Chamber recognizes 2023 award recipients

The Wooster Area Chamber of Commerce recognized the achievements of the 2023 award winners at its Annual Dinner Meeting.

With 800 guests in attendance at Greystone Event Center and an impressive slate of award winners, there was plenty to celebrate. The nine recognized businesses and individuals have significantly impacted the Wooster area and were commended for their dedication to the community.

Bill Sheron, Wooster Community Hospital Health System President/CEO, was recognized as this year's Community Wall of Fame award recipient for his many contributions to the Wooster area.

"We are grateful for Bill's extensive community involvement since his arrival in Wooster," said Samira Zimmerly, President of the Wooster Area Chamber of Commerce.

The Wall of Fame award is "really a team award. You can't accomplish very much without a team around you, regardless of the endeavor," Sheron said.

For Sheron, that team, just like the hospital, has grown over the years to include the Hospital Board, the City of Wooster, the business community, nonprofit organizations, and youth sports groups.

Recognized as this year's Business of the Year, GOJO Industries provided Wooster and Wayne County with a glimmer of hope in 2015 when it announced it would expand operations and occupy more than 1 million square feet of an abandoned warehouse and produce PURELL products here.

"The community has greatly benefited from GOJO's move to Wooster," Zimmerly said. "We are grateful for their investment, dedication, and partnership in building a stronger business environment."

Robin Carlton has been actively involved in the Wooster community. "I love Wooster," Carlton said. Good thing, because she is the recipient of this year's Jack O'Donnell Award, given based on a person's contributions to the community through volunteerism, enthusiasm, and love for Wooster.

A decade ago, Travis Mills looked for a way to get his name out there, along with the insurance company where he worked, so he connected with the Chamber's Young Professionals group. That decision led to further involvement with the Wooster Area Chamber of Commerce, including chairman of the Wayne County Home & Garden Show, and to Mills being named the recipient of this year's Mike Lezak Award for Volunteerism. The award is named for the late Chamber leader who had a passion for serving the community.

Nearly 20 years after it first opened, the Everything Surplus Store on Portage Road has been named this year's Small Business of the Year with 15 or more employees. While owner Jason Carrick said he is excited about the honor, he seemed happier for his team to be recognized.

"It's awesome to get that recognition," Carrick said. "For my employees who work in the store every day, it was awesome when I got to tell them they won Small Business of the Year."

Acres of Fun is passionate about giving back to the community and that is why it is recognized as this year's Small Business of the Year with fewer than 15 employees. Since purchasing the Meet Dr. Laura Conley!

Dr. Laura Conley started her career in mixed animal practice (farm animals as well as pets) where she learned a wide variety of skills and procedures, and emergency medicine too. She switched courses and decided to hone her skills for just dogs and cats when she joined a traveling relief service that served Northeast Ohio veterinary practices in need of temporary veterinarians. Flexibility and creativity were a must for this position, you just never know what tools, supplies and staff abilities you might find in a clinic where you have never worked! Now settling back into a full-time position at New Pittsburg Veterinary Clinic, she can use all the skills she has acquired from both previous positions. Her favorite part of practice is preventative medicine and helping clients understand the best ways to keep their pets happy and healthy. When it comes to sick pets, the challenge of figuring out the mystery is what keeps things interesting, and drives the desire to always be learning and growing as a professional. In her youth, Dr. Conley wanted to be a vet because of her love of animals. However, through college and now well into her career, she has realized and completely embraced that this is a "people profession", not just working with animals. She gets to talk to all kinds of awesome pet owners every day and help them get the most out of their veterinary visit, answer questions, and be there as a resource for follow up care. Dr. Conley loves to guide and empower owners to take their pets' care into their own hands, and make decisions that both help their pet and are right for each family.

business in July 2019, Natasha Wood and her husband, Neil, have made continuous upgrades to the amusement center. They have fixed games, moved games around, painted, and installed new carpet. They have been hard at work renovating the park to restore it to its original glory while adding new attractions, both inside and out.

Critchfield, a Wooster-based law firm with roots tracing back to the Civil War era, is this year's recipient of the Board of Directors Award. The award is given to a person or company that has made significant contributions to the Chamber and community over the years, and Critchfield has done just that. Community involvement and engagement is part of Critchfield's culture, Managing Member Amy Demlow said.

Tricia Pycraft, an attorney at Critchfield, enrolled in the Leadership Wooster program in 2007. That decision helped the Triway grad understand this area better than she had before. Pycraft has remained an active member of the community, which has led her to be this year's recipient of the Leadership Wooster Distinguished Alumni Award.

"I was not expecting to learn as much as I did, considering that I lived here my whole life," said Pycraft. "It was an eye-opening experience."

This year's Worthy-Works Award recipient is OHuddle, a one-on-one mentorship program that works with nearly 600 students in eight school districts across Wayne County. Founder and Executive Director Sara Reith was a school psychologist for Wooster City Schools in 2023 when she started an after-school mentoring program with a group of retired teachers. In 2015, the program evolved into volunteer mentorship when Reith invited a youth minister at Parkview Christian Church to mentor three boys at Edgewood Elementary. OHuddle soon became a nonprofit organization.

Pop Culture Convention coming to Wooster

By Aaron Dorksen

A piece of Hollywood is coming to Wooster this spring.

The inaugural Operation: Fandom 2023 Pop Culture Convention will be held April 16 from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. at the Wayne County Fairgrounds Event Center, which is located at 199 Vanover Street.

The convention will feature toys, collectibles, trading cards, gaming and Cosplay. Dealers will set up approximately 100 tables in the 20,000-square foot event center.

Headlining the Pop Culture Convention are three stars from the classic movie “The Sandlot,” which is celebrating its 30th anniversary this year.

Coming to Wooster to meet fans, pose for photos and sign autographs will be Sandlot actors Tom Guiry (portrayed Smalls), Chauncey Leopardi (Squints) and Marty York (Yeah-Yeah).

Also appearing as special autograph guests will be Daniel Logan (Boba Fett) from the Star Wars universe, Ari Lehman (The first Jason from the original “Friday the 13th”) and Jim Swearingen (Kenner Star Wars designer and “The Toys That Made Us”).

Convention organizer Josh Lehman owns and operates the Operation: Fandom and Blackbird Records stores located in Wooster, along with combo stores in Medina and Mansfield.

Lehman said that bringing the Pop Culture Convention to Wooster has been a labor of love several years in the making. Once Lehman was able to finalize the contracts with the Sandlot stars to appear, everything fell into place.

“We’ve met a lot of these guys through having different store signings before,” said Lehman, a 1994 Dalton graduate. “We’ve kept wanting to have the Sandlot guys in Ohio at some point, but when COVID-19 hit it just got delayed.

