Poll workers needed for Aug. 8 special election

By Dan Starcher

Elections would not be possible without the participation of poll workers. These individuals ensure the voting process runs smoothly and everyone eligible to vote has the opportunity to do so.

Poll workers are paid $123 for their service on election day, plus $30 for attending a training class.

"Poll workers enjoy helping their neighbors and friends while working on election day," election operations manager Meredith Holder said. "Many also appreciate the opportunity to be a part of history by implementing elections. Some of our volunteers like to meet new people and have developed lasting friendships with other volunteers."

According to Holder, anyone interested in working on Aug. 8 should contact the board of elections as soon as possible. Because there is only one issue on the ballot, the pace will be slower than usual, and it will be a good time for new workers to gain experience.

On election day poll workers are tasked with a variety of responsibilities to ensure the smooth functioning of polling stations. These responsibilities include setting up the polling place, checking the identification of voters, verifying voter registration, distributing ballots, operating voting machines and resolving any issues that may arise during the voting process.

Becoming a poll worker is a way to contribute to democracy. In order to serve as a poll worker for the first time, a person must be a Wayne County resident of at least 17 years old and must attend a three-hour training class.

To sign up to become a poll worker, call the Wayne County Board of Elections at 330-287-5480 or email wayne@ohiosos.gov.

Dan Starcher is the public communications coordinator for the Wayne County government.

MVNU holding academic camps

New summer academic camps at Mount Vernon Nazarene University will provide hands-on insight into college majors and future careers.

Ten camps will be offered over two weeks in July, opening the door for high school students to explore some of MVNU's most popular programs and college life. Overnight camps will provide freshmen, sophomores and juniors with hands-on learning experiences in their academic field of interest. These one-week sessions will help students decide if college — and a specific major — is right for them.

"MVNU's academic summer camps will provide answers to the questions high school students are asking. Is college right for me? What major should I choose? Without the opportunity to explore, these are hard questions to answer," said Dr. Amy Kovach, vice president for academic affairs. "By attending one of our camps, students will be able to more fully address both questions before they pay tuition dollars."

Registration is now open for the following programs:

—July 10-14: criminal investigations, environmental science, education, video production and prelaw.

—July 17-21: art and design, emergency preparedness, engineering, exercise science, and nursing.

"In addition to being fun, participation in academic summer camps will give students exposure to a career field. That is important in helping them make sound decisions about their vocational paths," said Dr. LeeAnn Coutts,

Mount Vernon Nazarene University

Academic summer camps at Mount Vernon Nazarene University offer insight and hands-on experience to help high school students decide if college and specific majors like engineering or prelaw are right for them. Scholarships are available thanks to funding provided by the Knox County Foundation, the Richland County Foundation and friends of the university.

Pomerene plays a critical role in the health and wellness of residents of Holmes County and contiguous counties. It's an acute care hospital, which means it has all the basic elements relative to any typical hospital you might find in a more urban setting.

Randy McKee
Pomerene Hospital has once again been recognized as one of America's Top 20 Rural and Community Hospitals for 2023 by the National Rural Health Association. It was the only hospital in Ohio to receive the distinction.

Pomerene

is among the best

By Ken McEntee
Pomerene Hospital's staff is a group of individuals who work every day with one passion — to care for the local community, CEO Jason Justus said.

"Our providers are a phenomenal group of people who work their entire lives as physicians, nurse practitioners, physician assistants and other clinical experts to provide top-notch care each and every day," Justus said, explaining why Pomerene has once again been recognized as one of America's Top 20 Rural and Community Hospitals for 2023 by the National Rural Health Association. It was the only hospital in Ohio to receive the distinction.

"The culture we try to build and follow is based on high quality, high patient satisfaction and low cost," Justus said. "We think if we can achieve that on a consistent basis, it will make a difference to our patients. When patients come to Pomerene, they will see that difference in the outcomes and the quality of care they receive, but they also will see it in their pocketbook."

"The culture we try to build and follow is based on high quality, high patient satisfaction and low cost."

—Jason Justus, CEO

NRHA is a nonprofit organization that works to improve the health and well-being of rural Americans and provide leadership on rural health issues through advocacy, communications education and research. Among the determining factors for choosing its Top 20 Rural and Community Hospitals are quality, outcomes, patient perspective, cost, charge and financial efficiency. "This is an award that you cannot purchase," Justus said. "The ranking is based on metrics that we have to submit on a national level. The numbers, outcomes and performance are all compared to other hospitals. We've been fortunate to achieve a very high level of performance in 2023."

Justus said Pomerene plays a critical role in the health and wellness of residents of Holmes County and contiguous counties.

"We are an acute care hospital, which means we offer many services such as Emergency medicine, inpatient medical care, obstetrics and maternity, surgical needs, as well as a wide array of outpatient services, like cardiology, radiology and imagery, laboratory tests, and more. In addition, we provide access to subspecialty services such as ENT, neurology, women's health, gastroenterology and pain management. We have a lot of innovative surgeons who provide very unique types of care for things like sleep-related issues."

The newest services Pomerene offers are gastroenterology and women's health services.

"Rural hospitals face the challenge of being in areas where we don't always have readily available access to specialists," Justus said. "In the case of women's health, we're making the investment to be able to bring a full complement of women's health needs, whether you are a young child all the way to when you're an adult. We're able to bring things like gynecology surgery services, which is a much-needed type of care here in the local community. Gastroenterology is an expanding field that has implications to many types of people young and old. There is a high demand for these types of services in many communities, and we feel very fortunate to be able to bring them to the local community."

Almost 46 million people, or nearly 14% of the U.S. population, live in a rural area, Justus said.

"There is a special need for healthcare in communities like ours," he said. "Hospitals like Pomerene have to play by the same rules and guidelines as all of the large urban, tertiary acute care centers, and we face many of the same challenges, like government mandates and payment cuts. One of the ways we're different is that the first thing people are going to recognize when they walk through our door is the friendliness, the genuine compassion and care we provide. It doesn't matter where you come from. We're happy to be here and to be able to help serve you. In today's world, where you can easily become a number in a larger tertiary center, I think it's refreshing to be able to have somebody to look you in the eye and to be able to take the time to provide the level of care and support that you need."

You can learn more about Pomerene Hospital at PomereneHospital.org or by calling 330-674-1015. The hospital is located at 981 Wooster Road in Millersburg. This story has been underwritten by Pomerene Hospital.

Memorable ways to celebrate Dad this Father's Day

Dads do a lot for their families, and Father's Day is the perfect time to acknowledge those efforts. The days when dads would receive a colorful necktie for Father's Day are largely a relic of the past. Modern Father's Day celebrations tend to involve more careful planning, and the following are some ways to make this year's day for dads one to remember.

