All Call Omaha

Serving Community Building Becoming

A service project of the Episcopal Church in Omaha

All Call Omaha is a multi-faceted and multi-generational service program sponsored by the Episcopal Church in Omaha. The goal of All Call Omaha is to raise awareness of the needs of others in our community, providing simple and clearly defined opportunities to serve. We foster meaningful conversation and community at times other than Sunday mornings and frequently at places other than church buildings. All Call Omaha has three components:

First Call: Service projects and fellowship held at various churches during the weekday. Existing parish organizations, now lightly bound together by a shared overall vision/goal, will be the starting point for this component.

Second Call: Service projects and fellowship held at various business or community locations in the early evening. Each month targets a specific group of professionals and a related service project. (e.g. teachers and an activity that benefits students)

Last Call: Service projects/discussions and fellowship held after-hours non-traditional locations like coffee houses and bars. The goal is to welcome spiritual questions and to give something back to those in need.

Why All Call Omaha?

Fulfilling Three Needs

- Awareness
- Service
- Community

In Three Ways

- For those in need
- For those who serve
- For the Episcopal Church

BELIEVE THERE IS GOOD IN THE WORLD

In all of our lives there are sacred companions, fellow travelers who sail the windswept currents of time beside us, facing what we face, bearing our burdens, lifting us in soul and spirit to find the higher path before us. May we be such a gift in the life of another.

The Rt. Rev. Stephen Charleston

The fundamental vision of All Call Omaha is to build a city-wide, visible service/outreach community we as Episcopalians can claim as our own. Each of the components (First, Second, and Last Call) targets a very different demographic, and each parish can be involved in many ways while still taking pride in and leveraging the visibility of the whole.

We will build camaraderie, energy and synergy among local parishes as we work together for the benefit of our community and in answer to Christ's call of discipleship.
