Dear Ms. Robinson:

The conference was well received. I cannot recall having so much positive feedback during a conference. When 419 educators, health care providers, and vendors show up and rave about a conference, all of us have to be proud that we had an opportunity to share ideas and make it happen.

Your presentation ensured the success of this conference and a successful school year for the schools that are making remarkable strides with Oklahoma's at-risk young people. Comments from participants in your session indicate that you presented pertinent information and that they appreciated your energy as well as the wealth of information that you shared. The teachers really liked your format.

Always remember that I appreciate your contribution. I attribute the success we enjoy to you and others who continue to volunteer time and knowledge to help us implement a world class program.

Summer is in full swing; I hope that you will squeeze the best out of the hot days and spend some precious time with family and friends.

Sincerely,
