

Diocesan Convention Exhibits

Convention-goers won't have any trouble finding the Exhibit Area at Grace Church. Located in and around Fletcher Hall between the worship space and the parish hall, these exhibits (and more) will inform, educate and entertain all who take the time to visit. Exhibits will be set up on Friday afternoon and open on Saturday, beginning at 7:30 a.m. (CT).

Mission is the Heartbeat of the Church

Seamen's Church Institute's Easter on the River exhibit will include a hands-on outreach project. Be sure to bring individually wrapped candies to contribute to the 100 boxes we hope to pack to bring Easter smiles to around a thousand inland mariners.

St. George's Community Center in Louisville seeks to launch urban youth into flights of self-discovery while creating opportunities that will impact their lives for the benefit of the community. Freedom School, photography projects, outcome-based tutoring and a Dare to Care Food Pantry are all part of the amazing work of this center, which is supported by diocesan funds.

Heartland Cares Inc. is a non-profit organization in Paducah providing comprehensive, client-centered, quality health care, support services, prevention education, and HIV testing. Heartland CARES Inc. began in 1996 as a client-managed consortium dedicated to developing a regional system of HIV services, and clients are still an integral part of clinic operations. The mission of Heartland CARES Inc. is to minimize the impact of HIV/AIDS on individuals, families, and the community by opening doors to care, support, prevention, testing, and education.

The Department of Peace and Justice exhibit will focus on the Millennium Development Goals with a special emphasis on water, while a related exhibit will spotlight the work of Jubilee Ministry Centers in our diocese.

An exhibit on Haiti will inspire convention goers to give generously in support of Episcopal Relief and Development's work in that earthquake ravaged country.

Forming Christian Disciples

On the shore of Rough River Lake, All Saints' Center serves youth, adult retreats, family reunions, Episcopal functions and other denominations. Guests are accommodated in a stunning new inn as well as in cottages and dorms located in a classic lakeside setting. Meeting rooms include contemporary facilities, break out sections and a large Adirondack-style hall complete with stone fireplace. Visit the All Saints' Center exhibit to chat with Interim Director Greg Primo and learn about upcoming events and opportunities.

The Education for Ministry (EfM) exhibit will be staffed by several current mentor, who will be happy to talk with you about this program of study and theological reflection produced by the seminary at Sewanee for use in parishes.

“Faith in Film,” “Faith in Fiction” and “Guest Starring God” are all creative, locally designed adult formation programs. Descriptive materials will be available in the Grace Church Paducah exhibit.

The Diocesan Department of Christian Formation will offer both a display and an opportunity to speak with department leadership about upcoming events and curriculum.

Learn more about the University of the South, both the college and the seminary, by visiting their exhibit.

Shopping at the Marketplace

Jeff Wunrow Designs. Jeff Wunrow is an award winning, internationally known liturgical designer known for his contemporary interpretations of Christian symbols and motifs. He specializes in custom projects that enhance and respect your worship space. He makes stoles, vestments, banners, paraments and other textile pieces. His full portfolio can be seen online at www.jeffwunrow.com.

Marshall’s Quilt. A beautiful handmade quilt has been offered as a fundraiser for the grandchild of a Grace Church parishioner who must undergo multiple complicated surgeries.

Grace Crafts. Chrismon pattern and instruction books. Photographic art using architectural elements from Grace Church to create words and letters. Shawls and blankets from a master knitter. Unique and beautiful items for sale or special order.

Company of Angels Gift Shop. Episcopal logo items, sweatshirts, t-shirts, and more.—all for your shopping pleasure!