Organ is a cherished tradition at church

By Scott Daniels

The sound of a large church organ filling the sanctuary is a cherished tradition among many churches in the United States. Emmanuel Lutheran Church in New Philadelphia, housing a large organ with pipes spread across the entire front wall of the worship space, will host its third annual concert series performance on Sunday, Oct. 22 at 3 p.m.

The concert, titled the Charles "Win" Dozer Memorial Concert Series, is offered with a freewill offering and refreshments served just after the music winds down.

Dozer was a local musician and music teacher who passed away in 2021. Emmanuel Pastor Robert M. Eller said the concerts help raise money for needed repairs and restoration to the pipe organ, now more than 50 years old. The organ's pipes are housed behind wooden structures making up the wall of the sanctuary and are an integral part of the building.

Pastor Robert Eller at Emmanuel Lutheran Church said the church's pipe organ is in need of renovation.

"It was installed when the current church was built, so that's 1971," Eller said. "There are parts that need repaired or replaced, and that's an extensive project.

Our hope is to do it in stages. It's less cost-effective that way, but you wouldn't have the entire organ shut down for an extended period. We could still enjoy the music while the repairs are ongoing. Otherwise, we'd have to decommission the instrument for an unknown amount of time. It's more economical to do it all at once, but that scenario would also mean loss of the music in the meantime."

The cost of the entire project, estimated at $250,000, also will dictate how quickly it moves along.

The concert will feature classical and sacred music played by local musicians. Luke Tegtmeier is from Schantz Organ Company. In addition to playing, he will offer a brief history of his company and the organ at Emmanuel Lutheran.

Music has been a key element in worship since the founding of the Lutheran Church, Eller said.

"Martin Luther himself was a hymn writer. Most famously he composed 'A Mighty Fortress Is Our God.' Music has been ingrained in the culture of the Lutheran Church from the very beginning. It's another way for us to give thanks to God, to praise God through music rather than just prayer," Eller said. "It's vital in my opinion. I feel you really can't do church without some form of music. And the big pipe organ just adds a whole other dimension to the experience. To lose it through disrepair would be devastating, I think.

"The cost of renovation is actually quite small compared to that of replacing the whole thing. There are electronic organs that can deliver a truly great sound, but nothing like the experience of a full pipe organ in a large space like this."

Eller said the Emmanuel organ is a bit smaller than some out there. "Others might have more expensive instrumentation. Some have what are called trumpet stops, which create the effect of having an entire brass section."

Emmanuel Lutheran frequently teams its organ performances with other musicians playing along with cello, guitar or piano.

"The pipe organ sound adds depth to the music that you really can't get in any other way," Eller said, speaking behind the walls of the sanctuary where the mechanism is housed. "That big rumbling sound adds so much to our worship service."

MANY Ranch HANDS MAKE LIGHT WORK

Building a fence through unity

By Dave Mast

The fence surrounding the grounds of Froman Hill Boys Ranch near Dover became a reality on Saturday, Oct. 7.

With many different fencing companies spanning several counties, the project became manageable as businesses that would normally compete for jobs united because they felt called to do so for the sake of the mission of discipleship for young men.

Each company provided a display of the type of accomplishment that can come from people dedicated to working together for the common good.

"There's 11 crews here today, another that came in yesterday and another that will come in tomorrow, and all of them were willing to donate the labor and materials to the project," said Ivan Raber of Maple Valley Fence, which helped spearhead the event. "It's been neat to see everyone giving so generously to a project that is well worth doing."

In what was believed to be one of the largest gatherings of fence builders anywhere, the 11 crews got to work in the morning and attacked each of their assigned sections of what was estimated to be around 11,000 feet of fencing, close to 2 miles.

The project included pounding in hundreds of posts and stringing the wire fencing. The crews set posts, placed corner braces, sawed the fence, hung gates and placed the wiring, a job that would have taken a single company many days to complete.

However, because of the commitment to lend a hand to Froman Hills Boys Ranch and its ministry, the work was done quickly.

While many of the crews were around the Holmes and Tuscarawas area, others came from farther away, one from Butler, Ohio and two from Geauga County.

While most days see the companies competing for projects, this day saw them united in their effort.

There was a morning presentation on the day of the event where leaders spoke briefly about the process and which company would take which portion of the fence. There also was another important factor to the discussion.

"All of the competition was laid down today, and the focus was on working together as one to have a great day and to support each other for the good of the project," Raber said.

