

Stromboli

Stromboli is one of eight Aeolian Islands. It is North-East of Sicily, Italy. The population of the island is between 400 and 850. The volcano is famous for its small but regular eruptions, the most recent in 2009. It stands at 926 metres and eruptions can often be seen from the sea leading to the island's nickname 'Lighthouse of the Mediterranean'.