“We kept thinking, ‘People have to go to Columbus, Cleveland, or out of state for a big convention. Why don’t we put one on here in Wooster in the event center on the fairgrounds?’”

Lehman broke into the collectibles business when he co-owned Grand Slam Collectibles in Orrville with his dad, Larry Lehman, who passed away in 2021.

The Pop Culture Convention is a major undertaking, with lots of space and something of interest for just about everyone.

“Just like with our stores, we aren’t doing just one category,” Lehman said. “We kind of hit on everything from the toys, the cards, cosplay, autographs and the gaming.

Aaron Dorksen

Among the thousands of items that will be at the April 16 Operation: Fandom Pop Culture Convention will be many from Star Wars. The inaugural convention will be held at the Wayne County Fairgrounds Event Center in Wooster.

“We’re really going after all those different collectors and categories and bringing it to Wooster, which is pretty cool.”

JSA will be at the show to offer its renowned autograph authentication service.

Lehman will set up “Autograph Row” where fans can meet the stars in attendance and pay to get autographs. Fans can bring their own items to get autographed, or purchase things like bats, balls or pictures at the show to get signed.

The collectibles industry is as popular as ever coming off of the pandemic.

“As we get into our 40s and 50s or older, it’s fun reminiscing about what we had — or missed — growing up,” Lehman said. “We saw a huge need or upswing in the interest in that stuff during COVID.

“It was really important that we were open as much as we could. There were a lot of mental health issues and people wanted to come in and buy something and escape all that in Operation: Fandom and the record store, too.”

Holding a pop culture convention is a way to expand on the popularity of Lehman’s stores, while also giving a wide variety of vendors the chance to display their collections locally for sale or possible trades.

“We want to bring more fun and that kind of joy to the area,” Lehman said. “It takes people back to a simpler time, good memories with their parents or something with friends.”

There’s no better time to bring Smalls, Squints and Ya-Ya to Wooster. This year marks three decades since the release of the iconic coming of age sports movie about a group of boys growing up in the summer of 1962.

“They played The Sandlot at my junior prom in 1993,” Lehman said. “We’ve been playing it all month long in our stores.

“People tie in good memories with some of the characters or movies they grew up with, like Star Wars and The Sandlot.”

The Sandlot is a true family movie, which anyone from kids to grandparents enjoy watching, Lehman said.

“Most boys at some point were ornery, got into things or lost things and we all know the trouble you can get in,” he said. “The Sandlot really portrays that and it’s a fun throwback (to the early 1960s) with great characters.”

Rubber City Cosplay from Akron will also be out in full force

“As we get into our 40s and 50s or older, it’s fun reminiscing about what we had — or missed — growing up.”

Operation: Fandom owner Josh Lehman, a Dalton High alum, said that there will be something of interest for just about everyone at the inaugural Operation: Fandom 2023 Pop Culture Convention on April 16 at the Wayne County Fairgrounds Event Center. Lehman is pictured holding a box of Pokemon cards and a 1963 Topps Mickey Mantle card, which are examples of some of the countless items that could be available from dealers at the show.

Amstutz presents the State of County Government

By Dan Starcher

In an overview of Wayne County and Wooster, Wayne County Commissioner Ron Amstutz said, “we have been riding a very high wave of economic success compared to the rest of our nation. Our county’s method — the collaborative approach — of promoting its thriving economy was chosen decades ago.”

Amstutz gives a significant slice of the credit to the Wayne Economic Development Council (WEDC) for its contribution to its success. But, one area where Amstutz sees an opportunity is in the agricultural sector.

“We have been leaking prime farmland,” he said. “In the past five years, we have lost 20,000 acres to development.”

Amstutz acknowledged that there is tension between farmland preservation and the need to accommodate residential and commercial growth by providing areas where they each can flourish.

“This is a work in progress,” he said. “We have to see how the market adapts.”

One of the tools the county is employing to preserve farmland is the use of

A rendering of the new jail that is proposed to be built. The project will be fully funded with state money without a tax levy going before the voters of Wayne County.

Agricultural Security Areas (ASA) that provides tax incentives to farmland owners that voluntarily agree not to develop prime farmland.

Amstutz, who delivered the 2023 State of County Government address during a meeting of the Wooster Rotary, focused much of his presentation on the commissioner’s priority projects and roles.

He outlined the work that the commissioners conduct with the 13 other elected officials in county government.

“We have roles that interact,” Amstutz said. “One of our responsibilities is to work with these officials to authorize their funds. We also have the duty to provide buildings and grounds for all of these officials for the services they provide.”

Amstutz also outlined the offices, departments, and agencies that report to the commissioners. They include:

- County Administrator
- Airport
- Facilities/Maintenance
- Building Code
- Care Center
- Dispatch
- Dog Shelter
- Economic Development

—Emergency Management

—Job and Family Services

—Juvenile Detention

—Planning

—Solid Waste and Recycling

—Wastewater Treatment

In addition, the commissioners are involved in varying capacities with more than 24 different partnerships.

Amstutz discussed the formation of a Transportation Improvement District (TID), including an example of successfully attracting grant funding to connect Daisy Way to Old Airport Road in Wooster.

Another way county government helps to strengthen the county is through the recently formed Wayne County Land Reutilization Corporation (WCLRC), with Commissioner Sue Smail serving as President and Commissioner Jon Hofstetter as a board member.

“Seven properties have been acquired, and we see a variety of positive improvements,” Amstutz said.

Economically, Amstutz said Wayne County is on a remarkable roll.

“Out of 543 micropolitan areas nationwide, we are number seven,” he said. “That is something to celebrate.”

While rankings are named by the largest city in the county, Amstutz clarified that the statistics used by Policom to measure and rank micropolitan areas are taken from the entire county.

Financially, county government revenues have been performing well.

“The county sales tax rate, at three-quarters of one percent, is one of the lowest in the state. Only four or five other counties have a tax rate that low,” he said.

Concern about corrections

Although only one year

into a three-year action plan, Amstutz commended the work of the 25-member Wayne County Community Corrections Board that is guiding the implementation of a plan aimed at making the local criminal justice system more effective.

He listed the plan’s six goals and provided an update on goals one and two:

1. Jail alternatives
2. Renovate and expand the county justice center
3. Strengthen intra-system coordination and communication
4. Improve data management
5. Inform citizens of justice system challenges and changes
6. Prevention

The presentation can be viewed on the Wooster Rotary YouTube channel at <https://rb.gy/y8tbrz>.

JFS offers new hire, employee retention programs

By Dan Starcher

The Wayne County Department of Job and Family Services, in conjunction with OhioMeansJobs, offers two programs to local employers to help them hire qualified employees as well as retain experienced workers.

"We are doing two things," said Workforce Program Administrator Bob Young. "First, we are helping employers build a workforce. Secondly, we are helping them further enhance existing workers' skills. This is a win-win situation for the worker and the employee."

