

THE COLLISION READER

If Tom, 22, isn't playing his guitar and jamming with friends in their local band room, he'll be at gigs listening to live music, local and mainstream bands whilst drinking a pint. His way of life is constantly influenced by his sharp music taste, from his friends to his attitude, Tom lives and breathes Collision magazine. His music player is jam packed with metal, punk and rock music which he always listens to, whether he's walking to university or socialising with mates. Tom dreams of being on stage at a festival playing his music to fans as loyal as him and finds his music as a method to communicate to the world around him
