CBA hosts Small Business Saturday event

By Lori Feeney

The Community Business Association of Northern Tuscarawas County invites the public to shop local vendors and have a pasta buffet at the Wilkshire Event Center on Dec. 10 from 2-7 p.m. at Shop A Latte.

"This is our first-ever Small Business Saturday event," said Barbara Scott, who is the CBA co-president with her husband Mark. "We are hoping it is the first of many to come."

The goal of the event is twofold. A portion of the proceeds from the pasta dinner will be donated to the Bolivar Food Pantry at the Bolivar United Methodist Church.

"According to the Akron Canton Regional Foodbank, which serves Tuscarawas County, food insecurity is on the rise," Scott said. "The need for assistance has increased by as much as to 14%, and 25% of those needing food have not needed assistance in the past. At the same time, the availability of food we can access from the Akron Canton Regional Foodbank is down by 27%."

The second aim of the event is to support local businesses, according to Scott. "We want to bring the community together to shop locally on Small Business Saturday and to make a difference in the lives of others by donating to the food pantry."

Tickets for the pasta buffet, which will be catered by Kathy Stotzer, are $10 for adults and $5 for children age 12 and under.

"The Zoar Fire Department is, of course, no longer able to hold their spaghetti dinners, and so many people in the community were upset by that," Scott said. "So we decided to add a pasta dinner to the event."

The schedule for the day is as follows:

—Free cocoa, coffee and a cookie bar while supplies last, compliments of the Bolivar McDonald's, Bolivar Giant Eagle and the CBA, from 2-4 p.m.

—Small business sales from area vendors including T-shirts and apparel and items from the Zoar Store from 2-7 p.m. Raffle tickets will be available for gift baskets, and a 50/50 drawing will be held during this time. The winner need not be present.

—Pasta buffet open with carry-out available from 4-7 p.m.

Some space is still available for vendors. All local, small businesses are welcome to sell items or promote their services.

"There is no charge for vendors, but as we are a nonprofit association, we will gratefully accept donations," Scott said.

Vendors wishing to reserve a table should call Scott at 330-874-4149 or email readtosucceed@yahoo.com.

can be purchased at the Zoar Market on state Route 212, through any CBA member or at www.cbatv.biz. All those who purchase tickets will be entered to win a $50 gift certificate to the new Wilkshire Miniature Golf, opening in spring directly behind the Wilkshire Event Center.

Those who cannot attend the event but wish to help can send donations to the Bolivar Food Pantry, c/o the Bolivar United Methodist Church, 256 Poplar St., Bolivar, OH 44612.

Scott expressed gratitude for donations made by local companies toward the event. Monetary donations and gifts baskets for the raffle have been donated by the following: Mary Locy-Cutler Real Estate, Commercial & Savings Bank, Ragon House, Lock 7 Coffee House, Lockport Brewery, 3 Roses Winery, 3 Trees Chalet, Zoar Market, Donnie's Tavern, Scott Enterprises, R U Stylin', Canton South Floral Shop, Huntington Bank and the Community Business Association.

The CBA was established in 1991 to promote and support the business, residential and educational community in the Bolivar, Wilkshire Hills and Zoar area, as well as throughout Tuscarawas County. Annual membership dues are $30, and meetings are held on the second Wednesday of each month from 7:30-8:30 a.m. in the Wilkshire Hills Sleep Inn conference room.

The event center is located at 474 Jeanne Ann Lane in Bolivar.

Wellness program motivates the participants to succeed

By Scott Daniels

Around the holidays many may find themselves picking up a few extra pounds or begin thinking about resolutions for a healthier new year. Those who intend to seriously combat the holiday bulge may find help in classes offered by Trinity Hospital Twin City.

The hospital is accepting reservations for the winter 2023 Fit for Life class, which will begin Jan. 10 for three months. The classes, which seek to help participants make lifestyle changes for greater overall health, are offered twice each year. Both virtual and in-person versions are available.

Fit for Life is the creation of Dr. Timothy McKnight of the hospital system. The most recent Fit for Life classes, which began in October, saw more than 70 participants, both locally and from around the country, thanks to the addition of online participation.

Fit for Life is a 12-week, individualized program emphasizing realistic lifestyle changes resulting in enhanced levels of health and fitness. The program is led by McKnight, a physician.

“As a practicing primary-care provider,” McKnight said, “my day-to-day interactions with health and disease bring relevant, timely and crucial information about the latest disease states and healing opportunities. People love the fact that this program is physician-led and physician-inspired.”

Participation in the classes is presented by Trinity Hospital Twin City as requiring a doable time commitment for busy families. Before the classes begin, a private Facebook page is set up specifically for the current class.

Three to four lessons are posted to that page with each of these lessons approximately 25-30 minutes. The class members read the Chapter of the Week and watch the lessons as their schedule allows. The total weekly time commitment with watching the videos, reading the assigned material and attending the weekly meeting is approximately 3 to 3 1/2 hours per week.

The Fit for Life Facebook page also offers support, encouragement, recipes, exercises and demonstration videos from McKnight and other members of the class. Participants, due to the shared Facebook page, get to know each other over time. The participants then meet every Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. for approximately one hour.

Kelly Bowe is project coordinator for the program and works closely with McKnight on the classes. “I meet with the in-person participants at the Dover Public Library in Dover,” Bowe said. “I weigh everyone weekly and counsel them through their journey.”

According to Trinity Health System, the goal of the Fit for Life program is to provide an innovative, multi-agency means to reduce the number of overweight and obese men and women of all ages in Tuscarawas County and the surrounding counties of Carroll, Guernsey and Harrison.

Bowe said Fit for Life is not only geared toward fitness, weight loss and wellness, but also is an overall lifestyle-changing program.

“Once you have learned the tools that Dr. McKnight gives you, it is easy to live the program for the rest of your life. Dr. McKnight teaches the program in such a way that every learning style is covered. Some people learn best by reading, some by listening to or watching a video, and others need to hear the information in person. All learning styles are included in the program,” Bowe said.

McKnight plans to conduct the 60-minute in-person classes every Tuesday from 5:30-6:30 p.m. in the community room at the Dover Public Library. The course will begin Jan. 10 and run through March 28.

McKnight said conducting the classes is personally satisfying. “I love to teach,” he said. “I love to make it simple and pertinent. I love to model correct principles and serve as a role model for health and wellness. I love to inspire and instill hope. It’s not enough to just educate. I feel it is my responsibility to touch and inspire the soul.”

