3.6.1. Color & Impact: An appropriate and pleasing blend of colors, which is relevant to the particular portrayal of the colors displayed, must tell a story. Purists in the world of art contend that black and white are not colors. In the contest of Carnival, black and white are accepted as colors in the same way that for example, red, yellow, and blue are. Throughout the sense of sight, the object viewed seeks to create an impression. It evokes a reaction and it makes up a degree of appreciation and admiration. It may be kin to “love at first sight”, the intensity of which is not so much analytical as it is sensory.

3.6.2. Craftsmanship: The skills used by the Craftsman, Wirebender, Molder, Decorator or Builder in perfecting the idea, the form, color, mobility and portability all add to the potential of the finished product and the perfection of the design.

3.6.3. Creativity & Authenticity: The art of creating an object and displaying inventive skills. In Carnival an imaginative thought expressed in a costume or structure. Authenticity is simply the positive reply to this question. Is the portrayal genuine, true, faithful, reliable or credible in what it is supposed to represent.

3.6.4. Presentation: The manner in which the character is presented to the judges as it goes across the judging point. The effect here is to establish a relationship to the theme and the impact it creates to the Judges and spectators.

3.6.5. The show starts promptly at 1:00 PM on Carnival Day.
COMPETITORS POSITION WILL SELECTED AT OUR MEETING TO BE HELD 3 WEEKS PRIOR. POSITION SELECTION WILL BE TAPED AND SHARED WITH COMPETITORS.

3.6.6. The Criteria for Judging of COMPETITORS will be as follows:
