What Are You Reading?

Submitted by: Liddy Malone

The Year of Living Biblically: One Man's Humble Quest to Follow the Bible as Literally as Possible

The Year of Living Biblically was assigned to my AP Language class after Christmas this year as a model for our then upcoming research projects. It was the perfect example of a research process in which someone uses not only books and websites to explore a topic, but dives in more completely.

In this book, author A.J. Jacobs takes on the huge task of trying to follow the Bible according to its literal and explicit teachings for an entire year. No rule, however small or metaphorical, is ignored. He wants to see if he is unaware of an essential part of the human experience, or if he made the right choice to be less religious.

As A.J. Jacobs was an agnostic writer with Jewish heritage, I was afraid The Year of Living Biblically would turn out to be cynical of religion. However, though it is a light and funny read, he truly becomes aware of the beauty of the teachings and rituals of all types of Christianity and Judaism. As I followed his journey, it was hard not to become more respectful, knowledgeable, and appreciative of different religions, including my own, alongside Jacobs. At the same time, it was perfect for making me question some of the laws of the Bible that I had not considered thoroughly. The reader is forced to dive right in with him.

'What are you Reading?' is a book review column brought to you by Nativity's Spiritual Development Committee. Please let us know what you are reading by contacting:

A Clergy Note from The Rt. Rev. John McKee Sloan

The Rt. Rev. Santosh Marray Elected 11th Bishop of Easton

For several months, since our friend Santosh was nominated to become the Eleventh Bishop of the Diocese of Easton, there have been two recurring questions: "Do you think he'll be elected?" and "What happens to the Diocese of Alabama if he is?"

My answer to the first question is simple: whether he's elected depends on how much sense the Diocese of Easton has. Earlier today, Santosh Marray was elected on the third ballot to be the next Bishop of Easton. We will celebrate his and Lynn's life and ministry among us with joy and style before long, but for now I want to congratulate them and the Diocese of Easton.

So what happens here? The answer to the second question is not quite so simple: We'll miss Santosh and Lynn, and we'll continue to trust God and be about God's work of love and reconciliation. Eventually we will find another Assistant Bishop, or elect a Suffragan or a Coadjutor, but those are complicated processes that will come after considerable prayer and conversation. Today we give thanks to God for our friends Santosh and Lynn, and offer our prayers as they start this new adventure in the ministry of our Lord.

Thanks be to God!

Nativity's Prayer Shawl Ministry Creating a tangible form of love and comfort

celebrate Karen's 80th birthday

"As long as there is a shawl - give them out" is the prayer shawl ministry's goal

Every Tuesday for the last 9 years, this devoted group meets to create prayer shawls as a group. Karen, alone, has made 73 shawls! When a shawl is completed, it is blessed by the group and is ready for anyone in the parish to deliver to the recipient. Shawls are available in the church office.

The Prayer Shawl ministry meets each Tuesday from 1:00-3:00pm in the church library. Anyone and everyone is welcome to join the group. No knitting or crocheting skills are necessary - they will teach you!

Father Andy Anderson's Sabbatical. He shared his plans in the June 1 Steeple:

"The focus of my Sabbatical is walking the ancient Christian pilgrimage path, the Camino de Santiago (the Way of St. James) in the north of Spain. Flying to Madrid June 13, I begin the traditional camino frances in St. Jean Pied de Port in France June 15. It's about 495 miles to Santiago."

His full article is available in our Steeple archives.

The Legend of Santiago de Compostela (St. James of the Field of Stars)

The name Santiago in Spanish refers St. James, one of the Twelve Apostles of Jesus who was also the brother of John and one of the Sons of Zebedee, the sons of thunder. He is also referred to as James the Great, contrasted with James the Lesser, the brother of Jesus and the first Bishop of Jerusalem.

After Jesus' resurrection the Apostle James went on a missionary journey to northwest Spain to Finis Terrae or the end of the world. He then returned to Jerusalem and was martyred and beheaded by King Herod Agrippa II. His head is buried in the Armenian Cathedral of St. James in Jerusalem along with the body of St. James the Lesser. The Apostle James' body was taken by his disciples and transported back to Spain and buried there in secret in a wood. The legend also includes the story that James' disciples placed his body in a stone boat and launched the boat into the Mediterranean and the boat ended up in Spain and angels buried him.

In the 9th century the hermit Pelayo, while meditating in the woods, saw a shining star. Pelayo had a vision that St. James was buried there. The place was then named, Campus Stella, or Field of the Star, later known as Compostela. Bishop Teodomoro asked for an investigation of the vision and the tomb of the Apostle was uncovered. There a chapel was built over the tomb. Bishop Teodomoro asked to be buried there near James and his tombstone has been uncovered with the date 847.

The city of Santiago de Compostela grew around the site. The Cathedral of Santiago was later built, one of the most magnificent of Cathedrals in the world with its huge swinging incense burner. Since then, Christians have made pilgrimage to Santiago de Compostela through the centuries and it is one of the three major Christian pilgrimage destinations along with Jerusalem and Rome. St. James feast day is July 25.

After the Enlightenment, Pilgrimages weren't so popular. But about 30-40 years ago, the Camino has regained popularity as a spiritual journey and life-marking undertaking. In 2010, the movie *The Way* with Martin Sheen gives a glimpse into what the experience can be like. You may want to "Google" Camino de Santiago for further information and ideas about this powerful and transformational experience. The way is made by walking!