Take Dad on a tour through his own history

The popularity of genealogy has skyrocketed over the last decade-plus, as various firms have made it easier than ever for individuals to trace their family histories. If Dad counts himself among the millions across the globe interested in their family histories, moms and kids can work together to create a virtual tour through that history. Present the history as a printed book or as a video, sharing interesting things you learned about Dad's ancestors but also highlighting key moments in his life. This presentation can be accompanied by a subscription to a genealogy service and a tour of some of Dad's childhood haunts before the family enjoys brunch or dinner in the neighborhood where Dad grew up.

Take to the great outdoors

Father's Day is celebrated in mid-June, making the day a perfect time to enjoy the great outdoors, weather permitting. Plan a day around Dad's favorite outdoor activity. If Dad is an avid fisherman, book a family outing on a charter boat so Dad can focus on catching fish and not navigating. If Dad loves being in natural settings, camp out the night before Father's Day so he can wake up to the sound of birds chirping in the crisp morning air. If Dad has a favorite baseball team, take him out to the ballgame so he can soak up some Father's Day sun.

Book a private chef

If Dad has a fascination with food, perhaps nothing can make Father's Day more memorable than a delicious meal served by a private chef. Private chefs will do all the work, giving moms and kids more time to spend with Dad throughout the day, and then the whole family can enjoy a special meal made by someone whose specialty is crafting delicious dinners. Offerings vary, but many private chefs handle all the cooking and cleaning. Identify Dad's favorite dish and then look for a chef who specializes in that type of cuisine.

Appeal to Dad's inner adventurer

Some dads may just want to relax on Father's Day while others may prefer a more adventurous celebration. If Dad falls into the latter group, book a fun and adventurous activity the whole family can enjoy together. A kayaking trip, a skydiving session, a round of paintball or even tickets to a rock concert on Father's Day weekend can connect Dad with his inner adventurer.

There's no shortage of ways for families to make this Father's Day one Dad won't soon forget.

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Bigfoot's out of the barn, Shreve readies for Swampfest

By Laurie Sidle

It's time to bring Bigfoot out of the barn.

Along with the painted plywood creature will come the wood carvings of a heron and eagle and a stuffed bear. And don't forget the swamp creature costume.

They'll find a place in downtown Shreve during the village's annual Swampfest June 15-17.

This year's festival will feature a Loudonville woman speaking about Bigfoot, a presentation by The Lady Barn Consultant, bands on stage each evening, a car show, a frog-jumping contest, a goldfish race and an alcohol raffle. A fireworks display will close out the three-day event.

Swampfest committee member Amy Duda said the group tries to build on the event each year.

The Saturday car show, drawing more than 40 entrants from around the state, will feature an added element this year. Event organizer Kylee Fleming has scheduled local rock band CopOut to play during the event. The cars will be in place from 2-6 p.m., and prizes are up for grabs.

Submitted

Amy Duda, right, and D.G. Peterman are getting ready for the Shreve Swampfest June 15-17 by pulling signs and creatures that serve as decoration from storage. Duda and Peterman serve on the Swampfest committee.

Last year's show resulted in a tie for best entry, so the cars were driven to the middle of the street, where drivers revved their engines and people clapped for their favorite entry, Fleming said.

Fleming said the show, sponsored by Shreve Auto Repair, is a chance to see a bunch of cool cars. Owners swap stories on how they got their cars and the history behind them.

Fleming said bringing people together is what Swampfest is all about. "It's a free event," she said.

The festival's theme was created with a nod to the Killbuck Marsh Wildlife Area, a 5,703-acre state wildlife area located 2 miles east of Shreve. Locals know it as Shreve swamps.

To celebrate the theme, Duda keeps adding to her collection.

She and fellow committee member D.G. Peterman made what has turned out to be the festival's centerpiece — Bigfoot — out of plywood, and Duda's daughter-in-law Shannon Landin painted it. Duda said the bird sat on her porch for years before Landin painted it and it found a place at Swampfest.

Upon spotting the eagle for sale at the Ashland County Fair, Duda said, "Ah, that's one I can haul to Swampfest."

Also new to this year's festival

The skies over Shreve will be lit up with Swampfest, the village's three-day event June 15-17. It will feature a Loudonville woman speaking about Bigfoot, bands on stage each evening, a car show, a frog-jumping contest, a goldfish race and more. A fireworks display will close out the three-day event.

lineup are goldfish races on Saturday at 2 p.m. Contestants will be challenged to move a goldfish down a rain gutter filled with water by blowing through a straw. The frog-jumping contest will follow at 3 p.m.

The Buckeye State Pedal Tractor Pull is slated for Friday at 7 p.m. Daily attractions include inflatables, games, a petting zoo, and food and craft vendors.

Last year the festival was dampened by a severe storm that struck the area just one day before its opening. The storm, termed a rural hurricane, packed high winds and downed power lines and trees. Roads were closed, and the village of Shreve and surrounding areas were without power with residents facing major cleanups.

“Everybody had damage,” Swampfest committee member Jeanne Wachtel said. “People came and ate because they didn’t have electricity.” However, she said they were not in the mood for games and entertainment.

Hopes are high for better weather this time around.

The entertainment schedule includes Jeff Stauffer on Thursday at 7 p.m., SB Music on Friday at 7 p.m. and Bipolar Express on Saturday at 7 p.m.

He Brews Coffee shop meeting room will be the site of a presentation by Suzanne Ferencak on Bigfoot in Ohio. A Bigfoot hunter, Ferencak’s talk on Friday at 5 p.m. is titled Mohican Sasquatch: A Witness Perspective. Ferencak told the Mansfield News Journal last year she had audio recordings of Bigfoot in the Mohican area.

The County Line Historical Society Wayne/Holmes will host Pamela Whitney Gray, former president of Friends of Ohio Barns, to speak on Saturday from 1-3 p.m. at Shreve Presbyterian Church, 343 N. Market St. Known as The Lady Barn Consultant, her mission is to work one on one with barn owners to educate them on the history, workings and construction of their barn. She also wants to help them read the unwritten history their barn holds and encourage its conservation for future generations.

There is no admission fee for either program.

Prizes in the alcohol raffle include a wine lover’s cooler, a cooler filled with different types of beer and a wagon filled with alcohol products. A Saturday drawing will give a person present at Swampfest a chance to win $1,000. A winning ticket drawn for a person not present will include a $500 cash prize.

The fireworks will start Saturday at 10:30 p.m.

U.S. prepares to celebrate third Juneteenth holiday

In 2021 President Joe Biden signed the Juneteenth National Independence Day Act, which established an official holiday to commemorate the end of slavery in the United States. The act became law, and the holiday was celebrated two days later. As the United States prepares to celebrate its third official Juneteenth holiday, here is an in-depth look at what the day is all about.

Origins of Juneteenth

The origins of Juneteenth date back to June 19, 1865. Months after Confederate forces surrendered in the American Civil War, enslaved African Americans in Galveston, Texas were finally told they were free. Union soldiers arrived in Galveston and explained slavery had been abolished and the war was over. This liberation actually took place more than 2 1/2 years after President Abraham Lincoln issued the Emancipation Act, which freed enslaved people throughout the country.

