Inaugural CERT class ready, willing to help

By Dan Starcher

In times of crisis and emergencies, having a well-prepared and coordinated response team is crucial for the safety and well-being of a community. Helping that effort is Community Emergency Response Team. CERT is a program that trains volunteers to become an essential part of the emergency response system.

CERT teams are comprised of everyday individuals passionate about making a difference and ensuring the resilience of their neighborhood. The concept was born out of the recognition that during a major disaster, first responders might be overwhelmed by the sheer scale of the situation. By having trained community members ready to assist, the burden on emergency services is lightened, and critical help can be promptly provided to those in need.

According to local CERT founder, retired Wayne County Sheriff's Office Capt. Doug Hunter, the training is rigorous because the volunteers may be called into action at any time.

"I started this initiative before I retired from the sheriff's office," Hunter said. "It took a while to get the moving parts into place."

According to Hunter, volunteers must pass a 12-hour online course administered by the University of Utah before participating in the hands-on portion of the training. Hunter recommends even private individuals take the training. He said you never know when you might be the first responder.

In addition to possibly saving a life someday, volunteers play a critical role in emergency response by taking care of minor issues while full-time first responders focus on critical issues.

"There is a shortage of first responders right now; being involved with CERT allows me to help the community in situations where first responders are needed," Alex Angus of Green Fox Plastics said. "My role would be to help free them up so they can respond to more severe needs."

Angus also plans to put his CERT training to use at his job if the need arises.

"We work with heavy machinery, so (accidents) could be an issue," he said about his training. "This training is very valuable; it is a little different from what you read in the book when you perform some hands-on tasks. For example, the book doesn't tell you to be prepared for the recoil from the fire extinguisher, but now that is committed to memory."

The Wayne County Sheriff's Office is poised to benefit from the all-volunteer squad.

"This will help take a large load off our backs," Sheriff Travis Hutchinson said. "They are receiving training in every aspect of an emergency situation and can help with things like traffic control and medical care at the scenes. They will be a big asset to the community."

Ready, willing and able

"The people taking part in this training become familiar with our policy, procedures and structure," Hutchinson said. "Some are veterans, some are amateur radio operators, and they are very familiar with the hierarchy. I am very proud, and it is an honor to work with them. There are not a lot of people who volunteer anymore to help the community."

Anyone interested in becoming CERT-qualified may email Hunter at cert@wcohsio.org for additional information.

Dan Starcher is the public communications coordinator for Wayne County.

Becoming CERT-qualified includes learning various aspects of emergency response such as administering medical attention to victims.

WCSCC open house set for Dec. 7

The Wayne County Schools Career Center will host an open house on Thursday, Dec. 7 from 5-7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend, with a special invitation extended to all Wayne County students in eighth grade through 10th grade and their families. High school juniors also are invited to tour the RAMTEC facility and learn about two half-day programs for seniors only: machining technologies and robotics and automation.

Students interested in engineering technologies should go to Orrville High School from 5-7:30 p.m.

Some college, university and career-technical school partners and military, business and industry representatives will be in the commons to answer questions about colleges and advanced training. Additional information about college credit, certification or licensure opportunities will be available from school counselors and career-technical instructors. Student organizations will have displays describing their activities.

Academic teachers will provide information about a comprehensive offering of academics. Some academic courses offer college credit. Light refreshments and free popcorn will be available in the commons.

Submitted

Machining technologies instructor Bruce Steiner speaks to parents and prospective students about the Wayne County Schools Career Center at a previous open house. The WCSCC's annual open house will be held Thursday, Dec. 7 from 5-7:30 p.m.

Guidance counselors will answer questions about the application process, and the Extra Help Area will be open with information related to the career center's award-winning Extra Help and tutoring programs.

Building tours will be led by staff guides, but maps will be available for those who want to tour on their own. There will be a drawing for prizes for students in eighth grade through 10th grade.

Adult and community education will be available to answer questions and provide information on a range of classes, career training programs and financial aid.

The career center is located at 518 W. Prospect St. in Smithville. For more information call 330-669-7000 or go to the school website at wcsc.org.

A Holiday Favorite!

Ballet Wooster's 'Nutcracker' returns to enchant audiences

By Monica L. Miyashita

On Dec. 9 and 10, a biennial holiday tradition will return to Wayne County as Ballet Wooster will present "The Nutcracker."

This year the production will be held at the OARDC's Fisher Auditorium and will include three shows: Dec. 9 at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. and Dec. 10 at 2 p.m.

The story for "The Nutcracker" ballet was adapted from a book written by E.T.A. Hoffman called "The Nutcracker and the Mouse King." Pyotr Tchaikovsky composed the score for the ballet, with the first production taking place in December 1892 in Russia. The story is about a young girl named Clara who receives a nutcracker for Christmas. The nutcracker comes to life as a prince, and after Prince battles with the Mouse Queen, Prince and Clara travel to the Land of Sweets, where the Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy takes place.

Because the ballet takes place on Christmas Eve and made its debut in December, "The Nutcracker" has become synonymous with the Christmas holiday season and often is a family tradition to attend the ballet to celebrate the season.

Ballet Wooster's production of "The Nutcracker" includes 95 dancers who study ballet at the studio and who range in age from 5-18.

The four most senior dancers at Ballet Wooster hold key roles within the production. This year Clara is played by Brianna Lengyel, who is a junior at Norwayne High School. Lengyel said she enjoys dancing in "The Nutcracker."

"My favorite part is how much opportunity there is to grow as a dancer and as a person," she said.

The Mouse Queen is portrayed by Annie McLain, who has been dancing for 13 years and is a homeschooled senior. "I enjoy performing on stage and watching everyone's hard work to create something beautiful," she said.

Ryleigh Perrine, a junior at Wooster High School, plays the Chinese lead in the Land of Sweets. She said she enjoys dancing with her friends as part of "The Nutcracker" cast.

Nadia Franks is a junior at Wooster High School who dances several roles in the show including the Snow Queen and the Arabian lead. "The best part of 'The Nutcracker' is getting a chance to dance with my friends," she said. "The whole show is just amazing."

The cast also includes guest artist Tim Pritchard as Nutcracker Prince and a few community members including Max Miyashita, a senior at Orrville High School, who plays Herr Drosselmyer, the magician, toymaker and godfather to Clara who gives her the gift of the nutcracker.

For Artistic Director Zelie McLain, directing, choreographing and planning "The Nutcracker" takes her back to when she danced in "The Nutcracker" ballet. McLain is originally from Wayne County and spent her youth dancing ballet. Over the course of her years as a dancer, she played the Mouse Queen, just like her younger sister Annie McLain, who plays that role this year.

"My last 'Nutcracker' that I danced was in 2014," Zelie McLain said. "I performed in six different 'Nutcracker' ballets and have had 12 different roles across those six productions."

McLain has been teaching at Ballet Wooster for several years and became artistic director in 2022.

In addition to McLain, the teaching faculty at Ballet Wooster, located at 5246 Cleveland Road, Suite E, Wooster, includes veteran teacher and former co-artistic director Brenda Schwinn, who is now emeritus artistic director, as well as instructor Samantha Servais Canfield, who plays Mrs. Stahlbaum in the production. Evelyn Pritchard, another instructor at the studio, has a connection to the production and not just as a teacher. Her son Tim plays Nutcracker Prince.

Ballet Wooster is a nonprofit, noncompetitive ballet school and youth company. The studio offers classes in ballet, tap, jazz and creative movement to students ranging in age from 18 months to adult. Ballet Wooster also is a pre-professional company for intermediate and advanced dancers. Dance levels are determined by faculty evaluations each year.

Company dancers attend ballet classes two to three times weekly, increasing in frequency and duration as their level increases. In addition to Ballet Wooster's biennial production of "The Nutcracker," the studio also puts on a spring ballet production each year. Last spring Ballet Wooster presented "Cinderella." This year's spring production will be announced after the holidays. The studio's spring classes will begin in January.

For more information on how to register for classes or to purchase tickets in advance, go to www.balletwooster.org or call the studio at 330-201-0455. Tickets also will be available at the door, but it is advised not to wait as tickets are selling quickly. Ballet Wooster's 2021 "Nutcracker" had three completely sold out shows, so it is best to purchase ahead instead of waiting to try and purchase at the door.