Daniel Miller, owner of Mohican Valley Fence in Butler, said when he approached his crew about volunteering for the effort, there was no resistance.

"We had a real urge to be here helping on this worthwhile project," Miller said. "They have a tremendous mission here, and we are honored to be part of it. This type of thing gives you a great feeling of satisfaction, even though we traveled a long way to get here."

Each of the crews shared that sentiment.

As a reward they were treated to a lunch from Byler's BBQ, and only when the work was done were they able to relax and share the day's activities with one another.

Watching the beehive of activity around the grounds were three of the Froman Hill Boys Ranch directors: Jonas Beachy, Tim Kline and Robert Shetler. Melvin Yoder and Ray Yoder, the two other directors, were not present at the time, but all shared their gratitude to the crews and companies that donated and participated in the project.

"This is such an important step for us," Beachy said.

The directors made some connections with Raber, who in turn accepted the challenge of overseeing the project. He in turn contacted the various other fencing companies, and one by one, they all committed.

"When we walked in here this morning, we were humbled by all of these people who gave their time to do the work," Beachy said.

Kline said the directors began talking about fencing in the acreage some time ago, but the cost of such an undertaking would be quite expensive. Then they watched as each company decided to join the cause.

"For one person to supply all of this isn't practical, but all of these guys coming together helps spread the cost around," Kline said.

Shetler said watching these men come together with one purpose in mind was proof there are still plenty of good people in the world today who will go out of their way to help others.

"Tomorrow they'll all be out competing for the same jobs, but today they put aside everything to help us," Shetler said. "That's inspiring and heartwarming."

Fence Raising

This fence at Froman Hill Boys Ranch spans almost 2 miles throughout the organization's property.

Dry ground and tough digging didn't stop the team of fencing companies from getting the job done at Froman Hill Boys Ranch.

Costumes encouraged at Art on the Alley on Oct. 15

Presented by Tuscarawas Arts Partnership and the Art on the Alley Committee, Art on the Alley will be held Sunday, Oct. 15 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in downtown New Philadelphia with a “Spook the Town” theme.

The community can expect a variety of fall activities, live performances, food, and artist and maker vendors. The community is invited to dress in costumes or cosplay and visit the artist vendors and spaces to trick or treat throughout the event.

At the Tuscarawas County Public Library, the front lawn will host a kids zone where families can do pumpkin decorating, interact with live animals and play yard games. Also, the MAD Bros Masquerade with TCPL will have a costume contest at 2 p.m. for kids and teens age infant to 4 years, 5-8 years, 9-13 years and 14-18 years.

The north stage will have performances by Smalls Smalley from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and ACOUSTIFIED from 1:30-4 p.m.

Everybody rides Mountain bike races held

By Teri Stein

The Ohio Mountain Bike League of the National Interscholastic Cycling Association held its final race of the season at Camp Tuscazoar on Oct. 8 with racers from all over the state of Ohio attending. The event was the last of five races that began in August. Other events, held every two weeks, were at Freer Park, John Bryan State Park, Hueston Woods State Park and Chestnut Ridge Metropark.

The sport is one dedicated to the athletes and their families. A motto on a NICA trailer read, "Everybody rides! No tryouts, no cuts, no benches."

"It's one of the most family-friendly and just fun events you could go to on a weekend. There's camping. Racing's a small part of it, but it's really just hanging out with friends and enjoying being outside," said Jen Malik, league and race director for the Ohio Mountain Bike League. "I love seeing the kids running around with other kids after the race and then cheering for their teammates."

The OMBL is for students in sixth grade through 12th grade. The team's first practices usually start around July 1, and usually, teams practice two to three times a week. The league likes to keep the season short because students are involved in so many other things.

"Then the goal is they can ride their bikes whenever they want, but they don't feel obligated to really have to focus on one thing being so young," Malik said.

Malik is a fan of Camp Tuscazoar's 5-mile mountain bike course.

"This is my favorite course, and it's our last one of the season," Malik said. "So they traditionally get harder with each race. This one has a decent amount of climbing. You have some rocks; you have some roots. And then there's this really fun, long descent where everyone lines up and cheers for the riders. We get a lot of positive feedback on them loving that part."

The first turn in the high school boys race

Many hardy fans of mountain biking made the about ¼ mile trek from the main course area to the spectator zone, which takes them down a steep hill to a series of switchbacks on the race trail.

