Freude Fahrt

Der Führer subsidized the individual vehicle, the Bug, in 1933 with the vision of the nuclear family that was able to travel for weekend vacations and to mobilize das Volk for his Aryana future. In the end the Germans weren't jumping into their Bugs to enjoy trips to the countryside, but became a bug army steeled for war. Individual happiness and family life were switched out for collective joy. The euphoria of sacrificing everything for the collective became a sort of insect control of the worker that saw no possibility for reverse or sideways, only acceleration.