Ballet Wooster's production of "The Nutcracker" includes 95 dancers who study ballet at the studio in Wooster and who range in age from 5-18.

MEET BONNIE

Bonnie, a 7-year-old, 65-pound girl who is an Australian Shepherd mix who would like a family who will give her an abundance of snuggles and pets, along with structured activities to keep her mind occupied. If you are looking for a pretty girl who knows how to sit and is working on her "sit pretty," -Bonnie just might be your gal. A meet and greet with other dogs is recommended; she met the shelter kitty and was initially very forward until she was smacked, then she backed off. Her manners are very good and she is eager to learn.

All adoptions are $75 regardless of age/breed, which includes DAPPv+Lepto4, Bordetella, dewormed, flea treated, heartworm tested and rabies (if age appropriate), spay/neuter voucher, microchip and current dog license.

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Village Network cuts ribbon on Residential Treatment Center

The Village Network recently held a ribbon-cutting ceremony to celebrate the opening of its new Residential Treatment Center on its Wooster residential campus.

The Village Network employees, donors and community members were invited to share the excitement of the new facility. The Residential Treatment Center is a 16-bed, seven-bath, 13,716-square-foot facility that is fully self-contained with all the services needed for clients contained within it.

This includes three sensory integration rooms, two education spaces, a full kitchen and dining space, a dedicated intake area with a medical exam room, three activity spaces, two therapy and visitation rooms, and a gym and staff offices. Outside, the facility has three outdoor play areas with basketball, swings, green space, and parking for staff and visitors.

The building will help youth who are facing serious psychological and behavioral issues and who require intensive treatment in a short-term residential setting including individual, group and family therapy; psychiatric treatment;

nursing care; and expressive therapies. It also will provide education through onsite schooling or tutoring, encouraging children to learn daily skills and thrive in a healthy social setting.

Not only in Ohio but across the country, there is a crisis in child welfare and children's mental health. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, mental health disorders are surging among adolescents. In recent years the number of teens reported having a major depressive episode has increased by 60%. Similarly, suicide rates among teens have jumped by nearly 60%. The child welfare and mental health systems are overwhelmed.

Across the state there are stories of children suffering from mental illness having to spend days in emergency rooms or children's services offices. The Village Network, in fulfilling its mission, is partnering with local and state officials to be a part of the solution.

"At The Village Network, we are resolutely pursuing our mission and collaborating with local and state authorities to combat this crisis effectively," said Rich Graziano, president and CEO of The Village Network.

Many of the children who will be served in this new program will be experiencing developmental trauma, which is trauma that begins at a very young age while the child's brain is still developing and which is perpetrated by someone the child is living with. Consequently, these children are becoming adolescents with minimal capacity to self-regulate, control their impulses, delay gratification, manage their emotions and even be in safe, trusting relationships. They are easily overwhelmed, sometimes by the most routine tasks and interventions.

In response to this, The Village Network has adopted clinical models that help these children develop the capacity to self-regulate, control their impulses, self-soothe and manage their emotions: the Neurosequential Model of Therapeutics and the Collaborative Problem Solving Approach.

"In Ohio and across the United States, there is an alarming rise in mental health issues among children. Sadly, approximately 140 young people with complex behavioral health requirements in Ohio alone are currently placed in out-of-state treatment facilities," Graziano said. "To address this issue, we are constructing a unique facility in Wayne and Holmes counties that will offer round-the-clock psychiatric care. This will be the first of its kind in the area, and we hope it will positively impact the community."

For more information on community services at The Village Network's Don Foster Center for Family Preservation, visit www.thevillagenetwork.org or call 800-638-3232.

The Village Network is nationally recognized as a quality care provider, licensed by the Ohio Department of Job & Family Services, certified by the Ohio Department of Mental Health & Addiction Services and accredited by the Council of Accreditation.

Thoughts for

KINGDOM INVESTORS!

#2 in a series, offered in the spirit of Hebrews 10:24

Who Cares About ROI?

Well, I'm sure that if you are an investor, Return on Investment is a big factor in your decisions. That, along with the risk level and the trustworthiness of those managing your investment, is important to you.

In that light, let me propose Global Disciples, of Lancaster, PA, as an excellent investment. They train qualified leaders in networks of established churches in our uttermost (Acts 1:8), who then train their members to go and make disciples in near-culture tribes who need the Gospel.

Global is an interdenominational ministry with Anabaptist roots and culture, and these 2022 statistics will interest you:

- Global partnered with 1,610 networks of churches,
- in 3,096 active training programs,
- in 71 countries.
- 13,052 Disciple Makers were trained,
- and 2,232 churches were planted,
- including 64,214 new believers. (Those actually being discipled, not just those who raised their hand to accept Christ in a meeting.)

How's that, for ROI?

Global has been doing this since 1995, and 80% of the training programs they have engaged in through the years continue to this day. Those who are trained as disciple-makers first receive rigorous training to assure that they are themselves serious disciples of Jesus.

Integrity wise, Global is an ECFA member, and you can see other endorsements on their website. Further, they help assure integrity in those they serve by working with networks of churches where there is accountability, rather than with individual pastors.

www.globaldisciples.org

In planning their 23-24 budget Global had to turn down $2,000,000 worth of training requests because of financial constraints. Scan this QR code to help them, as they serve us by training those in our "uttermost," to reach those in their "Jerusalem, Judea and Samaria."

WCA Children's Chorus back, preparing for holiday concert

The Wayne Center for the Arts Children's Chorus will present a holiday concert on Saturday, Dec. 9 at 2:30 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church in Wooster. The concert will be the first since the children's chorus returned this autumn, thanks to funding from the Ohio Arts Council and Wayne County Community Foundation.

A celebrated program in the 1990s and early 2000s, Wayne Center for the Arts and Tri-County Educational Service Center worked together to bring a children's chorus back to the community.

"The children's chorus was a celebrated tradition in WCA's past, and we are thrilled to see its return," said Sara Starr Brink, executive director of Wayne Center for the Arts. "It's been a joy to hear them rehearsing. It's a wonderful thing to have the sound of children singing together floating through our hallways."

"We are fortunate to be able to offer this new musical opportunity to area students," said Michelle Muro, fine arts consultant of Tri-County Educational Service Center. "Our local music teachers welcomed the return of the children's chorus and encouraged students to participate. The Wayne County Choral Union's vision to support aspiring choral groups via the Wayne County Community Foundation has been a significant source of support to get the chorus started."

The ensemble is open to students in fourth grade through seventh grade with unchanged or treble voices throughout Wayne County and Northeast Ohio. Guiding these young musicians is Director Alexander Looney, who also serves as the music teacher at Millersburg Elementary for kindergarten through fifth grade.

Students will perform several holiday pieces. Tickets are $5 and available online at www.WayneArtsCenter.org or by cash only at the door.

Hospice holiday grief workshop Dec. 11

Ohio's Hospice LifeCare will offer a bereavement workshop, Handling the Holidays, on Monday, Dec. 11 at Ohio's Hospice LifeCare's Marilyn B. and Mark E. Gustafson Center for Supportive Care, 1900 Akron Road, Wooster.

Participants will learn how to cope with grief during the holidays, practice self-care, and create space to grieve and celebrate.

David Hargrave, LSW, CCTP, CGCS, bereavement counseling professional with Ohio's Hospice LifeCare, will lead the workshop. Through support from the community, Ohio's Hospice LifeCare is able to offer this and other grief support programs free of charge to anyone in the community, regardless of whether they have received services.

If anyone in the community has experienced the death of a loved one and needs grief support services, call Pathways of Hope at Ohio's Hospice LifeCare at 330-264-4899 to schedule an appointment.

Pathways of Hope provides a variety of services to the communities served by Ohio's Hospice LifeCare. Support and education are provided by a bereavement counseling professional with experience assisting grieving children, adolescents and adults.

While the event is free and open to the public, registration is required. Limited seats are available. To register, email PathwaysOfHope@LifeCareHospice.org or call 330-264-4899. Include your name, the name of the event, the date of the event and your phone number.

Keeping Vehicles READY FOR THE ROAD

By Ken McEntee
The early blast of winter at the end of October night may have served as an important reminder to be sure your vehicle is ready for the frigid days ahead. Trail Tire, the full-service auto shop in Dundee, is ready to help, said Ethan Watts, service manager.