Registration for the class is at www.trinitytwincity.org.

Answering The Call

Ordinary people doing extraordinary things

By Teri Stein

Veterans were honored at the City of Dover Veterans Monument dedication held Nov. 19 on the square of Dover. The new monument was made possible by donations from organizations, businesses and the public to honor past, current and future military personnel.

There are eight insignias on the monument for the United States Army, Air Force, Marine Corps, POW-MIA, Navy, Coast Guard, Merchant Marine and Space Force. The monument features a collage of images of the U.S. flag, the Constitution and a bald eagle. It reads, "Dedicated to those who answered our nation's call in the pursuit of freedom."

Retired Col. Rex Ray, a former Dover High School graduate, was the guest speaker. He thanked the crowd for joining him in honoring veterans for their service and defense of the nation and spoke of his 30-year service to the country in the Air Force, where he had the opportunity to meet members of the Women Air Force Service Pilots, members of the Tuskegee Airman and even a colonel who survived the Bataan Death March.

Ray then told the story of another person he met during his career.

"One of the highlights of my career was presenting the Silver Star Medal to a World War II vet — his name, Master Sgt. Clifford E. Hotchkiss. At the very beginning of World War II on Dec. 8, 1941, the day after the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, Hotchkiss was a member of a small garrison of Americans at Wake Island that held the Japanese off as they intended to do a land assault," Ray said.

The Japanese bombing continued on a daily basis. After the initial bombing, Hotchkiss and his crew kept the lines of communication open for 15 days by moving the radio transmitter and receiver by hand to different locations away from enemy fire.

"He told us at the ceremony, and I'm quoting him, 'It's a good thing we got it away from the airfield and into the brush because minutes later they turned the communications truck into a heap of molten metal. The only thing I could think about was where can I hide,'" Ray said.

Hotchkiss hid from the Japanese in an underground ammunition storage area, where he served as the focal point for all transmissions in and out during the fight. He was eventually captured two days before Christmas in 1941 and taken to Japan as a prisoner of war.

"There he worked for a ship yard. And he took parts from the ship yard and built a radio so he could communicate with anyone he could contact with American forces," Ray said.

Hotchkiss' activities were found out, and he was beaten severely and tortured. He was to be executed, but a local Japanese person came to his defense and got him pardoned. When the war ended, Hotchkiss came home in September 1945, having spent mostly all of the four years of the war as a prisoner of war.

"His is one of many stories of ordinary people achieving extraordinary results in the service of our nation," Ray said. "I encourage all of us to show our appreciation to veterans every day. You can identify us by our caps, our shirts, our jackets and lapel pins. It does lift my spirits when I get a smile and a thank you for your service."

The members of the veterans monument committee are co-chairs councilman Greg Bair and councilman Kevin Korn, interim Mayor Shane Gunnoe, Service Director Dave Douglas, Superintendent Scott Harmon, Pat Antonelli, and Ray Ulrich.

Members of the committee said they never had to ask anyone for donations. As soon as the project was announced in the local media, the donations started to come in. The suggestion for the memorial came from a citizen of Dover.

In addition to many individuals, the committee also thanked the Vietnam Veterans of America, Dover Post #3463 VFW Auxiliary, Dover VFW, Gor-Con Construction, O'Donnell Family Charitable Foundation, Metal Masters Inc., the Reeves Foundation and the Freeport Press for their donations.

"Dover is grateful to be able to honor all of our veterans from our community who have given so much in service to this great country," Gunnoe said. "I hope today's dedication and monument will serve to honor all of our Dover veterans, and while we cannot thank each of you enough for your service, it is our hope that this will serve as a display of Dover's enduring gratitude to our community's veterans."

American Legion Post #205 performed the presentation of colors and a 21-gun salute during the program. Mark Bair played taps with Micah Carrick providing the echo. Pastor John Wallace of Dover First Moravian gave the invocation and benediction. Also speaking were Debbie Cook, Tuscarawas County Veterans Services director, Kevin Korn and Greg Bair.

Music was provided by the Ars Nova Singers of Dover High School, which deviated from the program to sing "The Armed Forces Medley." Veterans stood to much applause when they heard the group sing the theme song of their branch of the service.

"I encourage all of us to show our appreciation to veterans every day...It does lift my spirits when I get a smile and a thank you for your service."

Col. Rex Ray

The committee collected more than $63,000 for the monument, which totaled about $25,000. The extra funds were used to add more landscaping, benches and a flagpole, making the area a tribute to Dover veterans.

"It's just amazing the people who gave to this," Bair said. "Thanks to everyone, and we love our veterans."

Power of the Purse raffle returns for United Way

By Scott Daniels

The beginning of the pandemic put many non-profit organizations in a bind. How does one raise money when no one can leave the house? Some creativity was in order, which led to new ideas that proved worthwhile, like the Power of the Purse virtual raffle from United Way, now in its third year.

A dozen purses will be awarded to ticket holders on as many days, with drawings beginning Dec. 1 at 11 a.m. The last purse will be awarded Dec. 16.

"It was in the fall of 2020 when one of our board members, Kristin Zemis, said she'd thought of an idea for a virtual fundraiser," United Way President and CEO Robin Waltz said. "It sort of became her baby and was very successful, so this is our third year for the Power of the Purse."

The purses represent some of the most sought-after names in the business: Louis Vuitton, Tory Burch, Kate Spade, Halston, Coach, Michael Kors, Marc Jacobs, Stuart Weitzman and Brahmin. "They are the real thing," Waltz said.

"All of the purses retail at $150 at the very least," said Susan Reidenbach, community resources coordinator at United Way.

The purses have been purchased with funds provided by sponsors Andreas Furniture, Investment Partners, Troyer and Associates, Alban Title, Rea and Associates, Timken, Zemis Legal Services, and First Federal Community Bank.

Waltz said all the money raised during Power of the Purse will be used to support the United Way of Tuscarawas County and programs dedicated to the health and well-being of area women of all ages.

"Since the purses are donated, that means everything goes to help others in the community," Waltz said.

United Way board members have also purchased purses to donate for the Power of the Purse raffle.

"We have a Frosty the Snowman hat, and we will be pulling winners from it on Facebook Live each weekday," Waltz said. "If you buy more than one ticket and your name is drawn, we will leave the rest of your tickets in the hat so you could actually win more than once. If you want a chance at all 12, it's best to get your tickets before Dec. 1."

