

PLAY SCHOOL 2011 - Artist Call Out

Play School - play time isn't just for kids...

On Saturday 12th November 2011, lace up those plimsolls and polish your dice for Birmingham's first grown up Play School!

Brought to you by Birmingham based arts collective Play More, the evening will offer a range of table top games, low tech sports games, competitions, and arts and crafts activities - painting, drawing, cutting and sticking etc... for grown ups to take part in. Plus enjoy the raffle, cups of tea (as well as the bar), and general silliness.

It's art. It's performance. It's play!

Play More are looking for a number of artists / gamers and volunteers to take part in Birmingham's first grown up Play School on Saturday 12 November 2011.

Artists / Gamers: We are looking for artists / gamers that are interested in the arts and gaming culture to facilitate a number of games throughout the evening and to present any games, performances, interventions of their own.

Volunteers: We are looking for a number of volunteers to facilitate and steward the event. This includes helping with set up, assistant managing the event and clear up.

A meeting will be held on Friday 11th November in Birmingham, and all artists and volunteers will be invited to attend to find out more about the event. Volunteers will need to be available for the whole day on Saturday 12th November to set up event.

This is an unpaid opportunity. Participants will be fully credited.

If you would like to be involved in this project, please e-mail playmore@lucy-nicholls.com

Deadline for expressions of interest - 5pm on Friday 28th October 2011.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Play More (Lucy Nicholls, Antonia Beck and Andrew Roberts)

Come and play!