Young and his co-workers have two programs at their disposal to help strengthen the local workforce.

The OJT program

The On-the-Job Training (OJT) program is a federally funded program that reimburses employers up to $13,000 to hire and train new employees.

"We will do everything we can to help the employee and employer lessen the financial burden of training in order to become employed," Young said. "It provides workers with a handsome salary and a credential that can be taken anywhere upon completion. It is a college alternative."

The goal of the OJT program is to place participants into in-demand occupations that will ultimately enhance their marketability for long-term employment. The program has a number of benefits for employers as well. They include:

—The employer maintains hiring decisions.

—Hands-on training directed by the employer to meet their specific needs.

—An investment of up to $13,000 per eligible employee.

—Minimal paperwork; fast turnaround time

—Monthly reimburse up to 50 percent of the trainees'

Bob Young

The Dept. of Job and Family Services offers two unique programs to get new workers the skills they need to embark on a career, as well as help companies retain experienced workers.

hourly wage of no less than $15 per hour.

Getting the OJT program implemented consists of only four steps. They are:

1. Register your business.
2. Recruit your employees.
3. Enroll your approved employees.
4. Begin training and get paid.

Once the employee completes the training, a business can expect to see increases in productivity, quality, efficiency, retention, and growth, while an employee can expect to earn a higher wage.

The IWT program

The Incumbent Worker

Training (IWT) program allows employers to retain experienced and valuable workers.

According to Employment Specialist Mallorie Crank, there are ways to help an individual with virtually any career path they choose.

"We can help with reimbursements for long-time employees," she said. "We also help long-time employees enhance their skills through training."

According to Crank, this is beneficial to businesses that prefer to develop their workforce and promote from within.

Together, these programs offer extraordinary opportunities to those looking to embark on a career and to those that have valuable experience.

To get started, interested businesses should contact an OhioMeansJobs Wayne County representative at WayneCoJobs@jfs.ohio.gov or phone at 330-264-5060.

WEDC focusing in on new strategies, partnerships

By Elizabeth Schuster

According to Lynn Moomaw, who has been an advisory council and Board member of the Wayne Economic Development Council (WEDC), “Many people when they think of economic development, they think first of manufacturing.”

“But here in Wayne County,” Moomaw continued, “it’s an agriculture, food processing, health care and manufacturing balance. I think it’s because of that balance that we’ve thrived for years.”

The community likely has many preconceptions about what economic development is. Chances are, economic development is more collaborative and requires more long-term planning than most realize.

For this reason, Maribeth Burns, WEDC President, has spent 2023 reinvesting in relationships. Burns has already met with 90 Wayne County-based businesses and organizations to listen and learn, and to share about WEDC’s newly launched strategic plan.

“It’s been a great learning experience and an opportunity to sit down and ask, what issues have you been having and how can we help? For instance, with staffing issues, can we help them market open positions?” Burns said.

“It’s a really a good opportunity to meet people and see in person what our diversified economy looks like,” she added. “We’ve met with a lot of businesses who didn’t know what we do.”

Burns and WEDC’s Marketing and Development Coordinator, Traci Carmony, work together to provide resources to businesses. While these resources are customized to unique business needs, they do see some common issues. For instance, when one company does something unique to attract employees, they can share those successes. They often help with wage or benefits comparison information.

Plus, Burns and Carmony will identify trends and use them to inform a future business roundtable designed to help solve problems. And they can help businesses think about longer-term planning as well as incentives for expansion.

“One thing that always sticks in my mind is how long-term investment and long-term planning is so important,” said Moomaw, who also serves as Director of Operations at the Wayne County Schools Career Center. “I remember being at a WEDC planning meeting when we got the news that Rubbermaid was leaving.

Elizabeth Schuster

The Wayne Economic Development Council continues to support community projects like the Shreve Community Reinvestment Area.

And now all these years later because of the partnerships in Wayne County, Gojo has filled that space. That long-term commitment is important.”

Burns is also acutely aware that WEDC needs to focus on issues like quality of life and housing for businesses to retain their workforce.

One of the key strategies in the updated WEDC strategic plan is to advance a focused set of key issues that drive Wayne County’s competitiveness. A top issue in this strategy is access to housing.

“We plan to complete a county-wide housing assessment. We know there are pockets of Wayne County that are more urgent. With changing demographics, we need a comprehensive assessment,” said Burns.

Further, the timing is right to collaborate with partners across Wayne County to develop a long-term strategy for future growth in the county. While it is true that land purchases are voluntary, market-based transactions, it is also true that county, municipal, and township partners have some control over where new development occurs. WEDC will continue to get input on long-term goals for future growth, complete a county-wide inventory of brownfields, identify areas in need of redevelopment, and market existing sites.

Past WEDC Board Chair

Adam Briggs believes that WEDC truly fills a niche in the way that they are able to collaborate, facilitate, and unify across organizations and jurisdictions.

“Through my experience over the years, I’ve watched WEDC bring parties together to accomplish a common goal and be the entity that crosses multiple sectors- multiple cities, counties, townships, and state government,” said Briggs.

“Maribeth has brought a high level of leadership experience and she’s done an outstanding job.”

Looking forward

WEDC continues to support community projects like the Shreve Community Reinvestment Area (CRA).

“When the Shreve Community Development Corporation looked at incentives for business and home development in our area, the WEDC helped us identify the use of a CRA,” said Chuck Visocky, a Shreve business owner who is also involved in Shreve’s development corporation. “A CRA allows investment into homes and businesses minimizing tax impact on the improvement for a period of time. Creating an easier path to invest in Shreve is one strategy that we are using to refresh our quaint community.”

“The legislation to establish the CRA was approved by Village Council in late November. The application was sent to the State of Ohio and should receive final approval by the end of April – depending on their review timing,” said Carmony.

With 66% of WEDC investors with the private sector and 33% of the budget coming from public dollars, more work is needed to reach the campaign target of $3.7 million to be able to fund crucial economic development programs for Wayne County for the next 4 years. Check out its website if you would like to contact the WEDC team with questions at <https://waynecountyedc.com/>.

United Way of Wayne and Holmes announces grants

United Way of Wayne and Holmes Counties (UWWH), after having already invested $1,304,732 back into the community through direct designations and the 2023 grant process, recently announced the results of the 2023 Grant Funding Process. The Board of Directors unanimously approved $913,496 in grant awards towards programs in Wayne and Holmes Counties that align with United Way's mission of mobilizing community resources to help people measurably improve their lives.