“Our $25 winter car care special includes a thorough inspection, tire rotation and pressure check,” Watts said. “We will top off your washer fluid, check your battery and check the freeze point of your coolant.”

That service is part of Trail Tire’s commitment to making sure your vehicle is operating safely and soundly — and rectifying small problems before they get big.

“While our name says Trail Tire, we do much more than sell tires,” Watts said. “Our expansion last year from five to 12 bays significantly expanded our abilities and capacity. Our techs have more than 60 years of combined automotive experience, and they can do anything from major engine and transmission repair and replacement down to simple oil changes and brake jobs.”

“One of the big things we offer is Jasper engine and transmission products that carry a three-year, 100,000-mile national warranty,” Watts said. “If a customer’s vehicle breaks down in another state, they can go to a Jasper shop and get the part repaired or replaced.”

Trail Tire also features high-tech digital diagnostics to find the cause of mechanical problems.

“While our name says Trail Tire, we do much more than sell tires. Our expansion last year from five to 12 bays significantly expanded our abilities and capacity.”

Ethan Watts

“We do all makes and models, but we specialize in Ford and Chevy,” he said. “We have programming capabilities with both Ford and Chevy factory scan tools. Two of our techs are Ford certified in several areas, including electrical and diesel diagnostics.”

Trail Tire offers digital vehicle inspections.

“This basically promotes trust with a customer,” Watts said. “We take pictures of the parts that are faulty and we send those pictures with a diagnosis to the customer. Showing them what the problem is promotes trust.”

The shop has two alignment bays so customers can get in and out quickly and efficiently, Watts said.

“We work real hard to provide same-day service as much as possible,” he said. “If you drop your car off in the morning, we do everything possible to diagnose the problem, get the required parts and repair the vehicle that same day. That’s especially important to commercial customers who aren’t making money when their vehicle is not out on the road. We service fleets for a lot of contractors, plumbers and other businesses in the area.”

Trail Tire’s large parts inventory also helps to get repairs and maintenance done fast, Watts said.

“We have a large stock of batteries, oil, oil filters, air filters, wiper blades, automotive light bulbs and other common parts,” he said. “Basically, if there’s a common problem with your car that is related to those parts, we usually have them in stock and can get you turned around quick.”

Among the preventive maintenance Trail Tire provides is transmission and brake flushing.

“The purpose of flushing the transmission and replacing the fluid with high quality clean fluid is to prolong the life of the transmission,” Watts explained. “A lot of times people have a spongy brake pedal. Flushing will take out the old fluid that tends to break down over time and replace it with new fluid to restore the pedal and make it feel a lot better.”

Owner Dirk Visser started Trail Tire in 2012 and expanded the garage twice since then because of its increased business.

“The shop expanded from tire to general vehicle repair because of the large demand for service,” Watts said. “People came for tires, and they also had other running issues with their vehicle such as suspension work that we’re now able to fix conveniently with a single stop.”

Once again, Golden Bears are loaded

Waynedale's wrestling team continues to be a machine. Nothing looks likely to change in that regard this winter.

The success of Waynedale's wrestling team can be spotted quickly with a glance at the Golden Bears' roster. It's enormous, particularly for a school Waynedale's size. The Bears' numbers should allow them to pick up where they left off last season when the team stretched its dominance in the Wayne County Athletic League to a dozen years.

Though Dalton and Chippewa had nice showings last season, the Golden Bears again were the class of the league. With five champions, four runners-up and four more placers, only one weight class went without a Waynedale athlete on the podium.

That list was highlighted by a pair of state qualifiers, both back this season. Sophomore Stephen Patterson (113 pounds) placed eighth in the state last year at 106 pounds. Junior Caden Schmeltzer (138) was a state qualifier a year ago at 132 after placing seventh at 126 as a freshman.

WCAL champ Ashton Kauf, runner-up Brayden Kidd and third-placer Braden Mast highlight the letterwinners who did not return. The Louie Stanley, second from right, and the rest of his Waynedale wrestling staff will be back to try and lead the Golden Bears to yet another Wayne County Athletic League title.

File

Golden Bears have plenty back in the fold to offset those losses.

They include seniors Liam Mitten (165), Marquel Troyer (150, WCAL runner-up) and Cole Lewis (144, WCAL champ); juniors Jayden Schlabach (175, WCAL placer) and Robert McCrook (157, WCAL champ); and sophomores Lance Kearney (126), Seth Hostetler (132) and Grady Posey (215, WCAL placer).

"We have great depth and experience," Waynedale coach Louie Stanley said, "much more experience than last year."

Waynedale has no fewer than 13 newcomers looking to break into an already crowded lineup. The Bobcats, it could be argued, might have the best two teams in the conference, with the second group just waiting for a chance.

"We have high hopes and expectations for a very experienced freshman group," Stanley said, referring to a half-dozen tournament-tested ninth-graders.

Orrville

Like Waynedale, the Red Riders return a lot of athletes from their 2022-23 squad and will have an enhanced coaching staff to go with all of that. Jamie Kenney and Craig Grimes will be co-head coaches this season.

"We feel that with this format, we will be able to serve our team better and meet their needs more effectively," the coaches said. "Unlike the previous two seasons, we have a large number of upperclassmen that will be able to positively impact our team. Their experience and strong character serve as great examples for our underclassman to look up to and learn from."

Orrville returns a team rich in experience. Turning that to success will be the next step for the Red Riders, who last year placed fifth among the PAC-7's eight teams.

Orrville lost just one letterwinner from that group, that being Alex Dalesandro, who did not compete for the Red Riders at the conference tournament.

Not listed among Orrville's three dozen wrestlers is Jack Waldron, who won the 175-pound championship at the PAC-7 tourney a year ago.

Junior Seth Kinser (third) and sophomore Landon Grimes, seniors Conner Cherson and Drew Caskey, and junior Brahm Hostetler (all fourth) were conference placers last season. They return along with senior Skyler Veemara; juniors Brenden Betts, Tyler Farrell and Vincent Parego; and sophomores Jaycee Bailey, Caleb Carter, Connor Endley, Cameron Gillis, Lincoln Klutz, Caden Race and Bronson Rogers.

Bailey was a regional qualifier in girls tournament action a year ago. She is one of four girls in the program, along with senior Rose Wenger, junior Dalaney Riley and freshman Isabelle Farrell.

Among the newcomers are 14 freshmen, giving the Red Riders 22 wrestlers in ninth or 10th grade.

"This is a special group of kids," the coaches said. "They are not afraid of hard work and don't complain about it. Many of them have been wrestling since elementary school, so the fundamentals are there. Now it is time to refine those skills and allow them to find their own style. Orrville is enjoying a period of strong numbers as well as balance across all grade levels."

Wayne 4-H honors members, volunteers at banquet

By Laurie Sidle

The Wayne County 4-H program shined the spotlight on its star members and volunteers during its recent 4-H Recognition Banquet.

Mason Johnson was awarded the Excellence in 4-H Award, the most prestigious honor for a Wayne County 4-Her, at the 21st annual event at the Fair Event Center.

Johnson, the son of Russ and Molly Johnson of Wooster, is a member of the Country Strong 4-H Club and attends Ohio State University Agricultural Technical Institute, majoring in animal science. He has shown multiple market and breeding projects throughout his 10 years as a 4-H member. He has been an active junior fair board member, been selected for the junior fair royal court, and served as a 4-H Camp counselor and member of the livestock judging team.

Winners of this award are nominated by a 4-H club adviser or volunteer and demonstrate excellence in overall leadership, 4-H projects and activities, and continued growth and interest in 4-H.

Johnson also was named an Outstanding Junior Leader along with Mika Jagger and Mia Snyder.

Honored with Meritorious Service Awards were Nancy Wise, Dawna Kramer and Karla Forrer. This award is the highest honor that can be bestowed on a 4-H volunteer or friend of the 4-H program.

Wise has operated the milking parlor at the Wayne County Fair since 1992, "all the while wearing her overalls and a smile," wrote Kristin Mensching on the nomination form. "Nancy has been a wonderful partner in all things dairy at the fair including being our face of the dairy industry for consumers passing by the parlor and also a dedicated and integral part of daily operations for dairy exhibitors."

Milking parlors have been a fading amenity for dairy exhibitors at county fairs across the country, Mensching wrote. "It takes someone special to keep them alive."

