Dear Divine Goddess,

There are 7 parts in the wheel of life: Primary Relationships, Spirituality or Personal Development, Recreation & Lifestyle, Health & Fitness, Money & Finances, and Business and Career and Contribution. In my wheel of life, I have primary relationships as a priority. It seems all of life is relationships. We have relationships with everything. You are even having a relationship now with this book you are reading with me, and with my coaching.

I used to be in the position of having notable accomplishments in my life- graduating cum laude from a state University, finished my Masters in Business Administration, releasing my CD audio series and first book, <http://www.magicalmanifestations.com/immigrants> starting my own business and consulting to others...

and yet...

I always attracted the wrong person to support my vision and my spiritual path. I had two "complicated" ex-boyfriends, an ex-girlfriend, and an abusive ex-relationship.

I knew I had the ability to attract the man of my dreams but I lacked the "how". I didn't know HOW to attract the man in my dreams, to have someone I love AND who would love me unconditionally for who and what I am.

Sound familiar??

Fast forward to now... I enjoy a wonderful marriage that is perfect for me. I have a lucrative business as a Law of Attraction Relationship coach helping women create and manifest the man of their dreams so they can enjoy freedom, balance, and soul-satisfaction in their lives AND make a contribution to the world just by being a Divine Goddess!

My love life is no longer frustrating- I have everything I want (and then some), doing the work that I love 27 hours/week- leaving me the time to be the mom, wife, friend and person I want to be!

How did I get here? By learning how to transform my love life into one with feminine power!

Sound difficult?

It's not. It's actually surprisingly simple when you have the right systems in place, and know how to use the feminine power effectively. But you need to mentor with the right Law of Attraction Relationship Coach and Magical Manifesting Mentor who can teach you how to do this. Let me know how I may serve you.

Love and light,

Lourdes Elardo-Gant

AN INTERVIEW WITH A CLIENT

Lourdes Elardo-Gant:

What was your relationship situation like before you started working with me?

Jones Mancilla of <http://www.awesomeabundance.net>

Three years ago, I felt I was not in a nurturing relationship. I did not feel the support of my hubby and as a result, I did not share my big dreams with him. I was thinking that he wouldn't support me anyway so what's the point of sharing? I was starting my dream board then and I would only look at my dream board when he is not around. One of the things that I wanted then was a mac notebook. After several years of just prioritizing my family, I felt that it was then the time to start loving myself and desire for the best things in life -- the macbook was one of them. However, my hubby felt at that time that our finances would not be able to support my desire for this expensive doodad! Our communication lines were not solid then. We were less appreciative of each other. I am also hesitant to voice out what I wanted ( because I was thinking he wouldn't support it anyway!)

Lourdes Elardo-Gant:

What was the point that caused you to start working with me?

Jones Mancilla:

I think I was in that point in my life where I was ready to try out something new. Hubby had just left to work abroad and I have more time for myself. I was also into self development books.

Lourdes Elardo-Gant:

What did I recommend that really resonated with you?

Jones Mancilla:

Introducing me to the works of abraham resonated well with me. Plus the advanced coaching assignments that we did which helped clarify what I really want in my life and in my relationship.

Lourdes Elardo-Gant:

What happened next? (The solution and how it worked.)

Jones Mancilla:

I remember one session when I was crying my heart out about not getting the support from my hubby. You guided me to this visualization exercise wherein I created a picture where I was having a dialogue with my hubby, expressing what was really deep inside my heart, the hurt feelings that I have, pouring out the pain and emotions. What I love best about these sessions were the immediate results that I get. After that session, I felt lighter. It is as if a load was taken off my shoulders. But it didn't end with just one session, follow through assignments helped sustain the momentum towards improving the relationship. I also did another abraham game for one week (I can't remember exactly the process he he he). What I liked about the assignments was that these did not feel like "assignments" or burdens but it felt more like a game! These games were very brief, fun to do, and energy uplifters!

Lourdes Elardo-Gant:

How is your relationship now?

Jones Mancilla:

Better than ever!

We are more expressive in words, we communicate more often. We even share lessons and experiences. I can totally feel his love and support. I am more comfortable sharing my plans and dreams. More importantly, hubby now consults me before he makes decisions.

He supports me in my blogging and investment plans and I support him in his passions. We now have a more definite plan for our prosperous future.

We are also united on issues regarding our two teens.

I now feel that I am in a nurturing relationship and I finally got my macbook -- a gift from hubby!!!!

the Divine being in you.

SPECIAL INVITATION

Do you have something you want to change or achieve in your life? Maybe you'd like to...

=> start a business

=> find new love

=> get a new career (or a raise)

=> lose weight

=> get your child(ren) to behave better

=> or something else

No matter what you'd like to change or achieve, the secrets to success are the same..

#1: Get clear. As specifically as possible, decide what you want.

The more clear you are on what you want to have in your life, the more likely you are to achieve it.

#2: Get perspective. Most people don't tell anyone what they want or what they are struggling with and because of that they don't get an outside perspective.

#3: Get support. Very few people (if any) achieve anything great alone. Sports stars have teammates and coaches.

Be willing to ask the people in your life to support you.

