

To the top of the highest mountain he climbs
Carrying the load for others many times
He toils and labors to show others the way
This is the Sherpa's mission every day
He never tires as he ascends
Even when the climb seems to never end
While others will claim all the glory
This is the Sherpa's noble duty

*Apa the great Sherpa
A man who is truly the mountain king
He never seems to lose his will
Apa, to you, we finally sing*

*Apa the great Sherpa
A man who is truly the mountain king
He never seems to lose his will
Apa, to you, we finally sing*

Apa has climbed Everest 21 times
More than anyone else in a single lifetime
His new goal now is removing the stash
Of oxygen tanks and other climbers' trash
For he believes it's his duty
To care for the mountain and its beauty
So now there is much more to his expeditions
Preserving the Earth is his greatest mission

*Apa the great Sherpa
A man who is truly the mountain king
He never seems to lose his will
Apa, to you, we finally sing*

*Apa the great Sherpa
A man who is truly the mountain king
He never seems to lose his will
Apa, to you, we finally sing*

You too, could be a great explorer
Crossing continents from border to border
You can probe the oceans or search the sky

Whether far away or somewhere nearby
There are so many things left to be discovered
It's exciting to think what you will uncover
As you explore the world, remember Apa my friend
The possibilities will never end

*Apa the great Sherpa
A man who is truly the mountain king
He never seems to lose his will
Apa, to you, we finally sing*

*Apa the great Sherpa
A man who is truly the mountain king
He never seems to lose his will
Apa, to you, we finally sing*