Case No. CF-2011-_____

Defendant,

AFFIDAVIT

The undersigned upon oath deposes and states as follows, to-wit:

I, Kurt Titsworth, am an Agent for the Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation (OSBI). I have been a certified peace officer in the State of Oklahoma since 1992. I have been an investigator for 15 years.

On Sunday, June 8, 2008 the Okfuskee County Sheriff requested OSBI assistance in the investigation of the deaths of Taylor Placker, Age 13, and Skyla Whitaker, Age 11. On that day at about 5:20 p.m., Placker and Whitaker were found dead along North 3890 Road near Weleetka in Okfuskee County, Oklahoma.

Five (5) Winchester .40 caliber shell casings were recovered from the scene. The casings were submitted to the OSBI Forensic Science Center in Edmond, Oklahoma for analysis.

On June 9, 2008 the Office of the Chief Medical Examiner in Oklahoma City performed an autopsy on Placker's body and on Whitaker's body and reported that the cause of death for each girl was multiple gunshot wounds and that the manner of death for each girl was homicide. The medical examiner collected projectiles from Placker's and Whitaker's bodies. The projectiles were submitted to the OSBI Forensic Science Center for analysis.

OSBI Firearms Criminalist Terrance Higgs examined the .40 caliber shell casings that were found at the crime scene and the projectiles collected from Placker's and Whitaker's bodies. Higgs reported that the projectiles collected from the bodies were .40 caliber and .22 caliber bullets.

Arrest Affidavit: Kevin Sweat

Higgs reported that all of the spent .40 caliber shell casings that were found at the crime scene were fired from the same firearm. Higgs reported that the casings were fired from a Glock .40 caliber handgun.

In January, 2010 Agent Titsworth received information that in the fall of 2007 Kevin Joe Sweat (Sweat), WM, DOB: 01/27/86 purchased a Glock .40 caliber handgun. Sweat was living in Henryetta, Oklahoma at the time.

On January 21, 2010 Agent Titsworth talked to Sweat about the Glock .40 caliber handgun that he had purchased. Sweat told Titsworth that he had owned the gun but had sold it in 2007 and didn't know the serial number for the gun.

On August 22, 2011 OSBI Agents met with Kevin Sweat's father, Curtis Sweat, and conducted a search of Curtis Sweat's property near Weleetka, Oklahoma. Curtis Sweat had previously told Agents about an area on his property where Kevin Sweat sometimes shot his guns. During the search OSBI Agents found several .40 caliber shell casings in the soil in the area where Kevin Sweat shot his guns.

The .40 caliber shell casings that were found on Curtis Sweat's property were submitted to the OSBI Forensic Science Center for analysis. Firearms Criminalist Higgs examined the casings and reported that the casings were fired from the same firearm that fired the .40 caliber shell casings that were found at the Placker and Whitaker crime scene on June 8, 2008.

OSBI Agents were able to determine the serial number of the Glock .40 caliber handgun that had been sold to Sweat by tracing it back to a firearms dealer in Oklahoma. The serial number was EKG463US.

On or about September 1, 2011 Agent Titsworth requested Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Agent Mark Knoll to run an Alcohol Tobacco and Firearms (ATF) Trace Report on the .40 caliber Glock handgun, Serial Number: EKG463US. Knoll confirmed that, among other things, the gun was sent to a gun dealer in Oklahoma in 2006. That Glock handgun was eventually purchased by Kevin Sweat.

On September 30, 2011 FBI Agent Knoll learned that a former owner of the gun, the Baltimore Police Department, had one known .40 caliber shell casing from the Glock handgun, Serial Number: EKG463US.

On October 5, 2011 OSBI Agent John Graham picked up the known .40 caliber shell casing from the Baltimore Police Department in Maryland. The following day Graham submitted the casing to the OSBI Forensic Science Center. Criminalist Higgs examined the casing. Higgs reported that the casing was fired from the same firearm that fired the .40 caliber shell casings that were found at the crime scene of Placker and Whitaker and on the property of Curtis Sweat.

On September 13, 2011 Agent Titsworth interviewed Kevin Sweat about the June 8, 2008 homicides of Placker and Whitaker. Before the interview began Titsworth read Sweat his rights from a form labeled "Your Rights". Sweat acknowledged that he understood his rights and waived his rights and agreed to make a statement. Sweat told Titsworth the following information:

Sweat said that on June 8, 2008 during the afternoon, he was driving his black Chevrolet Cavalier car on North 3890 Road in Okfuskee County, Oklahoma. Sweat pulled over on the side of the road and saw "two monsters" come at him. Sweat then "panicked". Sweat grabbed his Glock .40 caliber handgun from between the seats of his car. Sweat then "shot the monsters" with the Glock handgun. Sweat then grabbed a ".22 caliber" gun from the glove box and "shot the monsters" with the .22 caliber gun. Sweat then got into his car and left. Sweat told Titsworth that he shot the "monsters" with the Glock .40 caliber handgun that he had purchased in 2007 while living in Henryetta, OK.

Based on this information, the undersigned prays that this Honorable Court issue a finding of fact that probable cause exists to believe that a crime has been committed and that there is probable cause to believe the defendant above-named committed that crime.