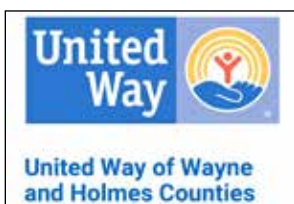

"The 49 local programs we have chosen to fund through our grant process this year help address our communities' most pressing issues," said Ron Schlegel, UWWH Board President. "The programs in which United Way funds are financially stable, results driven and a wise investment in our community."

United Way's Grant Applications are reviewed by the Volunteer Investment Team (VIT) comprised of 35 United Way donors. The VIT reviewed all grant applications, and met in early February to discuss and provide grant funding recommendations for the UWWH Board of Directors. These committees meet to fairly, objectively and unbiasedly consider the best use of the funds.

"We have asked each VIT member to review all proposals with care, through their lenses, experiences, and opinions," said UWWH CEO Katie Kogelman. "All applications are reviewed together and the greatest needs are selected for funding."

"As volunteers of the VIT who also donate to United Way of Wayne and Holmes, their recommendations made during this grant review process provides assurance to our donors that their gifts are being sent to the best and most qualified organizations, because each VIT member also 'invests' in UWWH."

While every request is full of passion and purpose, increased requests for funds, increased donor designations and limited resources make it impossible to fund every program.

United Way Invests in the following four areas:

- Health/Mental Health/ Substance Abuse Treatment
- Safety Net
- Workforce Development
- Youth Development

2023 United Way Grant Awards totaled $913,496 and were given to the following organizations:

Amazing Non-Surgical Technology Relieves Serious Back Pain

Who Else Wants to Get Rid of Sciatica, Bulging Discs, And Leg Pain Once And For All?

(ONLY $37 TO ANYONE WHO IS SUFFERING WITH THESE CONDITIONS)

Having back and leg pain can feel like a crippling condition.

You might not be able to put your own shoes on, work, or sit through church. Even a 30-minute buggy ride has become unbearable. It's almost impossible for anyone around you to understand how you feel. You can't remember the last time you even had a restful night's sleep.

Do You Have Any of the Following?

- Sharp pains in the back of the leg
- Lower Back Pain
- Herniated/bulging discs
- Numbness in your arms or legs
- Shooting hip or thigh pain
- Muscle spasm, sprains & strains

If you've suffered from any of these annoying conditions, you may have "Sciatica".

Sciatica is a compression of the sciatic nerve, usually by an L4 or L5 disc herniations. As you know, sciatica can be a very painful problem, even crippling at times.

Nothing's worse than feeling great mentally, but physically feeling held back from life because your back or sciatica hurts and the pain just won't go away!

Fortunately, if you are suffering from any of these problems, they may be relieved or eliminated by non-surgical spinal decompression.

"What's The Chance This Will Work For Me?"

A medical study found patients went from moderately painful to almost no pain with decompression treatments. Those that took pain pills improved less than 5%. — American Society of Anesthesiologist, 2006 Chicago, IL

Another study presented at the American Academy of Pain Management in 2007 showed...

"Patients reported a mean 88.9% improvement in back pain and better function...No patient required any invasive therapies (e.g. epidural injections, surgery)."

These are just two studies out of a dozen done in the last few years, all showing promising results.

Here's the point of all these studies... spinal decompression has a very high success rate with helping disc herniations, sciatica, and back pain.

This means in just a matter of weeks you could be back enjoying whatever you love to do pain free!

"SAY NO! TO SURGERY!!!"

It's time for you to find out if spinal decompression will be your sciatic pain solution. For 12 days only, until April 13th, $37 will get you all the services I normally charge new patients for.

The normal price for this type of evaluation including MRI/x-ray reading is $200-$325 alone; not counting the free trial session, so you're saving a TON! by taking me up on this $37 offer.

What does this offer include? Everything. Here's what you'll get...

- An in-depth consultation about your health and well-being where I will listen... really listen...to the details of your case.
- An extensive medical history review.
- A complete neuromuscular examination.
- A specialized interpretation of any prior MRI, x-ray, or CT films to determine if vertebral misalignment is contributing to your pain or symptoms... (NOTE: These readings normally cost you at least $125) If necessary I will order MRI
- A thorough analysis and explanation of your spinal exam findings so we can start mapping out your plan to being pain free.
- You'll get to see everything first hand and find out if this amazing treatment will be your pain solution, like it has been for so many other patients.

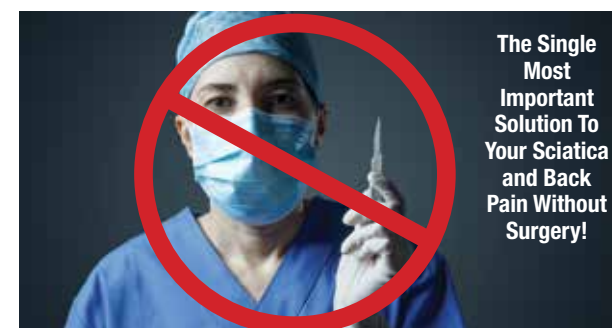

The appointment will not take long at all and you won't be sitting in a waiting room all day either.

And the best part about it is...

No Dangerous Drugs, No Invasive Procedures, And No Painful Exercises

Spinal decompression treatments are very gentle. In fact, we even catch a few patients sleeping during sessions every once and awhile.

You'll simply lie on your stomach or back, whichever is comfortable, and then a specialized belt is gently put around your waist. We'll set the machine to focus on your problem area — then the advanced decompression computer system will do the rest.

"But I feel fine — as long as I take my pain pills."

There's a time to use pain medications, BUT not before seeking a 100% natural way to correct the CAUSE of the problem!

Spinal decompression just may be the answer that you've been looking for. Ask yourself ... after taking all these pain medications and playing the 'wait and see game', maybe for years...are you any better off?

Call anytime 24 hours a day for the next 12 days only to be scheduled for a Monday, Wednesday or Friday appointment. Tell the receptionist you'd like to come in for the $37 Special Grand Opening Decompression Evaluation before April 13th.

We can get started with your consultation and exam as soon as there's an opening in the schedule. Our office is called "Spinal Decompression & Laser Healing."

I look forward to helping you get rid of your pain so you can start living a healthier, more joyful life.

Sincerely,

Dr. Richard Mulcahy Chiropractor

KDT Certified Decompression Therapy Practitioner

What Will Your Pain Feel Like 1 Month From Today?

One of the biggest myths about pain is that it goes away all by itself, without any treatment.

A May 1998 study in the British Medical Journal proved this myth false, showing that 75% of back pain sufferers who do nothing about it will have either pain or disability 12 months later.

Life's too short to live in pain like this. Call today and soon I'll be giving you the green light to have fun again.

College of Wooster Spring Dance Concert is April 13-15

College Communications
The College of Wooster's Department of Theatre and Dance and the College of Wooster student Dance Company will present the annual Spring Dance Concert April 13 to 15 at 7:30 p.m. in Freedlander Theatre, 329 E. University St., Wooster.