The OMBL hopes that by getting youth involved in biking, they'll be lifelong athletes who love the sport, but there are other opportunities too.

"There are some high schools and colleges who have biking teams, and there is also the USA Cycling Mountain Bike races that happen year round," Malik said.

All that is needed to participate is a mountain bike and a helmet, but the OMBL is there to help.

"We try and decrease the barrier to entry. So we have an Everybody Rides Scholarship, which we have $10,000 each season we set aside to help cover equipment costs for student-athletes," Malik said. "We also work really closely with Trek, and next year we're going to get a loaner bike fleet so kids who might not have a bike can check one out and see if they like it."

Events begin on Saturdays with a prereday.

"Coaches ride the course with their teams to get the feel of it, and they also teach them how to ride certain sections that they might have trouble with," said Chris Lallier, a coach with the Grandview Bobcats.

The league makes sure there are no riders left behind at events.

"The organization has done a good job of making safety and fun a priority even though it's a competition," Lallier said.

Marshals ride the trail with the racers, and sweeps follow behind and make sure the course is clear for the next race. Volunteers also are stationed at certain points along the trail to help if needed. All use radios to keep in contact.

Depending on their group level, riders will ride 5-20 miles at a race. Some of the older boys can complete the 5-mile course in 20-22 minutes.

The competition is tight in all the groups. In one previous girls race, the winner won by less than a second, and the third girl was less than 20 seconds back.

"It's awesome when you see that kind of competition," volunteer Doug Fisher of Columbus said.

The league would like to see more girls get involved in the sport.

"We really want to get more girls on our team because right now we only have four, and two of them are seniors," said Denny Simon, coach of the Tuscazoar Composite team. "If there's any girls interested, we would love to have them join the team."

Fees to race were a little more than $100 this year, but the Tuscazoar team was able to secure sponsors that paid for all the race fees this year. They hope to do this again next year.

Students attend Buckeye Girls and Boys State

The Dover American Legion Post #205 selected four girls and two boys from last year's junior class of Dover High School to attend Buckeye Girls and Buckeye Boys State.

Buckeye Girls and Buckeye Boys State is a program that gives participants exposure to the rights, privileges, duties and responsibilities of a franchised citizen. This training is nonpartisan with city, county and state governments operated by students elected to the various offices.

Activities include legislative sessions, court proceedings, law enforcement, presentations, assemblies, a band and recreation.

The Girls State candidates were as follows:

—Lauren Grafe, daughter of Tommy and Brooke Grafe. At BGS she made the final ballot for state representative and was selected for the director of public health position. She ran public health scenarios.

—Lucy Hartman, daughter of David and Melissa Hartman. At BGS she was elected for city central committee. She also was a public defender and a member of the board of parks.

—Caylee Hockenberry, daughter of Bryan and Amanda Hockenberry. At BGS she was elected city council president and helped run city council meetings.

—Naomi Klaserner, daughter of Jeremy and Kari Klaserner. At BGS she was selected as city engineer and designed the city bridge.

These candidates attended Buckeye Girls State at Bowling Green State University June 11-17.

The Boys State candidates were as follows:

—Jacob Hanner, son of Brian Hanner and Anne Geib Dorris. At BBS he ran prosecuting attorney after passing the bar exam and was elected for the position. He also represented the county in speeding tickets, county property and theft from the county. He even got to represent the real

State Highway Patrol when a kid stole a golf cart from the actual troopers.

—Richard Tolloti, son of Jay and Lisa Tolloti. At BBS he was elected to the position of director of the Ohio Department of Transportation.

These candidates attended Buckeye Boys State at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio June 11-18.

The girls attending

Buckeye Girls State were sponsored by Dover American Legion Post #205.

The boys attending Buckeye Boys State were sponsored by Dennis Grech and the Hanhart Agency Inc.

The Dover American Legion Post #205 extends thanks to these local businesses that provided financial donations to make Buckeye State possible for these boys and girls.

Simon is pleased with the growth of the local team.

"We started three years ago, and we only had three kids. Every year we've increased the number of student-athletes participating, and we're up to 18. We're just having a great time getting kids on bikes," Simon said.

Most of the Tuscazoar team members are from Tuscarawas County, but some are from as far away as Brecksville.

The Tuscazoar team practices twice a week beginning in July to give the racers time to get in shape.