Wise opens the Wayne County Fair milking parlor every morning at 5:30 a.m. and every afternoon at 4:30 p.m. "You can be sure she'll be there after every show until the last cow in the barn gets milked," Mensching said.

Kramer is giving of her time and resources as an adviser to the Sugar Creek Gang 4-H Club, wrote Maryn Erdman in her nomination for Kramer. "She helps us by putting us in leadership positions," Erdman wrote, describing Kramer as a loving person who offers grace and understanding when working with 4-Hers.

Forrer was honored for her dedication and volunteer hours given to the 4-H Horse Program. Janelle Firestone, who nominated Forrer on behalf of the 4-H Horse Committee, wrote Forrer has advised and offered her expertise to many aspiring riders. "Our 4-H Horse Program," she wrote, "is better because of the difference she has made."

Star Club Award winners were Canaan Country Cousins, Country Line Clovers, Country Critters, Country Strong, Dalton-Kidron Big 4, Madisonburg Pioneers, Smithie Whiz Kids, Sugar

Creek Gang and Wayne County Trailblazers.

Volunteers honored for 50 or more years of service were Priscilla Sprang, 54; Sharon Emler, 52; and David Emler, 50. Accepting awards for 40 years or more of service were David Zech, Miriam Zech and David Stahl, all with 46; Lisa Gress, 40; and Barbara Guthrie, 41.

Other volunteers receiving pins were Elizabeth Eikelberry, Pamela Schafrath and Beth Zimmerman, 35 years; Ralph Gill and Ann Welby, 30 years; Marie Marty, 25 years; Kerilynn Jagger, 20 years; Dwight Roseler, Jessica Zimmerman and Tabitha Zimmerman, 15 years; Mindy Browning, Janelle Firestone, Katherine Foxx, Michelle Hiner, Jennifer Norman and Marcy Warren, 10 years; and Chad Bailey, Stephanie Bailey, Bernard Caldwell, Jennifer Heel Pain? Plantar Fasciitis?

Every fall, Dr Richard Mulcahy sees an uptick in patient complaints of foot and ankle pain. Cooler temperatures brings increased activity levels, and what was once mild discomfort can become more severe. To make matters worse, many people avoid seeking medical treatment because of the associated recovery time. However, through advanced technology, numerous conditions can be addressed without downtime.

Spinal Decompression & Regenerative Therapy, now offers a highly effective, non-invasive treatment option to eliminate pain and restore full mobility. (EPAT) or Extracorporeal Pulse Activation Technology therapy has proven to be just as successful as surgery, but without the risks, costs, complications, or lengthy recovery time. Patients are treated in-office, can bear weight immediately, and return to normal activity within a few days.

How does EPAT Therapy work?

EPAT uses hyper-sonic shock waves to stimulate the metabolism, enhance blood circulation, and accelerate the healing process. Damaged tissue that had lost its blood supply gradually regenerates and eventually heals.

What conditions can be treated?

EPAT Shockwave Therapy provides relief to those suffering from both chronic and acute ailments, including heel pain, achilles tendinitis, plantar fasciitis and many other conditions of the back, neck, arms, legs, and joints.

Is it covered by medical insurance?

Since EPAT Shockwave Therapy is relatively new to the USA only a select number of health insurance plans will cover it. Check with your provider. For those patients whose insurance does not cover Shockwave Therapy, patients can use their (HSA) or Health Insurance Savings Account for payment, or submit their paid receipts to their health provider for consideration. Fortunately, EPAT Shockwave treatment is very affordable and a fraction of the cost of surgery.

Is it safe?

Yes. This FDA-cleared technology was developed in Europe in the 1960s and is currently used around the globe. Shockwave Therapy can be found in every medical discipline and is frequently used to treat professional athletes and Olympic athletes.

How many visits are required?

The doctor performs a complete foot/ankle examination to determine if the patient is a candidate for Shockwave Therapy. Each treatment plan is based on the individual's condition. A typical course of treatment is 6 sessions; approximately 10-15 minutes each, depending on the condition being treated.

Dr. Richard Mulcahy specializes in comprehensive spine and extremity care, including stubborn conditions that have previously proven difficult to manage, such as achilles tendinitis, plantar fasciitis. For more information call 330-741-0779.

Wayne County Schools Career Center Aspire English as a Second Language (ESOL) students help with Westminster Presbyterian Church's "Hearty Italian Soup Sale."

Aspire-ESOL students aid Westminster's soup sale

For the past 13 years, Aspire-English as a second language students have helped Westminster Presbyterian Church members make soup for their winter Hearty Italian Soup Sale. The group meets at Central Christian Church, where the ESOL classes meet.

Soup sales typically raise $1,000 a year, shared between two organizations. This year's soup sale proceeds will be split between the Immigrant Worker Project's Centro San Jose Scholarship Fund and Homeward Bound.

The Immigrant Worker Project's Centro San Jose Scholarship Fund awards assistance to students residing in Ashland, Columbiana, Holmes, Knox, Stark, Tuscarawas and Wayne counties who have limited access to government money for college education due to their immigration status. Homeward Bound is a local organization dedicated to providing services and a place to stay for the homeless in Wooster. They are setting up a new shelter in Wooster and work closely with the Wooster Homelessness Taskforce.

Since its beginning the Westminster Hearty Italian Soup Sale has donated over $12,000 to the Employment Resource Fund to help goal-oriented adults with training, job search and employment needs. Westminster's soup sale began in November. Supporters can choose regular with Italian sausage or vegan.

To order soup by the quart, call 330-263-2398 or email wpcwooster@gmail.com.

Charm raffle nets $71,000 for OHL’s Amish Care Fund

Thanks to support from the community, more than $71,000 was raised at Charm Days on Oct. 14 through a raffle for Ohio’s Hospice LifeCare Amish Care Fund. The donations will go toward patient care and services for the Amish community. The raffle was part of Charm Days, a two-day festival held Oct. 13-14 in Charm.

“Each year our appreciation continues to grow for a community that supports our mission where neighbors take care of neighbors,” said Katherine Ritchie, development director at Ohio’s Hospice LifeCare. “The donations, volunteer time, contributions and tickets sold resulted in a successful event supporting the Amish Care Fund at Ohio’s Hospice LifeCare.”

The Ohio’s Hospice LifeCare Amish Care Fund is supported by donations from Amish churches and fundraisers to help Amish and Plain church patients who do not have Medicare, Medicaid or other insurance that covers hospice services. The Amish Care Fund helps ensure Amish and Plain church patients are able to receive care offered through Ohio’s Hospice LifeCare.

The raffle items included $7,500 cash, a 48-inch Ferris mower, a Swarovski BTX spotting scope with tripod, a 14-by-16 Berlin Gardens pavilion, a child swing and play set, a Lux-Craft seating set, an NCM Milano Plus bike, a Green Egg, a Cutco knife set, a rotating wash line, a cross-bow, a Bernette Serger sewing machine, a flag croquet, a Vita Mix, an egg chair and a Euro steam iron.

Now's the time to quit smoking, vaping

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, cigarette smoke contains over 7,000 chemicals and toxins, with roughly 70 of these chemicals causing cancer. When nonsmokers are exposed to cigarette smoke, they are unintentionally breathing in these chemicals.

Brief exposure to secondhand smoke from time to time may not seem like a huge concern, but there is no safe level of exposure when it comes to secondhand smoke. Secondhand smoke has immediate impacts on the heart and blood vessels. It increases the risk of stroke, coronary heart disease and lung cancer in nonsmoking adults.

Babies exposed to secondhand smoke are at increased risk of sudden infant death syndrome, and children with exposure to secondhand smoke experience more respiratory infections, ear infections and may have more severe asthma.

File

If you smoke cigarettes or vape, you are exposing yourself and potentially others to health risks. Quitting is the best way to protect not only yourself, but also those around you.

Each year in the United States, 41,000 adults die from lung cancer and heart disease caused by secondhand smoke exposure.

In 2006 the Ohio Smoke Free Workplace Act was enacted to protect individuals from exposure to cigarette smoke inside public places and places of work. This ensured employees and other community members experienced less exposure to secondhand smoke. In the years since this went into effect, e-cigarettes have risen in popularity, once again increasing the rates of potential exposure.