Under the direction of Emily Baird, assistant professor of theatre and dance, and Liv Mourning, an intern in the Department of Theatre and Dance, the concert will feature a variety of pieces choreographed by students, staff, faculty, and featured guest artist Hot Crowd, a nonprofit dance company based in Chicago.

Established in 2017, Hot Crowd's goal is to stimulate and inspire dancers and non-dancers alike through innovative movement, community interaction, and accessibility to strengthen and spread the art of modern dance throughout the Chicago area and beyond.

Since its inception, the company has been invited to perform in several major cities throughout the U.S., including Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, and St. Louis, as well as outside of the United States in Seoul, South Korea. The dance organization has also created five self-produced shows and one professional dance for film. Other Hot Crowd programming includes dance workshops and residencies for students ranging in age from youth to adult, community dance classes, and collaborative events with other local artists and businesses.

Wooster's most formal dance event of the year, the Spring Dance Concert features a variety of distinct dance styles and artistic concepts, longer dance pieces, advanced student choreographers, and professional dance production. Student choreographers include Bee Bi, Morgan Carson, Katherine

Matt Dilyard

The College of Wooster's Department of Theatre and Dance and the College of Wooster student Dance Company will present the annual Spring Dance Concert April 13 to 15 in Freedlander Theatre.

Shelmidine, Gracie Shreve, Sarah Snider, Katie Spence, Aliza Sosin, and Josephine Fleischel. In addition to the eight student-choreographed pieces and Hot Crowd's guest presentation, the concert also features pieces choreographed by Baird and Mourning. The production is stage managed by Claire Alderfer. Abby Aitken and Sophie Bruce serve as coordinators for the Dance Company, and additional students serve as dancers, costume designers, lighting designers, light and sound board operators, and wardrobe, props, and scenic crew.

Students involved in the Spring Dance Concert appreciate the opportunity to explore and develop their artistry and work with other students to create one-of-a-kind pieces of art.

"I love seeing how pieces come together in the end, being completely unique to the dancers and their personal movement styles," said Shreve, a choreographer.

"My dancers have been absolute gems for working with me through my complicated ideas and just letting go to try new things," added Mourning.

For Spence, this concert also serves as part of her Independent Study project. Spence, a senior majoring in theatre and dance and biology, combined her research on honeybees with her interests in dance. "My I.S. as a whole explores dance as communication in both honeybees and humans," she said. "I wanted to explore turning the honeybee dance language into human dance and communicate the concept of honeybees' communication to an audience through movement."

The box office for the Spring Dance Concert will open April 10. For more information, or to reserve tickets, visit the box office in Freedlander Theatre, call 330-263-2241, or visit wooster.edu/tickets.

The significance of some of Easter’s many symbols

Easter Sunday, on April 9 this year, is a day when Christians across the globe celebrate the resurrection of Jesus Christ. There are approximately 2.4 billion Christians across the globe, which accounts for nearly one-third of the global population.

Though certain Christians groups do not celebrate Easter, many consider it the holiest day of the year. Given that significance, it’s no surprise Easter is steeped in symbolism. The following are some of the many symbols of Easter and what they represent to faithful Christians across the globe.

Eggs

Eggs might now be more instantly associated with Easter egg hunts for children, but the American Bible Society notes that eggs are symbolic of more than just fun for kids. Eggs represent the new life that’s symbolic of spring, which is when Easter occurs in the northern hemisphere. Christians view eggs as a reminder of the resurrection of Jesus. Interestingly, though colored eggs are often seen as a fun Easter activity for kids, the ABS notes that the tradition dates back to the early days of Christianity, when red-colored eggs were used to represent the resurrection.

Crucifix

The crucifix, which is a distinct representation of a cross with Jesus Christ on it, is symbolic of the crucifixion and subsequent resurrection of Jesus. The ABS notes that the resurrection of Jesus symbolizes his victory over the power of sin and death.

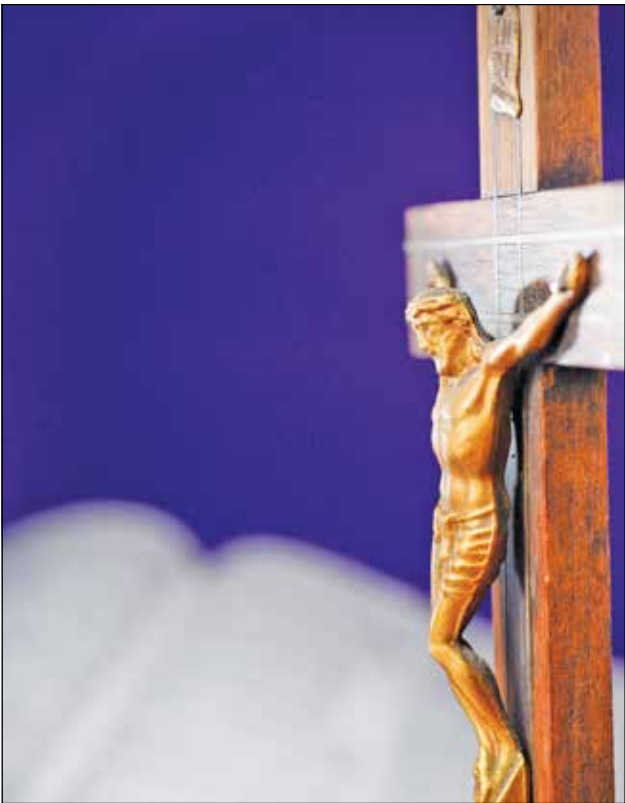

The Lamb

Jesus is referred to in the Bible as the “Lamb of God” (Revelation 5:6-14), so the lamb is another important Easter symbol for Christians. In addition, in John (1:29), Jesus is referred to by John the Baptist as the “Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world.”

Easter Bunny

Another symbol, like Easter eggs, that people could be forgiven for mistaking as purely secular, the Easter Bunny is not entirely separate from the spiritual meaning of the holiday. As noted, Easter, even though it’s a moveable feast, takes place in spring in the northern hemisphere each year. Spring is symbolic of rebirth, and the hare was a symbol of fertility among the ancient pagans. The spirit of rebirth associated with rabbits, particularly in spring, also is reminiscent of the resurrection of Jesus from his tomb.

Easter is celebrated across the globe. Those celebrations feature many significant religious symbols that have withstood the test of time.

Changes to Ohio's election laws will begin Tuesday, April 4, which is the first day of early voting for the May 2 special election.

Strict new requirement for voter ID to begin on April 4

Ohio's election laws have been changed under House Bill 458, signed Jan. 6 by Gov. Mike DeWine.

These changes will begin Tuesday, April 4, which is the first day of early voting for the May 2 special election.

