

The bird

• It was a warm
afternoon down at the waterhole in south eastern australia where a huge flock of cockatoo Gathered.

- One of the birds did not like the other birds drinking from the water hole he wanted it for himself.

- One night before a extremely hot day the bird stole the water from the waterhole draining it through the bush to his secret dam.

• The next day he woke up and flew as fast as he could to his secret dam and drank as much water as he could but he was lonely and went to see the other birds.

• They were all thirsty and drying out in the sun he went back to his water hole and peck a hole in it, it smashed open and it flooded the bush and it went back to it's old home.

