Christian Oth: Making magic with wedding photography

Chosen by respected trade bibles American Photo and Photo District News as one of the world's best wedding photographers, Christian Oth has redefined the art of wedding photography. His relaxed approach to telling the wedding story with a fashion forward and editorial eye has earned him the adoration of both an esteemed clientele and top photographers.

Born in Austria, Christian has lived in New York for 18 years. He studied at Manhattan's renowned International School of Photography and has quickly emerged as one of the city's premiere photographers. He is a regular contributor to The New York Times Magazine, where he has photographed such distinguished individuals as Alec Baldwin, Isabella Rossellini, George Soros and Francis Ford Coppola to name just a few. His fashion and portraiture work has appeared on the editorial and advertising pages of top European and American publications, including Town & Country, Martha Stewart and Vogue.

In 2002, Christian began photographing weddings and opened his own boutique studio in the heart of New York's Chelsea district in 2005. It's an ideal marriage. He brings a gifted eye for detail, ability to capture simple moments and appreciation for weddings' beauty and significance that has allowed him to perfect his craft. Christian's has a long list of impressive clients, including actress Amanda Peet, former executive producer of Sex and the City Cindy Chupak, Melanie Bloom, and many notables from the recording, motion picture and journalistic professions.

"Weddings are a fascinating artistic outlet. I look for the unscripted moments that convey the pure emotion of the day. These moments tell the true story of the wedding day and all the joyful memories a couple will treasure." - Christian Oth