Tickets are $25 or five for $100. Get tickets at www.tuscunitedway.org/events. See all of the available purses at the United Way of Tuscarawas County Facebook page.

"The advantage to getting tickets online," Reidenbach said, "is that it's open to anyone. We will be able to ship purses to the winners if they aren't from the area and are unable to pick them up."

In the previous two purse raffles, winners were all from the area, Waltz said. "People tend to watch the drawing to see if they won, then drive right over and pick it up if they did. It has been a very popular fundraiser for us."

Waltz said the drawings, while featuring local guests, are accomplished quickly each day. "We try not to draw that out at all."

The United Way of Tuscarawas County is an independent organization with its own governing board and leadership. It supports numerous health and human service programs in the Tuscarawas County area. The organization has partnerships with many other local agencies serving people in the area.

The Tuscarawas County United Way is at 1458 Fifth St. NW in New Philadelphia. Call 330-343-7772 or email info@tuscunitedway.org.

Dover Public Library has a holiday hat tree

This year Dover Public Library's Prattle and Purl has made and donated over 100 hats to be placed on a new hat tree in the library. Hats are available now free of charge to anyone who needs one.

The hats are handmade and come in a variety of colors and sizes. It is suggested hats be washed before wearing. The hat tree will stay up through the holiday season while hats last.

"I thought it would be nice if our Prattle and Purl group did something special for our community during the Christmas season," said Christine Tegmeier, who proposed the project last spring. "Making hats would keep our neighbors warm and cozy throughout our unpredictable Ohio winters. Our group really embraced this idea and created beautiful hats and headbands. Making these hats has warmed our hearts as much as they will warm our friends' and neighbors' heads."

The members of Prattle and Purl have made more than 100 hats, none of them exactly the same.

"I thought it was a great idea. Not only will the hats go to some pretty amazing people, but we were able to try out different patterns. Some of the items were perfect to use yarn from our stash," said Cindie Strauss, club member.

"When Chris suggested it, it seemed like a fun idea to work on a project together," said Joyce Volzer, another longtime member of Prattle and Purl. "It has been terrific to see all the styles and colors. You can tell everyone enjoyed contributing to our Dover community — such fun."

Prattle and Purl meets at 10 a.m. on the first and third Saturday of each month at Dover Public Library. All creatives including knitters, crocheters and other crafters, regardless of skill level, are welcome to join. The club will take a winter break for December and January but will return with regular meetings on Saturday, Feb. 4.

Questions about Prattle and Purl can be directed to teen/outreach services manager Liz Strauss at 330-343-6123 or strausel@doverlibrary.org.

Dover Public Library is located at 525 N. Walnut St. in Dover.

The Canal Dover Association makes light boxes educational on Wooster Avenue.

Historical photos tell stories of the city of Dover's past

By Teri Stein
If you'd like to see what the Dover area looked like in the past and be transported back in time, your wish has come true with a new project by the Canal Dover Association.

The Canal Dover Association is a civic organization focused on improving the downtown area, and it participates in most activities in Dover.

A bed tax grant from the City of Dover to the CDA provided the funding for the project, which came about after new traffic lights were installed, leaving in their wake some rather large and unsightly control boxes.

The CDA has added historic images to traffic boxes along Wooster Avenue from the Tuscarawas County Fairgrounds to near the Drug Mart Plaza on the north end. Each image is related to the location where it is posted.

Volkert said the idea came up about four years ago, and after the organization was awarded the grant, there were a few delays. The company they were going to work with was sold, and then the COVID-19 pandemic caused more problems, but they were able to get the project back on track this year.

"We were able to put up a total of 11 images, and we tried as much as possible to relate them to their locations, and in most cases they're directly at, near or across from where they were taken," Volkert said. "For instance, down at the fairgrounds, there's a very good picture of flat track race with motorcyclists."

The photo is near the main entrance to the fairgrounds. All of the photos in the project are located on light boxes on or directly off Wooster Avenue.

Going north on Wooster, the next image is at West Broadway.

"It depicts a flood scene from 1910. Most of the houses that are shown in the picture exist and are easily seen," Volkert said.

Another photo is located at Front Street just off Wooster Avenue. The photograph is of a steel bridge that existed around the turn of the century.

"It shows the scene of the bridge and a little boy sitting on a piece of sandstone off to the side," Volkert said.

The next light box is at Second Street by Benson's Market and Catering.

"It shows Weaver's Used Cars in the late 1950s, which was across the street on the south (corner.) They occupied a couple of lots, more or less, where Elite Tire is now," Volkert said.

At the square where the LifeBridge Community Church now stands is a photo of the Reeves Military Band taken in about 1910.

"If you look to the right of where the image is, you'll see the exact location where the picture was taken," Volkert said.

The same is true for the photo located at Fourth Street and Wooster in front of the Fourth and Faith Building of the St. John's Church, which used to be the Fred P. Potschner Ford dealership.

"There's a photograph that was taken in 1937, and the reason I know that is in looking closely at the picture, you see a '37 Ford in the showroom and you see the back of a '36 Ford parked outside," Volkert said.

"It shows some workers from the Northern Ohio Traction and Light, which was a trolley company," Volkert said.

The company operated electric interurban rail lines. The photo is a view of the front of a trolley car, and a child of one of the workers is sitting on the headlight. "The car barn where this would have been taken was actually where the Subway Plaza is, so it's not very far from where it was taken," Volkert said.

The photo at 21st Street is an aerial view of a test track at the Toomey Farm, which extended from the west side of 17th Street to 21st Street. The Toomey company and the Toomey family were very important in early Dover.

"On the one side of the box is a copy of an ad for the Toomey Sulky," Volkert said. "On East Second Street, more or less, behind the fire station is where the Toomey company manufactured wagons."

At the time sulky racing was huge, and Sam Toomey, the patriarch of the family, devised a super lightweight sulky with a patented trust rear axle.

"They were shipped all over the country and into Europe. It was a very successful company," Volkert said. "One of them was put on display in the Henry Ford Museum."

A member of the Toomey family was friends with Henry Ford, who came to Dover personally to pick up the sulky. This would have happened sometime in the 1920s or 1930s.

Sam Toomey also was Dover's first volunteer fire chief in 1873.

The light box at the entrance to the park of 23rd Street has a photo taken the day the Dover City Park pool opened in 1971.