Introduction

People always knew me to have a charmed life. I was born to a poverty stricken existence in a 3rd world country yet I have always had the “magic” to get what I want. As a child, I remember that I always had the ability to manifest what I planned. I got all the awards receiving medals and honors including winning at oratorical contests. During my school days, travel to places for free, and having my first car paid for by the company I worked with. You name it, its all laid itself out for me! This also gave me reference points to be able to manifest getting my Canadian permanent visa without an interview! And eventually led me to meet my soul mate, the man of my dreams in the land of opportunities, here in North America.

This is how it all started. . . .

Someone once told me that Intention x Discipline = Inevitable Success. My closest friends rave at how disciplined I am. The quantum leaps in my magical life started with “hard work.” I studied hard to get high grades because it was the ticket to be able to have a good job. Education is precious since my Dad was only a security guard. My drive and motivation to be able to “make it” in the real world was so high that I gave up all kinds of “pleasure” so it won’t distract me from my “plan.” I’ve always believed that there’s a “Higher Power.” There’s this knowing that “All things are possible for one who believes.” Being raised in the Catholic religion, I must admit honed my faith to something “miraculous.”

Introduction continued

Despite all my successes, I had a challenge with relationships. During my 3rd year in university, my first boyfriend had 2 steady girlfriends! This is unheard of in my culture! I had a secret affair with this guy despite the fact that he already had 2 girlfriends! I chose to be “steady” with him knowing that I’m just “3rd priority.” I can’t believe it myself because I’ve always dreamt of being Number 1 with a man. I’m a Daddy’s girl and my father treats me like a princess. This clandestine relationship only lasted a short while.....

My 2nd “unusual” relationship was a girlfriend. Yes, I tried to be in a romantic relationship with someone of the same sex. I believed that it would be “something” to experience being extra special with someone who has the same gender as mine. Another “unheard” of circumstance in a Catholic 3rd world country! This lasted for almost 2 years. When I started this relationship, I told my girlfriend that I am going to meet my soul mate on my 24th birthday. This honesty allowed us to be together for that time frame and parted friends.

My relationship explorations did not end there. I then had 2 “complicated” affairs and followed by an abusive one. For some reason, I always ended up in the “victim” mode in terms of being with someone special even if I know deep in my heart that I had the skill to manifest the man of my dreams. I became entangled with these complicated men because I admired their intelligence and wealth. In my mind I thought if I associate myself with smart and rich men I would be able to learn a lot from them and be on my way to financial freedom.

Feminine Power #1

Your Relationship Blueprint

To know when to go away and when to come closer is the key to any lasting relationship. ~
Doménico Cieri Estrada

Why Is Your Relationship Blueprint Important?

Have you heard of women who have attracted the “same” men over and over in their relationships? Have you noticed how some women have someone they loved and lost because it’s “complicated” or because it didn’t work out and when you see them again with someone new they are repeating the pattern? Wayne Dyer said “We don’t attract what we want, we attract what we are.” The awareness that we have to let go of someone because it does not serve us anymore is crucial to break the “pattern.”

Do you remember how I mentioned I was in a “complicated” relationship twice?!? I believe the reason for this was my attachment to money. This is also in my opinion the same reason why I had an abusive relationship. The men in my life at that time were all multi-millionaires. I was able to let go of the complicated men in my life when I realized that I don’t need someone to validate my ability to create wealth, nor happiness, nor freedom, for myself. I was in a speaking engagement in Asia one time (when I was still involved with one of them) and I felt this exhilaration within me that I was able to do what I want, when I want. I was travelling and work was like play. It dawned on me that I was happy and free that very moment. I did not need to have a million dollars to be able to do what I want and to go where I want. I can do it on my own! When I came back to Canada, I decided to write a letter (I did not even send it) to my boyfriend at that time and let him go. It was hard and painful. However, I know at the center of my being that I would not be able to move forward to be happy and free if my relationship was a mess.

What Is Your Relationship Blueprint Set For?

Now is the time to answer the “million dollar” question. What is your current relationship blueprint, and what results is it subconsciously moving you toward? Are you set in a pattern, willing to settle, or ready to let go?

Are you conditioned to have a “messy” relationship or a “smooth sailing” one? You know the story: First you have someone ok then not ok, then you have it again, different faces, but “same” men. My question for you now is how long have you attracted this same kind of men? I want you to be able to attract and manifest and create a Million Dollar Man if that’s what you want. You might be asking, why would anyone need that kind of man? That very question is not supportive of a good relationship and is a sure sign you need to revise your blueprint. The main reason to be in life is to have the best of EVERYTHING. If you want a man, why not choose a Million Dollar Man?

So, how can you tell what your relationship blueprint is set for? One of the most obvious ways is to look at your results. Look at your relationships. Look at your friends. Look at your business or work colleagues. Look at whether you have “rich” relationships.” Is it a struggle or does it come to you easily? Do you have to prove yourself to them or do they just accept you for who you are? Fortunately or unfortunately, your personal relationships will tend to stay with you for the rest of your life – unless you identify and change those that don’t serve you and let them go. Remember that the first element of change is awareness. Watch yourself, become conscious, observe who you are attracting into your life. Study your relationships. Come into your feminine power to choose who you want to associate with!
