

Death Beyond Disavowal: The Impossible Politics of Difference

Thursday, January 22, 4:30-6:30pm
Merten Hall, Room 1203

Grace Hong

University of California,
Los Angeles

Associate Professor of Gender Studies and
Asian American Studies

Dr. Grace Kyungwon Hong is the author of the forthcoming Death Beyond Disavowal: The Impossible Politics of Difference (University of Minnesota Press, 2015), which situates women of color feminism as providing a critique of, and alternative to, neoliberal modes of governance which responded to the movements for decolonization, desegregation, and liberation in the post-World War II period by affirming, as well as marginalizing, modes of difference. She is also the author of The Ruptures of American Capital: Women of Color Feminism and the Culture of Immigrant Labor (University of Minnesota Press, 2006), and the co-editor (with Roderick Ferguson) of Strange Affinities: The Gender and Racial Politics of Comparative Racialization (Duke University Press, 2011).

CSC is presented by the Cultural Studies Program of George Mason University, bringing scholars of diverse methodological, theoretical, and topical expertise to share new and cutting-edge interdisciplinary research. We are grateful to University Life and the ICC for funding that helped make this possible. For questions or more information, please email colloquium coordinator Craig Willse, cwillse@gmu.edu, or contact the Cultural Studies office at 703-993-2851 | <http://culturalstudies.gmu.edu>.