The last photo has been placed near the Drug Mart Plaza.

"It depicts the bridge, which was on Schneider's Crossing over the Sugar Creek, and it was the last covered bridge in Tuscarawas County," Volkert said. "The photo was taken in 1939, just before it was replaced with a steel bridge."

The project cost just over $5,000, and the material the photos are made of is the same material that is used to wrap vehicles.

"They should have a pretty long life. It's intended to be weather resistant and not fade," Volkert said. "At some point they'll need replaced and may be replaced with a different image."

The City of Dover has been awarded a grant to replace some other traffic lights in town, and when that happens, Volkert would like to see more photos added to any new light boxes.

The images wrap around one corner of the light boxes.

"They're intended both for pedestrians and people driving by," Volkert said. "We want to take away some of the ugly of the big boxes."

The Power of Companionship

Here's why socialization is so important to the health and well-being of our seniors.

by Mitch Allen

Since the phrase “social distancing” entered the vernacular in 2020, much research has been done to determine its effects. It turns out the virus itself has not been the only cause of illness. So has our isolation, which has resulted in dramatically increased rates of many diseases.

But isolation is nothing new to scientists studying aging. The importance of social interaction for seniors is well-documented. Staying involved in families and communities can help fight disease and keep you happy throughout your later life.

The National Institute on Aging (NIA) reports that seniors who are more social are less likely to have Alzheimer's disease, rheumatoid arthritis, osteoporosis, cardiovascular disease, and some forms of cancer. Furthermore, Psychology Today has reported that socialization is a great way to prevent mental illness, like depression, and can contribute to a longer life.

Unfortunately, loneliness today is easier than ever. DoorDash can deliver our favorite meals; grocery staffers shop the food aisles for us; movies, plays and concerts are live-streamed into our own living rooms, and in-person friendships have been replaced by “likes” and “comments” on social media.

And not seeing others means we are less motivated to keep our homes tidy and take care of personal hygiene.

An Active Lifestyle at Copeland Oaks

One of the best ways to ensure proper socialization is to join a retirement community that specializes in it. That's Copeland Oaks, in the quaint village of Sebring, Ohio. It's a 55+ community located on a 250-acre campus with all the amenities you need to enjoy an active, well-deserved retirement.

Wellness activities include an aquatics and fitness center, which is home to recreational programs, personal training, and aerobics, along with classes like Zumba, chair exercises, and line dancing.

“Residents also enjoy nature trails, a bass-fishing lake, fishing pier, pickle ball court, and putting green,” said Lisa Gentile, Chief Development Officer and Senior Campus Director at Copeland Oaks. “Everyone has access to plenty of activities to keep them active and involved, including fun-filled travel opportunities and special events.”

At the nearby University of Mount Union, Copeland residents enjoy concerts, lectures, theater and sporting events. On-campus activities include ice cream socials, live entertainment, holiday celebrations and a lot more.

“We also have a library, woodworking shop, community garden area, and Creativity Center, which is home to classes for painting, drawing, handcrafts, needlework, photography, jewelry making and more,” Lisa says. “The Copeland Chorale is also a popular choice among our residents.”

In addition, there's plenty of shopping just minutes away, as well as a free lifetime membership and golf for residents at the nearby Berlin Lake Golf Club.

Living Options

Copeland Oaks is a completely debt-free, non-profit venture, and it does not require an entrance fee to move in.

For those seeking independent living, there are two different options: Choose one of the 140 fully independent ranch-style villas located on quiet, tree-lined streets, or one of Copeland Oaks' beautiful apartments featuring a glorious view of the lake.

The zero-maintenance lifestyle means all landscaping and maintenance are taken care of. You can even schedule housekeeping, for a truly worry-free living experience.

“Our residents have spent their lives working and raising families. It's time for them to be able to enjoy themselves without the stressful upkeep of a home,” Lisa said. “Here, the only responsibility they need to bother themselves with is which activities they want to participate in.”

Copeland Oaks is located at 800 S. 15th Street in Sebring, Ohio. Tours are by appointment with evenings and weekends available. To schedule your personal tour, call 330-938-6126. The web address is CopelandOaks.com. Content underwritten by Copeland Oaks.

Special Offer: Commit by December 31, 2022, and receive 2 months of free rent and up to $1,500 of your moving costs covered.

4 Ways Seniors Can Stay Social

Remaining socially engaged is essential in our senior years to maintain our physical and mental wellbeing. Here are four ways to improve your connection to others:

1. Join Groups or Clubs

Interest groups or clubs are a great form of social interaction for seniors. Are there any new skills you've always wanted to try, or is there a former hobby you've been meaning to pick back up? It's likely you can find a group of people to do it with you.

2. Volunteering

Volunteering is another great way for seniors to stay active in their community. Studies have shown that seniors who give back to their communities reported significant improvements in their mental health, increased productivity, and a greater sense of happiness in life overall.

3. Having Standing Dates

Reach out to your friends or family members and see if they'd be willing to set a standing date to meet with you regularly. If once a week is tough to fit into a busy schedule, meeting with friends and family once or twice a month is a great way to keep you social! Plus, it keeps you involved in your family and friend's lives, giving you something to look forward to regularly.

4. Join a Retirement Community

Living on your own can be lonely. Many retirement communities offer a variety of group activities, including hobby-based groups, religious groups, and more. Copeland Oaks is able to improve the lives of seniors aged 55 and older, regardless of how much or little living assistance they need. Through their living facilities and activity groups, they encourage all residents to stay active in the retirement community, engage with arts and humanities, and live their later years to the fullest.

Rockets finish the flag football season undefeated

Under the direction of head coach Shawn Ciekanski, the Rockets finished the flag football season with a 9-0 record.

They won five games during the regular season against teams from Union, Stark, Belmont and Wood counties. However, it was Nov. 12 at the Special Olympics Ohio State flag football tournament that the Rockets really shined.

Through a team effort, the Rockets were able to defeat Belmont County, Westerville White and Union County in pool play to enter the medal round tied for the top seed. They faced the Stark Storm team and came away with the victory and a gold medal.

This is the fifth season for Rockets flag football and their second time capturing a gold medal. In seasons past they have finished fourth, second and third.

