

The Rain Falls Gently to the Earth

Richard Cutting

Lively

The rain falls gent - ly to the earth the birds fly in the sky, — the 5

sun - light fills the hea - vens, and the stars shine way up high. — The 9

wind blows through the for - est, — the waves run to the shore, — and 13

I with all cre - a - tion, will praise the liv - ing God. — I will praise him for his love

18

— which is deep - er than the sea. — It is high - er than the moun - tains, it is 23

full and wide and free. — I will praise him for his love, — for it reach - es e - ven me. — With all my breath I'll praise the liv - ing God.

27