Juneteenth began as a regional celebration that was observed locally each year before becoming a state holiday in Texas in 1980. Juneteenth was subsequently recognized as a holiday in a number of other states before Biden officially made the day a federal holiday in 2021.

federal businesses are closed for Juneteenth. Private businesses may opt to close or remain open. Some may issue a floating holiday to those who would like to observe Juneteenth.

Celebrations vary across the country. Some states host parades, and families and friends may gather to play games and enjoy food and other fun. Public readings or church services relevant to the holiday also may be part of Juneteenth celebrations.

Juneteenth food traditions

Juneteenth has its own traditions including some involving food. For example, many people enjoy a dish known as the Marcus Garvey salad. Marcus Garvey was a black activist who sought to unify and connect people of African descent worldwide. The dish is made with red, green and black beans to symbolize the Pan-African flag. Additional Juneteenth foods are red, which is no accident.

Before slavery was abolished, many slaves ate foods that were white, green or brown. Eating brightly colored red foods was a rarity and a cause for excitement. The color red also was associated with the cultures of people who used to be enslaved. Red beverages, sauce-covered barbecue, red velvet cake, and many other red foods and beverages are now served on Juneteenth.

Juneteenth is now celebrated across the United States and can serve as a catalyst for discussions about American history.

Knights of the highway: History of hobos in the area

By Mike Franks

No one really knows where the name hobo comes from. It could be from Hoe Boy, a transient agricultural worker. Perhaps it's short for homeward bound, a hobo's ultimate goal.

Hobos always made clear the distinction between them and tramps, vagrants and bums. A true hobo would travel, looking for work, while the latter three avoided work whenever possible. Tramps would travel from location to location but only to move to a more generous community.

Until World War II, hobos traveled by train — not luxurious passenger trains but freight trains, which were free to use if you had the right stuff. And they needed a lot of the right stuff.

Hobos would target areas where trains were moving slowly or stopped to board, perhaps where trains stopped to take on coal and water or where trains were slowed by long, steep inclines. They also preferred areas located on a sharp curve. This not only slowed the train, but also hid their activity from the officials at the front and rear of the train.

Ideally, a hobo would find an empty box car to ride in. If not, they may have to ride in a boxcar full of goods, a potentially dangerous option if the cargo shifted during the trip. If those two options were not available, the unfortunate hobo would have to choose between riding atop, beneath or between the cars, none of which was desirable, especially on long trips.

Between train rides hobos would stay in established camps known as “jungles.” In Wayne County there were at least two jungles in the Millbrook and Shreve area. Holmes County had several.

Submitted

A hobo waits at Shreve Depot in this undated photo. Until World War II, hobos traveled by train — not luxurious passenger trains but freight trains — and were prevalent in both Holmes and Wayne counties.

It was near Millbrook in 1928 that one young hobo was seriously injured jumping from a moving train. The train was scooping water from a trough. The vibration and water spray convinced the hobo the train was wrecking, and he jumped to escape the calamity. In doing so, his legs were crushed by the train's wheels. He was taken to Wooster Hospital, where he identified himself as Frank Young of New York City. He died two days later and is interned at Wooster Cemetery in an unmarked grave.

Death was not uncommon in the hobo community, and there were many ways to die. There were reports of hobo riders dying of exposure, locked in a refrigerated box car. And disease frequently took them as they had limited access to medical care.

There is at least one report of a hobo cemetery adjacent to the railroad just west of Shreve. Some of its inhabitants were moved to Shreve Cemetery when it was established, but some no doubt remain there.

Memories of hobos asking for food and shelter in Holmes and Wayne counties are plentiful. Often a kindhearted person would fix a meal for them and perhaps offer a night's stay in their barn. Other times they were met with anger and told to leave. Either way the hobo would mark the location with a secret symbol to advise future hobos of the situation.

Linda Glassford Frenette recalled, while living in Killbuck as a child, her mom would prepare a bag of food for any hobo who knocked on her door. In fact, on one occasion, one had shoes so worn his toes were sticking out, so her mom gave that hobo a pair of her husband's shoes.

Kathy Weiss Schmid recalled her father Darryl Weiss, former Holmes County sheriff, pointing out Tramp's Hollow every time they drove by it, located on state Route 241 just west of Kidron Road.

Jerry Coblentz's grandmother lived near what is now the Hard Hat Restaurant, located on Wooster's south end. The same hobo would return year after year, do a little gardening for her, and she would feed him. He was always grateful and very polite.

Becky Fry Schaaf recalled her grandpa and grandma Fry lived along state Route 585 in Wooster, near where Planet Fitness is today. “Once in a while when I was there, a hobo would stop by, and grandma would make him up a sandwich and anything that would fit into his ‘Poke’ as she referred to it. Then they went on their way.”

Jack Glessner remembered living in Sterling when a train stopped at the local slaughter house. A female hobo disembarked from the train and sought food at his family's home. Glessner's mother invited her in and fed her. After eating, the woman left, reboarded the train and continued her journey. Mrs. Glessner's motto was “You may be entertaining angels unaware,” and if someone needed something and she could help, then that was what she was to do.

After WWII trains became faster. With diesel-electrics replacing steam engines, stops were far less frequent and train travel opportunities for hobos died off. But they are still out there, maybe not in the form of popular legend but still traveling from city to city in whatever way they can — hitchhiking, taking advantage of seasonal bus and airline fares, traveling to wherever opportunity awaits.

Looking Back is a feature on area history from local historian Mike Franks, who was raised in Apple Creek and has lived in Wooster most of his life. He can be emailed at looking_back@aol.com.

The Wayne County Performing Arts Council will present its second show of the season, “Willy Wonka Jr.,” June 16-17 and 23-25 at Fisher Auditorium, 1680 Madison Ave., Wooster.

According to Music Director Maggie Leatherman, “Willy Wonka Jr.” will tell the story of Willy Wonka as he stages a contest by hiding golden tickets in five of his candy bars. Whoever comes up with these tickets will win a free tour of the Wonka factory and a lifetime supply of candy.

Leatherman, a WaCPAC board member from 1997-2015, has been involved in many WaCPAC shows as a cast member, tech, directing and backstage.

Director Olivia Sleek performed in “Willy Wonka” while attending Wooster High School a few years ago. She said it was a lot of fun and would give opportunities to many different ages of kids to be involved. “Willy Wonka Jr.” will feature close to 60 cast members ranging from fourth grade to 12th grade from local Wayne County schools. While there are some first-time performers, many have been participants in the WaCPAC summer shows.

Sleek explained her experience with opening night. “Waiting for the lights to come on and the curtain to open to reveal the audience and everyone

Sleek started with WaCPAC during its first summer youth musical, "Alice in Wonderland," in 2015. The following summer she was asked to help student-direct "Beauty and the Beast," and since graduating from high school, she has helped direct all but one show and had the opportunity to direct "Willy Wonka" as the artistic director.