The Rockets were led offensively by Cory Amatangelo, Gary Calkins, Steve Hazelip and Matthew Medley. Austin McGinnis played center for the Rockets. Defensively, Hazelip, Medley, Cayden Ciekanski, John Freeman and Rachael Russell successfully pulled several plays while Aidan McClain rushed the opposing quarterbacks. Miranda Milburn also contributed to the team's victories.

Unable to play at the state game but part of the team throughout the season were Eric Farnsworth and Samantha Mastroine. Assistant coaches for the season were Fritz McGinnis, Bill Fitz and David Urdiales.

The Special Olympics Ohio Div. II flag football title comes just two months after the Rockets secured the Special Olympics Ohio Unified Softball title. When asked what he thought of the event, Steve Hazelip said, "I love my Rockets family. We play hard and work hard."

Rachael Russell said, "I'm proud of my teammates and proud to be a Rocket."

The Rockets will now continue their winter sports schedule with basketball, swimming and competitive cheerleading. The first basketball games will be Dec. 10 at Ashtabula while the first swim meet is scheduled for Jan. 15 in Canton.

Storybook Lane remains a tradition

By Tom Adamich

As New Philadelphia's Storybook Lane display enters the 2022 Christmas season, condolences are in order to recognize the passing of New Philadelphia's Mark Watson, who died Oct. 26 at age 75.

Watson was an artist who came from a family of artisans. His dad, Walt, was a well-known home builder, woodworker and cabinet maker responsible for most of the development on New Philadelphia's south side in the 1960s and 1970s. Other members of the Watson family including son Jeff, who specialized in wallpaper and painting, worked in the family business.

Watson specialized in air-brushing technique, glass etching and stained glass. He was drafted by younger brother Kent Watson, who operates Watson Painting and Watson & Burkey LCC today — both based in New Philadelphia in 2001 — to help restore the original Storybook Lane panels to their original glory. Kent Watson co-chaired the original restoration campaign, a project of the New Philadelphia Rotary, with the help of the late Dick Stewart to assist him, as described in the 2022 update of the Storybook Lane project.

Storybook Lane begins in 1956 on East High Avenue

It was Vic Marsh, one of the founders of Marsh Wall Products Company, along with other neighbors in New Philadelphia's East High Avenue neighborhood, who launched the Storybook Lane project.

Founded in 1930 by Alvin and Victor Marsh, Marsh Wall Products Co. was noted for its decorative, functional and durable Marsh Tile for bathrooms and kitchens, which became popular during the Great Depression and following World War II.

The product, with grooves resembling tile, was made of hardboard and finished with a tough scratch and moisture-resistant topcoat melamine coating. This created a high-quality surface that could be colorized and textured.

In 1948 Marsh Wall Products Company became a subsidiary of the Masonite Corporation, the supplier of the hardboard substrate used in the panel's production. Marsh Tile was rebranded to be known as Marlite or Masonite, both locally and nationally, in corporate advertising.

Vic Marsh used Marlite to create 21 original storybook characters beginning in 1955, designed to mimic colorful Christmas department store window displays. Neighbors Herb Bischel, who offered use of his barn, and artist William "Goose" Kniesner, formerly associated with Walt Disney Studios, joined others to build the Storybook Lane panels in the evenings. The construction became a community event on New Philadelphia's east end with Vic Marsh supervising the work, and his wife, the former Pearl Gladys Snyder, provided refreshments for the crew.

During the 1956 Christmas season, Storybook Lane was launched with lighting for each display, and some displays featured moving animation along the stretch of homes that still line a section of East High Avenue beginning at Beaver Avenue moving eastward.

The event became a success with an estimated 200,000 people viewing Storybook Lane that year, creating traffic jams that would be commonplace in future years.

Storybook Lane on East High Avenue would continue until the early 1970s when the display was discontinued. In 1980 it would be resurrected and moved to New Philadelphia's Tuscora Park to alleviate the earlier traffic tie-ups.

The New Philadelphia Rotary becomes the Storybook Lane caretaker

It was the City of New Philadelphia that assumed the role of managing and storing the Storybook Lane panels after it moved to Tuscora Park. This was successful for a number of years. However, in the 1990s, age and other priorities led the Storybook Lane panels to fall into disrepair.

In 2001 Vic Marsh's daughter, the late Ellie Kirk, joined her husband Brenton Kirk to ask the New Philadelphia Rotary to take on restoration of Storybook Lane as a club project. Ellie Kirk married Brenton in 1948. After attending college, both prior to and after WWII and working with his father at the Belmont Copper Enameling Plant from 1949-55, Brenton Kirk started working at Marlite in 1956. Thus, he had an appreciation for the history of the Storybook Lane panels and the Marlite material from which they were made. Brenton Kirk also was a 50-year member of the New Philadelphia Rotary.

Through Mark Watson's restoration of the images — along with repairing broken or missing pieces, fixing scratches, filling holes and adding new text panels for the nursery rhymes at Ellie Kirk's suggestion — Storybook Lane was relaunched in Tuscora Park on Dec. 14, 2002.

The work of Mark Watson and others continues to be enjoyed by families and older folks who remembered the original display from decades before.

The New Philadelphia Rotary continues to accept sponsorship donations for the Storybook Lane project. Individuals and businesses may donate as a sponsor for $300 or as a friend for $100.

Sponsors will receive two lines on one of the character verse boards, and friends will be recognized with a line on one of the friends boards. These donations cover a three-year period and are renewable.

Rudolph Run and Christmas Parade set in Strasburg

By Lori Feeney

A new 5k run/walk and Christmas Parade will be part of the Strasburg holiday festivities for the first time this year. The Rudolph Run and the parade are being organized by the Strasburg Parent Teacher Group with the goal of raising funds for the many activities and events the PTG makes possible.

The Rudolph Run will begin at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 10 at Strasburg School's administration building, 140 N. Bodmer Ave. The walk will begin at the same location at 10:15 a.m. Participants are encouraged to don their best holiday attire and compete for medals, which will be given to the top-three finishers in each category.

Justin Hite is not a member of the PTG, but his wife Kayla is. Hite said his wife felt the PTG needed a big event to raise funds. Hite has experience in event coordination and fundraising, having served seven years as the vice president of the Tuscarawas County Pony League.

"My goal in approaching the PTG was to lay the foundation for a signature event which can be continued for years down the road," Hite said.

The race is part of the Ohio Challenge Series, sponsored by Subway and NovaCare. Hite said they are coordinating with the series in order to draw runners from outside of the Strasburg area.