"We are fortunate to have 10 coaches who have completed the extensive NICA league training and also have had background checks done," Simon said.

Anyone interested in joining the team may email Simon at dsimon@tuscazoar.org.

Taylor Lockhart has been a member of the team for two years. She decided to join after she saw her brother race as part of the team.

"It's just super fun, and we have a lot of activities for the girls," Lockhart said. "We have a whole group dedicated just to having a girls ride where we go out and we session everything. We have music, and it's just a lot of fun."

Moomaw awards grants

The Dewey and Irene Moomaw Foundation awarded more than $30,000 to Tuscarawas County organizations. The foundation provides grants to qualified organizations located in Tuscarawas County for charitable, religious, scientific, literary and educational purposes.

The foundation was created by Dewey and Irene Moomaw, who were life residents of Sugarcreek. Irene Moomaw operated a beauty shop in Sugarcreek for more than 50 years. Dewey Moomaw worked in the family business, Shepfer & Moomaw Brothers Brick, holding the title of vice president until the sale of the company to Belden Brick. He was a member of the board of directors of the Reeves Banking & Trust Co. and Huntington National Bank.

Those receiving 2023 grants are as follows:

- Kent State Tuscarawas, $6,248 for equipment for the School of Nursing clinical training lab.
- Big Brothers Big Sisters, $1,410 for laptops for new staff members.
- Camp Tuscazoar, $2,500 for roof repairs on the ranger's residence.
- Dress-A-Child for School, $2,500 for gift cards for school clothing.
- First United Church of Christ in Sugarcreek, $2,500 for roof repair on the sanctuary.
- Ohio Guidestone, $2,500 for furnishings at the new men's residential treatment center.
- Tuscarawas County Council for Church and Community, $2,500 for furniture, a refrigerator and other items for the office.
- The Salvation Army, $2,500 for ongoing social services in Tuscarawas County.
- Tuscarawas County Literacy Coalition, $1,000 to purchase books for the One Book, One Community program.
- Tuscarawas County Public Library, $1,000 to repair and rebind some of the city directories used for reference and research.
- Twin City Parks and Waterways Inc., $2,500 for the Panhandle Passage Park project.
- Project Lead the Way, $500 grants to six schools: Buckeye Career Center, Claymont City, Dover City, New Philadelphia, Strasburg-Franklin and Tuscarawas Valley Schools.

The next meeting of the grant selection committee will be September 2024. All requests must be submitted by Aug. 31, 2024. For more information and an application form, call Huntington Bank at 330-458-3361 or email deborah.gonzalez@huntington.com.

Little Theatre

Prestigious Marquee Club welcomes new member

By Lee Elliott

Jane Deitrick of New Philadelphia will receive the Little Theatre of Tuscarawas County's most prestigious award when she is inducted into the Marquee Club on Tuesday, Oct. 24 at Union Country Club. Deitrick will be honored with a dinner for theater members, family and friends.

Involvement and time in the theater are the prerequisites for the Marquee Award. Deitrick began her involvement during the 1979 production of "Look Homeward, Angel," directed by Lynne Tschudy. Since then she has served as treasurer, wardrobe chair and box office co-chair and worked on lighting, concessions, poster design, set dressing, props, stage managing and costumes.

While serving as wardrobe chair, she designed the current costume room layout and built many of the shelves and racks.

"When we first started in this building," she said, "the wardrobe was in the basement. It was almost impossible to store things efficiently. When members decided to build on the addition that we now have, I convinced them to put in a second floor, which gave us a great deal more room than we had ever had. I worked in the electrical industry for years, so I was also able to wire the dimmer cabinet. I feel so lucky that I was able to work with and learn from those talented and experienced people."

Deitrick is a graduate of New Philadelphia High School. She has been active in theater since she was a junior, working at the Little Theatre, Trumpet in the Land, KSU and Berea Summer Theater, as well as in the drama programs at a number of local schools.

She currently works part-time at the Kent State Performing Arts Center and is operations manager for the Tuscarawas County Philharmonic.

"I worked in computer-aided design at Horne Engineering for 28 years," she said, "and since its retirement, at MJK Engineering. I always liked art, and this gave me the opportunity to design electrical plans into the architect's drawings."

Deitrick said her favorite experience at the theater is any time she is able to participate in set decorating for a production. This past season she and co-worker Michele Davis dressed the set for the theater's production of Neil Simon's "Rumors." It won four awards at the state Ohio Community Theater Association competition.

