

Sumatra, Indonesia

Sumatra is an island in western Indonesia. It is the largest island entirely in Indonesia with a population of 50.37 million.

Mount Kerinci is the highest volcano in Indonesia and the highest peak on the island of Sumatra, its highest point is at 3,805 m (12,467 ) TjEST 04216712000 was on the 2nd of June 2013 with a depth of 600 m. It also contains deposits of coal and gold. The volcanic activity stems from Sumatra's location on the Pacific Ring of Fire?which is also the reason why Sumatra has had some of the most powerful earthquakes ever recorded.

Sumatra, Indonesia

Sumatra is an island in western Indonesia. It is the largest island entirely in Indonesia with a population of 50.37 million.

Mount Kerinci is the highest volcano in Indonesia and the highest peak on the island of Sumatra, its highest point is at 3,805 m (12,467 ) TjEST 04216772000 was on the 2nd of June 2013 with 200 Td(f) of 600 m. It also contains deposits of coal and gold. The volcanic activity stems from Sumatra's location on the Pacific Ring of Fire?which is also the reason why Sumatra has had some of the most powerful earthquakes ever recorded.

