CLASS MEETS: Tuesdays & Thursdays  9:00-10:15 AM  Planetary Hall 224
OFFICE HOURS: Tuesday & Thursday after class 10:15-11-00 @ Robinson A 201 or by appointment

PURPOSE: To introduce the field of cross-cultural psychology and its contemporary applications. To develop a broader knowledge of contemporary psychology. To discuss current psychological research and its applications from a cross-cultural perspective. To provide a useful set of critical-thinking tools with which to analyze and evaluate psychology and behavior of various ethnic, national, social, and religious groups. To help in developing psychological skills necessary for a successful professional in today’s global world.

Requirements:

- The final grade will be based on four exams and one term paper (a written homework assignment). The exams—September 26, October 24, November 21, and December 12 (the final)—will consist of short-answer and multiple-choice questions. Practice quizzes are available on the web: Blackboard or http://www.ericshiraev.com/5.html
- The term paper (final written assignment) is due December 5 or earlier. No deadline extension. Paper copies only please. The topics for the written assignment appear on the syllabus at the bottom of this page. You will have to choose one topic from the list. You can suggest your own topic but the professor must approve it before November 1.
- Extra credit is available. It is an optional mini-research project. (Max. 5 points can be added to your total score). See Blackboard for posted topics. Deadline: December 5. No extensions.
