

Vincent H. K. Li

Address: 27 Cornhill Court, Aberdeen, AB16 5XR, Scotland
Telephone: +44 (0)7799 843365 (Mobile) / +44 (0)2895 811181

Email: vinni@bcs.org
URL: <http://vincent.li>

Education

2011 – 2013: University of Aberdeen: MSc Information Technology

- Current courses include Web Development with Rails, Electronic Society, Database, Enterprise Computing, Human-Computer Interaction and System Analysis and Design.
- Student member of the British Computer Society, IEEE Computer Society and the IET.
- Project in summer 2013.

2007 – 2011: University of Aberdeen: BSc (Hons) Physiology

- Final year project involves studying the allosteric modulation of cannabinoid receptors.
- I was awarded the Providence Foundation scholarship in the first year and the HKPCET bursaries for subsequent years.

2001 – 2007: Methodist College Belfast

- GCE A Level: Biology (A), Chemistry (A), Physics (A), Mathematics (A) and Chinese (B).
- GCSE: 4A*, 3A and 1C ; IELTS: 7.5
- Scholarships awarded for Outstanding Performance in GCE A Level and GCSE, HKPCET.

Work Experience

09/2011 – Present: Mail Sorter, Royal Mail

Ensure letters and packets are sorted efficiently and accurately.
As a result, I am gaining a vast amount of geographical knowledge.
At present, I am taking part in the World Class Mail scheme, which has raised my level of commercial awareness significantly.

09/2008 – Present: DIT Service Desk Assistant, University of Aberdeen

Working on a temporary basis, my main task involves setting up students and staff devices to the one of largest on-campus wireless network in Europe and troubleshooting any other non-administrative issues.

Skills

IT: Certified in many areas, including Windows (MCTS), Office (ECDL), Wireless Networking (CWTS), Solaris / Linux (SCSAS) and Social Media (HootSuite).

Languages: Fluent in English and Cantonese, currently self-studying Japanese.
As the lead moderator of the Traditional Chinese Translation on Twitter, I spent my spare time translating and moderating for Twitter.

Positions of Responsibility & Interests

2011 – 2013: Student Representative for Disciplinary Hearing, University of Aberdeen

This is a voluntary position where I sit on a panel along with other senior members of staff of the University. It gives me the chance to negotiate with other people and further my interviewing skills.

2009 – 2012: STEM Ambassador, STEMNET

I volunteer regularly with schemes such as BP Tutoring, “In the Zone” and the “Lab in a Lorry”. It gave me the chance to teach and tutor young people. I work with pupils with various abilities and gaining invaluable experience in teaching, as well as developing my science communication skills. Moreover, it provides me the opportunity to network with others. I have joined the British Interactive Group and the Institute of Physics (AMInstP) to further my interest.

2008 – 2010: Class Representative, University of Aberdeen

As a class representative, I communicate with my fellow students and represented them in the student-staff liaison committee meetings. I attended regular meetings at national level to collaborate with others at the Scottish Biosciences Subject Network. In 2010, I was selected as part of the marking panel for the HE Academy Centre for Bioscience Student Award. I was awarded the STAR Award in recognition of my role.

2008 – 2009: Men’s Novice Representative, Aberdeen University Boat Club

Promote rowing to freshers, projected novices’ needs in the committee meeting and helped out in many aspects of the club. As a team player I enjoyed working with others in order to succeed. I was qualified into the senior category after winning an R2 eights in the North East Regatta. I also competed at the Tideway Head of the River (Thames), BUSA Regatta and Scottish Universities Regatta.

Other past positions include: Head Boy of Boarding, Chairman of MCB Natural History Society, Member of the Sixth Form Forum and Senior Prefect. All these roles enabled me to strengthen my decision making and leadership skills. I was presented with the Principal’s Award for services to the school.

References

Available upon request.