"While directing can be pretty hectic, it has really helped me become more decisive and become a better leader," she said. "I felt like the past few years I've been training for this opportunity by being an assistant director, but there is so much more that goes into it than I even realized.

All-Star baseball game set for June 14 at Wooster

By Mike Plant

It's been an outstanding year for high school baseball in this area, and many of the top seniors will get one last chance to represent their schools on Wednesday, June 14.

The College of Wooster will host the Wayne-Holmes Baseball Coaches Association Senior All-Star Game, sponsored by The Bargain Hunter/Wooster Weekly News and Insurance Centre Agency/Aaron Dorksen.

Triway coach Justin McDowell has donated his time and energy to give players, family members and fans alike a special night for area baseball. The first pitch will be at 6 p.m. at Art Murray Field, and admission is free.

"I'm really looking forward to the game and happy that some seniors will get a chance to get another game in," said McDowell, a former standout pitcher for the Fighting Scots. "Playing it at The College of Wooster makes it even more special because it is a great field and facility."

"Thank you to Jeff Bricker and the college for the opportunity and privilege of playing the game there."

Baseball players in the Class of 2023 have experienced lots of highs and lows during their high school careers, but many members of the class went out on a high note. An area record nine local teams reached the district tournament, and seven went to district finals.

Wooster, Hiland, Waynedale and Dalton all reached the regionals, with the Division IV Hawks and Div. III Golden Bears advancing to this weekend's State Final Four at Canal Park in Akron.

"It is difficult to believe, but the graduating seniors were freshmen during the COVID year and lost their freshman year of baseball," McDowell said. "We thought it was important to give them another chance to play with their friends from the surrounding schools."

"Several area coaches have helped make it possible including Steve Young from Wooster, who will be coaching one of the teams, and Scott Huth from Dalton, who will be coaching the other team. A special thank you goes out to Aaron Dorksen, the Wooster Weekly/Bargain Hunter and the Insurance Center for sponsoring the event."

Teams had not been divided as of press time, but confirmed players who will participate are as follows:

—Central Christian: None.

—Chippewa: Ethan Douglas (1B/P).

—Dalton: Jack Steiner (SS) and Justin Basinger (P/INF).

—Hiland: Nolan Yoder (SS/P), Will Schlabach (P) and Isaak Yoder (OF/P).

Golden Bears return to state firing on all cylinders

By Aaron Dorksen

Never fear, the Waynedale baseball team is here — again.

There were some rough patches at times leading up to the Division III Massillon Regional, but the Golden Bears picked the ideal time to put together their two best games of the season.

The Bears outscored regional opponents Independence and South Range by a combined 22-3 margin to earn a repeat trip to the State Baseball Tournament.

After Waynedale run-ruled South Range 14-1 in the regional final, it became the first team in Wayne County history to make back-to-back Final Four trips in baseball.

“It was a good time for the bats to come alive,” Waynedale coach Lucas Daugherty said. “It’s been a little bit of a battle this year to get going offensively, but our coaching staff had confidence that our guys could do it. We just needed to put it together and do it in a game. It was definitely good to see it all click in the regional semis and regional final.”

The Golden Bears (22-9) will play Toledo Ottawa Hills (22-10) in a state semifinal at Canal Park in

Submitted

Waynedale returning starters from 2022 state title team trying to become repeat champs are Otto Solorzano, left, Connor Gatti, Dylan Raber, Trey Barkman and Timmy Short.

Akron on June 9 at 4 p.m. Heath (22-8) will take on Cadiz Harrison Central (19-12) in the other semifinal at 7 p.m., with the winners advancing to the state championship game at 7 p.m. on June 10.

Most high school baseball fans are well aware of Waynedale’s dynamic duo of senior righthander Trey Barkman (6-1, 0.73 ERA, 85 Ks, 30 BB, 57.1 IP) and junior lefthander Otto Solorzano (9-4, 1.25, 110 Ks, 16 BB, 67 IP).

They were lights out as usual at the regional, with Barkman throwing a three-hitter with 11 strikeouts against Independence and Solorzano following that up with a one-hitter and 10 punchouts in the five-inning mercy rule of South Range.

The Bears’ offense was just as impressive, scoring six runs in the first inning in the semifinals and four to open the final.

Waynedale coaches enjoyed about as stress-free a regional as possible, thanks to the all-around sparking performances from everyone in the lineup.

Barkman and classmate Timmy Short ripped three hits apiece to lead a 15-hit attack in the regional final.

All of this came from a Waynedale team that had to rally from down two runs in its final at-bat to beat Beachwood 4-3 in a district semifinal and had to settle for a three-way tie for the Wayne County Athletic League title.

“I think it really was just confidence, having a game or two where our players did swing it well and they started to have success,” Daugherty said when asked to explain the sudden offensive onslaught. “Guys gained confidence, and then they kind of built off each other’s success.”

“We had a couple of our guys at the top of the order get going, and hitting really can become a contagious thing.”

Indeed, baseball fans have watched momentum carry over throughout the lineup at all levels. A couple players get hits, and the following hitters relax and follow suit.

Waynedale’s batting order features a strong mix of seniors and underclassmen: The most used lineup is as follows: 1. senior shortstop Dylan Raber (.314 batting average), 2. sophomore catcher Tristan Franks (.385), 3. senior center fielder Connor Gatti (.333, team-high 34 runs), 4. senior third baseman Timmy Short (.360, team-high 10 doubles, 19 RBI, 20 R), 5. senior pitcher-DH Barkman (.351, 6 2B, 2 3B, team-high 27 RBI, 22 R), 6. sophomore left fielder Jayden Schlabach (.377), 7. senior first baseman Gavin Spitler (.275), 8. sophomore second baseman Shane Coblenz, and 9. junior right fielder Tate Venables. Solorzano also gets slotted in as the DH at times.

Coblenz has emerged as a reliable third pitcher, going 5-1 with a 2.15 ERA, 63 Ks and 15 BBs in 42 IP.

up that challenges opponents.”

Returning starters from the 2022 title team that beat Milan Edison 2-1 are Barkman, Solorzano, Gatti, Raber and Short. Gatti had a walk-off RBI single in the eighth inning, and Solorzano notched the complete-game win with seven strikeouts. The Bears won the first baseball state title for a Wayne County team since 1966 when Northwestern won it.

Barkman usually pitches the semifinal game, and

Lehman's expands its housewares department area

Lehman's, the iconic oldtime general store in Kidron, recently hosted the reopening of its housewares department. With an expanded area from 4,100 square feet to 5,000 square feet, the remodel allows for Lehman's to delve into new things and expand existing categories like canning, food preservation, baking, cooking supplies and cast iron. It offers over 10,000 different products in housewares alone.

