The Episcopal Church welcomes you!

David Flood

Once again we welcome David Flood to Eastern Carolina as clinician for the Conference on Church Music. Canterbury Cathedral Organist and Master of the Choristers, David received his musical training as an Organ Scholar of St. John's College Oxford with additional postgraduate work at Clare College Cambridge.

David is responsible for daily music at Canterbury Cathedral, the mother church of the Anglican Communion, and also oversees musical arrangements for all special occasions, such as the enthronement of Archbishop Rowan Williams, the visit of Pope John Paul II, and the Lambeth Conference. Dr. Flood's own music is widely published and performed. Under his direction, the Cathedral Choir has toured in Europe and North America.

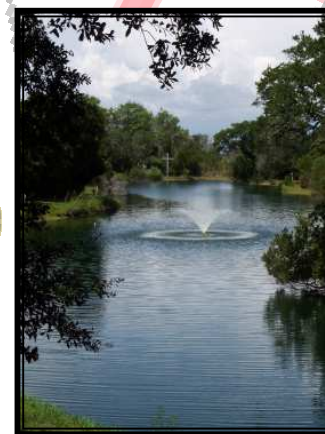

The University of Kent honored David in July 2002 when he was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Music and in November 2008 he was elected to an Honorary Fellowship by Canterbury Christ Church University; both of these in recognition of his work in Canterbury Cathedral and in the wider community.

His superb and very accessible leadership of our conference is not to be missed. Not only will your singing skills be developed, but you will have a smashing good time!