Runners and walkers can preregister at the link on the Strasburg PTG Facebook page. There is even a virtual option for those who want to pay the registration fee and walk at home.

Those registered by Nov. 24 will be guaranteed a race T-shirt. The fee for the chip-timed Rudolph Run and the virtual walk is $35. Registration for the walk is $25.

"We are still seeking sponsors for the race and the parade," Hite said. "Our goal is to have all costs covered so that all registration fees are profit."

It's high time for a parade

Hite said Strasburg hasn't had a parade in quite a while. "I worked with a local 4-H group to put together a parade about six years ago, but a nasty weather storm came through, and it was canceled," he said. "This parade will go on, rain, sleet or snow."

The Christmas Parade will begin at the First Lutheran Church at 211 Eighth St. SW and proceed along Bodmer Avenue from Seventh to First Street. Anyone and everyone is welcome to participate at no charge.

Hite said he has already been contacted by 24 different groups interested in entering floats, although a float is not required.

Groups wanting to participate are encouraged to toss candy or hand out other items. "We just ask that they be in good taste," Hite said. "The only rule for participating in the parade is please don't wear a Santa costume. We don't want to confuse the kids, and the official Santa will arrive in a fire truck at the end of the parade."

Santa will be preceded by the Strasburg High School band playing Christmas songs. Hite said Santa will make a stop by the live nativity at St. John's UCC. After that, it's on to the fire station for a meet-and-greet with Santa, where children will receive a small gift and can get hot chocolate and cookies.

Preregistration for the parade is strongly recommended. Hite will announce groups and floats during the parade. "The registration form includes a section asking businesses to describe what they do in 50 words or less," Hite said. "Then I'll use that information to announce them during the parade."

Ashley Bryant, a member of the PTG, is helping organize the new events.

"Ultimately, we are doing this to help the PTG continue funding events for students like our Fall Fest, Trunk or Treat and back-to-school party."

To preregister for the parade or the run, call Hite at 330-447-8175 or email hitejm@yahoo.com. For more information on the events, call Bryant at 330-806-2939 or email strasburgptg@gmail.com.

A Peaceful Place FOR INSPIRATION

By Mary Malik

The Gospel Shop in Sugarcreek is lighting up the town, just like original owner David Stutzman was told it would when he moved his home-based Christian books and records store to a Main Street location in 1967. After a few more moves, The Gospel Shop has settled in its forever home at 112 E. Main St., under the ownership of Stutzman's daughter and her husband, Rhoda and Freeman Mullet.

"Our goal remains the same — to provide our customers with a peaceful place to find inspirational books and products of all kinds," Rhoda Mullet said. "We are happy to be carrying on Dad's dream and helping customers grow in their faith and share that with friends and families."

Freeman and Rhoda Mullet

Mullet said her father loved the idea of The Gospel Shop being a light in the heart of Sugarcreek. As a pastor and book lover, Stutzman wanted the store to be a place that offered spiritual guidance for people in the form of Bibles, books, and music. And it has since grown to include so much more.

"We still have a wide variety of faith-based books for adults and children in addition to inspirational gift items, t-shirts with an inspirational message, jewelry, children's corner, a card shop filled with boxed cards and individual cards, and a front room for seasonal items, which right now is devoted to Christmas," Mullet said.

The Gospel Shop isn't the only store in Sugarcreek getting ready to celebrate the holidays. The very special annual event Light Up Sugarcreek is taking place Saturday, Dec. 3 from 4-7 p.m. Sugarcreek shops will show off lighting displays in one big lighting reveal along with an appearance by Santa Claus himself, sleigh rides, singing and candle lighting in front of the Cuckoo Clock, and a special Christmas message from a community pastor.

"This is a family event," Mullet said. "Popcorn, hot dogs, roasted chestnuts and s'mores will be offered along Main Street, which is closed to traffic for the event."

Main Street shops will offer sales and specials during Light Up Sugarcreek.

At The Gospel Shop, shoppers will be treated to 25% off their purchases from 4-7 p.m.

"We love serving this community," Mullet said. "We are here to stay and will continue to light up Sugarcreek for years to come."

Christmas with a Cop seeks support

The Fraternal Order of Police, Tuscora Lodge #4, is sponsoring its Christmas with a Cop event. This is the 13th year for the program for area children.

The goal is to make Christmas a bit brighter for area children and families. Normally, the costs associated with this program exceed $6,000, which sometimes varies depending on the number of recipients or how much is allocated to each child.

Officer Chad Dorsey from the New Philadelphia Police Department has once again volunteered to chair the event.

As in the past, the selection of recipients for this program is by need. This process involves teachers from area schools in Tuscarawas County. They help select the recipients based on their knowledge of the children.

Once the children are selected, phone calls are made to the parents, and a list of needs and desires is obtained. Each child in the family, not just the child selected, is a recipient of the program. For the past couple of years, each family has been given a gift card from an area grocery store to help defray the costs of food for the Christmas season. On the day of delivery, a caravan of marked police cruisers delivers gifts to the homes of the recipients.

To fund this program, financial support from the business community and residents is needed. Over the next few weeks, many businesses and citizens will receive a letter from Tuscora Lodge #4, asking for a donation.

The donation can be sent directly to FOP, Tuscora Lodge #4, P.O. Box 2, Dover, OH 44622-0002. People also are welcome to stop by any local police department and drop off a donation. Just write on the envelope it is for Christmas with a Cop.

Make sure gifts arrive on time

Thanks to families being more spread out than ever before, today's holiday shoppers must figure out ways to get holiday gifts to their destination on time.

The upcoming holiday season tends to be the busiest time of year for many delivery services. The following tips should help shoppers ensure their loved ones' gifts arrive on time:

—Ship directly. Holiday shoppers who want to ensure their loved ones will receive their gifts on time can rely on online shopping. When checking out, have gifts shipped directly to loved ones' homes. Many online retailers will even wrap gifts for a nominal fee.

—Research shipping options. In 2022, Christmas falls on a Sunday. Shoppers who plan to rely on two-day or overnight shipping should keep that in mind. Some delivery services may be open throughout the weekend before Christmas, while others may only be open on Saturday. Last-minute shoppers, whether they're shopping online or in-person, should confirm their shipping options well in advance of Christmas. Because Christmas is on a Sunday this year,

File

getting gifts to their destination on time may require shoppers to purchase and ship them earlier than they otherwise might.