In Ohio approximately 6% of adults, 12% of middle school students and 29% of high school students use e-cigarettes. An e-cigarette's aerosol is not a harmless water vapor, as it holds many of the same cancer-causing chemicals cigarette smoke has, as well as other heavy metals and toxins. Like cigarette smoke, exposure to e-cigarette aerosol may increase your risk of health harms.

In 2021 the Ohio Smoke Free Workplace Act was expanded to include e-cigarettes, requiring current e-cigarette users to also go outside to smoke. While the act was expanded with the intention of fully protecting the community from the harms of smoking and vaping, smoke-free policies also often result in reduced tobacco use, increased smoking cessation and decreased youth initiation.

If you smoke cigarettes or vape, you are exposing yourself and potentially others to health risks. Quitting is the best way to protect not only yourself, but also those around you. It's never too late to quit smoking. Your Medicare plan may cover up to two cessation attempts per year — up to eight visits with your primary care provider — at no cost to you. Call your provider today for information on cessation services.

If you don't have Medicare or are looking for alternatives, you can call 1-800-Quit-Now or visit the website at ohio.quitlogix.org/en-US/. The Ohio Tobacco Quitline is a support service offered to help all Ohioans successfully stop smoking or vaping, with counseling services and nicotine replacement therapy available at no cost. For youth considering quitting, text "start my quit" to 36072 or visit oh.mylifemyquit.org/index to learn more about the free youth program.

Why Sciatic Neuropathy Might Be The Most Crippling Condition Known to Man

...And How Many People Have Found a Way to Beat It

Do You Have Any of the Following?

- Sharp pains in the back of the leg
- Lower Back Pain/tingling feet
- Herniated/bulging discs
- Numbness in your arms or legs
- Shooting hip or thigh pain
- Back spasm, foot/hand numbness

If you've suffered from any of these annoying conditions, you may have "Sciatic Neuropathy".

Sciatic neuropathy is caused by compression of the sciatic nerve, usually by an L4 or L5 disc herniations. As you know, sciatica alone can be a very painful problem, even crippling at times.

But, sciatic neuropathy can be one of the most painful conditions known to mankind eventually leading to irreversible and permanent foot or leg neuropathy. Some who suffer with it have even had to be hospitalized for the pain!

Fortunately, if you are suffering from sciatic neuropathy, it may be relieved or eliminated by non-surgical spinal decompression before it's permanent.

The Solution to Sciatic Neuropathy

Non-surgical spinal decompression is a technology that has been proven to reverse disc herniations. It creates a vacuum effect on the disc, which pulls the disc back off the nerves and into its normal position, bringing in a fresh blood supply to promote healing & new nerve growth and repair; thus, reversing long term neuropathy.

Spinal decompression treatments are very gentle. In fact, every once and awhile I even catch a patient sleeping during sessions.

You'll simply lie on your stomach or back, whichever is comfortable, and then a specialized belt is gently put around your waist.

We'll set the machine to focus on your problem area – then the advanced decompression computer system will do the rest.

Most patients feel better with just a few treatments, and best of all there will be no dangerous drugs, no invasive procedures, and no painful exercises.

If you have a condition called neuropathy there is a treatment that has shown to get rid of it once and for all before it becomes permanent!

Here's what a few of my patients have experienced:

I had severe sciatica going down my left leg. After numerous chiropractor visits with no relief, I did an MRI and it showed 2 bulged discs. I started decompression treatments with Dr. Mulcahy. After 8 visits I felt relief & after 12 treatments I was almost pain free. After completing program, I am totally pain free. What a blessing! Thank you, Dr. Mulcahy-William Byler, Winesburg, Oh.

I had pain in my neck & shoulder with tingling into my fingers. After seeing Dr. Mulcahy and doing the decompression treatments, I rarely have those symptoms anymore. Before the treatments I was using quite a bit of pain medication and now rarely need them. Ben Raber-Millersburg, Oh.

MRI showed 2 bulging discs in my neck pinching on nerves going down my left arm. I couldn't work & pain was getting worse. I saw Dr. Mulcahy's ad in the paper and decided to give it a try. After 10 treatments I noticed a difference and after 15 my arm pain was gone, I couldn't believe it! Its been 5 wks. after my last treatment and I can do all the work I wish w/o pain. Thanks, so much Dr. Mulcahy; but give GOD the glory. E. Miller-Millersburg, Oh.

What if you could play golf again, travel and walk long distances without any pain, numbness or tingling feet?

Spinal decompression has a very high success rate of 86% and is likely to help you get rid of your problem once and for all. I'm willing to give you a $19 consultation and complete neuromuscular exam, including a second opinion on any prior MRI or x-rays. My normal price for this type of evaluation including MRI/x-ray reading is $200-$325 alone; so, you're saving a ton of money by taking me up on this offer.

It's time for you to find out if spinal decompression will be your sciatic pain and neuropathy solution.

For 12 days only, $19 will get you everything I listed above to see if I can help you. If you need it, I can order an MRI or x-rays. If you have an MRI or X-rays, bring them with you.

But you must hurry, as this offer will only last for 10 days, until December 14th, 2023

Call today, before this $19 special offer ends... Our office is called--"Spinal Decompression & Laser Healing"

Many of the abandoned mines in Wayne County are in Chippewa Township, and one of the most significant hazards associated with abandoned mines is subsidence, which occurs when subsurface bedrock or unconsolidated materials collapse into voids left by mining, causing the ground surface to lower. When mines are abandoned, roof-support timbers and other mine structures can deteriorate over time, increasing the risk of collapse.

Insurance available for homes built above mines

By Dan Starcher

Wayne County is unassuming on the surface, with its rolling hills, charming towns and tranquil landscapes; however, in some areas, underneath this picturesque exterior lies a hidden danger many residents may not even be aware of — abandoned mines.

These mines, a remnant of Ohio’s rich history, may threaten the safety of some landowners.

Over time sinkholes may form on the surface and wreak havoc on homes or other structures located above the empty mine. Many of these mine locations in Wayne County are known, and most are concentrated in Chippewa and Sugar Creek townships. However, according to the Ohio Department of Natural Resources website, several thousand may exist that are unknown.

Ohio has a long and storied history of coal mining, with countless mines dotting the landscape. Over the years the coal industry declined, and many of these mines were hastily abandoned. Often concealed beneath residential areas, these forgotten mines pose significant risks to homes and communities.

Recognizing the importance of addressing these risks, Ohio has implemented regulations and guidelines to mitigate the dangers of abandoned mines. One of those measures is the Mine Subsidence Insurance Coverage program.

“This insurance is optional in Wayne County,”

ODNR

According to the ODNR, three types of mines are found in Ohio with each named for the method of entrance into the mine from the surface.

Wayne County administrator Patrick Herron said. “Although it is optional, it would be a good idea for landowners to spend some time researching their property to see if they are situated above an abandoned mine and consider getting coverage.”

Property damage coverage typically provides financial protection if various factors including mine subsidence, collapse or other related issues cause damage to the owners’ property. This coverage can help cover the costs of repairing or replacing damaged structures, foundations, utilities and other property elements affected by the abandoned mine.

Abandoned mines have been located in nearly half of Ohio’s 88 counties. The first commercial extraction of coal was recorded in 1800, but many mines existed prior to mining reporting laws being enacted.

Other types of mines include clay, limestone, salt, shale, gypsum, iron ore and sandstone.

For more information visit the Ohio Department of Natural Resources mine locator at <https://rebrand.ly/jn7q4lz>. A large map of the area’s known mines may be viewed and downloaded from <https://rebrand.ly/0caf78>.

OHSAA football state championships to stay in Canton

The Ohio High School Athletic Association and the Pro Football Hall of Fame have announced a new three-year contract that will keep the OHSAA football state championships in Canton at Tom Benson Hall of Fame Stadium through 2026. The agreement includes two option years. The current three-year contract is set to expire after this week's state finals.

OHSAA Executive

Director Doug Ute made the announcement on Monday, Nov. 27 in Canton at the Hall of Fame Luncheon Club. Ute was in Canton to speak to the members as part of his annual visit with the group on Monday of State Championships Week.

"We are excited to continue to grow this partnership with the Pro Football Hall of Fame," Ute said. "They have been so good to work with and are just as excited as us to take the next steps with the finals in Canton and have people experience all that the Hall of Fame, the surrounding Hall of Fame Village and Canton have to offer in addition to state championship football. We also thank Visit Canton for their support of the state championships and appreciate their support to host the games in Stark County."

