

Sumatra, Indonesia

Sumatra is an island in western Indonesia. It is the largest island entirely in Indonesia with a population of 50.37 million.

Mount Kerinci it is the highest volcano in Indonesia and the highest peak on the island of Sumatra its highest point is at 3,805 m (12,467) Tjilok was the first eruption was on the 2nd of June 1521 with an eruption of 600 m. It also contains deposits of coal and gold. The volcanic activity stems from Sumatra's location on the Pacific Ring of Fire?which is also the reason why Sumatra has had some of the most powerful earthquakes ever recorded.

Sumatra, Indonesia

Sumatra is an island in western Indonesia. It is the largest island entirely in Indonesia with a population of 50.37 million.

Mount Kerinci it is the highest volcano in Indonesia and the highest peak on the island of Sumatra its highest point is at 3,805 m (12,467) Tjilok was the first eruption was on the 2nd of June 1521 with an eruption of 600 m. It also contains deposits of coal and gold. The volcanic activity stems from Sumatra's location on the Pacific Ring of Fire?which is also the reason why Sumatra has had some of the most powerful earthquakes ever recorded.

Sumatra, Indonesia

Sumatra is an island in western Indonesia. It is the largest island entirely in Indonesia with a population of 50.37 million.

Mount Kerinci it is the highest volcano in Indonesia and the highest peak on the island of Sumatra its highest point is at 3,805 m (12,467) Tjilok was the first eruption was on the 2nd of June 1521 with an eruption of 600 m. It also contains deposits of coal and gold. The volcanic activity stems from Sumatra's location on the Pacific Ring of Fire?which is also the reason why Sumatra has had some of the most powerful earthquakes ever recorded.

Sumatra, Indonesia

Sumatra is an island in western Indonesia. It is the largest island entirely in Indonesia with a population of 50.37 million.

Mount Kerinci it is the highest volcano in Indonesia and the highest peak on the island of Sumatra its highest point is at 3,805 m (12,467) Tjil Estate 172000 m was on the 2nd of June 2013 with 200 eruption of 600 m. It also contains deposits of coal and gold. The volcanic activity stems from Sumatra's location on the Pacific Ring of Fire?which is also the reason why Sumatra has had some of the most powerful earthquakes ever recorded.

Sumatra, Indonesia

Sumatra is an island in western Indonesia. It is the largest island entirely in Indonesia with a population of 50.37 million.

Mount Kerinci it is the highest volcano in Indonesia and the highest peak on the island of Sumatra its highest point is at 3,805 m (12,467) Tjil Estate 172000 m was on the 2nd of June 2013 with 2000 eruption of 600 m. It also contains deposits of coal and gold. The volcanic activity stems from Sumatra's location on the Pacific Ring of Fire?which is also the reason why Sumatra has had some of the most powerful earthquakes ever recorded.

Sumatra, Indonesia

Sumatra is an island in western Indonesia. It is the largest island entirely in Indonesia with a population of 50.37 million.

Mount Kerinci it is the highest volcano in Indonesia and the highest peak on the island of Sumatra its highest point is at 3,805 m (12,467) Tjil Estate 172000 m was on the 2nd of June 2013 with 600 m. It also contains deposits of coal and gold. The volcanic activity stems from Sumatra's location on the Pacific Ring of Fire?which is also the reason why Sumatra has had some of the most powerful earthquakes ever recorded.

Sumatra, Indonesia

Sumatra is an island in western Indonesia. It is the largest island entirely in Indonesia with a population of 50.37 million.

Mount Kerinci it is the highest volcano in Indonesia and the highest peak on the island of Sumatra its highest point is at 3,805 m (12,467) Tjilok was the first eruption was on the 2nd of June 1521 with an eruption of 600 m. It also contains deposits of coal and gold. The volcanic activity stems from Sumatra's location on the Pacific Ring of Fire?which is also the reason why Sumatra has had some of the most powerful earthquakes ever recorded.

Sumatra, Indonesia

Sumatra is an island in western Indonesia. It is the largest island entirely in Indonesia with a population of 50.37 million.

Mount Kerinci it is the highest volcano in Indonesia and the highest peak on the island of Sumatra its highest point is at 3,805 m (12,467) Tjil Estate 172000 m was on the 2nd of June 2013 with 600 m eruption of 600 m. It also contains deposits of coal and gold. The volcanic activity stems from Sumatra's location on the Pacific Ring of Fire?which is also the reason why Sumatra has had some of the most powerful earthquakes ever recorded.