Veteran Director Rex Huffman said the Marquee Award was established as a way to honor members who deserve recognition but don't crave it. They volunteered their time because of their love of theater. These were mostly people who spent their active lives entrenched in the theater. "Awards were the last thing on their minds," he said.

Huffman said a number of Marquee members are from the same families. "The desire to serve the theater runs that way," he said.

Included are Bart and Wilma Herman, Kenn and Sally Holmes, Melody and Robert Liberatore, Mike and Mim Rapport, Tom and Allison Morris and Pat Potter, Andy and Marjorie Hanson, and Rex and Karen Huffman.

Other members honored for their service include L. Thomas Albury, Susan Brothers, Robert Button, Iona Croft, Debi DeVore, Pam Douglas, Lucilla Flora, Dorothy Goodman, Doris Hofacker, Rich Jagunic, Paul Jarvis, Don

Kirk, Edith Whitehouse-Lewis, Roxie Long, Jerry Marlowe, Betty McCreary, Doug McIntyre, Isabel Miller, Machele Miller, Mark Mitchell, Vickie Stockdale, Gerry Stoughton, Delbert Walker and Penny Zurcher.

"This theater would not be standing today were it not for the likes of Penny Zurcher, Betty McCreary and Vickie Stockdale," Huffman said.

Cocktail hour for the dinner will begin at 5 p.m., with dinner starting at 6 p.m. The cost is $25 per person and includes a side salad, pasta bar, standard beverage (soda, coffee, tea) and tip. The pasta bar will include a gluten-free option of zoodles, both red and white sauces, choice of proteins, and cake provided by Litty's. A cash bar will be available.

RSVP to Machele Miller at 330-243-5393 or fill out the form at www.thelittletheatreonline.org/marquee-club. Reservations are due by Sunday, Oct. 15. Union Country Club is located at 1000 N. Bellevue Ave. in Dover.

Reader viewpoint: Vote yes on Issue 1 on Nov. 7

Letter to the Editor,

Nov. 7 will be a day of difficult choices. The decision to vote yes on Issue 1 should not be one of them. This is the issue that guarantees reproductive rights to women and their families.

It guarantees a 10-year-old rape victim will not have to carry a fetus for nine months. It guarantees a father will not have to raise his children alone because his wife was sacrificed for an eight-week ectopic pregnancy. It guarantees parents, and not the government, have control over their children's health. The amendment has nothing to do with gender-affirming care.

The Republican Party used to be a defender of individual rights versus the "nanny" society. Now they have done a complete reversal and are telling us what we can do in our bedrooms, what books we and our children can read, and what kinds of medical decisions we can make.

They tried to keep this issue off the ballot in August, but the intelligent voters in Ohio outsmarted them. Even Ireland, a Catholic country, allows abortion, which is only one part of this issue. There is even talk of them going after contraception if Issue 1 passes.

The scare tactics they are using are ludicrous. Even when abortion was legal all over the United States, most abortions were performed in the early stages of pregnancy and very few late-term abortions were performed, almost always to save the mother's life, as most major religions permit. The amendment only allows abortion up to viability as it was under Roe v Wade.

I am a senior citizen, but I have granddaughters and great-granddaughters. I do not want to see them go back to dark ages of back alley abortions. Ohioans, do the right thing. Vote yes.

Support expressed for candidates

Letter to the Editor,

The November elections are always important. The voters are putting someone in office, not just for a short time, but for the next four years — in most cases.

The citizens of Dover should take this election seriously because it is a critical time for the city, and they deserve leaders who will move the city forward in the next four years.

There are three candidates who have proven themselves over the years: Shane Gunnoe, Sandy Moss and Greg Bair.

Mayor Shane Gunnoe has already shown his ability to move the city forward and reinvigorate the entire workforce of the city. Citizens can see services being performed and continued improvements being made.

Both Sandy Moss and Greg Bair have been council members for many years. They both have been the best examples of what a council person should be and should do. They always come to council prepared for the serious issues on the agenda. Their decisions are always based on what is best for the citizens of Dover. They respond to the concerns of citizens promptly and find answers to their questions. They take the ideas presented by citizens to heart and present them to council for serious consideration. They both consider it an honor to serve the citizens of Dover, and they take that responsibility very seriously.

I ask every voter to place their trust in these established servants of your city — Dover, Ohio. Vote for Shane Gunnoe, Sandy Moss and Greg Bair.