"The Pro Football Hall of Fame is proud to partner with Visit Canton and the OHSAA to keep the seven state championship games in Canton for the next three years," said Jim Porter, Pro Football Hall of Fame president. "The hall wants this relationship to continue long into the future. Our staff will look for additional ways to build the weekend into a full community celebration — making the experience even more special for the teams playing in Canton and creating memories that will last a lifetime."

championships throughout the 1980s, the finals moved to Massillon and Canton in Stark County from 1990-2013. The finals moved back to the Ohio State University from 2014-16, which also was when Fawcett Stadium in Canton was torn down and Tom Benson Hall of Fame Stadium was built, which has hosted the state finals since 2017, except in 2020 due to the pandemic when the finals were hosted in Obetz and Massillon.

"Visit Canton is delighted that the OHSAA has selected Stark County to continue as host of its state high school football championship games," said Allyson Bussey, president and CEO of Visit Canton. "Without question this event has become a cornerstone for our community for several decades. We continue our commitment to support this long-standing partnership with the OHSAA and Pro Football Hall of Fame and look forward to welcoming the teams, coaches and fans to Canton."

Bringing home the bacon with a hog wild night ride

Pedaling through the gloom while chasing a narrow cone of white light can offer a magic all its own. Along my favored bicycle routes, nighttime traffic is light, and creatures of the night are seldom deterred in their travels by my silent pedaling.

Over the years I've ridden past a handful of fox and coyote, dozens of opossum, and seemingly thousands of raccoons. My greatest peril exists in the form of wildly bounding white-tailed deer — especially at this time of year while love is in the air. But it was a beast of an entirely different sort that spawned one of my more unusual and entertaining adventures on a ride this past weekend.

Cruising through an evening where neither the temperature nor the wind offered much resistance to my efforts, I was thoroughly enjoying a ramble with no real destination. Turning left or right toward whatever direction seemed most likely to amuse me, I noticed a set of flashing lights up the road and decided to see what the emergency was all about.

As I neared, I found a pair of vehicles parked near the ditch with a half-dozen folks clustered at the front of the lead car. Assuming a driver had clobbered one of those aforementioned love-struck deer, I hesitated to look. Human nature prevailed, of course, and I was drawn into the scene.

Instead of wincing at a bumpered Bambi, imagine my surprise at instead finding an entirely unscathed but nevertheless highly agitated Yorkshire sow corralled by a circle of would-be passersby. The hog was happily grunting her way through the muddy swill at the bottom of a roadside ditch after being gently shooed off the pavement and would likely have remained content to spend the rest of her evening doing so.

I've not spent a great deal of time in the company of swine (the four-legged kind that is), but I have observed the will of a pig seems to often run counter to the desire of man. Miss Piggy's current wallow, a mere foot or two from high-speed traffic, demanded a prompt relocation, and the petulant porcine wasn't having it.

Thankfully, my own role in the mission had been quickly defined. I'd boosted my bicycle onto my shoulder so the headlight on my handlebars could afford maximum disaster site illumination early on, fulfilling a role that kept me helpfully involved yet gratefully separated from the scrum.

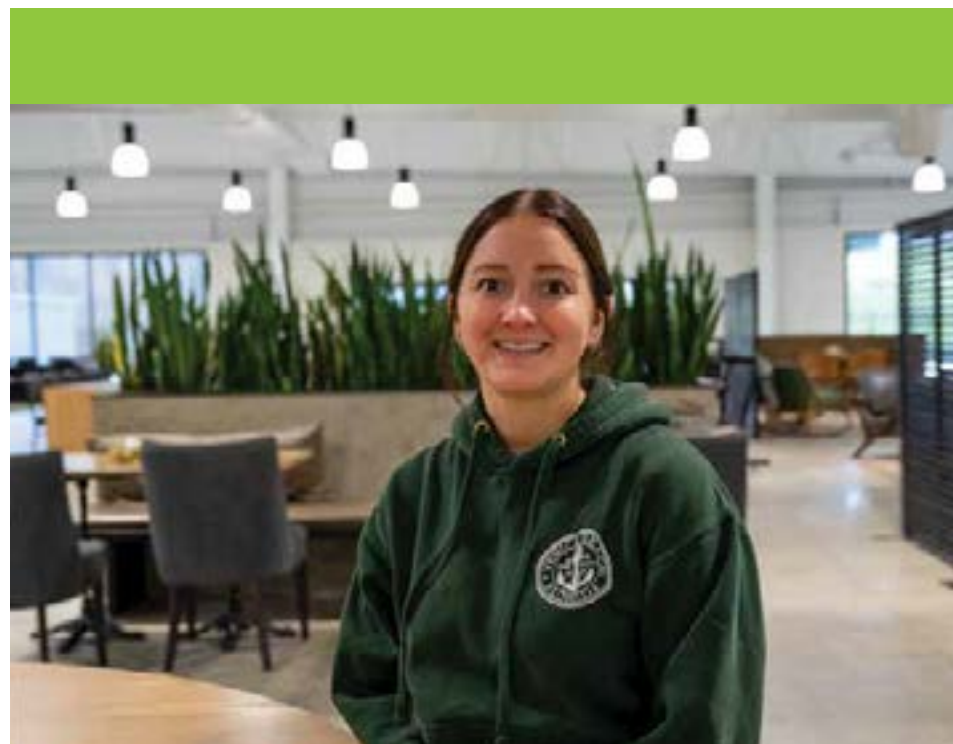

With her master now onsite, an effort was made by a handful of brave and able men to boost all 300 pounds of bacon into the back of a waiting pickup truck. Much is made of the sport of catching a greased pig, but I can now confidently attest that the grease is likely added for cosmetic purposes only. There would be no hand-to-hoof wrangling this day. The effort failed miserably.

A rope was eventually produced, and I learned in an instant how perfectly contrary a self-respecting sow can become when fitted with a leash. The struggle was epic, especially when the leader and the led arrived at the deck of the very roadway bridge the pig had quite willingly crossed on her own just an hour before. If there is music on the down-bound elevator to hell, it's sung in the voice of a peeved pig.

The last leg of the journey was a cross-country trek through the barnyard to the very pen from which she'd escaped. There our audacious ungulate's considerably less adventurous sister waited to hear the tale of a nighttime foray gone literally hog wild!

Dalton fulfills goal of reaching championship game

A few thoughts from the week in sports ...

The ride of a lifetime for the 13-1 Dalton football team has one final stop: the Division VII state championship game against top-ranked Marion Local (15-0) at Tom Benson Hall of Fame Stadium in Canton on Saturday.

Seventh-year Dalton coach Broc Dial used one word to describe how his team became the first in school history and just the fourth in Wayne County to reach a title game: "Expectations."

"We've had teams in the regional finals twice before this — in 2017 and 2021 — and it raised the expectations for the program," Dial said. "The kids have really embraced that."

"Our community has always been really good about backing our football program. We've had some really good teams in the past, two coaches in the (Ohio High School Football Coaches Association and Wayne County Sports) Hall of Fame (Billie J. McFarren and Bob Ramsay). We reported (to training camp) this year to make a run and be in this position."

Aaron Dorksen
Columnist

Dalton joins Orrville (1983, 1985, 1994, 1998, 2018), Norwayne (2011) and Smithville (2002) as the only Wayne County schools to play for a state football title. The Red Riders' 1998 and 2018 teams and the 2011 Bobcats won championships.

For a mid-sized or small public school to reach a state championship game, it takes several factors working together. Obviously, a team needs a great deal of talent and chemistry, along with good coaches and good health.

A little bit of luck also can go a long way — on and off the field, a bounce of the football here or a fortuitous enrollment count there. There have been some pretty good Wayne County teams that had the misfortune of having a state powerhouse in their region or a private school loaded with Div. I college recruits.

Dalton got a break last May when the OHSAA announced the Bulldogs would drop to Div. VII and away from Div. VI regional juggernaut Kirtland.

As soon as the 2023 regional assignments were released, many of us who follow high school football closely commented that a Dalton team loaded with returnees could make a serious run to the state title game.

That's exactly what happened. The Bulldogs have won 13 straight after a season-opening, 14-7 loss to the aforementioned Hornets (14-1), who will meet Ver-

waynecountysports.com

Dalton's Coy Wenger (1) and the rest of the Bulldogs reached the Div. VII state championship game.

sailles (13-2) in the Div. VI title game on Friday at 10:30 a.m.