The Ohio secretary of state issued Directive 2023-03 on Feb. 7, instructing Ohio's 88 county boards of elections to immediately begin implementing the reforms required under HB 458. This directive guarantees the changes made by HB 458 are uniformly implemented across all county boards of elections throughout the entirety of the early voting period and on election day.

Notable changes beginning in the May 2 election and contained within the early voting period include the following:

—Requiring unexpired photo identification for voting at the polls and during early voting. The new law removes certain types of previously acceptable IDs (utility bills, bank statements, government checks, paychecks, et cetera) and adds new forms of photo ID that are acceptable.

The following will now be the only types of ID a voter may use to vote at the polls and during early voting at the BOE office: an Ohio driver's license or state ID card (a free state ID card can be obtained from the Bureau of Motor Vehicles beginning April 7) or interim ID form issued by the BMV, U.S. passport or passport card, or a U.S. military ID card, Ohio National Guard ID card or U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs ID card.

—Extending voting hours the week before election day and eliminating early voting the day before election day.

—Moving the absentee ballot request deadline back to ensure voters get their ballot in time to return it to the board of elections by the deadline.

—Allowing any 17-year-old to serve as a poll worker.

Only persons with a physical disability may vote in their vehicle or at the door of their polling place with the assistance of a bipartisan team of election officials. Election officials must not challenge a voter's attestation he/she has a disability.

Call the Wayne County Board of Elections at 330-287-5480 for more information.

Clark is switching schools — and switching sports

By Aaron Dorksen

West Holmes graduate Noah Clark realized this spring that home is where his heart is.

And, that football is his true love when it comes to athletics.

With those factors in mind, Clark was thrilled to announce on March 27 that he's transferring from Marietta College, where he was a pitcher on the baseball team, to The College of Wooster to play football.

The Fighting Scots graduated four-year starter Mateo Renteria and Clark will compete to take over right away as the quarterback. The 5-foot-11, 190-pounder will have four years of eligibility.

"I just really missed the culture of playing on a football team," Clark said. "It's completely different."

"Pitching is fun, but I missed playing quarterback. It's going to be awesome playing for The College of Wooster. (Head) Coach (Frank) Colaprete and (assisstant) Coach (Zach) Dennis have been great during this whole process."

Noah Clark

Although Clark said he enjoyed being a part of the Marietta baseball team, he also missed his family.

"I was dealing with some arm issues from going about a year straight throwing the baseball without stopping and I missed being at home and seeing my family," said

Clark, a 2022 West Holmes graduate, who was a first-team All-Ohio quarterback after leading the best team in school history to a 14-1 record and the Div. III Final Four in 2021. "I've always been a rival of Wooster so it's gonna be kind of different wearing it on my chest. But being able to come back home, play in front of my family, friends and people who have supported me my entire life, is just gonna mean everything to me."

Colaprete and Dennis recruited Clark while he was in high school, but understood when he chose to pursue baseball.

Clark was the Ohio Cardinal Conference co-Pitcher of the Year in 2022 after going 7-4 with a 0.64 ERA, 80 strikeouts and 33 walks in 65⅓ innings pitched. At this point, Clark is just planning to play football at Wooster.

"After baseball practice one day, I called up coach Dennis and asked if there would still be an opportunity

Justin Smith

Noah Clark (12) was an All-Ohio quarterback at West Holmes and will take up the sport again this coming season at The College of Wooster. Wooster head coach Frank Colaprete compared Clark's abilities to those of Gary Muntean, a Scots quarterback who passed for over 8,000 yards from 2014-17.

for me to play football for Wooster," Clark said. "I just wanted to learn more about it."

"He said, 'The door's wide open. We just graduated an All-American quarterback.' It's not an easy process to transfer colleges, but the Wooster coaches have been super supportive. My mindset right now is (Renteria) is who I need to replace." Colaprete said he "loves" the addition of Clark.

"Noah is a heckuva young man and a great athlete," said Colaprete, whose teams have gone 6-4, 6-4, 6-4, 5-5 and 6-4 going back to 2017. "We're extremely excited to work with him. He's as tough as nails mentally and physically. Everyone who he's played with and been coached by, or played against knows that he's a winner."

Clark's skillset is comparable to Gary Muntean, who passed for 8,295 career yards from 2014-17 and ranks second behind Renteria (10,083) in the Scots' all-time record book, Colaprete said.

"Noah reminds me of Gary, both having strong baseball backgrounds," Colaprete said. "Noah has a strong arm, he's accurate and knows how to read coverages. We've had a winning tradition here, but Noah has the potential to put us over the top to be a championship team."

Despite the extremely high praise for Clark, Colaprete insisted it will truly be an open competition for the quarterback job.

"Nothing has been promised to Noah and I'm sure he wouldn't want it any other way," Colaprete said. "We're excited to see what happens."

Capsule look at Wooster High's spring sports teams

By Aaron Dorksen

The following are capsules of Wooster's spring varsity teams.

BASEBALL

Head coach: Steve Young, 81-43 entering seventh year

2022 record: 20-5 (11-1 Ohio Cardinal Conference, first place)

Scouting report: The Generals have lots of returnees as they work toward a third straight league title, something that hasn't been done by a Wooster baseball team since the early 1980s.

Senior Blake Bowen (SS-P), a Kentucky signee and returning first-team All-Ohioan and OCC POTY, leads the way after batting .568 last season with 13 doubles, four triples, seven HR, 45 RBI and 39 runs. His sophomore brother, Brady Bowen (P-OF-INF, first-team OCC), batted .397 and went 5-0 on the mound with a 2.16 ERA. Also returning as letterwin-ners are senior Elisha Steiner (P-INF) and sophomores AJ Likowski (OF-P), Sam Nielsen (1B-P), Ben Winge (2B-P) and Hayden Meese (P-OF). Nielsen and Winge were honorable mention All-OCC.

Senior Luke Wright

(OF-LHP) is expected to make a big impact after transferring from Northwestern. Newcomers expected to contribute are led by senior Jacob Russell (OF) and juniors Dylan Hudson (C), Will Tirakis (C), Henry Wilds (INF-OF),

Ashton Still (LHP) and Jack Ritchie (P).

Coach's quote: "We're excited to get going this year with some key pieces back, but several new faces as well," Young said. "We're looking forward to a challenging schedule that we feel will prepare us for the tournament and develop our players at a high level."

"Team strengths are pitching depth, speed and chemistry. Team weaknesses are position player depth and experience. We started five freshmen last year, so our position players are still fairly young. The majority of our seniors are pitchers only."

SOFTBALL

Head coach: Dave Smith, second year

2022 record: 7-14 (2-10 OCC, sixth)

Scouting report: The Generals have 12 letterwinners back as they try to improve upon last season's mark.