Thank you.

Grant requests due by Nov. 15

The next meeting of the Reeves Foundation Board of Trustees will be in December. Grant applications should be submitted by Nov. 15.

The Reeves Foundation was founded in 1966 by businessman Sam Reeves Jr. with funding in part from his two sisters.

Local nonprofits that address the needs of the community are encouraged to contact the foundation at its Dover office for grant application information by email at office@reeves-found.org or by calling 330-364-4660.

Requests of all sizes are considered, but organizations must be 501(c)(3) certified. Emphasis is placed on capital-type expenditures rather than on operating funds.

The foundation board meets bimonthly to consider grant requests, and the application deadline is three weeks prior to the meeting.

DINNER

The evening will begin with a short interactive scene, followed by dinner. Catering will be provided by Kathy's Catering. After dinner guests will be able to ask questions to help determine the guilty party, and tables will put forth theories after the interrogations. The table with the best guess will be the winner.

Reservations are required by Oct. 27 or as long as seats are available.

The cost is $50 per person, $45 for Reeves Museum members or a table of eight for $360. Reservations can be made by calling the museum office at 330-343-7040 or online at www.simplerix.com/e/murder-mystery-dinner-tickets-146044.

Doug Bachman with his family: Jane, Margaret and Bruce.

Mid-Eastern Governments Association. He has experience with road and bridge design and bridge inspections.

"I am excited to have the opportunity to serve as the Tuscarawas County engineer. I want to continue the work currently being done by the engineer's office and to maintain and upgrade the roads and bridges throughout Tuscarawas County," Bachman said. "I will be a candidate for engineer in the primary for the Democratic Party in March of 2024."

He and his wife Jane have two children — Bruce and Margaret.

Following the appointment, Bachman was sworn into office by central committee chair Martha Campbell.

Dungeons and Dragons event offered

On Saturday, Oct. 28 at 2 p.m., teens in sixth grade through 12th grade are invited to participate in the Dover Public Library's A Night of Masks & Monsters, a standalone adventure for Dungeons and Dragons players. New and experienced players are welcome to attend.

Registration is not required, and light refreshments will be served. Interested patrons can call teen/outreach services manager Liz Strauss at 330-343-6123.

In A Night of Masks & Monsters, adventurers find themselves in the luxurious city of Ibrido, just in time for a party at the Castel di Maschera. It's up to the players to discover the secrets of their host, the Marquis di Maschera.

Before diving into the adventure, players will create or customize their own level-three characters. All necessary materials will be supplied by the library, but players are welcome to dress up for the masquerade and bring their own dice if desired.

This event is sponsored in part by a 21st Century Afterschool Learning Grant with Dover High School.

The Dover Public Library is located at 525 N. Walnut St. in Dover, across from Dover High School. Visit www.doverlibrary.org/departments/teen-programs/.

Local veteran to participate in Ohio Veterans Art Exhibition

Michael Wise, the executive director of Arts Center of Newcomerstown, has achieved another milestone in his career as his photograph, "The U.S. Capitol: Architecturally Speaking," secured a spot at the 2023 Ohio Veterans Art Exhibition in Columbus.

A panel of judges selected Wise's 18.5-by-22.5-inch framed giclee print on canvas for inclusion in the exhibition, which will be held in the first-floor lobby area outside the OAC Riffe Gallery at the Vern Riffe Center for Government and the Arts in Columbus.

The Ohio Veterans Art Exhibition, open to all active duty and veteran artists across the state, serves as a platform for showcasing their artistic prowess in a public setting. An expert panel of jurors reviewed all submissions and selected only 37 works for inclusion.

The exhibition is scheduled to run from Monday, Oct. 23 through Friday, Dec. 8.

Wise's piece is being offered for sale at a price of $125. Should the artwork find a buyer, all proceeds will be dedicated to supporting the children's programs at ARTSNCT in Newcomerstown.

Wise, a Marine Corps veteran, returned to his hometown of Newcomerstown after more than 40 years, following a career that included serving as a musician in the U.S. Marine Corps and working as a human resources manager for a chain of luxury boutique hotels. Wise also co-founded Almond Didier, a venture specializing in graphic arts, photography and website development.