Dalton caught the attention last year of Marion Local coach Tim Goodwin, whose Flyers will enter the title game with 47 straight wins, back-to-back titles and shooting for a record 14th championship.

"Dalton moved the ball more against Kirtland (in a 33-0 playoff loss) last year than anyone else we had on film," Goodwin said. "Then they had a strong opener against Kirtland in a 14-7 game and were throwing the ball on them. They have good kids doing some high-level stuff, so it's gonna be a challenge."

Dalton will certainly be a big underdog against the Flyers, but the Bulldogs' depth is the biggest reason for optimism. Following Dalton this season, it's been really impressive to see how many playmakers they have on both sides of the ball and the team-first attitude.

Senior running back Greyson Siders was the Div. VII Associated Press Northeast Inland District Offensive Player of the Year and led the Dalton offense into the title game. The 5-foot-11, 190-pound player had 1,875 yards rushing and 29 TDs on 111 carries while also catching 17 passes for 217 yards and two scores.

Fellow first-team all-district running back Sammy Tomlinson carried the ball 111 times for 934 yards and 18 TDs, including three scores in a 55-7 rout of Caldwell in the state semifinals.

Quarterback Colin Pearson was 106 for 166 passing for 1,734 yards, 18 TDs and just five interceptions while carrying the ball 56 times for 240 yards and one score. Brady Hignight led a balanced receiving corps with 28 catches for 428 yards and three TDs.

Jaxon Ryder, Coy Wenger and Cade Mullet also have stepped up at times as playmakers.

"We've been fortunate to have some good talent, a lot of kids that can handle the ball and do things with it," Dial said. "That's something we try to do every year and really develop."

Grayson Lehman (6-foot-4, 285) and Collin Jones (6-0, 225) are senior two-way starters who provide leadership and muscle up front while junior linebacker Alex Hess (team-high 82 tackles) and senior defensive back Mullet (eight interceptions) also earned first-team all-district honors.

Dial and his coaching staff also deserve a lot of credit for molding talented teams year after year. The Bulldogs' 39-year-old head coach has a 69-17 record at the helm, good for an outstanding .802 winning percentage. Dial appreciates reaching this milestone as much as any coach after growing up accompanying his dad, the late Gary Dial, to championship games as a kid.

"Personally, it's a great opportunity," Dial said. "My dad was a longtime assistant and had been a head football coach for seven years. He was in the finals a couple times as an assistant coach."

"I remember going back and forth every year between Massillon and Fawcett Stadium when they rotated the championship games. I have great memories of going to a lot of those games with my dad in the past."

For coaches and players alike on Dalton's team, even when they're much older, they'll still be remembered for being part of a state finals team. It will, of course, be infinitely sweeter if the Bulldogs can pull off the upset and call themselves champions.

"The key for us is just to handle the week and handle what we need to do to be successful," Dial said. "(Marion Local's tradition and status as the favorite) are things that we can't control. We need to focus on what we can control, which is preparing and playing our best on Saturday."

Parting shots

There have been a lot of great weekends for the Ohio State and Cleveland Browns football teams. Last weekend was one of the worst.

The Buckeyes' 30-24 loss at Michigan really hurt, but I don't think coach Ryan Day should be fired. Day is still 56-7, even though three of those losses are against the Wolverines. The grass isn't always greener. I'd vote to give Day one more year — a last chance for him to realize he needs to coach more creatively in "The Game."

—The Browns were beat up on the scoreboard and on the field in a 29-12 beatdown in Denver while suffering another rash of key injuries. The FOX TV cameras kept showing newly acquired quarterback Joe Flacco watching on the sidelines in street clothes. I kept wondering if Flacco thought, "Why did I come back?"

In memory of Benny, who is gone but not forgotten

I've owned only four cars in my life, and there won't be another.

The last one was hauled away on a dreary November morning and is probably now just a crushed cube of metal in some awful landfill.

I should have done more to save Benny — that was his name — but there just wasn't enough time, and now he's gone and I feel so sad.

Like so much that's happened lately, surrendering Benny felt like an inevitable final act in a tragedy, sort of like Hamlet being poisoned or the Titanic sinking in the icy North Atlantic waters.

Benny only had about 180,000 miles on his odometer, which made him middle-aged for a 1991 Honda Civic, but he hadn't run since summer 2012 after I'd spent a considerable sum to get him the repairs he needed. That was an expense I couldn't repeat these days since working a part-time job doesn't generate a great deal of discretionary income. I could have tried harder to fix him, but you've heard the expression about throwing good money after bad.

So that's that.

A car has always represented personal independence, a peculiarly American sense of having one's future under control, a fierce unwillingness to allow others to hold the keys to a better tomorrow.

As I mentioned, Benny was the last entry on a very short list that began with a 1969 Chevy Impala, which came into my possession during my senior year in college. My Aunt Clem-

Mike Dewey

mie — the most generous and thoughtful of all my relatives — signed the Gold Goose over to me in a $1 title transfer transaction.

"You can't be riding that bike of yours in the winter," she said, and being a native of South Bend, she knew what she was talking about. "Just let me do this for you. It'll make me feel a whole lot better."

That was the kind of woman my aunt was, always looking out for someone else, and I was beyond fortunate to have her on my side.

That gold Impala, with a righteous 327 engine under the hood, served me well during winter 1976-77, one that saw South Bend's all-time snowfall record get buried under 147 inches.

Notre Dame, for the first time in her history — dating back to pre-Civil War days — closed and canceled all classes, and it wasn't just the days and days of snow that caused the decision to shut down.

There also was the matter of sub-freezing temperatures including a spate of zero and under days that made all travel quite hazardous. I was living off campus that winter in a rental house shared by five (or six, depending) guys, a house that had a very balky gas furnace.

It, of course, failed miserably, so we called the landlord, who said, in effect, that we college boys could afford a nice hotel suite, so we had just better pack up some clothes and get out while we could.

That was my introduction to the mindset of those in the landlord class, a species of human beings closely mirrored by gulag guards.

I exaggerate, but you get the picture.

I killed the Gold Goose a few years later when, after sleeping for a few hours on my office floor, I fell asleep at the wheel while driving to cover a baseball game 50 miles to the east. Luckily, no one was hurt, including my best friend who, with his left arm in a cast, tried to steer the car as it careened across three lanes of traffic.

So I bought a metallic blue 1973 Buick Centurian that encountered so many mechanical problems I hadn't even paid it off before it died on me as I made my way to get a needed haircut.

That was in what I liked to call "In Cold Blood" country, a remote expanse of rural nothingness reminiscent of the Clutter home-stead.

By then I'd been seeing a woman for several years, an older and smarter person than me, and it was her opinion that, no matter how much I didn't want to go into debt, it was time to buy a new car.

"Get something sporty," she said, "something that goes real fast."

Which is how I found myself behind the wheel of a silver 1980 Ford Mustang, a five-speed beauty with a front spoiler and a killer sound system I installed myself. I should have been more vigilant with the servicing of the car since it didn't even make 100,000 miles and kept stranding me in places I never wanted to be.

And that brings us back to Benny, the best (and last) car I'll ever own. He was as stripped-down and basic a ride as I could find, listing for just over nine grand in fall 1991, a time when the dealership was eager to liquidate before the new models arrived.

A short list of things he didn't have would include power windows, power steering, air-conditioning, air bags and a CD player, though there was a spare tire and a jack I never figured out how to use.

Benny got me everywhere I wanted to go including North Carolina after I left home in late 2000, not knowing what my future held but sure in the knowledge I had a dependable car.

And now he's gone. The tow truck driver and I had to push him out of the garage, out to the street, where I watched as Benny got hooked up and taken away, one of the saddest days of my life, the kind that makes you wish you'd done more and failed less. I've been nothing but depressed since I saw him disappear around the curve in the road, realizing that from now on, I'm on my own.

Mike Dewey can be reached at Carol-amiked@aol.com or 6211 Cardinal Drive, New Bern, NC 28560. He invites you to find him on Facebook, where real regrets are just an unfortunate fact of life.