"We refreshed the space to highlight our huge assortment of practical and pretty items for your kitchen," said Cameron O'Neill, director of merchandising. "We worked with key vendors to expand our product lines but still carry the tried and true products we are known for, like the Amish-made rolling pins, spoons and dough whisks. We are using antiques for some of our displays so we can incorporate the old with the new. Visiting Lehman's is like going to a museum and going shopping at the same time."

Housewares products and cooking and heating stoves and fireplaces have always been a focus at Lehman's.

"When you are good at something, you need to build upon that strength," O'Neill said. "We strive to be an experiential retail destination, and we believe in reinvesting back into the business to create that for our customers. We always believe in treating our customers, suppliers and each other as we would like to be treated, and this was a great partnership."

With all new custom lighting provided by partner vendors and locally manufactured and made fixtures and flooring, the housewares department is adjacent to the newly remodeled Lehman's Café, which features soups, salads, sandwiches, desserts and oldtime glass bottle specialty drinks.

To celebrate, there was a deal of the day and gift basket giveaway each day of the week. The first 200 customers who arrive on Saturday, June 10 when the store opens at 9 a.m. will receive a free Mason jar mug and coupons for the store.

Lehman's is open except Sunday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and always open at www.Lehmans.com.

Solorzano gets the nod in the final each round, but Daugherty said that can change based on matchups.

"Sometimes we feel that our lefty Otto is a better matchup against a certain team or maybe try a little bit higher velocity guy in Trey," Daugherty said. "Trey has been clocked at 88 mph while Otto tops out at around 84. They both have a good slider and changeup.

"They both have definitely improved in certain areas since last year, and obviously, they both had really good seasons (in 2022). Limiting walks has helped them throughout the year be a little bit more efficient."

Barkman has signed to pitch for Ohio University.

Solorzano is starting to attract more and more interest from colleges, including some Div. I schools.

If the offense continues to click in a wide-open Final Four, the Bears stand a great chance to make it back-to-back titles.

"Timmy Short has had an incredible season at the plate," Daugherty said. "He's been hitting really well and for power in some of these games.

"Connor Gatti and Dylan Raber have had up and down parts of the year, but in the back half of the season, they both have really improved, which kind of coincides with the success that we've been having. We need those guys to produce and contribute in our lineup."

Sophomores Franks and Schlabach have been big parts of the state run.

"Tristan Franks and Jayden Schlabach have been really impressive," Daugherty said. "They are two leading hitters, and Tristan has done a great job as our catcher."

Daugherty called it surreal to be headed back to the state tournament again.

"I think we all feel very excited and also grateful for the opportunity to be able to go back there and experience it again," Daugherty said. "Throughout a lot of the season, we had issues that we were working through.

"We lost some games that we really shouldn't have lost, but we definitely got humbled and had to work through some adversity. It made the team very hungry to kind of have something to prove."

BBB issues warning about online car scheme

The Better Business Bureau in Canton is alerting consumers nationwide about an online scheme to con consumers into purchasing high-end cars.

Recently, BBB has received a BBB Scam Tracker submission, a complaint and numerous inquiry calls related to Woolie Auto Sales and Trucking. Consumers claim they found online ads for classic cars for purchase. Once deciding to proceed with the purchase, it was explained the final transactions and shipping would be handled through Peter Hartley or David and Peter Watson of Woolie Auto Sales and Trucking, an auto broker.

The consumers were instructed to register at the company's website at woolieautosalestrucking.com to receive purchase agreements to sign through DocuSign and get their wiring instructions for payment. After payments were made, the consumers allege all correspondence ceased. The losses range from $10,000-$22,000, and no vehicles were received.

Upon investigation BBB found the company was using pre-existing ads from the internet to con consumers into reaching out about the vehicles. BBB found an article online at citroenvie.com where a consumer said he found his car ad from 2020 up for sale again on an internet bot site. The bot takes ads posted previously online and posts them again with new prices and contact information, even if the car has been sold. When the consumer contacted the seller, correspondence led to Woolie Auto Sales and Trucking.

A YP.com listing for Woolie Auto Sales and Trucking has provided "proof" to consumers of the company's legitimacy. The link for the listing used in the email correspondence appears to be the only way to find the listing, as a search for the company and city with YP.com does not show any listing. The listing also shows 16 five-star ratings dating back to September 2014. BBB is working with YP.com to remove the listing.

Additionally, the post office returned mail sent to the Fayetteville, West Virginia address listed on the website as "Returned to Sender, Attempted — Not Known, Unable to Forward." This address is the actual address for Woolie Trucking, a legitimate business registered with the West Virginia SOS since 2018. Whois.com shows woolieautosalestrucking.com was registered for only one year on March 17, 2023.

BBB contacted the real Woolie Trucking company and discussed the scheme. They have posted a warning on Facebook alerting consumers of the scheme and ensuring they do not sell or transport cars. See the post at www.facebook.com/WoolieTrucking.

To avoid online car sale scams, the BBB recommends the following tips:

—Watch out for prices that are too good to be true. It is probably a scam. Scammers know used cars are in high demand and will tempt shoppers with great deals.

—See the car before you buy it. Always make an in-person inspection and take a test drive before you purchase a vehicle.

—Do not give in to threats or pressure. Resist the urge to act immediately. Always take time to consider a purchase, especially if it is a vehicle that costs thousands of dollars.

—Do not wire funds for a car. Scammers often ask for wired funds because they are hard to track, and there is no way to get your money back. It is best to make large purchases by check or credit card.

—Do not believe everything you see. Scammers are great at mimicking official seals, fonts and other details. Just because a website or email looks official does not mean it is. For example, if a business displays a BBB Accredited Business seal, you can verify its legitimacy by going to www.BBB.org and looking up the company yourself.

If you believe you have been a victim of this type of scheme, BBB recommends you file a complaint with the FBI's Internet Crime Complaint Center at www.ic3.gov. Also, file a report with your local police department and BBB Scam Tracker.

In praise of our community

Letter to the Editor,

Awake to the beauty of the countryside and to a sense of community in the natural world all about us as, in proper order, appear the purple violets, the wild blue phlox, the trilliums, the wild geranium, the refreshing shades of purple, lavender, and white blooms of the Dane's rockets all along the roadsides, creek sides,

Of heavenly love:
While in our mortal pain,
None calls on Thee in vain:
Help Thou dost not disdain,

spilling over into wooded areas, the soft shades of a jaded whiteness of the locusts now in full bloom throughout the woods all over the countryside, the phoebe, the clear call of the Bob white, the chipmunk awake from winter sleep. Yes, a steep sense of community.

Awake, too, to another sense of community that is here as we help one another. Recently, with the passing of my wife, our family experienced it firsthand — friends dropping what they were doing and giving of themselves to bring solace in a time of sorrow, sharing the grief. And a word fitly spoken, how good is it! The German would have it "Und ein Wort zu seiner Zeit ist sehr lieblich" (and a timely word, how lovely it is), Proverbs 15:23.