Wise's passion for photography was ignited during his childhood in Newcomerstown when his aunt Doris gifted him an old Kodak Brownie camera. Over time this lifelong hobby evolved into a professional career that began in 2000. His portfolio includes exclusive photo shoots with notable personalities such as Margaret Cho and Richard Gephardt. His work has been in internationally acclaimed publications such as The Washington Post, The New York Times and The London Times, in addition to being featured on public and network television.

Wise's talents extend beyond photography, as his paintings have been showcased on PBS Television in New Orleans, where he co-founded Ariodante Gallery. His series of four photographs capturing the events of Sept. 11, 2001, titled "9/11," has earned a permanent place in the New York Public Library's collection after a two-year tour in the Sept. 11 Photo Project.

When asked to sum up his photography, Wise often quotes American photographer and writer Diane Arbus, who said, "I really believe there are things nobody would see if I didn't photograph them."

Among his various professional and artistic pursuits, Wise has been recognized as a freelance photographer, a member of the National Press Photographers Association, a member of the Society of Sport and Event Photographers and a photographic editor/photographer for Window Media LLC. He also has served as a staff photographer for Sports Club/LA at the Ritz Carlton Hotel in Washington, D.C.

and has held the position of past officer at the Data Processing Management Association in Washington, D.C.

Additionally, he co-founded Ariodante Gallery in New Orleans and WorldWideGallery in Washington, D.C. For 11 consecutive years, Wise participated as an artist and was an honoree at Art for Life in Washington, D.C.

Scarf Project seeks help

The Scarf Project began in 2016 when New Philadelphia resident Toni Kaltenbaugh saw a video on Facebook of ladies hanging scarves in a park somewhere in one of the western states for individuals to anonymously take.

She shared that video and said she thought it was a great idea. It has since taken on a life of its own. The 2016 initiative resulted in 123 scarves and one location, Rite Aide in New Philadelphia.

In 2022 it was much larger. They had over 2,000 scarves, plus hats, gloves and mittens. There were 21 locations over Tuscarawas, Stark, Guernsey and Cuyahoga counties.

The hats, gloves and mittens are matched with the scarves at the Tuck, Tag and Match event to be held Oct. 21 at 9 a.m. and lasting until all possible sets are identified, tagged, counted and bagged for distribution. This event will be held at a home in Dover. Call Kaltenbaugh at 330-432-1930 for the address of the Tuck, Tag and Match event. Text is preferred. Plan to bring a snack to share and a beverage of choice.

Donations for this year's distribution can be dropped off on the back porch of 730 Tuscarawas Ave. NW in New Philadelphia prior to Oct. 17. Donations received after that date will be held until 2024.

The Scarf Project operates 100% on donations. They are requesting donations of gas cards for the individuals distributing the scarves and monitoring the locations.

USE IT OR LOSE IT

YOUR DENTAL BENEFITS EXPIRE 12-31-23

Most dental insurance contracts are paid yearly. For example, a plan may allow for $1500 of benefit in a calendar year, January 1 through December 31.

Unfortunately, many people decide not to pursue necessary dental care because of the amount of money that they may have to pay out of their own pocket. This is exactly what the dental insurance companies are gambling will happen. If a person does not use their dental benefit for the year, which typically ranges from $500-$1500, they simply lose it.

Don't put off your dental hygiene visits. Your oral health is vital to your overall health and strength of your immune system. Maintain optimal health while maximizing your dental benefits!

At the end of the year, everyone will be trying to get in and use their benefits, so schedule now to secure your next dental appointment!

It's finally soup weather

The text came without hesitation in answer to my question to my wife: "What's for supper?"

"Soup!" she answered. "It's finally soup weather." And happily, she's right. It's cool enough to start pulling out sweaters and warmer throws for chilly evenings.

Soups and broths must surely be some of the oldest forms of cooking. Someone somewhere struck on the obvious plan of adding things to steaming water to create a meal, stretching resources while also giving a full tummy.

If all there is to cook are some root vegetables and a little marrow bone, you can add enough to make a potion to serve a family, if not a few boarders as well. If you need any further convincing, look to the 1947 children's book, "Stone Soup," by Marcia Brown.

Soldiers come to the village, where the inhabitants have hidden their food, knowing the men would be hungry. So the soldiers set out to make a big kettle of stone soup using just three little rocks. Soon peasants are coming out of their homes with a carrot or two or a bit of meat — things to make the soup more palatable. You can make soups out of darn near anything.

Store shelves are well stocked with little quart boxes of broth to get you going, but making your own is always best. There's a trick to getting a truly rich, unclouded meat stock.