Thankful for the sweet love, not the sweet potatoes

This year I wanted an old-fashioned Thanksgiving with all the trimmings. I wanted pies made from scratch, a big bird stuffed with Mom's infamous dressing and basted to perfection. I wanted a giant Greek salad, shrimp cocktail, delicious veggies and homemade muffins. I planned to set the table with my best china with silver chargers. I had it all planned to the letter: how Thanksgiving was going to happen. You know what they say, "We plan, and God laughs." That wasn't far from the truth.

I think for your average 66-year-old, I'm doing pretty well. I teach full-time, cook meals from scratch, walk my faithful dog 2 miles nearly every day, grocery shop, clean my house top to bottom, and enjoy writing and reading along with knitting and crochet in the evening. I live a busy, full life.

Leslie Pearce-Keating
Notes from the Second Half

But a few weeks ago, I noticed my left foot was hurting. I distinctly recall hopping onto the grass near Walmart when a car came roaring around the bend. Zuzu escaped any injury, but I thought I had sprained my ankle, and then a swelling around that bone made me feel certain about the self-diagnosis. Like most hard-headed people, I just wrapped the ankle and kept going. I even walked daily for a week or so before admitting the truth: I needed to see a professional, so I made an appointment at Wooster Foot and Ankle Center.

The young doctor said the preliminary X-ray showed no break, but he did think there was a sprain. That was when he fitted me with a boot that looked, well, gigantic. I clunked around campus that first day between three buildings, hoping this malady would soon pass. And then my sciatica started to kick up. I guess it was the difference in the length of my two legs that caused the issue because of the enormous boot. I have endured my fair share of pain in this life, but I think it is safe to say nothing, other than labor, can touch the pain of sciatica. I discarded the boot, stopped walking my dog and even ordered my groceries online.

The next week I was scheduled to see my doc again. This time he said the second set of X-rays showed a hairline fracture in my left foot in the metatarsal area. Since I have inherited Mom's osteoporosis, I was not surprised. Two years ago I broke a toe. Last summer my left thumb suffered a fracture. I feared this was the beginning of something truly horrid. And then I pictured poor Mom at the bottom of the basement staircase years ago with the femur fracture at the hip socket.

Nevertheless, I grabbed last-minute groceries and began planning the meal. I begged off my daughter's invitation to her Columbus condo and asked the kids to come home. Then I began to survey my purchases. The turkey looked too small, scrawny even. The pumpkin pies I'd baked, both gluten and dairy free, tasted oddly deficient, though I'd made them many other times with great success. I strapped on my boot and hobbled around the kitchen trying to make Mom's stuffing while ignoring the pumpkin pie that was not quite right.

We gathered on Saturday — my kids, their partners and the guy I'm dating. My daughter made fluffy sweet potatoes that were delicious, not to mention an apple crumble I could have eaten in entirety. My son and his wife brought a perfectly lovely kale salad. I made a shrimp cocktail, stuffing and turkey that I guess passed muster, and two kinds of muffins. The kids raved over every morsel.

When the kids were young, we ate together every night and always shared our highs and lows of the day. I listened to their sadness as well as their successes. And now my 31-year-old son and 29-year-old daughter gazed at me across the table. The 20s were nearly behind us, as were the teens, the tweens, elementary school and early childhood. And no matter how badly my foot hurt from all the hobbling around creating what I think was just an average meal, my family was anything but average.

I remember my mom crying one Thanksgiving over a turkey. What I wouldn't give to sit with her and my dad again today. To heck with the turkey. Because what we're really thankful for isn't the bird, is it? Nor the pies. It's the sweet loves of our life, our precious children.

Bountiful acorns, late-season greens a great start to winter

November and the green pulse of my garden have slowly spiraled down to a halt. Whatever life it was still capable of living has now been extinguished. Having gone light this year on the collards, my typical cold-season champion, I was left with a spread of salad greens I'd limped along all the way up to a hard, post-Thanksgiving cold snap. It had been a labor of love that found me covering the shiny green chard and tender second-crop lettuce plants each night with a pair of plastic kiddie pools.

I'd plucked each of the 4-foot-diameter splash pools from the curbside on trash nights over the course of the summer, envisioning them more as doggy bathtubs than surrogate greenhouses, but necessity is the mother of invention. As I'd struggled to drape a tarp over the delicate plants as a clearing October sky threatened the first frost, I spotted the nested pair of pools leaning against the fence and a brainstorm ensued. As a consequence we've eaten fresh greens right into the holiday season. I'll be watching the curb for more little plastic greenhouses next summer.

John C. Lorson
The Rail Trail Naturalist

Gratefully, the same chill that drains the life from the garden also does a number on the bugs as well. The outdoors are apt to be a mosquito-free paradise for the next couple of months, and I can confidently bomb down hills on my bicycle without risking an insect to the eye for at least a bit. Better news still is that even though most ticks will survive the winter by either lying dormant in the forest duff or finding shelter in the fur of a warm-blooded host, their activity is greatly diminished below 35 F. Be vigilant as always, but you're likely to find fewer of the savage bloodsuckers out and about right now.

I'm not sure of an official word on all available foodstuffs for wildlife over the winter, but the Ohio Division of Wildlife's annual Acorn Survey held some promising news. In the Eastern U.S., few plant species approach the positive impact of oak trees on their native environment,

John C. Lorson

While the fruit of the crabapple tree is every bit as edible as that of its close relative the apple tree, you might find yourself puckered up a bit at the tart finish. The small size and persistence — or tendency for the tree to hold onto fruit throughout the winter — make the crabapple a favorite choice for overwintering or early returning migratory birds along with other wintering wildlife.

and the DOW looks upon the survey as a key indicator in predicting favorable conditions for overwintering wildlife.

Acorn production in white oaks was up slightly from last year, and that of red oaks was up an impressive 16% from the previous year to match the long-term average. That's great news for a huge number of wildlife species that depend at least in part on the availability of acorns to make it through the winter months. Squirrel, deer, wild turkey and a whole host of other species, 90 in all, will benefit from the bumper crop.

Anecdotally, I've observed strong stands of berries, seeds, nuts and crab apples in the woods and fields this year. As long as extended snow cover doesn't prevent the foragers from finding their food, there should be plenty for everyone throughout the winter. Here's to a prosperous and kind season for wildlife!

REAL ESTATE: One-owner, custom ranch home built in 2016. The home has an ideal open floor plan that features a gourmet hickory kitchen with leathered granite countertops, stainless steel appliances and a huge wraparound island. The spacious living room features a gas stone fireplace, and access to the covered, stamped concrete patio and backyard. Large master bedroom with a walk-in closet, dual-head tile walk-in shower and 6ft soaker tub. Two additional bedrooms, full bathroom, and laundry room complete the main floor. Hardwood floors and 9ft ceilings throughout. Two-car attached garage. The finished, walk-out basement is an entertainer's dream featuring a spacious living room with new carpet, exercise room or 4th bedroom, full bathroom, a built-in bar, ample storage, and is outfitted for radiant in-floor heat. All 3 full bathrooms have hickory cabinets and granite countertops. The backyard is a little oasis with a wraparound stamped concrete patio with firepit, pergola, built-in outdoor BBQ, mature landscaping, pond with mini-beach and pavilion. All with privacy on a partially wooded 4-acre parcel, featuring wildlife and walking trails. The insulated 30x42 shop building is plumbed for in-floor radiant heat, has 2 overhead doors, and is perfect for a car enthusiast, hobby barn, or just plain storage. Enjoy the views of the pond under the shop's lean-to with stamped concrete patio. Propane heat, well and septic. Quality throughout! Excellent location near SR-21, close to Canal Fulton, Massillon and just minutes to Canton/Akron. Stark Co. parcel #10007160. Half year taxes are $2,983. Contact auctioneer for details on how to use your current home to buy this one!

NOTE FROM FAMILY FRIEND: This sale, the first of more to come, represents a partial lifetime accumulation of Ewing Giffin, Alice's deceased husband. Ewing graduated from OSU with a degree in agricultural engineering. He went on to work for the Allis Chalmers Company. From there WF Weigley and Co, an Allis Chalmers dealer in Wooster. Upon their closing he went to Agrimark/Town & Country machinery division as their service manager. Upon his retirement he worked for neighboring farmers when not taking care of his place. Ewing was well known in the agriculture circle... Salesman, Mechanic, Partner and most importantly Friend. He was known in the Ag circle as someone that could always get the farmer and his equipment up and running. Here is your chance to own some of his pride and joy... Bid With Confidence!!
