

Jan 11, 2007: International Day to Shut Down Guantánamo

Yasser al-Zahrani was only 21 years old when he committed suicide. He had been imprisoned at the Guantanamo Detention Facility by the Bush administration for over four years since he was 17. He was to have been released in three days but no one told him. So, in desperation and with no hope for the future, he committed suicide. ■

Since Jan. 11, 2002, more than 700 men have been detained by the U.S. in the "war on terror."

Detainees at Guantanamo Bay have been held for years but have not been tried or even charged with any crime.

On the fifth anniversary of the first detainees' arrival at Guantanamo, we the people must stand up to the President and to Congress and say

NO TO TORTURE
NO TO IMPRISONMENT WITHOUT CHARGES
SHUT DOWN GUANTANAMO

Torture is unpatriotic. Fair trials are an American value.

Jan 11, 2007: International Day to Shut Down Guantánamo

Yasser al-Zahrani was only 21 years old when he committed suicide. He had been imprisoned at the Guantanamo Detention Facility by the Bush administration for over four years since he was 17. He was to have been released in three days but no one told him. So, in desperation and with no hope for the future, he committed suicide. ■

Since Jan. 11, 2002, more than 700 men have been detained by the U.S. in the "war on terror."

Detainees at Guantanamo Bay have been held for years but have not been tried or even charged with any crime.

On the fifth anniversary of the first detainees' arrival at Guantanamo, we the people must stand up to the President and to Congress and say

NO TO TORTURE
NO TO IMPRISONMENT WITHOUT CHARGES
SHUT DOWN GUANTANAMO

Torture is unpatriotic. Fair trials are an American value.