

Bodacious Host Biographies

Mimi Harris:

As a Flatlander from Manitoba I discovered my love of the outdoors while skiing on the icy slopes of the Red River Valley in temperatures hovering at or below -35. When not skiing as a young person, I had crazy fun leading all-girl canoe trips in North Western Ontario. Eventually, I came to Calgary in the early '90s and was blown away by the majestic Canadian Rockies in all seasons. In winter you will find me enjoying all things snow related, and loving every minute of it. I always say, "I can get down any hill, it just might not be pretty!" When the snow melts, hiking is my next love. I have knocked off the West Coast Trail with a group of 12 amazing women and last May I trekked to Everest Base Camp to raise funds for a school in the Solu Khumbu region of Nepal. I am a Bodacious Mom with grown children and I can hardly wait to share the magic of the Bugaboos with you.

Lindsey Anderson:

Born and raised in Banff Alberta, I started skiing at the age of two on my home mountain of Norquay. I grew up with a great love and passion for the outdoors and knew from a very young age that I wanted to make a career out of it. My dream of becoming a guide became reality in my early twenties when I started out as a hiking guide and soon after became a full ACMG Ski Guide. To provide balance in life when not guiding, I recently became a registered massage therapist and Yoga teacher. Yoga has brought me a whole new community, and I am grateful for that connection. I am blessed to be able to share that love and passion with those willing to join me on the mat! I teach Yin Yoga, and I am interested in Vinyasa flow and meditation. In the summer months you can find me climbing, hiking, biking, swimming, doing Yoga in the park, and generally loving life! I am eager to share my joy of the mountains with you in the Bugaboos next summer, and I am sure you will find the magic and allure of the peaks of the Purcells as contagious as I do.
