Kathy,

I have been fortunate to have the Matter of Facts program for the past two years and I can't say enough good things about it. My students are excited about using the program and constantly beg to get online. They love it! They love it for the competition to be the high scorer on the games. I love it because they are learning their facts and enjoying it. They have shown great progress in mastering their facts unlike any other program we have tried. Plus, it is a program they can utilize at home. I have had several parents comment on their children using the program at home and how their child did not want to stop working when they asked them to stop. I am a new user of Kids College but I am looking forward to implementing this program into our daily routine. Kids College gained my interest when I found that it targeted the students who just lack a point or two passing our test. At Eastward we have several students that I feel will benefit from this program, plus it allows me as a teacher to set up lessons for individual students. This year we tested lower in geometry and measurement. I am hoping to set up lessons that will focus on these two topics to raise our test scores. Also, the assessment test will give me a better idea of where my students are and in which direction we need to work for improvement.

Sincerely,

Michelle Stone