This sense of community abides in our songs and in our singing congregations. Just this past Sunday morning in our church, the beautiful singing of the words from this hymn dating back to the third century, "Shepherd of Tender Youth," the third stanza:

Thou art the Great High Priest,
Thou hast prepared the feast

And our Amish brethren singing in thunderous song the strong, vibrant melodies of the Ausbund hymns from the 16th century in their early morning services. This singing of hymns runs as a thread of gold back through the centuries with Christians in song in the catacombs under the city of Rome, with songs echoing through the halls of the monastery of Mar Saba in the wilderness of Judea, and only in 1862 did John Mason Neale translate many of these Greek hymns that lie in the Greek service books over 1,100 years, among them "The Day of Resurrection."

Earth, tell it out abroad;
The passover of gladness,
The passover of God.
From death to life eternal,
From this world to the sky,
Our Christ hath brought us over
With hymns of victory.

Thanks to the resurrection, die Auferstehung, of Christ and his death, it makes possible our living together in a sense of Christian community as we sing in word and live in life our songs of victory.

It's only taken 35 years to discover what bugs her

Kristin and Frankie clamored up the stairs in an excited huff and stopped at the door of my office to catch their breath. Under normal circumstances both woman and dog could have run that flight a half-dozen times without panting this profusely. It was obvious something was up.

"Yes?" I asked, lowering my glasses to the end of my nose to take in the full scene.

"Oh my gosh! Did you hear me scream?" Kristin said as Frank swirled excitedly at her feet.

"Um, no. I don't recall any screaming," I said. "But I did hear a herd of buffalo coming up the stairs just a second ago."

"Well you would have run just the same as me," Kristin panted. "I was just about to put a bowl away in that lower cupboard beside the kitchen sink, and you'll never believe what I found when I opened the door!"

"The centipede?" I asked calmly.

"Yes, it was creepy and crawly and shot right out from underneath that big white salad bowl to scare the crap out of me," she said.

John & Kristin Lorson
Driving Laughter

Then my wife caught her breath, furrowed her brow and said, "Wait a minute! Did you just say 'THE centipede,' as in a centipede of which you were already aware?"

"Guilty!" I chuckled. "I encountered the little fella earlier today when I was reaching for a bowl. He's quite a specimen isn't he?"

"John Lorson! You saw a centipede in the cupboard and you just walked away from it? What is wrong with you?"

"Well, he was pretty quick, or I'd have put him in a jar to show you. I was in a hurry, however, to get those leftovers into the fridge. You know how important it is to keep the cold stuff cold at this time of year."

"And you just left a centipede wander off into the cabinet like it was nothing?" she growled.

"Well, not exactly," I defended. "There was more thought put into it than that. Centipedes are fantastic predators, you see, and they'll take out all manner of other insects should they wander their way. I figured it was a fair trade to offer him 'room and board' if he'd be willing to grab the random ant or stink bug that makes its way into our house."

"Oh, I understand. You offered immunity to the most terrifying insect of all if he'd gobble up the other, less scary bugs. I think you might be losing it, John."

"Yes, that's pretty much the deal," I said. "But I'll need to offer a subtle reminder that a centipede is not actually an insect but rather a closely related arthropod. Remember a true insect has just three pairs of legs, a three-part body and ..."

"I squished it!" Kristin blurted out.

"Wait, what? You killed my centipede?" I whimpered.

"I grabbed the lid of a cottage cheese container and pummeled the life out of that dreadful creature right then and there! The entire encounter lasted less than three seconds! Sorry if you had become emotionally attached!"

"Geez, after 35 years you think you know somebody and ..."

"And they squish a horrifying bug in the cupboard?"

You're darn right, mister, and I'd do it again in a heartbeat!"

"Wow, year 36 is looking like a rough ride," I laughed.

Strawberries always in season but best time is now

Strawberries are in season. Sure, they can be seen in the grocery year round, but these sweet, juicy berries come from local gardens from May to July. Americans eat 3.4 pounds of strawberries every year.

The name strawberry has been debated for eons. Many people believe it was derived from the fact that straw is often laid down beneath the plants to protect the roots that grow close to the top of the soil as well as the delicate berries. The more popular explanation is the word strawberry comes from the idea the berries are strewn among the plants and strewnberries became strawberries. That sounds better than scatterberries.

Bobbie Randall
Kitchen Table
Nutrition

This name was derived from the Latin word for fragrant. Strawberries are actually in the rose family, and considering the beautiful color and taste, they also are linked to loving relationships.

Put chocolate, roses and strawberries together and the romance is bound to begin. Native Americans called them heart-shaped berries. Legends around the world associate strawberries with love and flirtation.

Eight medium-sized whole strawberries provide more than 100% of vitamin C needed daily. This vitamin requires the berries are handled carefully. Cutting or juicing them will reduce the vitamin content.

Strawberries are low in calories. One cup of unsweetened berries has only 55 calories. They are fat free and are recommended to prevent heart disease and cancer. Folic acid, potassium and fiber are found in abundance in strawberries. Flavonoids and phytonutrients abound in strawberries. Without extra sugar they are a very healthy food.

Ancient Roman physicians used strawberries to treat everything from fever to depression. Fresh juice from mashed-up berries has a cooling effect on patients with fevers. Crushed berries and water have been used as a body purifier for ages.

Strawberry juice or mash combined with honey will even reduce inflammation or sunburn when rubbed thoroughly onto the skin. Rinse off with warm water and lemon juice to feel cool relief.

They are the first fruit to ripen in the spring. Botanists do not regard them as true berries or fruit because their seeds are on the outside of the fruit. In fact, there are over 200 seeds on each strawberry. This is probably why random strawberry plants pop up in the most unusual places because the birds move these seeds around easily.

The flavor of the berries depends upon the weather, the variety and the stage of ripeness when picked. Strawberries that are picked when three-fourths red will develop full color and flavor in a few days when kept at 70 F. Berries that are only half red will seldom have the same quality as a mature berry.

Experts report a few strawberries are healthy for your dog. These berries contain an enzyme that helps to whiten teeth. The nutritional value also is beneficial for you and your pup. Share a few today.

Position for that promotion

It should be no great surprise that companies that largely promote from within have employees who stick around for 41% longer than the hiring-from-outside competition. Promotions are a great way to show employees they're trusted, valued and connected.

Before posting a job, smart employers look inside first. But how can smart employees take advantage of a new opportunity that's right in front of their face and position themselves for their time to rise?

Here are six ways to create your path to the top — or just to a better-paying role in your organization.

1. Excel in your current job. Beat expectations, shoulder new responsibilities and perform exceptionally well. Your boss isn't going to consider you for a higher position if you don't master your current level.

2. Always be learning. Take trainings and workshops, work toward a degree or complete a certification. A well-equipped professional is an asset to any organization.

