changes,” said Abigail Nelson, Senior Vice President for Programs. “We are standing ready to assist as advised.”

Last month, dozens of tornadoes leveled areas of the South and Southeast, causing several hundred deaths and millions of dollars in damage. This month, Southern states have also been hit with major flooding from the Mississippi River. Episcopal Relief & Development is supporting congregations in the Episcopal Dioceses of East Carolina, North Carolina, Alabama and Atlanta, among others, in ministering to those affected with food, vouchers for essential items, shelter and pastoral care.

As inclement weather continues affecting communities nationwide, please remember that one of the most important things we can do is pray – for people who have lost loved ones and homes, those in disaster-prone areas and responders working to save lives and address needs.

Severe storms and flooding have battered regions of the U.S. since April. Most recently, a massive tornado struck Joplin, Missouri, on May 22, killing more than 120 people. The storm damaged over 2,000 buildings and filled streets with debris. Rescue crews are still working to locate survivors.

“We have not lost any members, praise God,” said the Rev. Frank Sierra, rector of St. Philip’s, the town’s sole Episcopal church. “A couple of our parishioners have lost homes and others have family members with injuries, but nothing life-threatening.”

Episcopal Relief & Development is responding through the Episcopal Diocese of West Missouri. Initial funds will assist survivors with support such as food, gas cards and emergency shelter. “As things are still in the rescue phase, the diocese will continue assessing needs as the situation