Stocks are simmered for hours or even days, with several strainings along the way. The key word here is “simmer.”

You don't want the liquid to go beyond the merest bubble. If your stock gets to a rolling boil, it causes the ingredients to disintegrate to such a degree as to release a cloudiness into the broth that is well nigh impossible to correct. Give it very low heat and a lot of time.

Soups also are a wonderful means of world culinary exploration. Every nation has its soups, from the bird's nest soup of China to the tortilla version found in Mexico. There's Vietnamese Pho, easily one of the richest and most awakening soups in the world, so much so that it's common breakfast fare there. Most European traditions have soups with dumplings or egg noodles, and the chicken soup made by Israeli mothers has come to be known as "Jewish penicillin" for its ability to cure whatever ailment you have.

Russians have their cold beet borscht, which they probably deserve. Greeks and Italians have more soups than you can count, and of course, the French have made humble broth and vegetables into another art form they can claim.

Tonight at my house, it's tortellini soup, one of our favorites and the one we usually reserve for changes in weather just such as this. It's quick and simple to make and packs plenty of flavor. You can adjust the herbs to your liking.

CREAMY SPINACH TORTELLINI SOUP

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 medium onion, small dice
- 3 large garlic cloves, minced
- 2 carrots, diced
- 1/2 teaspoon dried oregano
- 1/2 teaspoon dried basil
- 1/2 teaspoon dried rosemary
- 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 cup all-purpose flour
- 6 cups chicken stock
- 1 package (12 ounces) frozen cheese stuffed tortellini
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 handful fresh spinach, roughly chopped

Heat a pan or Dutch oven over medium-low heat. When hot, add the butter, then the onions, garlic, carrots, herbs, and salt and pepper. Cook carefully for 5-6 minutes, watching that the butter doesn't brown. Add the flour and thick until crumbles form.

Slowly add the stock, whisking it in to avoid lumps. Bring the soup up to the slow boil and add the tortellini. Cook a further 6 minutes until the pasta is cooked through. Stir in the cream, add the spinach, and cook for another 5 minutes until creamy and a bit thickened. Check for salt and serve.

Things don't always work out the way we choose

Well, I did it. I bought a new car. I have worried for so long about how painful the process was going to be that I just plain didn't want to even consider it. My '95 Astro Van finally gave up, and I finally gave in. Where to look? What to look for? All I knew was I could see the front of the car over the steering wheel.

The van had no bells and whistles. Which ones did I want? Which ones did I really need? The vehicle I chose has all-wheel drive, heated seats in the winter, heated outside mirrors, lights on those mirrors that tell me if someone is in my blind spot, seats that fold down so I can tote all my totables, automatic lights and dimming, GPS through my smart phone, and a backup camera.

That's all I really need. I can push the hatch up manually. It keeps my arms in good shape. Now you may think that at my age I am extremely naïve in my knowledge of at least bells, if not whistles. But remember the last car I bought was in 1995. I loved it, and true to my faithful nature, I've not looked at another since.

The brand I ended up buying surprised me. I had not ever thought of purchasing from that group of popular cars. However, a kind gentleman, talking to me about my column during a program at the library, highly recommended I pursue this particular brand because they are so reliable and because the local company's service is so outstanding. He was absolutely right.

Once I had chosen the car, and it didn't take me long, I remembered the nearly day-long process of filling out paper work I had gone through so many years ago when buying the van. This time I was finished and driving home within the half-hour. Yikes! I now was a new car owner.

Here's what I discovered in the hunting process. It may take up to three months to get a "new" new car — a 2024 — and the color choices are mostly black, white and gray. Mine is very slightly used, and it is an unusual shade of blue.

My van was always the tallest car in the parking lot, so I never lost it when I came out of a store. I have to hunt for this one or make an effort to remember where I parked. The van had wondrous room in the front; new cars do not. I am sitting on a cushion so I can be sure where the front bumper is.

I hope the kind gentleman was right. Things don't always work out the way we would choose, and it is best to learn to live with that.

For now I'm enjoying being able to drive without worrying something is going to go wrong and feeling a little shock when I open the door to go out and see that strange, unblemished creature sitting where the old one used to be. I haven't decided what to do with the old fellow yet. I would really like it to go to someone who loves to tinker with cars, knows where to get parts and what to do with them, and would love the old van as much as I did. If you are out there, let me know.