3. Demonstrate your leadership. Step into formal roles such as chairing a work group or team or assume informal ones such as leading a cleanup project or employee resource group. Work to inspire and collaborate for results.

Dan Shortridge

4. Strengthen your network. Build positive relationships with everyone you can, especially mentors and senior leadership. Develop your reputation as a problem-solver and team player.

5. Seek out feedback. Ask for input on your performance outside of the traditional annual review periods. Getting that valuable insight will help you improve your work and also shows off your willingness to improve. Your skills and growth will give you greater visibility and set you apart.

6. Show you're flexible. Managers and senior leaders often have to be adaptable to survive and succeed. Embrace changes and tackle problems that erupt, especially last-minute snafus and assignments. Set and enforce your boundaries, to be sure, but a little flexibility can go a long way.

Employers that reward and recognize their internal talent tap into a pool of people who already have proven themselves valuable contributors who are in line with your values and know your systems and processes. If your current team is short a skill or needs to develop depth, then deliberately cultivate that and prepare your people for a shift upward.

Promoting also significantly cuts your hiring costs — job postings, recruiters, backgrounding and onboarding are all cut to zero. It's generally easier to backfill an entry-level role from outside than a senior one.

And for employees, it improves a sense of loyalty and positive morale on your team. It shows there is room for advancement and opportunity and encourages other employees to work for excellence too.

State track completes super sports season at Dalton

A few thoughts from the week in sports ...

Simply put, the 2022-23 school year was a great time for the Dalton Bulldogs.

In last week's Bargain Hunter, I featured Dalton senior Bryce Johnson and sophomore Brady Hignight. They are believed to be the first Wayne County Athletic League athletes to play on league champion and regional teams in football, basketball and baseball in the same school year.

When senior shortstop Jack Steiner was named WCAL Baseball Player of the Year, it gave Dalton a sweep of the top individual awards in those sports. Quentin Lehman was the top honoree in football, a rarity for a lineman, and Braylon Wenger was the Basketball POTY.

At the OHSAA State Track and Field Meet held June 2-3 in Columbus, the Dalton thinclads added some final heroics highlighted by a Division III state championship for the girls 4x100 relay team.

Dalton's team of junior Courtney Weaver, senior Lauren Clos, junior Macy Seeman and senior Brianna Chenevey ran to a first-place finish in 49.00 in Jesse Owens Memorial Stadium to edge Liberty Center (49.77).

Chenevey also earned state runner-up medals in the 100 (12.18) and 200 (24.88) races. She finished her high school career with six All-Ohio medals.

Two other Dalton athletes deserving special recognition are senior Quentin Lehman and junior Colin Pearson. The duo also were members of the WCAL and regional-qualifying football and basketball teams and qualified for the state track meet.

Lehman placed 16th in the discus (135-06) after having a regional toss of 165-05.

Pearson earned a spot on the podium after teaming with sophomores Sam Tomlinson and Cameron Gazboda and junior Kamoa Hevia to place eighth in the 4x200 relay in 1:31.34.

"It was an incredible year for our track and field team and even beyond that for Dalton teams," Bulldogs track coach Seth Sullivan said. "Brianna made it to state for the third year and has five school records: 100, 200, 400, 4x1 and 4x2.

"She'll run track at Ashland with Lauren Clos, who was also on the relays. For our boys 4x2 team to make the podium with two sophomores and two juniors is huge and gives us a lot to look forward to. Quentin set our school record in the district, and we were really happy to see him qualify for state even though he didn't

Norwayne shout-out

Northern Wayne County schools Norwayne, Rittman, Northwestern and Chippewa are not a part of The Bargain Hunter's circulation/coverage area at this time.

However, the Bobcats' Dillon Morlock and Jaylee Wingate deserve special shout-outs in this column after capping incredible seasons by both winning state championships.

Morlock actually won two titles, capturing the Div. II shot put (65-0 ¼) and Wingate, a senior headed to Tennessee on a track scholarship, won the Div. III 1,600 championship in 4:56.05 and was third in the 800 (2:17.19). Coupled with several other All-Ohio finishes, the Bobcats girls were second as a team in Div. III.

Scots looking for baseball coach

The College of Wooster is looking for a new head baseball coach.

Barry Craddock had been the head coach since 2020 and served 16 years prior as an assistant under Hall of Famer Tim Pettorini at his alma mater.

The Scots went 17-23-1 in 2023, preceded by 35-17, 25-13 and 4-4 (COVID year) under Craddock.

Multiple sources I spoke with said it was not Craddock's decision to leave. He wasn't quoted in a vague press release put out by The COW.

Best wishes to Craddock moving forward. He's a great baseball guy with tons of experience.

Wooster has one of the all-time best Div. III programs, and there are lots of great candidates out there to take over as the new leader, ranging from Scots alums currently coaching to some outstanding high school coaches in this area.

Parting shots

I'm looking forward to the Wayne-Holmes Baseball Coaches Association Senior All-Star Game, which will be played June 14 at The College of Wooster's Art Murray Field.

Dalton senior Quentin Lehman, left, and junior Colin Pearson were members of the league champion and regional-qualifying football and basketball teams and qualified for the state track meet.

Kudos to Triway coach Justin McDowell for donating his time to give graduating seniors one last opportunity to represent their high schools and their proud families a final chance to watch them play in their school colors.

I'm proud The Bargain

Hunter/Wooster Weekly News and Insurance Centre Agency that I work for have agreed to be sponsors for the game. Watch for a preview story on the game online and in The Bargain Hunter.

—Wooster ran into a buzz saw in the form of Medina left-handed pitcher Owen Cavey in the Div. I regional semifinals on June 1 at Gilmour, falling 5-0 after Cavey fired a no-hitter with 10 strikeouts. Cavey was Glavine-esque working the corners all game long. It was a sad ending for the Generals but quite an accomplishment to reach the regionals for the first time in 25 years.

"I told our team to be proud of your accomplishments this year but not satisfied," Generals coach Steve Young said.

"This is not something that we want to be a one of — this is what we're trying to do every single year.

"We just thanked the seniors for everything that they gave to the program and the foundation they laid out. We had so many selfless seniors who didn't get much playing time, and they were there every day working. It was a very selfless group."

Repeat first-team All-Ohioan Blake Bowen and fellow senior All-OCC performer Elisha Steiner will be huge graduation losses, but the future is extremely bright with most of the starters returning.

If they can take away our AM radios, what's next?

Ironically, I heard the news as I drove home from work.

Seems a number of car manufacturers including Audi, BMW and Volvo have decided to eliminate AM radios from their new models, mostly electric vehicles, commonly known as EVs.

Their reasoning varies, but most reports cite static interference from the new-fangled engines as the biggest culprit, though others refer vaguely to as-yet-to-be-offered streaming services, which, of course, will add yet another expense to consumers' growing lists.