Seniors Paige Becker (P-3B), Kaylee Buzzard (SS) and Hannah Chupp (C); juniors Madison Besies (LF), Promise Markley (2B), Isabella Fortune (1B), Jasmine Lehmene (OF) and Tori Pettorini (CF); and sophomores Emily Boyd (3B), Ava Parker (OF), Kiara Hanna (P-OF) and Kennedy Russell (RF) return with lots of experience.

Submitted

Becker earned first-team All-OCC honors and Pettorini was second-team, while Boyd and Markley earned honorable mention in 2022.

Newcomers include senior Nora Levy (RF), along with freshmen Ella Karger (P) and Ella Nelson (C).

Coach's quote: "As a coach I have so much respect for these young players that continue to represent their sport and their school," said Smith, who has more than three decades worth of experience coaching at a variety of schools, including Hiland. "I believe these young players will achieve many goals that they have set for themselves. We have great senior leadership this season and the players are motivated to play at a higher level. We are happy to have a JV team."

BOYS TENNIS

Head coach: Justin Crooks, 23-9 entering third year as boys coach.

2022 record: 13-3 (6-1 OCC, second)

Scouting report: Junior

twin brothers Brock and Garrett Ranney, along with senior Ishaan Gireesh are the lone returning letterwinners from last season's OCC runner-up team. The Ranneys were unseeded as a doubles team last season, but finished as a Div. I Canton Sectional runner-up to qualify for the district tournament. Despite having several newcomers in the lineup, the Generals were ranked No. 5 in the Ohio Tennis Coaches Association preseason coaches poll for Northeast Ohio.

Newcomers include freshman Henry Pozefsky, who will start out the year at first singles. Brock Ranney will play No. 2 singles and freshman brother Saxon Ranney will be at No. 3 singles. Garrett will play first doubles with Gireesh, while sophomore Aidan Cleveland and senior Brendan French will be at second doubles and junior Bobby Dotson will play singles or doubles.

Coach's quote: "We have a very deep team, but we have four out of seven Newcomers include Jack Frichtl, Oliver Miller, Anthony Sines, Talen Keys, Gabe Bray and Anthony Carmean.

Coach's quote: “We have a good crew of returning letterwinners,” Bennett said. “We are excited to watch their development. We have a good core of experience in most of the 17 track and field events. Our league will be competitive as usual. We will seek to compete and strive to finish well.”

GIRLS TRACK

Head coach: Chris Mascotti-Rasor, eighth year

2022 record: Third at OCC Meet.

Scouting report: Wooster is considered to be one of the favorites for the OCC girls title. The Generals have standouts across the board in all events. Senior Faith Timko qualified for the indoor state track meet in the high jump this winter, placing 13th out of 26 jumpers.

Returning letterwinners are seniors Faith Timko

(jumps, hurdles), Ava Eagle (sprints, jumps), Hana Tucker (sprints, jumps), Sydney Older (sprints), Natalie Fagert (sprints, jumps), Audrey Miller (distance), Brenna Huffman (throws), Abbi Jones (throws), Paoia Campbell (sprints, PV), Juniors Mattie Dunlap (distance), Rosalind Holt-Frank (distance), Grace Kostohryz (throws), Adyson Thorley (sprints, PV), Lily Campbell-Lehtinen (sprints, mid-distance), Kailey Kartisek (sprints, hurdles, jumps); sophomores Mara French (sprints, PV), Judith Ezeji (sprints), Miley Green (sprints, throws)

Newcomers include Abi Strand-Fox (distance, jumps), Avery Hamilton-Topovski (sprints, jumps) and Ani Tzonev (distance).

BOYS LACROSSE

Head coach: Reid Delaney, 8-9 entering second year

2022 record: 8-9

Scouting report: The Generals have a great deal of optimism entering the season, with 90 percent of their scoring returning. All-region attacks Courson Laughlin (27 goals, 17 assists) and Cooper Laughlin (39 goals, 13 assists) are the top returnees.

The returning letterwinners are seniors Kauffman, Landon Miller (MF), Jonah Chavez (D); juniors Laughlin, Jake Allen (D), Ethan Shetler (D), Grant Hoffman (MF), Sam Jewell (MF); sophomores Liam Harwood (MF), Braylon Dawson (A), Jake Haas (D), Walker Barr (A), Braeden Flint (MF) and Brady Mingay (MF).

Promising newcomers include freshmen Logan Beery (face-off), Liam Ozar (G), Andrew Thomas (MF) and Grady Hahn (MF).

Coach's quote: “I'm very excited about this year and the future of this program,” Delaney said. “I have high expectations for this team as we return a large majority of our starters and role players.

“You could name any single person on offense as a player to watch. You have to keep an eye on our two all-region returners, Courson Kauffman and Cooper Laughlin. They are going to be the catalysts to our offense and we expect big things from them this year. Also, keep Liam Harwood on your radar. Defensively, we return all the starters and bring back a injured returner in Jonah Chavez. I'd say our entire starting defense is a unit to watch. We are eager and excited to see the freshman additions on defense of Logan Beery (face-off) and Liam Ozar (goalie).”

GIRLS LACROSSE

Head coach: Holly Pope, 100-86-5 entering 13th year

2022 record: 5-12-1

Scouting report: The Generals have improved depth and athleticism and should put lots of points on the board this season. If they can develop their team chemistry they should have a much-improved record.

Coach's comment: “We are a mix of returners as well as newcomers, so we are adjusting to what our team looks like now,” Pope said. “We have more scoring power than we have had in years past. We continue to work on reading situations and being able to adjust to what the other team is doing. The key to our success this season is communication all over the field, playing good fundamentally sound defense, and being able to make adjustments on the offensive end as we play different teams with different defensive strategies.”

Helping the lost so they can find their way home

A week ago I wrote about some of the many and varied things I've found along the way over the past 15 years as I've traveled back and forth to work by bicycle. Plenty of trinkets, tons of trash and a satisfying number of treasures have lined my way — seemingly dropped by fate as breadcrumbs to draw me on toward the office or lead me back home at the end of the day — each with its own story to tell.

While it's easy to conclude that most of my finds had already been written off by their owners as collateral damage in man's constant quest to "get there" by the fastest means possible, it's also evident that some of the things I've found were placed in my path so I could work to return them.

For instance, just the other morning I found a hammer laying in the middle of the road. Rounded and stained, the head bears witness to a million mighty blows. The handle, worn smooth by decades of faithful duty, speaks to the utility of blunt force as powerful medicine — the ultimate cure for things that have inexplicably run out of whack.

John & Kristin Lorson
Drawing Laughter

This is someone's grandfather's hammer. I know this for certain because I have one of my own. To see the pair together suggests twins separated at birth that went on to live shockingly similar lives. Contact me at the address below if you (or your grandpa) happen to be missing a hammer. A positive identification will land it back in the hand of its rightful owner.