—Purchase package insurance. Consumer Reports notes that UPS and FedEx shipments automatically come with declared-value coverage of up to $100. (Note: Declared value is the carrier's maximum liability.) Purchasing additional insurance can ease shoppers' concerns about lost or stolen packages. Just be sure to keep all invoices and receipts in case claims must be filed. Shoppers also should ask for tracking numbers on all packages so they can confirm when packages are delivered.

—Properly secure the package. Many delivery services now have off-site drop-off boxes that can make it easy to send gifts. This is a convenient service, but shoppers who use them won't be able to have a company employee provide in-person confirmation that their packages are secured to company standards. Poorly packaged items may never be shipped. Visit the shipping company's website for packaging guidelines, and include a business card and duplicate label inside the package just in case it is damaged after being dropped off.

Reasons to shop small this season

The importance of small businesses to the economy cannot be overstated. Though national chains often garner publicity, local businesses are equally, if not exceedingly, worthy of attention.

What defines a small business as "small" varies significantly, but these businesses are generally privately owned and generate far less revenue than big corporations. General consensus also defines small businesses as companies with fewer than 500 paid employees, according to the U.S. Small Business Administration.

Here's a deep look at why small businesses are so vital, and why consumers should direct more of their purchasing power to smaller companies rather than the big box retailers and other national chains.

1. Autonomy and diversity

The layout and offerings at national chains will be identical whether you live in the mountains or at the beach. Big box stores follow a consistent marketing strategy and look the same regardless of where they are located. That familiarity can come at the cost of variety. On the other hand, an independent business offers the products and services that are reflective of the customers and the community they serve.

2. Local hiring strategy

Certain big box retailers will hire local residents, but hiring policies may push for promoting from within the organization. This could mean relocating an employee rather than bringing in someone from the community who may be more in tune with local sensibilities. Small businesses may be more inclined to hire residents they know and keep hiring centralized to the local area — something that keeps more resources and money in the community.

File

3. Adaptability and change

Local businesses can move more quickly to respond to economic factors that require change. Since they are focused more on the needs of their customers rather than stockholders, changes can be implemented rapidly without having to go through red tape, meetings and updates to corporate policies. Changes also can be customized to the local community at large.

4. Investing in the town

Shopping at locally owned businesses rather than big box retailers keeps more money in the community. Local property taxes and other taxes paid by the businesses go right back into the community. This helps raise overall value for homeowners and can even reduce their taxes. The funding helps keep police, fire and school departments functioning properly.

5. Turnover is greater

While no one wants to see a small business fail, that fate is sometimes unavoidable. However, that turnover helps teach communities what was done poorly and helps others learn from those mistakes. It also means fresh businesses will come in and replace the old, driving new growth, opportunity and competition that keeps prices competitive.

The benefits of a thriving small business sector are numerous. Consumers can do their part by patronizing these firms more frequently.

Toys for Tots collection and distribution now underway

By Scott Daniels

Toys for Tots has begun distributing toys to area families from a warehouse in Sherrodsville. A charity started by the United States Marine Corps after World War II, Toys for Tots delivers new, unwrapped toys as Christmas gifts to families who might otherwise have empty space under the tree.

"We are distributing toys now from the warehouse," said area Toys for Tots coordinator Bob Stratton, a retired marine. "Families can pick up toys Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m."

Stratton said more than 100 families have come to the warehouse for toys so far. Distribution continues through Dec. 20. The warehouse is located at 6034 Dana Road NW in Sherrodsville.

Meanwhile, toys are being collected at locations around the area. Look for merchants with a Toys for Tots sign and you'll find a collection box inside. There are 50 collection boxes available to gather donated toys.

"All of the toys we collect go to area families," Stratton said. "Monetary donations we receive all go to buy toys. Our team is made up of all volunteers, and they're a good crew. It takes a lot of help from a lot of people to do this every year."

It is the reaction of the children, in large part, that keeps Stratton going each year. "The faces of those kids when they get their present — they just light up. That's what makes all the work worth doing."

Stratton began his efforts within his own church more than 30 years ago and has been overseeing the local Toys for Tots annual effort for the past five. His efforts have survived natural disasters, a warehouse fire and a delivery vehicle that had seen better days.

Undaunted, Stratton continues to do the work of getting toys into the hands of children. "Many of those kids might not have anything otherwise," he said.

No application process is necessary to receive a toy. "Any kid who needs a toy is welcome. There is no application necessary," Stratton said.

The U.S. Marine Corps Reserve Toys for Tots program collects new, unwrapped toys throughout the months of October, November and December and distributes them to less fortunate children during the Christmas holiday season.

The toys are meant to be a symbol of hope. The program had its official origins in the mid-1990s as an outreach program of the Marine Corps. It was initially founded in response to helping soldiers' families who were hit by defense cutbacks.

The Toys for Tots program has grown since its beginning in 1947 and has delivered more than 620 million toys to 281 million children. The Marine Toys for Tots Foundation raises funds, purchases toys, provides promotional and support materials, manages all funds raised and donated, solicits corporate support, educates the public, and handles day-to-day operations nationally.

A single New York City restaurant started it all

We take going out to a restaurant for granted. There are places to eat scattered everywhere, all over the world. The way they handle our food and serve us is pretty standard, but it wasn't always so.

There was a single New York City restaurant that started it all, and it's still there today, at least using the same name and updated recipes until running aground on the COVID rocks.

The restaurant is Delmonico's, and I'm pretty sure you've heard of it. It started as a Frenchy pastry shop on William Street in 1837, and we owe many firsts to the place.

Delmonico's was the first such establishment in America to apply the French word "restaurant" in describing itself. It was the first to hand diners a printed menu from which they could make a selection.

Before Delmonico's, people sat at long, shared tables. They were the first to offer private table seating. They introduced table cloths, the wine list, eggs Benedict and lobster Newburg.

They provided space for large galas, which were usually held in the ballrooms of the rich. They allowed women to gather in groups unsupervised by men and were the first to hire women as cashiers.

It was and is a fancy place and is mentioned in many novels, autobiographies, movies and television shows. Delmonico's probably was the first restaurant in America at which eating there was a very special occasion.

Delmonico's has not been open continuously since its founding. It passed from the family in the 1920s as Prohibition did its work of killing everything fun. After many changes of hands and reinventions, the place closed "temporarily" in 2020 due to the pandemic and has not reopened. Wikipedia says the landlord has been trying to boot them out.

