.Mesoloft.com. Or they could even send your ashes into outer space with www.Celestis.com.

Turn them into a record

If you love music, a UK company called Vinyly (www.Andvinyly.com) will turn your ashes into a vinyl record. You supply the music or voice recording and cover image, and the company creates a memorial that your family can listen to for years to come.

Turn them into jewelry or glass

If you love jewelry or glass trinkets, there are companies — like www.CloseByMeJewelry.com, www.SpiritPieces.com and www.ArtFromAshes.com — that will turn your ashes into wearable jewelry or glass art memorials.

The Massillon Public Library is located at 208 Lincoln Way E. in Massillon.

Jazz Nights are free, and no registration is necessary.

If you're a hunter or a gun lover, a company called Holy Smoke (www.MyHolySmoke.com) will create loaded ammunition out of cremated remains. Your family could store the ammo in the engraved wooden box it comes in, or they can send you off in a gun salute.

Turn them into art

If you love art, arrange for an artist or family member to paint your portrait or a picture with some of your ashes mixed into the paint. Or if your family is into tattoos, many tattoo artists will mix some ashes with ink to create a memorial tattoo.

Send your senior questions to Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit www.Savvy-Senior.org.