While far from the category of family heirloom, some items demand return simply based on their value alone. A few weeks ago, while pedaling through the pre-dawn darkness I spotted a strange, small glow in the lane ahead. There, in the dangerously narrow space between the tire-tracks of westbound Old Lincoln Way, lay a smartphone that had wandered astray with its flashlight fully lit — the only thing that saved it from certain demise as rush hour loomed just moments away.

After dodging danger in a carefully choreographed dance meant to prevent the dozen or so drivers who straddled the phone at speed from crushing it while distracted by me, I plucked the device from the jaws of death. I quickly stuck it in my jersey pocket and rode the remaining few miles to the office. There, I discovered that not only was the phone largely undamaged, save for a cracked screen, it was also unlocked, and fully operational.

As I searched the phone's contact list for an ICE (In Case of Emergency) number it began to vibrate in my hand! When I answered on the first ring the caller was obviously shocked and decidedly awkward.

"Um, hello," he stammered. "I ... I'm looking for a lost phone,"

"Well that's interesting," I said. "I'm actually holding a lost phone!"

The caller went on to explain that he'd set the phone on the bed of his truck after checking some tie-downs (that's why the light was on) and he hadn't noticed it missing until he was miles down the road.

We arranged a quick meetup near where I'd found the thing and within the hour man and phone were joyfully reunited. A reward was offered, but I assured the old boy (who admitted he has a heck of a time keeping track of such things) that I had already been richly rewarded with a great story to tell.

Now, let's hope my "hammer story" ends the same way!

Kristin and John would love to hear from you. Write: Drawing Laughter; P.O. Box 170, Fredericksburg, OH 44627 or email John at jlorson@alonovus.com.

The many paths to healthy eating

We know that spring is on its way, and I don't know about you, but I'm looking forward to a little less mud and the sights and sounds of spring. It's a good time to refresh our outlook on diet and health.

When we think about the foods we eat on a regular basis, can we say we have a healthy diet? How do you set yourself up for overall healthy choices? There are many things that vie for our time, and our motivation may be distracted from reaching our goals. What can we do to set ourselves and our families up for eating healthier foods?

The environments in which we live, work, worship and play have an

Bananas are a miracle of biology — and good to eat

You might not know this, but bananas can be eaten at any stage of ripeness. There are 5 degrees of development for this fruit. Perfectly unblemished yellow bananas are sought after but each phase of a ripening banana has its redeeming properties.

The underripe, green bananas are hard and have a very distinctive flavor; they are a great source of prebiotics needed for digestive health. Barely ripe bananas are high in fiber and lower in sugar than the following stages. A ripe banana is golden yellow with a few brown spots; it provides high antioxidant levels with good fiber content.

A very ripe banana is sweet and has the lowest vitamin and mineral content than the previous stages. Then there is the stage right before the trash can, the overripe banana. These mushy, sticky, and very fragrant bananas have the highest sugar content and lowest fiber of all 5 stages.

So, if diabetes is an issue, eat barely ripe bananas to control sugar spikes in the blood stream. A barely ripe banana is also the highest in fiber of all the stages. The best qualities of an overripe, brown, banana are sweetness and a mushy texture, best used in baking, shakes and pancakes.

A banana, depending on its size, is about 110 calories, 1 gram of protein, 28 grams of carbohydrate, 3 grams of fiber and 450 grams of potassium. Bananas are also high in iron, B6 and fiber.

Two bananas can provide enough calories for a strenuous 90-minute workout. Bananas contain tryptophan, a type of protein that the body converts into serotonin, known to make you relax, improve your mood, and generally make you feel happier.

A banana is a miracle of biology. They are the fourth most-valuable crop globally. Americans consume 3 million tons of bananas yearly. Power packed with healthy nutrition, bananas are one of the world's most appealing superfoods (pun intended).

They provide a laundry list of health benefits that range from physical to mental. These perks apply to everyone, not just those people with medical issues. Even the tough exterior of a banana has been recognized as a treatment for wound healing, poison ivy, burns, acne and facial wrinkles.

Bananas help to manage blood pressure because potassium lessens the effects of sodium in the blood stream. They can also replenish the carbohydrates, potassium, and magnesium in muscles after exercise or exertion.

Bananas have been used to fight depression. Depression is associated with low levels of vitamin B6. Bananas help raise serotonin levels, the happy hormone.

Cancer, asthma, anemia, diarrhea, and constipation can be treated with bananas. An unripe banana is a remedy for diarrhea and an overripe banana can help constipation. It proves itself to be a miracle of biology.

People eat more bananas than monkeys. When was the last time you ate a monkey? How can you easily spot an optimist? Look for an older person buying green bananas.

Why do monkeys like bananas so much? Because they are a-peeling!

impact on the choices we make each day. Experts suggest that many of the decisions we make on a daily basis are unconscious, especially those pertaining to what, when, where, how much and how often we eat. This makes sense, because it would be exhausting to consciously think through every decision we make each day! Instead, many of our daily actions are dictated by routine, habit, and environmental cues.

For example, how often do you think through how, when, and where to brush your teeth? Probably not very often. Instead, you rely upon an established habit to keep your teeth clean and healthy. In the same way, habits, routines, and environmental cues influence our daily eating and physical activity choices in more ways than we realize. If you truly want to change a behavior for the better, it is worthwhile to consider how your home, work and social environments are either helping or hindering your success.

Begin by thinking about whether there are specific environmental cues or triggers in your home, office or community that lead you toward or away from your desired behavior. If you identify cues that are leading you away from your desired behavior, brainstorm ways to replace them with positive cues.

For example, if you're trying to eat healthier:

—Have a variety of healthy food on hand, in places where it's easy to see, convenient to eat (e.g. pre-sliced, prepared and/or pre-portioned) and appealing as an option. At the same time, keep unhealthy food out of the house (or at least out of sight) or purchase on a limited basis.

—Pack snacks and lunches so you'll be less tempted to indulge when there are sweets in the breakroom at work, or when you need to run out for lunch and may not select the healthiest option because you're hungry and in a hurry. This is the one that gets me, I'm in a hurry and hungry so I grab something on the go.

—Surround yourself with good role models. Just like spending time with positive people can help you develop a more positive outlook, spending time with people who practice the behavior you wish to adopt can rub off.

—Avoid going more than 3-4 hours without eating something small.

—Have healthy snacks in the car available when you pick children up from school or sports to hold them until mealtime.

—Put your utensils down between bites to slow down your eating. Savor the flavor of your food by chewing slowly and enjoying the mealtime experience.

Look for tips that work for you and your family and share with others. Helping children build a strong foundation of healthy foods will be an investment in their well-being for a lifetime.