Perhaps the most famous dish to come out of this famous location is the Delmonico steak, served with equally famous baked potatoes stuffed with, well, other baked potatoes.

There have been so many iterations of the steak dish that even the most recent owners aren't sure what was used in the beginning. Today, it's a 1.5-pound ribeye, meaning you should double date with another sensible couple and get it to share for four.

Delmonico steak is on the menu of many unrelated restaurants in the world, and you'll likely just be served whatever steak they have in the walk-in, prepared however their cook does it.

Now that we are solidly into the holiday season, this may be the special occasion menu you're looking for. I claim authenticity, as the recipes come from the book, "Dining at Delmonico's," which is part cookbook, part history, and put out by the people who operated it at the time of publication in 2008. Choose your own size of steak; you don't need the over 20-ounce monster the recipe calls for.

2 boneless, aged ribeye steaks. Delmonico's specifies 6 weeks aging or longer. Sea salt and freshly ground pepper
3 tablespoons extra virgin olive oil.
Herbed butter:
3 fresh bay leaves
1 tablespoon fresh thyme
2 tablespoons sea salt

4 sticks unsalted butter, at room temperature

Make the butter ahead of time. Place the bay leaves, thyme and salt in a spice grinder and grind to a powder. Add this mixture to the butter and mix with a hand-held mixer. When combined, place the butter in the center of a sheet of plastic wrap. Bring the nearest side up over the butter and form it into a log with your hands. Wrap it tightly and refrigerate. It will keep as long as butter would.

Preheat a grill, grill pan or cast iron skillet. Pat the steaks dry and season with the salt and pepper on both sides. When the cooking surface is hot, sear the steaks carefully on both sides for a few minutes each. Remove from the heat and brush with the olive oil. Return the steaks to the grill and cook until the desired internal temperature is reached, about 135 F for medium rare. Serve each steak with a knob of the herbed butter.

Leg pains could be sign of heart attack or stroke

Dear Savvy Senior,

I started a walking program a few months ago to help me lose weight, but I've been having problems with my legs and hips hurting during my walk, although they feel better once I stop. I thought it was just because I'm getting old, but my neighbor was telling me about a leg vein disease she has called PAD and thinks I may have something similar. What can you tell me about this?

Limping Linda

Dear Linda,

The health condition your neighbor is telling you about is known as peripheral arterial disease, which is an under-the-radar disease that affects approximately 8-12 million Americans.

It happens when the arteries that carry blood to the legs and feet become narrowed or clogged over the years with fatty deposits or plaque, causing poor circulation.

But you also need to be aware that because PAD is a systemic disease, people who have it also are much more likely to have clogged arteries in other areas of the body like the heart, neck and brain, which greatly increases the risks of heart attack or stroke.

Few symptoms

Unfortunately, PAD goes undiagnosed and untreated way too often because most people who have it experience few, if any symptoms. The most common symptom, however, is similar to what you're experiencing: pain and cramping in the hip, thigh or calf muscles, especially when walking or exercising but usually disappears after resting for a few minutes.

Jim Miller

Another reason PAD is under-diagnosed is because many people assume aches and pains go along with aging and simply live with it instead of reporting it to their doctor.

Other possible symptoms to be aware of include leg numbness or weakness, coldness or skin-color changes in the lower legs and feet, or ulcers or sores on the legs or feet that don't heal.

Are you at risk?

Like most other health conditions, the risk of developing PAD increases with age. Those most vulnerable are people over the age of 50 who smoke or used to smoke, have elevated cholesterol, high blood pressure, diabetes, are overweight, or have a family history of PAD, heart attack or stroke. African Americans also are twice as likely to have PAD as Caucasians.

If you're experiencing any symptoms or if you're at increased risk of PAD, you need to be tested by your doctor or a vascular specialist. He or she will probably perform a quick and painless ankle-brachial index test, which is done by measuring your blood pressure in your ankle and your arm and comparing the two numbers. Your doctor also may do imaging tests such as ultrasound, magnetic resonance angiography and computed tomographic angiography.

With early detection, many cases of PAD can be treated with lifestyle modifications including an improved diet, increased physical activity and smoking cessation.

If lifestyle changes aren't enough, your doctor may prescribe medicine to prevent blood clots, lower blood pressure and cholesterol, and control pain and other symptoms. And for severe PAD, the treatment options are angioplasty — inflating a tiny balloon in the artery to restore blood flow and then removed — the insertion of a stent to reopen the artery or a graft bypass to reroute blood around the blockage.

To learn more about PAD, visit the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute at www.NHLBI.NIH.gov/health-topics/peripheral-artery-disease.

Send your senior questions to Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit www.SavvySenior.org.

WEAVER COMMERCIAL REAL ESTATE AUCTION

50 x 90 BUILDING SITUATED ON 1.5 ACRES
6625 State Route 241, Millersburg, OH 44654
TUES, DECEMBER 6TH • 4:00PM
SELLING ON LOCATION

REAL ESTATE: Location, Location, Location....If you are shopping for any type of commercial location between Millersburg and Benton in the heart of Holmes County this could be your match. The property consists of a 50x90 building with a poured wall foundation, wide footers, concrete 6" thick with rebar reinforcement made for heavy traffic. There is also a 5400 sq ft of concrete out front of the building constructed of the same thickness. This building sits on 1.5 acres has 14' doors, 16' ceilings and natural gas. There is no well and no septic on the property but has room should these be desired. There is also a 3 sided shed and portable barn that serves as the office currently. It is currently operated as a sawmill/woodshop but the base is there to transform it into whatever you need it to be. The property fronts on 241 so visibility and access couldn't be much better. The current equipment will be removed, however if the new buyer has use for the hydraulic lines that are run they could be left if desired. Many of these type of properties exchange without you knowing about it but here's one that will hit the auction block, sell to the high bidder, and everyone that is interested will have their fair shot. I encourage you if you're shopping to take advantage of the opportunity.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS: Terms: We require a non-refundable down payment of 10% of the purchase price with the balance due in full at closing within 60 days. There is a 5% Buyers Premium that will be calculated from the high bid to establish the contract price. There are no financing contingencies.

POSSESSION: Possession will be on or before June 1st 2023.

TAXES: Part of Parcel 06-00857-000, Holmes County-Hardy Twp-Millersburg. Taxes are currently $2697.47 annually on the original 2 acre parcel and will be recalculated and prorated to the day of closing.