I don't think it really matters as to the why; the fact is yet another important aspect of everyday life is being taken away, and as EVs become more and more commonplace, all one can do is remember how it used to be, when cars and their AM radios were a perfect marriage, right up there with mashed potatoes and gravy, stars and stripes, hot dogs and stadium mustard and, of course, Simon and Garfunkel, not to mention Lennon and McCartney.

Mike Dewey

Phasing them out — AM radios, not the Beatles — won't be a big deal to most folks, the young ones who grew up with their brains attached to computers and their eyes never far from their phones.

This is the way of the world ... always has been.

As Dylan once observed, "Your old road is rapidly agin'," to which he added this cautionary warning, an admonition to be heeded:

"Please get out of the new one

if you can't lend your hand, for the times they a-changin'."

Bob's in his 80s now, and we're lucky to have him still around and vital, but I have a feeling his freewheeling days are long behind and that it's been a while since he set off on a long drive.

What's the farthest distance you ever drove by yourself at one time?

Mine's a rather pedestrian 600 miles from the Virginia coast to my Ohio hometown, a journey that would have been virtually impossible without the AM radio in my gold 1969 Chevy Impala.

I had planned to leave my girlfriend's house early that summer Sunday afternoon, but, well, when you're young and you think you're in love, real life slips away and you lose track of time.

The sun was setting directly in front of me, blinding me as I hurtled west, but before long, it was dark and the interstate was pretty quiet and all I had for companion-ship was the AM radio.

And that was more than enough; actually, it was a blessing.

I stopped once for gas in Breezewood, that strange Pennsylvania crossroads town famous for its truck stops, diners and the four or five turnpikes that collide there, as if drawn by unseen magnets. After that, it was bugs hitting the windshield and the sound of tires rolling as the miles disappeared and I got the news and listened to songs that to this day still remind me of being young and so alive.

By the time I pulled into town, I still had a few minutes to report to the school where I'd begin my summer job as a playground counselor, put in charge of a dozen or two impressionable minds, a prospect that in retrospect still fills me with dread/wonder.

That fall, after I'd landed a part-time gig as a sports-writer covering high school football games played in stadiums carved out of cornfields, I invested a small sum into something called an FM converter. It was a black plastic device that, if you had even a little bit of experience hooking up stereo systems, enabled you to listen to the other bandwidth, the one with underground rock stations.

How things have come full circle. Back then AM was the major artery with an FM tributary. Now it's headed for irrelevance.

But before AM radio is relegated to the dustbin of obsolescence, I think it's important to point out there's been some push-back, particularly among those folks who live in rural areas of America, places that rely on the local airwaves to keep them informed, especially in times of weather warnings and other emergencies.

A good AM signal can travel for hundreds of miles, especially at night, whereas its FM brethren rarely reach beyond the county line.

And who hasn't sat in the car, listening to a ballgame, unwilling to leave the play-by-play for fear of missing the play that decides it all?

Without AM radio I'd have been denied so much, most of it music. I cannot imagine my driving life without CKLW, "The Big 8" as it was known, that powerhouse station out of the Motor City. To cite just a single example, being a teenager without having "American Pie" blasting out of the car radio is like being denied life's very air.

I had a friend back then who used to keep a ledger of the AM stations he could pull in evenings, using his father's sophisticated stereo setup that he was strictly prohibited from even looking at, let alone employ in that kind of tomfoolery. Yet he persisted, and I relished the moments when he'd tell one of us that last night he'd picked up a station out of New Orleans, an hour devoted to jazz.

Yes, I understand everything changes, and I'm not one of those get-off-my-lawn old guys who'll never adjust to the way things are, but I'm also smart enough to know that if they succeed in taking AM radios out of EVs, someone's going to have to explain why, exactly and persuasively, an institution that has offered so much for so long has, all of a sudden, gone quiet in a cloud of static.

Mike Dewey can be reached at Carolinamiked@aol.com or 6211 Cardinal Drive, New Bern, NC 28560. He invites you to join the fun on his Facebook page, where whip antennas are still in vogue and if you listen late enough, you'll hear music that still matters.

Animal projects help 4-Hers

The Wayne County Fair is months away, but 4-Hers are well into the season of raising and caring for their animals, which will fill the pens, stalls and show rings.

A total of 2,762 animals have been enrolled by Wayne County 4-H members.

Learning how to be responsible for another being takes practice, and 4-H members who experience animal projects practice those skills daily. They have deadlines to meet, clinics to attend, skillathons to complete and daily care of the animal.

They had to enroll in their projects by April 1. By June 1 they had to upload photos of their animals with identifying information on 4-H online. The 4-H online system manages all aspects of the 4-H program including membership, events, projects, activities and communications.

Junior fair livestock committees plan clinics for project members so they can learn how to best care for their animals, understand what they need to bring to the fair, and see demonstrations and learn from fair judges on how to best present their animal in the show ring.

At the fair members compete in showmanship classes where they are judged on how well they handle their animal and what they learned about it. In market show classes, the focus is on the animal. The judge is looking for things like bone structure, muscle, mobility and overall quality of the animal for its species.

All 4-Hers with an animal project must attend a Quality Assurance session. The Quality Assurance program teaches 4-H youth how to use best practices that support the production of quality and safe animal products for consumers. It also teaches responsible animal handling, care and welfare, not only for farm animal production, but also with companion and performance animals.

In addition to Quality Assurance, animal project members also must participate in a skillathon, an educational session where volunteer facilitators conduct a learning station for youth to gain or demonstrate their knowledge and skills learned by doing their livestock projects. Skillathons enhance learning through hands-on activities and demonstrated skills. They are not just a test, but also enhance critical thinking, problem-solving and communication skills.

As an example, last year's activities included identifying feed samples and participating in an interview with a volunteer judge about the members' projects to help build interviewing and communication skills.

The Wayne County 4-H program will hold two skillathon sessions on June 15 and 19 from 6:30-9 p.m. at the fair's event center. Nearly 80 volunteers will help with the event.

Animal projects aren't just for 4-H members who live in rural areas. Anyone can learn how to care for just about any animal, in just about any location — small ones like rabbits or ducks, mid-size like goats, larger like steers or horses, or even more unique animals.

Members strive for top placings, not only in the show ring, but also for their overall achievement in their project area through the Outstanding Exhibitor Awards program. This program was developed to recognize youth who go above and beyond in their species, both in and out of the show ring. Final scores include points for an educational poster, Outstanding Exhibitor Exam, project record book, showmanship placing and breed or market class placing.

Generous award sponsors are a big part of this program.

It's an investment that helps our youth learn about the livestock industry and develop responsibility, decision-making and patience.

Laurie Sidle is an Ohio State University Extension program assistant for 4-H and family and consumer sciences.

This is a one-of-a-kind homestead hold out parcel. Sellers are NOT reserving any mineral rights. Limited free gas for home heating per lease of record transfers.
